Are Leotards, Shorts Stretching It A Bit?

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

"I saw one student today in red leotards. I just can't stand that kind of thing!" complained trustee Kent O. Seymour at the Marin Junior College District Board meeting last night.

He asked for a policy banning the wearing of shorts on campus by both men and women students and banning wearing of slacks or stretch pants by women.

One teacher asked if Seymour liked the kind of clothes seen in the average afternoon in the average Marin supermarket any better. Seymour said a college is not a supermarket, but he saw the point.

Board Chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy sidetracked action for a moment by suggesting that the administration make a new try at formulating a policy on student dress.

"I'm not suggesting the formation of another committee," she said.

Seymour, whose real estate office is across College Avenue from the campus, said he daily is forced to watch a parade of bizarre clothing go by his window.

"Some of the dress worn is indecent for a school of this type," he said.

Trustee Robert F. Rogers said he was opposed to having the board make policies about student appearance. He said he would rather the students policed the matter themselves.

Student representative Jack Lucas arose to say that dress was becoming a touchy subject on campus, and that the board should be careful not to tread upon individual rights.

"You start setting policies in this area and it starts getting complicated," said Lucas. "Some student comes to school in a Beatle haircut, and there are complaints, and next thing it's beards and then you've involved some faculty members."

He was backed up by Robert Becklund, president of the college's faculty association, who said the outside community has generally kept its opinions of student dress to itself.

"Let Mr. Seymour take a stroll through any local supermarket at 3 in the afternoon," offered Ernest L. Braun of the Academic Senate. "Maybe the older generation is setting the example for the community."

"This is the age of student experiment," added Becklund. "Dress like this may be requisite for an atmosphere where true education can take place."

"God forbid!" cried Seymour.

Blaze Guts Garage, Car; Perils House

Fire gutted the garage, burned up a station wagon and then threatened the home yesterday of the Frank Garcia family at 19 Tarrant Court, Santa Venetia.

Marin County firmen fought the blaze for an hour after it burst from the family car, parked in the garage.

Mrs. Garcia had parked the car about 3 p.m. yesterday, County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom said. At 4:52 a neighbor, Mrs. Sonia Bumstead of 18 Tarrant Court, called the fire department when she saw flames shooting from the rear of the car.

Leroy Salada of 174 Tunstead Avenue, San Anselmo, who was visiting at the Bumstead home, dashed to the Garcia house and carried out Frank Garcia Jr., 25, who is ill. Mrs. Garcia escaped through a rear door as smoke filled the house.

The garage, which is attached to the house, was only a shell by the time the fire was doused. The car was a total loss, as were a washer, dryer, water heater, tools and a shot gun all in the garage, total damage was estimated at $6,550 by Bloom.

The fire damaged a portion of the living room ceiling and caused extensive smoke damage in the house, Bloom said. It's cause was still being investigated today.

County Auditor, Kettenhofen Get Into A Squabble

Supervisor Dislikes Mitchell's Remarks On Fairchild Penalty

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Two elected officials confronted each other at the civic center yesterday in a 45-minute debate over who was running Marin County government.

The principals were Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen and Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell. Others got into the act before the argument was over. The session took place in Kettenhofen's office. The door was open.

CREDIT CARDS

Specifics included criticism by Mitchell and Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez of the board of supervisors' decision not to levy a $7,377 penalty on Fairchild Semiconductor for escaped taxes, county gasoline credit cards and unmarked county cars driven by supervisors, the county airport, and data processing.

Kettenhofen said it was improper for Mitchell and Fontez to criticize the Fairchild decision after the board had voted. The time to voice an opinion was in the open meeting of the board when the penalty was being debated, not afterward to the press, he asserted.

"As an elected official," Mitchell said, "I am answerable to the people. When pressed by reporters for an opinion, I think I have a right to voice it."

COUNTY SEALS

Kettenhofen said he did not necessarily disagree with Mitchell's views on putting county seals on the now unmarked cars driven by Supervisors Thomas T. Storer and William A. Gnoss, but declared that Mitchell should have at least given a memorandum to the supervisors before giving his opinion to the press.

"That's the manly thing to do," Kettenhofen declared.

Mitchell explained at length that an Independent-Journal reporter was aware, just as supervisors were aware, that there would be a meeting Wednesday in his office on the credit card issue.

Kettenhofen argued that none of the supervisors had been told in advance that the policy on unmarked cars was to be challenged. He asked if Mitchell did not think he had unduly embarrassed Storer and Gnoss.

At the meeting in Mitchell's office Wednesday, he and Asst. Administrator John F. Barrows, Public Works Director Donald R. Frost, Garage Supt. Marion Balestrieri and Asst. Auditor-Controller George R. Donaldson agreed to limit assignment of county gasoline credit cards, pulling back many now held, including those of Gnoss and Storer.

At that time Mitchell asked whate the "rationale" was for unmarked supervisor cars. No one could come up with an answer and the group agreed they should be marked.

Barrows suggested board members be given a memo explaining the decision and asking comments.

All county gasoline credit cards have been accounted for, Marin County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said today.

Collection of cards was ordered by Mitchell after it was revealed that many had been assigned, but there was no exact record of who held them.

Johnson Surgery Termed Success

A Kidney Stone Removed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson underwent two hours and 15 minutes of major surgery today for removal of his gall bladder and a kidney stone. He came through the operation in good shape.

Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers reported that the Chief Executive experienced "mild discomfort," however, as he came out of the anesthetic about 10 a.m., EDT, 45 minutes after the operation was completed.

Moyers told reporters at a 12:15 p.m. briefing at Bethesda Naval Hospital that Johnson was able to carry on a conversation by 11 a.m. The operation started at 7 a.m. and was over at 9:15 a.m.

After the surgery was complete, Johnson remained in the recovery room until about noon when he returned to his third floor suite.

Hospital Votes New Hearing On Ascherman

By STEPHEN COOK

A new hearing on the appeal of Dr. Stanford W. Ascherman of San Francisco for medical staff privileges at Marin General Hospital will begin Dec. 6 in the Coral Room of the hospital.

The Marin Hospital District board set this date during a special meeting this morning.

The board also terminated employment of Stanford University Professor John R. McDonough Jr., original hearing officer on the appeal, and agreed unanimously to replace him with Thomas C. Nelson, a San Rafael attorney.

The board ruled that the hearing would be a new one and that the transcript of the suspended original hearing would not be admissable.

Each of the board actions was opposed by Harry Gonick, attorney for Dr. Ascherman. His most fervent argument was in favor of the use of the previous transcript as evidence.

"We do not want to lose the benefit of anything that has gone before," he argued. "We have one witness whose testimony is in the transcript and who is no longer in this state and subject to this district's supoena powers."

Hospital Votes New Hearing On Ascherman

By STEPHEN COOK

A new hearing on the appeal of Dr. Stanford W. Ascherman of San Francisco for medical staff privileges at Marin General Hospital will begin Dec. 6 in the Coral Room of the hospital.

The Marin Hospital District board set this date during a special meeting this morning.

The board also terminated employment of Stanford University Professor John R. McDonough Jr., original hearing officer on the appeal, and agreed unanimously to replace him with Thomas C. Nelson, a San Rafael attorney.

The board ruled that the hearing would be a new one and that the transcript of the suspended original hearing would not be admissable.

Each of the board actions was opposed by Harry Gonick, attorney for Dr. Ascherman. His most fervent argument was in favor of the use of the previous transcript as evidence.

"We do not want to lose the benefit of anything that has gone before," he argued. "We have one witness whose testimony is in the transcript and who is no longer in this state and subject to this district's supoena powers."

Russ Admit Lunar Shot Was A Flop

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union admitted today it had failed again in an attempt to make history's first soft landing on the moon.

The official news agency Tass, breaking a day-long silence on the fate of Luna 7, said:

"Most operations necessary for a soft landing were fulfilled during the approach to the moon. Some operations, however, were not carried out in accordance with the program and need additional development."

The Soviet announcement was one of the frankest admissions of failure on a space shot ever to be issued here.

It marked the third time this year the Russians have been unsuccessful in trying for a vastly complex achievement of touching down gently on the treacherous surface of the moon with an instrument pack.

Youth Dances To Be Discussed

Future of the Mill Valley Youth Council dances will be discussed at a Monday 8 p.m. meeting of the city's parks and recreation commission, Don Dimitratos, parks and recreation director, said today.

Dances were halted by Dimitratos after last Friday's dance when the director said they lacked supervision and chaperones.

Also on the agenda is a discussion of vandalism to the Muir Woods and Mount Tamalpais gravity car in Lytton Square.

NWP Safety Record Best In Nation

The Northwestern Pacific Railroad had the best safety record of railroads of its size in the United States during 1964.

The National Safety Council reported that the company had an average of 3.94 accidents to its employees for each million man-hours worked.

Oroville Train Crash Kills Four

OROVILLE (AP) — A fiery headon crash inside a tunnel of two private construction trains last night killed four persons, sheriff's deputies believe.

Rescuers said they could see one body just inside the flaming tunnel entrance. They believed two men had crewed each train.

The collision, 120 miles northeast of San Francisco, apparently occurred when one train failed to pull onto a spur line to allow the other to pass through the single-track tunnel.

Both trains were working on the $200 million Oroville Dam Project.

Butte County sheriff's deputies said the tunnel was a sea of unpenetrable flames. Creosote-treated timbers fed the blaze. They said anyone inside could not have survived.

Each train normally hauled 40 cars filled with fill material a distance of five miles to the construction site.

Deputies said apparently one train was fully loaded and the other was returning empty.

Beautification Bill Approved By House

WASHINGTON (AP) — It took one of the roughest sessions of the year to do it, but the House passed President Johnson's highway beautification bill early today, soon after he entered Bethesda Naval Hospital for gall bladder surgery.

Sitting until 12:51 a.m. the House held up the big party Johnson gave as a salute to Congress and delayed the President's departure for the hospital, but it passed the bill, 245 to 138.

Voting for the bill were 219 Democrats and 26 Republicans. Against it were 49 Democrats and 89 Republicans.

At times raucous and angrily partisan, the long session stemmed from a reported Johnson request to House leaders that they finish up the bill so he could make a speech about it at the party.

The members had been told the House would quit early Thursday and vote on the bill today, and the late switch in plans made some Republicans angry. They didn't think much of the bill, anyway.

Using many delaying tactics available under the House rules, they stretched out consideration of the bill until the tempers of Democratic leaders frayed.

"No wonder the Republicans have controlled Congress only four years out of the last 30," stormed Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader. "We need a responsible minority desperately, but we don't have it. We have a frustrated minority."

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — Vice Adm. Paul Blackburn, commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet, is in a military hospital in Seoul, Korea, with a respiratory ailment. The Navy said his condition is satisfactory.

Peters has been playing the lead in "Othello" at a Palo Alto theater where Dan Caldwell, Tamalpais drama teacher, also has a role.

HEARING AID—This is the nearly completed giant parabolic antenna near Goldstone, San Bernardino County, that is expected to extend America's space-tracking ability by 600 per cent. The big radio "ear" is 234-feet high and 210 feet in diameter. It will pick up radio signals from more than a billion miles away. (AP Wirephoto)

Giant Antenna Nearly Finished

GOLDSTONE (AP) — Engineers are putting finishing touches on a $12 million saucer here on the Mojave Desert, and scientists hope the big dish will become the nation's most productive hearing aid.

When finished next April, the 8,000-ton dish—called a parabolic antenna—is expected to extend America's spacecraft tracking ability by 600 per cent—or out to 1.14 billion miles from the earth.

The giant dish, 210 feet in diameter, dwarfs the other 85-foot antennas of the deep space net. These antennas have tracked all of America's lunar and planetary probes.

The mammoth dish has been under construction for two years, the work being done by the Rohr Corp. for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

A close look at the antenna's deep dish contour gives the impression the viewer is inside a giant basketball stadium that can be tipped on edge and slewed around full circle.

This tipping and slewing, officials said, is accomplished with the aid of a thin film of oil.

Engineers explained that the antenna rotates on a hydrostatic bearing that supports 2,500 tons on a film of oil one hundredth of an inch thick.

They also said that the antenna dish is accurate to a full circle within five hundredths of an inch, and is built to survive winds up to 120 miles an hour.

The antenna can be turned, they said, automatically, or by simply rotating two knob-like handles. Maximum speed is about as fast as a man can walk.

The scientists hope their new antenna, or hearing aid, will help track spacecraft such as Mariner 4, which is now out of range of the other antennas.

CRA President Defends Birch Society Members

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The president of the California Republican Assembly has come to the defense of the conservative John Birch Society.

Cyril Stevenson Jr., president of CRA, said yesterday that some Bircher members had joined his group. He added:

"They are few in number. We don't know who they all are, but I don't feel their participation has been harmful.

"Those I know are sincere, dedicated, stable, responsible people. If there are any wild-eyed fanatics, I haven't found them yet."

Stevenson said he opposes GOP leaders who want the party to dissociate itself from the Birch Society.

The society has been criticized recently by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader; Kentucky Sen. Thruston Morton, the Senate GOP campaign committee chairman; Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan, House Republican leader, and Mrs. Logan H. Goodknight, president of the California Federation of Republican Women.

Land Division Rule Revision Proposed

A three-man committee of the Marin County Planning Commission agreed last night that some revision of the county land division ordinance is necessary to make it more workable.

Included in recommendations the committee will make to the full commission are changes in the street dedication requirement and in fees.

R. Ross Talley of the planning staff reported the committee was most concerned about the street dedication requirement, which has brought the most complaints from developers.

Under the ordinance, the county can require half of the ultimate street width from developers. Minimum street width is 40 feet. The committee agreed last night that this width requirement should be waived in special cases where development along a narrow, existing street is almost complete or where the terrain precludes much additional development.

The committee will also recommend that the definitions should be changed so that a four lot division can be handled under the land division ordinance. Now, anything four lots or over has to be handled under the subdivision ordinance.

REMARKS

should have been brought to a public meeting to be discussed so the board would "have a chance."

During the discussion, Frost arrived in Kettenhofen's office, evidently on the supervisor's summons.

Kettenhofen declared that supervisors Tuesday had not been given all the facts prior to making a decision on the county airport at Novato.

The board was told then by Arthur T. Knutson, assistant public works director, and airport consultant J. G. Percy that a $500,000 facility would have to be built at the Novato site if the county is to qualify for federal aviation authority aid on 54 per cent of the investment.

Kettenhofen said he has since learned that a field of lower standards could be built at about half the cost and still qualify for federal aid.

"The board was asking for this information and did not get it," Kettenhofen said.

Frost promised he would look into it further.

Kettenhofen told Mitchell he was drafting a letter criticizing several departments for not supplying full information to the board. He said he planned to include Mitchell's department on the grounds that full information was not supplied prior to creation of the data processing department from what was formerly a bureau in Mitchell's department.

Mitchell countered that at the time of discussion, he was responsible only for day-to-day operation of the department and that the administrator's office was supplying information to the board.

Administrative analyst John Gibb was called into the office and after a check of his records, confirmed that Mitchell's statement was correct.

Kettenhofen did not include the auditor-controller in the letter, which he released today.

Included were public works, planning, social services, personnel, county fair, district attorney, parks and recreation, and treasurer-tax collector.

Kettenhofen said organization and communication to the board of supervisors was improper.

"There is no longer a place in county government for small, independent cliques, domains or power structures, if it is to remain fully responsible to the people of Marin," the letter said.

Lack of full information to the board might be due to enthusiasm, Kettenhofen said. "However, in some cases it may occur because of lack of sensitivity to the proper structure of communication, responsibility and authority of the department head through the administrator to the board of supervisors, or possibly in a very few instances, self-aggrandizement."

The letter also included several of the same statements that Kettenhofen made to the auditor-controller yesterday afternoon.

geons had stated they would explore other nearby organs.

Doctors said earlier it was possible the President might be able to get out of bed briefly late this afternoon and certainly by Saturday.

The presence of a stone in the ureter indicated that the doctors found a kidney stone as well as a gall stone. The ureter is a hube leading from the kidney.

The President underwent treatment for removal of a kidney stone by manipulation in 1948 and had one removed by surgery in 1955. But he had no record of gall bladder trouble before an attack on Sept. 7.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said Johnson went into the operating room in the same "very good spirits" he exhibited Thursday night. Humphrey made the statement after receiving a telephone report from Moyers shortly before leaving for his office.

Supervisors Attacked On Span Delay

Thomas D. Hardcastle, Marin representative on the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board, today blasted the Marin County Board of Supervisors saying they have done little about traffic problems on the bridge in the past two years and now are asking for a delay on a second deck.

He tried unsuccessfully at a meeting of the bridge board to have the question of the second deck removed from any influence by the joint transit committee, set up two years ago with representatives from the bridge district board and Marin and San Francisco boards of supervisors.

The final decision on whether to go ahead with a second deck on the bridge is awaiting the board meeting of Oct. 29, when board president L. E. Castner will return from a trip.

At a meeting as a committee of the whole Tuesday, the bridge board decided "in principle" to have a second deck, but said the delay until Oct. 29 would give the joint committee time to meet and make a recommendation.

Hardcastle complained that in the two years the joint committee has been in existence, it has never convened a meeting, and he blamed Marin supervisors.

Hardcastle's motion to take the matter out of the committee of the whole immediately for final decision died for lack of a second, however.

Director Ben K. Lerer of San Francisco said he favored quick action on a second deck because it would take at least 10 years for another bridge to be built connecting Marin and San Francisco.

The estimate was called conservative by Acting President John E. Nelson of Mendocino County. "If we see a new bridge in 1980, it will be remarkable," he said.

Lerer said there were many people in Marin who would never use a bridge that left Marin from the Tiburon Peninsula or farther north.

Save-Courthouse Committee Set To Plan Tactics

Marin County Historical Society directors today agreed to name a five-man committee to meet with attorneys to decide on the best way to prepare a petition in their drive to save the county courthouse.

Not all members of the committee were named. According to society member Florence Donnally, the group will have to decide whether the petition should seek a referendum or an initiative vote by Marin residents.

At present, the county board of supervisors plans to sell the property to raise $1,400,000 toward the cost of construction of the courthouse wing of the Civic Center in Santa Venetia.

The directors also re-elected Parker Wood as president and named Frank Galli a first vice president. The board agreed to donate $500 to the Marin History Fund for publication of a book on the history of the county.

Sausalito Aides Due At Citizens' Meeting

"Sausalito—Present status and future needs" will be the main topic of discussion at the annual meeting of the Sausalito Citizens Council at 8 p.m., Oct. 21, at the IDESST Hall, Caledonia and Napa streets.

Speaking on the theme, according to council President Raymond G. Gergus, will be Mayor Jan Paul Dyk, who will tell of waterfront planning and city's problems in general; City Mgr. Charles A. Brown, who will report on business administration of the city, and Police Chief Kenneth H. Huck, Fire Chief Charles E. Masten and Charles Lavaroni, superintendent of Sausalito Schools.

Four nominees names have been submitted for five board vacancies, the nominating committee to present a fifth name on or before the meeting. Nominees are Harvey Coverley and incumbents Mrs. Benjamin Farnham, William Remensperger and Fred Sumner.

Directors whose terms expire are Eugene Huggins, Mrs. William Austin, who resigned for health reasons, Mrs. Farnham, Remensperger and Sumner. Directors to serve another year are Gergus, Bill Schmidt, Arie Slikkerveer and Carl W. Spring.

Coffee will be served after the meeting.

HEARING

that a new hearing officer should be able to witness testimony being given, as well as read a transcript of it.

"If a judge dies while a case is in progress, the trial is started anew," he said. "This is the same thing."

"To throw out that testimony would be in violation of the court order and if you do, we will be in court in a couple of days," said Gonick." I fortunately have a client able to finance these forays into court."

"And they are unlimited in number," retorted Riede.

The board voted three-to-one to follow Riede's advice. Board President Marion C. Ibach was absent. Hadden W. Roth, an attorney, voted no and said:

"I think we have to and want to give Dr. Ascherman the full benefit."

The board unanimously selected a new hearing officer because McDonough is teaching at Stanford University and will not be available on a fulltime basis until Jan. 22.

Nelson was one of four men considered before McDonough was selected as the original officer. He is a partner in the law firm of Nelson, Boyd, Menary and MacDonald of San Rafael.

The board also directed that a deposition be taken from Dr. Harold M. Dye, administrator of Polyclinic Hospital in San Francisco, where Ascherman has staff privileges.

Fireman Technique Helps River Barges

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The hook - and - ladder truck concept has been adapted to Mississippi river transportation. Big barge tows — some a half-mile long and with as many as 50 barges —no longer need be moved a few barges at a time around sharp river bends.

The "Pathfinder," an unmanned, radio-controlled steering boat developed by Cargo Carriers, Inc. here, is placed at the front of a string of barges and "snakes" them around bends the way a hook-and-ladder truck turns a corner. It is controlled from the diesel towboat at the rear of the tow.

School Thief Nibbles On Teacher's Apples

A burglar at John MacPhail Elementary School in Santa Venetia asked little loot—only a pencil and a bite from each of two apples on a teacher's desk.

Sheriff's officers said the intruder apparently forced double doors of the school's office wing, then pried a classroom door for entry. The breakin was reported yesterday by Lawrence E. McArdell, principal.

Missing Mare Ordered Killed

Sally, a 28-year-old mare pictured in (Tuesday's Independent-Journal, was ordered killed this morning by her owner, Alfred Wilsey, 41, of 35 Upland Road, Kent Woodlands.

Wilsey identified the horse after seeing her picture in the I-J. He said that he had tried to allow the horse to spend the rest of her life at pasture, "but increasing blindness and progressing old age have made it impossible for Sally to go on living comfortably."

Theft Charge Lodge At Store

Timothy Murphy, security officer at Montgomery Ward and Co. store in the Corte Madera Shopping Center, placed Robert J. Parra, 45, of 120 Buchanan Street, Sausalito, under citizens arrest yesterday.

Murphy said Parra walked into the store, picked up a pair of trousers and then went to a clerk and exchanged them for cash.

Corte Madera police said Murphy stopped the man outside the store and that Parra had a receipt saying he had purchased the pants the day before.

Murphy signed a citizens arrest form and police booked Parra in county jail on a charge of petty theft.

A daylight burglar entered the home of Paul Maryannis, owner of the Schooner restaurant in Sausalito's Marinship, yesterday and stole a strong box from Maryannis's bedroom containing $2,700 in cash.

Police reported a radio, valued at $80, was also taken.

Entry was made through an open window in the home at 518 Nevada Street sometime between 5 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Land Division Rule Revision Proposed

A three-man committee of the Marin County Planning Commission agreed last night that some revision of the county land division ordinance is necessary to make it more workable.

Included in recommendations the committee will make to the full commission are changes in the street dedication requirement and in fees.

R. Ross Talley of the planning staff reported the committee was most concerned about the street dedication requirement, which has brought the most complaints from developers.

Under the ordinance, the county can require half of the ultimate street width from developers. Minimum street width is 40 feet. The committee agreed last night that this width requirement should be waived in special cases where development along a narrow, existing street is almost complete or where the terrain precludes much additional development.

The committee will also recommend that the definitions should be changed so that a four lot division can be handled under the land division ordinance. Now, anything four lots or over has to be handled under the subdivision ordinance.

should have been brought to a public meeting to be discussed so the board would "have a chance."

During the discussion, Frost arrived in Kettenhofen's office, evidently on the supervisor's summons.

Kettenhofen declared that supervisors Tuesday had not been given all the facts prior to making a decision on the county airport at Novato.

The board was told then by Arthur T. Knutson, assistant public works director, and airport consultant J. G. Percy that a $500,000 facility would have to be built at the Novato site if the county is to qualify for federal aviation authority aid on 54 per cent of the investment.

Kettenhofen said he has since learned that a field of lower standards could be built at about half the cost and still qualify for federal aid.

"The board was asking for this information and did not get it," Kettenhofen said.

Frost promised he would look into it further.

Kettenhofen told Mitchell he was drafting a letter criticizing several departments for not supplying full information to the board. He said he planned to include Mitchell's department on the grounds that full information was not supplied prior to creation of the data processing department from what was formerly a bureau in Mitchell's department.

Mitchell countered that at the time of discussion, he was responsible only for day-to-day operation of the department and that the administrator's office was supplying information to the board.

Administrative analyst John Gibb was called into the office and after a check of his records, confirmed that Mitchell's statement was correct.

Kettenhofen did not include the auditor-controller in the letter, which he released today.

Included were public works, planning, social services, personnel, county fair, district attorney, parks and recreation, and treasurer-tax collector.

Kettenhofen said organization and communication to the board of supervisors was improper.

"There is no longer a place in county government for small, independent cliques, domains or power structures, if it is to remain fully responsible to the people of Marin," the letter said.

Lack of full information to the board might be due to enthusiasm, Kettenhofen said. "However, in some cases it may occur because of lack of sensitivity to the proper structure of communication, responsibility and authority of the department head through the administrator to the board of supervisors, or possibly in a very few instances, self-aggrandizement."

The letter also included several of the same statements that Kettenhofen made to the auditor-controller yesterday afternoon.

geons had stated they would explore other nearby organs.

Doctors said earlier it was possible the President might be able to get out of bed briefly late this afternoon and certainly by Saturday.

The presence of a stone in the ureter indicated that the doctors found a kidney stone as well as a gall stone. The ureter is a hube leading from the kidney.

The President underwent treatment for removal of a kidney stone by manipulation in 1948 and had one removed by surgery in 1955. But he had no record of gall bladder trouble before an attack on Sept. 7.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said Johnson went into the operating room in the same "very good spirits" he exhibited Thursday night. Humphrey made the statement after receiving a telephone report from Moyers shortly before leaving for his office.

Broemmel's Talk Due Next Friday Evening

County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel will address a meeting of the Mariner Cove Improvement Assn. next Friday, not tonight as erroneously reported in the Independent-Juornal on Wednesday.

Broemmel will speak on "Assessed Values of Property in Corte Madera and Marin County" at the meeting at 8 p.m. next Friday at San Clemente School. It is the fall quarterly membership meeting of the association.

Housing Authority Shop Broken Into

Mrs. Evelyn Hughes, Hilarita housing manager, reported yesterday that sometime Wednesday night the housing authority office building was entered and a gasoline filter on a power mower in the maintenance room was broken.

Tiburon Sheriff's Sgt. George R. Barnes said there was no evidence of forced entry into the building but the maintenance room door had been forced.

Supervisors Attacked On Span Delay

Thomas D. Hardcastle, Marin representative on the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board, today blasted the Marin County Board of Supervisors saying they have done little about traffic problems on the bridge in the past two years and now are asking for a delay on a second deck.

He tried unsuccessfully at a meeting of the bridge board to have the question of the second deck removed from any influence by the joint transit committee, set up two years ago with representatives from the bridge district board and Marin and San Francisco boards of supervisors.

The final decision on whether to go ahead with a second deck on the bridge is awaiting the board meeting of Oct. 29, when board president L. E. Castner will return from a trip.

At a meeting as a committee of the whole Tuesday, the bridge board decided "in principle" to have a second deck, but said the delay until Oct. 29 would give the joint committee time to meet and make a recommendation.

Hardcastle complained that in the two years the joint committee has been in existence, it has never convened a meeting, and he blamed Marin supervisors.

Hardcastle's motion to take the matter out of the committee of the whole immediately for final decision died for lack of a second, however.

Director Ben K. Lerer of San Francisco said he favored quick action on a second deck because it would take at least 10 years for another bridge to be built connecting Marin and San Francisco.

The estimate was called conservative by Acting President John E. Nelson of Mendocino County. "If we see a new bridge in 1980, it will be remarkable," he said.

Lerer said there were many people in Marin who would never use a bridge that left Marin from the Tiburon Peninsula or farther north.

Save-Courthouse Committee Set To Plan Tactics

Marin County Historical Society directors today agreed to name a five-man committee to meet with attorneys to decide on the best way to prepare a petition in their drive to save the county courthouse.

Not all members of the committee were named. According to society member Florence Donnally, the group will have to decide whether the petition should seek a referendum or an initiative vote by Marin residents.

At present, the county board of supervisors plans to sell the property to raise $1,400,000 toward the cost of construction of the courthouse wing of the Civic Center in Santa Venetia.

The directors also re-elected Parker Wood as president and named Frank Galli a first vice president. The board agreed to donate $500 to the Marin History Fund for publication of a book on the history of the county.

Sausalito Aides Due At Citizens' Meeting

"Sausalito—Present status and future needs" will be the main topic of discussion at the annual meeting of the Sausalito Citizens Council at 8 p.m., Oct. 21, at the IDESST Hall, Caledonia and Napa streets.

Speaking on the theme, according to council President Raymond G. Gergus, will be Mayor Jan Paul Dyk, who will tell of waterfront planning and city's problems in general; City Mgr. Charles A. Brown, who will report on business administration of the city, and Police Chief Kenneth H. Huck, Fire Chief Charles E. Masten and Charles Lavaroni, superintendent of Sausalito Schools.

Four nominees names have been submitted for five board vacancies, the nominating committee to present a fifth name on or before the meeting. Nominees are Harvey Coverley and incumbents Mrs. Benjamin Farnham, William Remensperger and Fred Sumner.

Directors whose terms expire are Eugene Huggins, Mrs. William Austin, who resigned for health reasons, Mrs. Farnham, Remensperger and Sumner. Directors to serve another year are Gergus, Bill Schmidt, Arie Slikkerveer and Carl W. Spring.

Coffee will be served after the meeting.

HEARING

that a new hearing officer should be able to witness testimony being given, as well as read a transcript of it.

"If a judge dies while a case is in progress, the trial is started anew," he said. "This is the same thing."

"To throw out that testimony would be in violation of the court order and if you do, we will be in court in a couple of days," said Gonick." I fortunately have a client able to finance these forays into court."

"And they are unlimited in number," retorted Riede.

The board voted three-to-one to follow Riede's advice. Board President Marion C. Ibach was absent. Hadden W. Roth, an attorney, voted no and said:

"I think we have to and want to give Dr. Ascherman the full benefit."

The board unanimously selected a new hearing officer because McDonough is teaching at Stanford University and will not be available on a fulltime basis until Jan. 22.

Nelson was one of four men considered before McDonough was selected as the original officer. He is a partner in the law firm of Nelson, Boyd, Menary and MacDonald of San Rafael.

The board also directed that a deposition be taken from Dr. Harold M. Dye, administrator of Polyclinic Hospital in San Francisco, where Ascherman has staff privileges.

Fireman Technique Helps River Barges

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The hook - and - ladder truck concept has been adapted to Mississippi river transportation. Big barge tows — some a half-mile long and with as many as 50 barges —no longer need be moved a few barges at a time around sharp river bends.

The "Pathfinder," an unmanned, radio-controlled steering boat developed by Cargo Carriers, Inc. here, is placed at the front of a string of barges and "snakes" them around bends the way a hook-and-ladder truck turns a corner. It is controlled from the diesel towboat at the rear of the tow.

School Thief Nibbles On Teacher's Apples

A burglar at John MacPhail Elementary School in Santa Venetia asked little loot—only a pencil and a bite from each of two apples on a teacher's desk.

Sheriff's officers said the intruder apparently forced double doors of the school's office wing, then pried a classroom door for entry. The breakin was reported yesterday by Lawrence E. McArdell, principal.

Missing Mare Ordered Killed

Sally, a 28-year-old mare pictured in (Tuesday's Independent-Journal, was ordered killed this morning by her owner, Alfred Wilsey, 41, of 35 Upland Road, Kent Woodlands.

Wilsey identified the horse after seeing her picture in the I-J. He said that he had tried to allow the horse to spend the rest of her life at pasture, "but increasing blindness and progressing old age have made it impossible for Sally to go on living comfortably."

Theft Charge Lodge At Store

Timothy Murphy, security officer at Montgomery Ward and Co. store in the Corte Madera Shopping Center, placed Robert J. Parra, 45, of 120 Buchanan Street, Sausalito, under citizens arrest yesterday.

Murphy said Parra walked into the store, picked up a pair of trousers and then went to a clerk and exchanged them for cash.

Corte Madera police said Murphy stopped the man outside the store and that Parra had a receipt saying he had purchased the pants the day before.

Murphy signed a citizens arrest form and police booked Parra in county jail on a charge of petty theft.

Burglars Steal $2,700 In Cash

A daylight burglar entered the home of Paul Maryannis, owner of the Schooner restaurant in Sausalito's Marinship, yesterday and stole a strong box from Maryannis's bedroom containing $2,700 in cash.

Police reported a radio, valued at $80, was also taken.

Entry was made through an open window in the home at 518 Nevada Street sometime between 5 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Autos Vandalized

Antennas of four vehicles were broken off while they were parked in the 600 block of Irwin Street between midnight and 8 a.m. today, San Rafael police said.

Diamond Says Dropout Rate Up At College

He said 330 students who had originally registered had failed to file cards, thereby dropping out of the college. About half that number was expected. He could not say why the number was so large.

In all, he reported, final registration figures now show a 15 per cent increase in enrollment over the fall of 1964. He said there was an 11 per cent jump in students taking 12 or more units, and a 10 per cent increase in those taking less than nine units of work.

The average class size for credit courses, he reported, was 34.3 students, compared to 29.3 last semester and 32.1 last fall.

Roy G. Mikalson, dean of the evening college, said total noncredit enrollment is down slightly from last spring, with 3,052 students compared to 3,070 then, but added he expected more to register.

He said four new classes, "Adventures in Communication," law for layman, sight-singing, rhythm and ear training, and air conditioning and refrigeration, all had enrollments larger than expected.

Trustee Chairman Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedy asked what efforts had been made to fill the classes. Mikalson said that groups of people mostly likely to be interested were sent letters, and the newspapers publicized courses.

Mrs. Deedy then said that with the college overcrowded, perhaps less money and time should be spent encouraging more students to take non-credit courses. Mikalson said class fees more than paid the cost of giving the new courses.

Peanut Butter Said Becoming Less Nutty

SACRAMENTO (CNS)— Does your peanut butter taste different than it did a few years ago?

Mrs. Helen Nelson of Mill Valley, state consumer counsel, has expressed concern that the peanut content of the product has been dropping. She said the U.S. food and drug administration said some products have as little as 78 per cent peanuts and some widely sold brands contain less than 90 per cent. A public hearing on minimum standards for peanut butter will be held Oct. 18 in Washington, Mrs. Nelson said.

College Continues Summer Recreation

The College of Marin's summer recreation program has been a big success, physical education director Harry J. Pieper told the Marin Junior College District board last night.

The board quickly agreed to continue to hold classes in such subjects as swimming, golf and judo through the fall semester. Trustees also voted to charge $5 per course for each student, in spite of the fact the college may thus appear to make a profit on some large classes.

Pieper suggested at first that the fee for each class be set by the number of students, charging just enough to make each self-sustaining.

He admitted he was not counting building maintenance, cleaning or administration costs as part of the expense of the program, but only counted the teacher's salary.

Board chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy said having variable fees would cause too many administrative problems.

Trustee Robert E. Oliver asked business manager Norman Bird to compute overhead costs for the program. Bird said it should be easy to do.

Classes scheduled for the fall semester, all non-credit, are for badminton, volleyball, coed judo, women's personal fitness, swimming, basketball and golf.

The Marin Junior College District Board also:

1. Accepted the low bid of Abbey Contract Furnishers for $55,563.69 worth of furniture for the College Center, overriding a request by trustee Kent O. Seymour to defer purchase of part of it.

2. Approved purchase of kitchen and eating equipment and utensils for the College Center from three low bidders on different items: American Hospital Supply, $16,588; Dohrmann Co., $2,934.86, and Western States Restaurant and Supply, $1,954.16.

3. Delegated to Mrs. Deedy the final selection of the style of china, glass and flatware to be used in the new college cafeteria.

4. Denied a request by the president's council to give new teachers credit for one year experience if they have had 24 credit hours as part-time teachers.

5. Continued to Oct. 21 a proposal to increase the additional pay of division chairmen from $600 to $1,200 a year, and of department heads from $200 to $400, and to increase pay for part-time teachers by $1 an hour.

6. Continued to Oct. 21 a proposal to increase the fee for part-time students over 21 from $5 to $6 a course.

Trustee Joseph D. Gargiulo was absent.

Smoking Habit's Cures Questioned

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A medical journal reports that individuals are not really "cured" of the smoking habit until they have abstained from cigarettes for at least two years.

The article in the journal of the American Medical Assn. also said that persons who start smoking at a young age have the least chance of breaking the habit.

The article added that smokers who give up tobacco entirely have a better chance of giving up smoking than those who switch to pipes or cigars.

Democrat Lambastes Union Racketeering

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John H. McClellan, D-Ark., said yesterday Congress should be considering legislation to protect union members from racketeer leadership rather than a bill to abolish states' authority to enact "right-to-work" laws.

The Arkansas Democrat made the statements while taking his turn in a Senate filibuster against the administration bill to repeal section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act—the so-called "right-to-work" provision.

Diamond Says Dropout Rate Up At College

He said 330 students who had originally registered had failed to file cards, thereby dropping out of the college. About half that number was expected. He could not say why the number was so large.

In all, he reported, final registration figures now show a 15 per cent increase in enrollment over the fall of 1964. He said there was an 11 per cent jump in students taking 12 or more units, and a 10 per cent increase in those taking less than nine units of work.

The average class size for credit courses, he reported, was 34.3 students, compared to 29.3 last semester and 32.1 last fall.

Roy G. Mikalson, dean of the evening college, said total non-credit enrollment is down slightly from last spring, with 3,052 students compared to 3,070 then, but added he expected more to register.

He said four new classes, "Adventures in Communication," law for layman, sight-singing, rhythm and ear training, and air conditioning and refrigeration, all had enrollments larger than expected.

Trustee Chairman Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedy asked what efforts had been made to fill the classes. Mikalson said that groups of people mostly likely to be interested were sent letters, and the newspapers publicized courses.

Mrs. Deedy then said that with the college overcrowded, perhaps less money and time should be spent encouraging more students to take non-credit courses. Mikalson said class fees more than paid the cost of giving the new courses.

Peanut Butter Said Becoming Less Nutty

SACRAMENTO (CNS)— Does your peanut butter taste different than it did a few years ago?

Mrs. Helen Nelson of Mill Valley, state consumer counsel, has expressed concern that the peanut content of the product has been dropping. She said the U.S. food and drug administration said some products have as little as 78 per cent peanuts and some widely sold brands contain less than 90 per cent. A public hearing on minimum standards for peanut butter will be held Oct. 18 in Washington, Mrs. Nelson said.

College Continues Summer Recreation

The College of Marin's summer recreation program has been a big success, physical education director Harry J. Pieper told the Marin Junior College District board last night.

The board quickly agreed to continue to hold classes in such subjects as swimming, golf and judo through the fall semester. Trustees also voted to charge $5 per course for each student, in spite of the fact the college may thus appear to make a profit on some large classes.

Pieper suggested at first that the fee for each class be set by the number of students, charging just enough to make each self-sustaining.

He admitted he was not counting building maintenance, cleaning or administration costs as part of the expense of the program, but only counted the teacher's salary.

Board chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy said having variable fees would cause too many administrative problems.

Trustee Robert E. Oliver asked business manager Norman Bird to compute overhead costs for the program. Bird said it should be easy to do.

Classes scheduled for the fall semester, all non-credit, are for badminton, volleyball, coed judo, women's personal fitness, swimming, basketball and golf.

The Marin Junior College District Board also:

1. Accepted the low bid of Abbey Contract Furnishers for $55,563.69 worth of furniture for the College Center, overriding a request by trustee Kent O. Seymour to defer purchase of part of it.

2. Approved purchase of kitchen and eating equipment and utensils for the College Center from three low bidders on different items: American Hospital Supply, $16,588; Dohrmann Co., $2,934.86, and Western States Restaurant and Supply, $1,954.16.

3. Delegated to Mrs. Deedy the final selection of the style of china, glass and flatware to be used in the new college cafeteria.

4. Denied a request by the president's council to give new teachers credit for one year experience if they have had 24 credit hours as part-time teachers.

5. Continued to Oct. 21 a proposal to increase the additional pay of division chairmen from $600 to $1,200 a year, and of department heads from $200 to $400, and to increase pay for part-time teachers by $1 an hour.

6. Continued to Oct. 21 a proposal to increase the fee for part-time students over 21 from $5 to $6 a course.

Trustee Joseph D. Gargiulo was absent.

Smoking Habit's Cures Questioned

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A medical journal reports that individuals are not really "cured" of the smoking habit until they have abstained from cigarettes for at least two years.

The article in the journal of the American Medical Assn. also said that persons who start smoking at a young age have the least chance of breaking the habit.

The article added that smokers who give up tobacco entirely have a better chance of giving up smoking than those who switch to pipes or cigars.

TROUBLE AT WHITE HOUSE?

State Attorney Warns Viet Demonstrators

SAN JOSE (AP)—California's attorney general promises stiff legal action against persons who illegally demonstrate against U.S. Viet Nam policy.

Thomas C. Lynch, the attorney general, told the Santa Clara County Bar Assn. last night he has conferred with both federal and local law enforcement officials. All have agreed on a united front for arrests and prosecution, he added.

"Our joint intention is a simple one, and can be simply stated. It is this: We intend to prosecute participants for whatever crimes they commit without fear or favor, and to the full extent of the law," the attorney general said.

His remarks seemed directed at Berkeley's Vietnam Day Committee which had announced earlier this week that it planned an all-day rally at the University of California Oct. 15, followed by a march to the Oakland Army Terminal and a demonstration there all the next day.

The committee said, however, that the rally would take place on a vacant lot next to the terminal, and that earlier plans for acts of civil disobedience had been dropped.

Lynch did not mention the committee by name, but declared, "There is a new political species seeking to participate in our foreign policy debate, a political kamikaze who brings the prodigality of youth to political decision-making composed in equal parts of naivete and irresponsibility."

He said federal and state laws make it a felony to interfere with the armed forces or to obstruct national defense. He added that many misdemeanors also would be involved in any planned mass civil disobedience and said leaders who conspire to commit the misdemeanors would be guilty of felonies.

"What is at stake here is not a simple trespass, or unlawful assemblage. What is at stake is democracy itself," Lynch told his audience. "To submit to such illegal usurpation of power is to submit to anarchy."

A spokesman for the Vietnam Day Committee said a press conference would be held to answer Lynch's remarks.

Policeman Sees Own Son Killed

NEW YORK (AP) — Police Sgt. William Hofaker, on patrol in Brooklyn, saw a speeding car hit a boy and drag his body six blocks.

When the body was thrown loose, Hofaker saw the dead boy was wearing new skating boots.

"My God, that looks like one of my kid's shoes," Hofaker said. It was his son, Robert, 13.

Police said a white compact car which hit the boy last night escaped.

Indonesia Students Burn Red Offices

JAKARTA (AP) — Several thousand young Indonesian Moslems burned the headquarters of the Indonesian Communist party, the PKI, to the ground today.

Indonesian army troops who broke the back of the attempted coup last week cordoned off streets leading to the PKI headquarters and did not interfere with the demonstrators.

The one-story building was reduced to ashes. Three fire trucks played water on them.

The demonstrating youths shouted "Kill Aidit" and "Dissolve PKI." D. N. Aidit is the first secretary of the PKI. He has been out of sight since the coup failed last weekend.

(A Jakarta radio broadcast, heard in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, said 500,000 persons held an anti-Communist rally in Jakarta's main stadium today. The broadcast said "the rally was held in very tense atmosphere" and got somewhat out of hand when some of the crowd began to shout "Kill! Kill! Kill immediately!")

After burning the PKI headquarters, the demonstrators paraded through the streets.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A spreading boilermakers' strike idled workers at most far western construction projects toady as negotiators deadlocked.

Spokesmen for both employers and the boilermakers said before going into today's mediation session that there was little prospect for a quick settlement.

Two Assemblymen Clash Over Remap

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assembly Democrats sought today to protect their temporarily stalled reapportionment bill from the twin threats of Republican opposition and nullification by the voters.

Although they pushed the bill through the house 58-18 yesterday their efforts touched off one of the bitterest public arguments between two lawmakers in recent years.

And despite the top-heavy majority, Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D - Inglewood, asked for another vote Monday—an action that had the effect of preventing the measure from going to the Senate.

Unruh also had to act as a peacemaker in the clash between Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, and Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda.

It occurred in front of Monagan's desk while the Assembly was in session and apparently was prompted by Crown's charge that Republicans had asked him for favorable boundaries for their districts, and had then opposed the bill.

"That's just a little bit phony," he said.

After the vote, he went over to Monagan's desk and the two exchanged words.

"You're about as phony a two-bit as I've ever seen around here," declared Monagan. Crown replied in kind.

But with newsmen and legislators milling around, and Speaker Pro Tem Carlos Bee banging for order, Unruh grabbed the two.

"Do your fighting in my office, not in front of the reporters," said the speaker.

Unruh later told a reporter he suddenly held the bill up in the Assembly for two reasons:

1. He was "playing around with the idea" of putting an emergency clause in the bill. This would have the effect of making it the law as soon as the governor signed it. Without this provision, there would be the usual 90-day wait, with time for opponents to try to get enough signatures for a referendum to nullify it.

"It's to ward off a crack pot attempt at referendum," he said.

2. He wanted one more check to see if there were any errors in the measure.

It takes a two-thirds vote of 54 for the emergency clause—but Unruh noted the bill got four more than that yesterday.

Prelate Forgives Student's Stunt

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing has written to a Harvard student who appeared at Harvard Stadium in the robes of a Roman Catholic cardinal and pretended to bless the Harvard football team.

Cardinal Cushing advised the student, whose name was not revealed, to forget the incident.

The cardinal was replying yesterday to a letter of apology the student wrote Holy Cross College, whose football team Harvard was playing when the incident occurred.

Lynch Rips Assessors, Practices

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assessors and their property tax assessment practices have been sharply criticized by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, who declares their governing laws are more fantasy than fact.

Lynch, testifying before lawmakers yesterday, said, however, he believes "only a small number" of county assessors are involved in the current assessors scandal.

The attorney general's statement, read by Chief Deputy Atty. Gen. Charles A. O'Brien, was made before the Assembly Subcommittee on Assessment Practices. It is looking into irregularities revealed in the offices of certain county tax assessors who allegedly accepted kickbacks for reducing assessment levels for big businesses.

INVITES FRAUD

Grand jury indictments already have been returned against the assessors of San Francisco and Alameda counties and probes are being expanded throughout the state.

Committee chairman Leo J. Ryan, D - South San Francisco, who said there would be a series of hearings on the subject, declared recent disclosures affect every property taxpayer in California.

Lynch said he "was shocked" when the San Francisco disclosures came to his attention on July 21.

"At this time," Lynch said, "we can make no total estimate of the number of public officials, the number of consultants, the number of attorneys, the number of firms that are involved.

"The information that we have developed and corroborated to date represents a fraction of the known total involvement."

Not only assessors are involved, Lynch said. "We are convinced that the law as presently administered also invites fraud on the part of business firms."

Lynch asserted it appeared that the code governing assesors appeared to be penned by Lewis Carroll. He said:

"Even Alice, as amazed as she was at the strange practices in Wonderland, could at least find out what was going on. But in California, just try to find out what the assessor is doing. His records are more closely guarded than our atomic secrets. And from whom — the public, the taxpayers ... law enforcement."

NEIGHBORS' FEUD VICTIM

Disagreement on whether this huge palm tree astraddle a property line between two Culver City homes should go or stay, resulted in this split decision yesterday. One resident spent $185 on tree surgery to get rid of his half; the other remains standing in neighbor's yard. Experts say the tree probably won't live another year. The neighbors refuse to be identified publicly. (UPI Telephoto)

Two Assemblymen Clash Over Remap

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assembly Democrats sought today to protect their temporarily stalled reapportionment bill from the twin threats of Republican opposition and nullification by the voters.

Although they pushed the bill through the house 58-18 yesterday their efforts touched off one of the bitterest public arguments between two lawmakers in recent years.

And despite the top-heavy majority, Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D - Inglewood, asked for another vote Monday—an action that had the effect of preventing the measure from going to the Senate.

Unruh also had to act as a peacemaker in the clash between Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, and Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda.

It occurred in front of Monagan's desk while the Assembly was in session and apparently was prompted by Crown's charge that Republicans had asked him for favorable boundaries for their districts, and had then opposed the bill.

"That's just a little bit phony," he said.

After the vote, he went over to Monagan's desk and the two exchanged words.

"You're about as phony a two-bit as I've ever seen around here," declared Monagan. Crown replied in kind.

But with newsmen and legislators milling around, and Speaker Pro Tem Carlos Bee banging for order, Unruh grabbed the two.

"Do your fighting in my office, not in front of the reporters," said the speaker.

Unruh later told a reporter he suddenly held the bill up in the Assembly for two reasons:

1. He was "playing around with the idea" of putting an emergency clause in the bill. This would have the effect of making it the law as soon as the governor signed it. Without this provision, there would be the usual 90-day wait, with time for opponents to try to get enough signatures for a referendum to nullify it.

"It's to ward off a crack pot attempt at referendum," he said.

2. He wanted one more check to see if there were any errors in the measure.

It takes a two-thirds vote of 54 for the emergency clause—but Unruh noted the bill got four more than that yesterday.

Prelate Forgives Student's Stunt

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing has written to a Harvard student who appeared at Harvard Stadium in the robes of a Roman Catholic cardinal and pretended to bless the Harvard football team.

Cardinal Cushing advised the student, whose name was not revealed, to forget the incident.

The cardinal was replying yesterday to a letter of apology the student wrote Holy Cross College, whose football team Harvard was playing when the incident occurred.

Lynch Rips Assessors, Practices

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assessors and their property tax assessment practices have been sharply criticized by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, who declares their governing laws are more fantasy than fact.

Lynch, testifying before lawmakers yesterday, said, however, he believes "only a small number" of county assessors are involved in the current assessors scandal.

The attorney general's statement, read by Chief Deputy Atty. Gen. Charles A. O'Brien, was made before the Assembly Subcommittee on Assessment Practices. It is looking into irregularities revealed in the offices of certain county tax assessors who allegedly accepted kickbacks for reducing assessment levels for big businesses.

INVITES FRAUD

Grand jury indictments already have been returned against the assessors of San Francisco and Alameda counties and probes are being expanded throughout the state.

Committee chairman Leo J. Ryan, D - South San Francisco, who said there would be a series of hearings on the subject, declared recent disclosures affect every property taxpayer in California.

Lynch said he "was shocked" when the San Francisco disclosures came to his attention on July 21.

"At this time," Lynch said, "we can make no total estimate of the number of public officials, the number of consultants, the number of attorneys, the number of firms that are involved.

"The information that we have developed and corroborated to date represents a fraction of the known total involvement."

Not only assessors are involved, Lynch said. "We are convinced that the law as presently administered also invites fraud on the part of business firms."

Lynch asserted it appeared that the code governing assesors appeared to be penned by Lewis Carroll. He said:

"Even Alice, as amazed as she was at the strange practices in Wonderland, could at least find out what was going on. But in California, just try to find out what the assessor is doing. His records are more closely guarded than our atomic secrets. And from whom — the public, the taxpayers ... law enforcement."

ATTACKED BY BEAR—Fred Seaford, 50, from Montgomery Creek, 45 miles east of Redding, shows yesterday how he fired his deer rifle as an enraged bear chewed on his left arm last Sunday near Seaford's home. (AP Wirephoto)

100 Planes Lost In Bomb Raids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has lost just over 100 planes in North Viet Nam since the bombing raids began last February, an average loss of less than one-half of 1 per cent.

In revealing this yesterday, U.S. officials noted that the loss rate compared with losses of 2 or 3 per cent over Europe in the late stages of World War II.

Exact figures on U.S. aircraft losses in both North and South Viet Nam were not available, but apparently they total in the neighborhood of 400, including four jets shot down by Soviet-built antiaircraft missiles.

McNamara Seeking New Bases To Close

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara is studying the possibility of closing or reducing still more U.S. military installations, despite the 340,000-man Viet Nam buildup now in progress.

Administration officials said yesterday that McNamara's study was one aspect of the process of determining what additional military money requests must be made of Congress next year because of the Viet Nam conflict.

HUNTER'S ORDEAL

"I figured I was a goner. I'd shoot and he'd keep chewing. I could hear the bones in my arm crunching. All I could think of was to get him before I passed out."

That's how Seaford, 50, told it yesterday from a hospital chair, his hand and legs in bandages.

"We were hunting deer" in a Northern California wilderness, he continued. "The dog came back growling to where I was resting. When I started out again, it stayed behind me."

Moments later the bear sprang from a depression along a deer trail.

"I had this hand in the bear's mouth," Seaford said. "In my other hand I had a . . . rifle. . .

"On the first shot, he turned loose of my arm. He must have been trying to bite his flank, where the bullet hit. He sank four fangs into my right leg instead."

Seaford's clothing caught in the rifle's breech during the shooting and heh ad to eject an unfired bullet to clear the chamber.

Finally the bear collapsed and died, falling on top of Seaford.

"I was doing quite a bit of hollering," he continued. "When the old bear quit, I was so tired that I couldn't crawl out from under him."

His brother-in-law, answering his calls, freed him, applied a tourniquet and drove him to Mercy Hospital here.

The two men were part of a two-family, seven person group.

A black bear usually is docile for a wild animal and Seaford wonders why this one attacked him. "I just happened to be the one he ran into, I guess. I'm thankful it was me instead of one of the kids or womenfolk."

"We were hunting deer," he mused. "I never hunt bear. I never bothered a bear in my life."

Shaver's Lumber Mill was built in 1864, north of First Street in San Rafael, by Isaac Shaver, a New Yorker who had come overland to California in 1852. The mill shipped much of its lumber from Ross Landing (where the College of Marin is now).

Vatican Vote Modernizes Religious Life

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Ecumenical Council completes action today on a set of reforms changing the lives of about two million priests, nuns and monks. More than 200,000 members of religious orders in the United States will be affected.

The changes are aimed at putting the priests, nuns and monks into 20th century dress and getting them out of monasteries and convents and into the streets, where church prelates feel they can accomplish more good.

The council delegates are approving reforms calling for an end to obsolete practices. One representative said nuns no longer should be treated as "little girls who have to have a companion holding them by the hand every time they leave the house."

Religious habits will be modified "in keeping toward the times," both for priests and nuns. Some women's orders already have adopted the new style of dress—in one instance designed by the House of Dior—but this marks the first time Franciscans, Dominicans and other orders of monks are being changed.

Winery organizations maintain strict supervision of French wines.

Civil Rights Group Fills One Vacancy

The Marin County Human Rights Commission last night filled one of nine vacancies in its membership and made plans for finding other candidates by next month's meeting.

Four of the nine vacancies are recent. They are those left by Dr. Theodore A. Gill, Dr. Daniel A. Collins, Dr. John S. Siemens and Douglas M. Merrill. Commission secretary Betty Gunn said all resigned due to the press of other duties.

Mrs. Gunn said the commission, usually about 22 members strong, has not kept close track of resignations and not acted officially on them for some time.

The commission officially accepted all resignations last night and members agreed to come with lists of candidates to the commission at the Nov. 4 session.

Appointments must be ratified by the board of supervisors.

The commission also asked Walter Bremond, director of community relations, to ask supervisors to assure strong wording against discrimination in contracts for construction of the hall of justice addition to the Civic Center.

Wife Divorces Left-Wing Figure

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Eugene Dennis Jr., 22, son of the former head of the American Communist party, was divorced by his 21-year-old wife, Elizabeth, yesterday on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Coed Wins Suit Over Disrobing By School Boss

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Damages of $4,000 have been paid to a 19-year-old former high school girl who said she was ordered to disrobe partially in a search for missing school money.

Antoinette Jefry originally was awarded $10,000 by a jury last February. But Superior Judge Aubrey N. Irwin ruled evidence was insufficient to support the verdict. He ordered a new trial.

The second trial was scheduled to begin yesterday, but an insurance company representing the Los Angeles School District announced the settlement at the outset of the court proceedings.

Miss Jefry was a cashier in a school book store when the store manager, Mrs. Anne H. Nelson, made her strip to her lingerie in a search for 50 cents missing from the cash register.

Miss Jefry had sued for $228,000.

Striking Pickers Get Marin Food

Two Marinites took a truck load of food last weekend to striking grape pickers in San Joaquin Valley and plan to leave tomorrow with another load.

Members of Marin Friends of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, they transport the foods to members of the Farm Workers Assn., striking for a wage of $1.40 per hour plus 25 cents per box of grapes, according to Alfred Lowry of Mill Valley.

Mayor Dyk New Local Agency Head

Sausalito Mayor Jan Paul Dyk was elected chairman of the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night, succeeding County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel.

Broemmel left the commission because a new state law requires that the two county representatives on it be supervisors.

The commission passed a resolution praising Broemmel for his service as chairman for the past two years. Dyk was elected to a one-year term.

Commissioners also adopted revised rules for procedure.

John F. Barrows, executive officer for the commission, reminded them the revised law permits commissioners to receive pay. However, commissioners made no move to request it. They receive mileage reimbursement at 10 cents a mile.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, a member of the commission, said there should be revisions in the law that would facilitate annexations and de-annexations to cities.

"De-annexations is as cumbersome a procedure as I could conceive," he said.

Barrows was requested to undertake a study of revisions that could be recommended to the legislature.

French General Henri H. Girard was cauptured by Germans in both World Wars. He escaped both times.

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night continued its hearing on the proposed 61-acre Cascade annexation to Mill Valley to Nov. 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Center.

No one appeared for the hearing. John F. Barrows, commission executive officer, said Mill Valley City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer had requested a continuance.

Mill Valley has filed notice of intention to annex the 61 acres which lie south of the Cascade Reservoir, north of Edgewood Avenue, east of Monte Vista Avenue and west of Panoramic Highway.

Barrows recommended against the annexation.

The commission also set for Nov. 4 hearing to settle the long-confused boundaries between the cities of Larkspur and Corte Madera.

Commissioners approved annexation of about five acres in Belveron Gardens, between Mercury Avenue and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, to the Tiburon Fire Protection District.

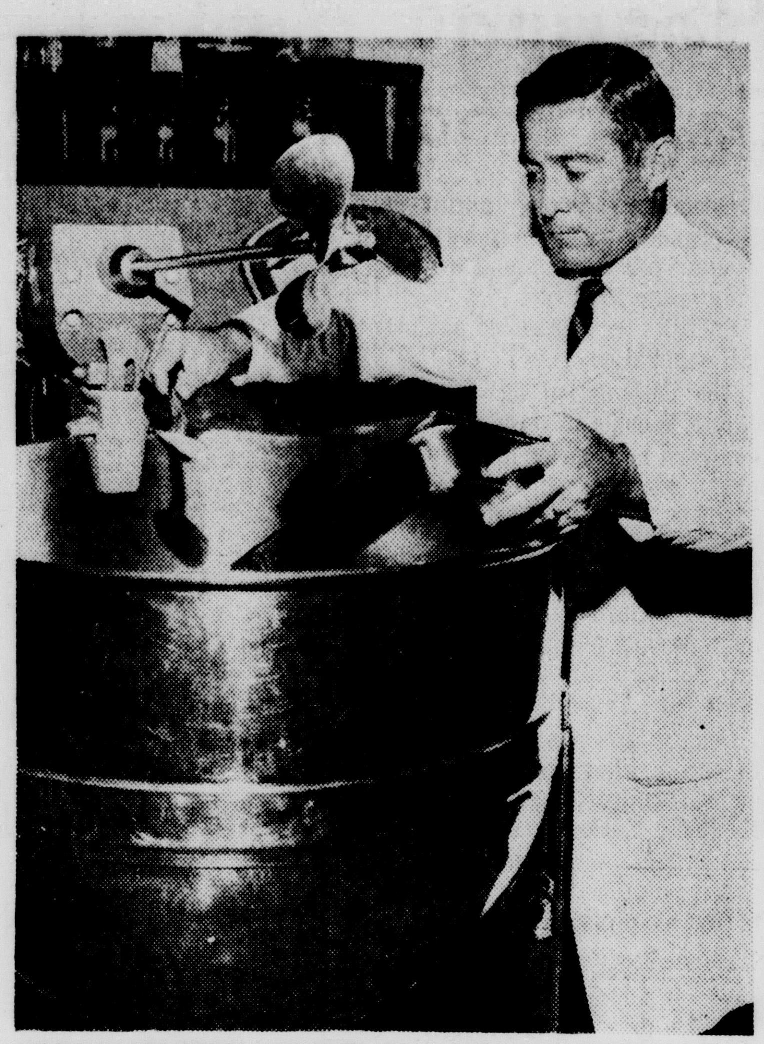
NEW PHARMACY — Ross General Hospital's new terrace addition, which will be shown to the public Sunday, features an all-new pharmacy. Here, among the many shelves of pharmaceuticals, John Lewis prepares a prescription for a patient.



MANUFACTURING PLANT—Ross General Hospital becomes a "manufacturing druggist" in its new terrace addition, making many of the salves and solutions used in treatment of the ill. A. H. Angelini, director of pharmacy, mixes ingredients for an antiseptic detergent.

'SLOT MACHINE'—Much medication at Ross Hospital now can be dispensed automatically, with this machine which looks something like a cigarette vending machine. Nurse Leona Wofford feeds the proper coded cards into the automatic dispenser—and out comes the packaged and labeled medication.

NEW CONCEPTS

Ross Hospital Open House Set For Terrace Addition

Newest concepts in hospital care and equipment will be unveiled in Marin County Sunday afternoon when Ross General Hospital holds an open house inspection of its new Terrace Addition.

Every department of the $475,000 multi-story structure, as well as the hospital's newly enlarged manufacturing pharmacy, will be open to the public. Many departments will demonstrate their particular services, including physical therapy and occupational therapy. Also on view will be the Brewer System, equipment resembling a cigarette vending machine which automatically dispenses drugs and medication.

Construction on the hospital's new wing, linking the main hospital building with the tuberculosis terrace, was started in September, 1964. It provides 18,000 square feet over three levels, adds 40 beds to an existing 120 beds and permits a substantial addition to examination, laboratory, research and supply facilities.

The first floor houses a large central supply area equipped with the first combination steam and gas sterilizer in Marin County. This new equipment permits the sterilization of delicate, new surgical instruments which would be harmed by steam.

Also on the first floor is the electroencephalographic laboratory and radio-isotope lab. The latter department makes use of radioactive materials to detect certain elements in the bloodstream.

New and unusual furnishings and equipment are found in the second floor concentrated medical care area. Corridors and patients' rooms are completely carpeted. Dr. John C. Siemens, hospital administrator, observes that carpeting performs two jobs: "It muffles the sounds of footsteps and voices and it also provides a greater degree of cleanliness."

Also in the concentrated medical care area is a new electronic monitoring system which records pulse rate of seriously ill patients, as well as their heart rhythm and electrocardiogram. The nursing station can keep as many as five patients under constant surveillance with the monitor.

Third floor of the new wing is for long-term patients and rehabilitation.

Each room has individual air conditioning and heating controls.

Commenting on the absence of an intercom system between rooms and nursing stations, Dr. Siemens declared: "Automation will never replace the therapeutic value of personal nursing care. In our continuing use of new equipment and treatment methods, we have avoided anything which would minimize this type of care. We believe that when the patient signals the nursing station, he wants immediate, personal attention rather than a 'voice'."

The terrace addition is Ross General Hospital's fifth major building project since the hospital came under its present physician-owner management 10 years ago. Other projects have included a large wing for psychiatric care, new surgery suite and new administrative offices.

The terrace addition was designed by Kentfield architect Jack Hermann and constructed by Herrero Brothers, San Francisco, general contractors.

The Caspian sea has no outlet.

Literary Review Out At Redwood

Bookmark, Redwood High School's monthly publication of literary review, began the school year with announcement of a new staff.

Advisor Philip Pease named senior Meredith Pike, daughter of Mrs. Jane P. Pike of Kentfield, as editor, assistant editors are Kate dePremery and Duncan Williams, both of Ross. The staff includes former members Betsy Klein and Nancy Dickson and new members Ed Lederman, Steve Hogue, and Marc Fine.

Natural Science Conference Set

A teachers' conference on natural sciences will be held tomorrow at Vallecito School in Dixie District.

The conference, sponsored by the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum and the county schools office, will start with registration at 8:30 a.m. Dr. Robert Stebbins, professor of zoology at University of California, Berkeley, will talk on "Natural Sciences in the Classroom." Small group meetings will follow.

Costa Rica has no army.

The Methodist movement was carried to America in 1760 by emigrants from Ireland.

Juniors, Seniors To Set Example For Clean School

Juniors and seniors in Redwood High School will pick up papers in hallways, rather than tell freshmen and sophomores to do it, student body president Dan Kreps has announced.

The change is an attempt by the student leaders to set a good example in keeping the school clean and the school spirit high, he said.

"Having the self-government representatives take this kind of image, we hope to curb the littering and other problems that have caused distress among teachers and students in previous years," he said.

Self-government head Tom Sather said he hopes students will thus be more interested in helping the school.

As part of the program of self-government, the school is continuing the program of last year of using student proctors in the library to maintain order.

Board Of Education Would Cut Override

The San Rafael Board of Education plans to eliminate an 8-cent override tax levied this year for special education if voters approve a 50-cent increase in the general operating tax rate of the elementary school district next Tuesday, the board president said today.

The increase would be effective for next school year.

Walter J. Doll, board of education president, in a statement emphasizing need for the tax increase, said:

"In trying to maintain our quality school system, the board of education this year has had to levy an override of eight cents, which is allowed by the state.

"Traditionally, the board has been reluctant to add overrides to the tax structure of San Rafael. Our stand has always been: the people should determine their own taxes in the light of their own wishes.

The passage of this proposed increase will permit the board to eliminate those override taxes that have been levied in this emergency."

The ballot proposal is to permit an increase in the general operating rate from $1.75 to $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation.

Under California's complicated education code, many school expenses can be financed either from the general operating rate, ceiling on which is controlled by the voters, or from special "overrides." The code provides for 21 of the latter. Some of these, such as for employee retirement, are levied separately by virtually all districts. Others, such as the additional tax for alleged additional cost of junior high programs, and special programs of various kinds, are used by only a few districts.

Doll noted that "San Rafael's tax rate for education is the lowest of all large communities in the county." Both the general operating rate and the total rate ($2.355 this year including bond payments) in the San Rafael Elementary School District are the lowest among districts of comparable size in Marin.

"The members of the board of education stand united in urging the citizens to support their schools and children" in voting for the tax increase, Doll said.

"For the last three years, in spite of our care, the growth of the student body and its needs have consumed the reserve funds of our budget," he continued. "We are now at the end of the financial line . . .

"A tax increase of 50 cents will permit the school system to examine again its goals and service to children, to reinstate the reductions that were necessary this year, and to begin rebuilding our reserves to a level consistent with sound business practices."

Prosecution Winds Up Case In Sally Theft

Prosecution attorneys yesterday wound up their case with the questioning of an expert in safe burglaries in the conspiracy trial of San Francisco police officers Salvatore Polani and Patrick Buckman, and three ex-convicts in the Sally Stanford burglary.

San Francisco Police Inspector William Valentine explained the use of each of the tools in the two suitcases found in the Stanford home in San Francisco April 6, saying they were designed for opening a safe.

The two officers, along with Louis Romero, Wesley Gant and Winston Major, are on trial in the case together. Officer Edmond Paascke yesterday testified that bullets found in a Cadillac owned by Dorothy (Muffin) Haynes matched those found in Romero's pocket the night the burglary was supposed to have been tried.

Romero earlier told police he had borrowed Mrs. Haynes' auto.

The trial will resume Monday in San Francisco Superior Court.

Georgia Rights Victory For King

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga. (AP) —Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who had his worst setback three years ago in Georgia, emerged today in control of the civil rights drive in this small town after a power struggle with political implications.

Small groups of Negroes tried once again to either board school buses with white children or block the vehicles today. Eighty state troopers thwarted the attempt. Four Negroes lay down on the street but were moved quickly.

Another group tried to run through police lines and one trooper was bowled over but he tackled a Negro youth. There were twice as many troopers on hand as usual because those who had been on duty for about a week were being replaced.

Negroes involved in the Taliaferro County school integration push voted overwhelmingly last night at a mass meeting to turn over control of the movement to King and his Southern Christian Leadership Conference — and to continue demonstrations.

Another attempt to integrate school buses was scheduled today.

"As far as I am concerned the movement is out of my hands now," said Calvin Turnner, the local Negro leader, at the mass meeting. "It is now in the hands of SCLC and Dr. King."

In a similar vein, Chairman W. E. Watson of the County Commission told newsmen that the dispute was out of local control. "Nobody is going to move in any direction until a moratorium is observed, until good faith is shown," he said.

Watson said Negro leaders have shown that they do not want a settlement.

Turner asked for a show of hands on the question of control at last night's meeting. Nearly all the approximately 150 Negroes voted for King and his SCLA.

The significance of this action lies in the fact that the governor and State Sen. Leroy Johnson of Atlanta, a Negro, had sought to solidify Georgia Negro leaders in a more moderate course that would have halted demonstrations—and blocked SCLC.

SCLC leaders, particularly Hosea Williams, the director of political education, said Johnson would not be a spokesman for the civil rights movement. Williams has charged the governor with a political play linked to his reported intentions of seeking a U.S. Senate seat next year.

Marin Painters Union Switches Council Ties

Marin's Painters Union Local 83 has been granted its request to switch from District Council 8 in San Francisco to District Council 16 in Oakland.

The painters local was informed of the decision today in a letter from Frank Rafferty, president of the International Brotherhood of Painters, Paperhangers, and Decorators of America.

George R. Scott, treasurer of local 83, rejoiced with the news.

"We're very happy. We've been trying to break away from the San Francisco council for more than four months," he said.

The rift in the San Francisco District Council led to picketing of Marin painters' jobs by union men from San Francisco in August.

Scott said that the local painters would sign the Oakland council's contract agreement today. The agreement calls for the same pay rate as that of the San Francisco council, but eliminates controversial demands on coffee breaks and limitation on use of rollers.

Car Clout Reported

A woman's white coat valued at $124.50, a platinum tie clasp with a half-carat diamond valued at $100 and $2 in change were taken from the car of Rowena A. Walter, 287 Golden Hinde Passage, Corte Madera, while the car was parked at the Elks Club in San Rafael on the night of Oct. 1, she told police yesterday.

Marijuana Case Guilty Plea Given

A 19-year-old Marin City youth, sentenced to California Youth Authority last Wednesday for burglary of Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon, yesterday pleaded also to possession of marijuana and to second degree burglary of Eat and Run Inc., Kentfield.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner ordered sentences for Ira Lewis Edwards, 135 Drake Avenue, to run concurrently with the previous sentence, a term to be fixed later by the CYA.

Edwards and Michael Raymond Tauer, 18, of 38 Strawberry Circle, Strawberry Manor, were charged with burglary of the cafe Sept. 20. Edwards also was charged with selling marijuana but pleaded to the lesser and included offense of possession.

Tauer still faces trial on the cafe break-in.

Nonlethal Gas Again Is Used In Viet Nam

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. paratroopers launched a big new operation on the fringe of the Viet Cong's "D" zone and used nonlethal tear gas, a U.S. military spokesman said.

No further details were immediately available on the gas attack, but the spokesman said the American troops had made "significant contact" with the Viet Cong.

Field commanders were authorized to use nonlethal gas if it was deemed necessary. The object was to flush out the Viet Cong without wounding or killing noncombatants.

Thousands of American troops combed a densely jungled area about 30 miles north of Saigon. Australian forces supported the operation.

B52 bombers from Guam hammered the area twice before the U.S. ground offensive.

The paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade landed by helicopter and moved into the Viet Cong area in convoys along Highway 13, near the district capital of Ben Cat.

The spokesman gave no details on the fighting, but it was believed to have been heavy.

The D Zone is a huge jungle area which the Viet Cong has dominated for years. It has been a frequent target of U.S. bombers, and American troops have been nibbling at its fringes repeatedly in recent months, looking for the Viet Cong and destroying their installations and stores.

Freight Car Off Rails At Chico

CHICO (AP) — One car of a Southern Pacific freight train was derailed last night as it it was passing through Chico.

Police said there was no report of injuries.

Wrecking crews were called from nearby Marysville to clear the track.

Probation Given In Petty Theft

Dennis Paul Auerhan, 21, of 55 Fairfax Street, San Rafael, was placed on two years probation and given a 90-day jail sentence on condition that he serve 30 days yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for petty theft.

He originally had been charged with burglary in the taking of a wallet from the apartment of Lois M. Hawk, at the same address, on May 3.

Contempt Ruling Review Is Sought By Attorney

Petition for a writ of review of a Marin Municipal Court contempt ruling was filed late yesterday in Marin Superior Court by Harold R. Hayes, San Rafael attorney fined $750 for alleged failure to properly represent a client.

The application was submitted to Judge Thomas F. Keating, who said today it will be given instead to Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, handling the law and motion calendar.

If the latter issues a writ, a hearing will be scheduled, also before Judge Gardiner.

Hayes was found in contempt Sept. 27 by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. for failure to appear on two dates to represent a client, Michael Lee Humphrey, 26, of 21 Stevens Place, San Rafael.

The attorney's petition declares that under law he cannot appeal the case, and therefore seeks the review on grounds that Judge Goldstein acted in excess of jurisdiction, because there is no record of any court order directing Hayes to appear on either of the two occasions—Sept. 16 and Sept. 17; that the court's business was not impeded or inconvenienced by Hayes's failure to appear because another case was called first and "took the balance of the afternoon" in having another attorney appear on Hayes' behalf.

Hayes asks for a Superior Court ruling setting aside the contempt finding. Judge Goldstein has granted him 30 days in which to obtain a ruling prior to payment of the $750.

Patrick C. Goodyear, sometimes associate of Hayes, represented Humphrey in the Sept. 17 drunken driving court trial. Humphrey was convicted. Hayes has admitted in court that he was in Las Vegas, Nev., at time of the trial.

Fertility Drug Patient Has Sextuplets; All Soon Die

STOCKHOLM (AP) — An unidentified Swedish woman gave birth to sextuplets this month after being treated with the now world famous Gemzell hormone method, the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet reported today. The children lived only for a few hours.

The delivery occurred Oct. 3 at the Academic Hospital in Uppsala, the university town north of Stockholm where Swedish Prof. Carl Gemzell has developed the hormone treatment which has made it possible for formerly sterile women to become mothers.

The multiple births — a case of stillborn sextuplets was recorded one year ago — are due to the fact that Gemzell and his team as yet haven't been able to determine exactly the special hormone dose needed.

Th six children, four girls and two boys, all died within a few hours after the delivery, the newspaper said. Their mother is reported to be in good condition.

Prison's Tours Booked For Year

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today that tours which the prison runs for civic groups must be reserved at least a year in advance.

During the Saturday night tours visitors are shown the execution room, a cell block, prison chapels, the prison industrial complex, they are fed a meal in the prison dining room, and a variety show is presented for them by the inmates. A fee is charged to cover expenses of the tours, said Park.

The fall season of tours will begin tomorrow night when a group from Lamda Alpha Epsilon, a Bay Area law enforcement society, views the prison.

Hamilton Squadron In Third Place

The 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Hamilton Air Force Base, today was unofficially in third place in the world wide William Tell weapons meet at Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla.

The team from Hamilton flew one low drone and three tow target missions yesterday, adding 2,600 points to its score.

Doctor Feared Hurt By Crash

Dr. Maurice Spottswood, 54, of 180 Sturdivant Avenue, San Anselmo, may have suffered serious head injuries today when he drove his car off the side of his driveway into a tree.

He was being X-rayed at Marin General Hospital today for possible head injuries and nurses said he would probably be admitted to the hospital.

San Anselmo police said that after the accident, the doctor climber out of his car and made his way back to his home to call for help. They said he could not recall how the accident occurred.

Sausalito Group Looks Over CUT, May Support It

Sausalito Citizens Council directors last night discussed what Correct Unfair Taxation is doing in Belvedere and Tiburon, and agreed to audit a CUT meeting Oct. 19 to see if they may wish to "aid and abet CUT."

"We have been probing what CUT has been doing," said Carl W. Spring, council corresponding secretary. "We want to see if in what fashion, if any, the board may want to aid and abet the organization.

"We also look further in this and feel the final answer has got to be a marked reduction in the spiraling cost of local government, that is, city and county."

The CUT meeting will be at 8 p.m. at Reed School, Tiburon. The organization of volunteers banded together this spring to protest property tax assessments in Belvedere and Tiburon.

Georgia Rights Victory For King

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga. (AP) —Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who had his worst setback three years ago in Georgia, emerged today in control of the civil rights drive in this small town after a power struggle with political implications.

Small groups of Negroes tried once again to either board school buses with white children or block the vehicles today. Eighty state troopers thwarted the attempt. Four Negroes lay down on the street but were moved quickly.

Another group tried to run through police lines and one trooper was bowled over but he tackled a Negro youth. There were twice as many troopers on hand as usual because those who had been on duty for about a week were being replaced.

Negroes involved in the Taliaferro County school integration push voted overwhelmingly last night at a mass meeting to turn over control of the movement to King and his Southern Christian Leadership Conference — and to continue demonstrations.

Another attempt to integrate school buses was scheduled today.

"As far as I am concerned the movement is out of my hands now," said Calvin Turnner, the local Negro leader, at the mass meeting. "It is now in the hands of SCLC and Dr. King."

In a similar vein, Chairman W. E. Watson of the County Commission told newsmen that the dispute was out of local control. "Nobody is going to move in any direction until a moratorium is observed, until good faith is shown," he said.

Watson said Negro leaders have shown that they do not want a settlement.

Turner asked for a show of hands on the question of control at last night's meeting. Nearly all the approximately 150 Negroes voted for King and his SCLA.

The significance of this action lies in the fact that the governor and State Sen. Leroy Johnson of Atlanta, a Negro, had sought to solidify Georgia Negro leaders in a more moderate course that would have halted demonstrations—and blocked SCLC.

SCLC leaders, particularly Hosea Williams, the director of political education, said Johnson would not be a spokesman for the civil rights movement. Williams has charged the governor with a political play linked to his reported intentions of seeking a U.S. Senate seat next year.

Marin Painters Union Switches Council Ties

Marin's Painters Union Local 83 has been granted its request to switch from District Council 8 in San Francisco to District Council 16 in Oakland.

The painters local was informed of the decision today in a letter from Frank Rafferty, president of the International Brotherhood of Painters, Paperhangers, and Decorators of America.

George R. Scott, treasurer of local 83, rejoiced with the news.

"We're very happy. We've been trying to break away from the San Francisco council for more than four months," he said.

The rift in the San Francisco District Council led to picketing of Marin painters' jobs by union men from San Francisco in August.

Scott said that the local painters would sign the Oakland council's contract agreement today. The agreement calls for the same pay rate as that of the San Francisco council, but eliminates controversial demands on coffee breaks and limitation on use of rollers.

Car Clout Reported

A woman's white coat valued at $124.50, a platinum tie clasp with a half-carat diamond valued at $100 and $2 in change were taken from the car of Rowena A. Walter, 287 Golden Hinde Passage, Corte Madera, while the car was parked at the Elks Club in San Rafael on the night of Oct. 1, she told police yesterday.

Marijuana Case Guilty Plea Given

A 19-year-old Marin City youth, sentenced to California Youth Authority last Wednesday for burglary of Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon, yesterday pleaded also to possession of marijuana and to second degree burglary of Eat and Run Inc., Kentfield.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner ordered sentences for Ira Lewis Edwards, 135 Drake Avenue, to run concurrently with the previous sentence, a term to be fixed later by the CYA.

Edwards and Michael Raymond Tauer, 18, of 38 Strawberry Circle, Strawberry Manor, were charged with burglary of the cafe Sept. 20. Edwards also was charged with selling marijuana but pleaded to the lesser and included offense of possession.

Tauer still faces trial on the cafe break-in.

Nonlethal Gas Again Is Used In Viet Nam

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. paratroopers launched a big new operation on the fringe of the Viet Cong's "D" zone and used nonlethal tear gas, a U.S. military spokesman said.

No further details were immediately available on the gas attack, but the spokesman said the American troops had made "significant contact" with the Viet Cong.

Field commanders were authorized to use nonlethal gas if it was deemed necessary. The object was to flush out the Viet Cong without wounding or killing noncombatants.

Thousands of American troops combed a densely jungled area about 30 miles north of Saigon. Australian forces supported the operation.

B52 bombers from Guam hammered the area twice before the U.S. ground offensive.

The paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade landed by helicopter and moved into the Viet Cong area in convoys along Highway 13, near the district capital of Ben Cat.

The spokesman gave no details on the fighting, but it was believed to have been heavy.

The D Zone is a huge jungle area which the Viet Cong has dominated for years. It has been a frequent target of U.S. bombers, and American troops have been nibbling at its fringes repeatedly in recent months, looking for the Viet Cong and destroying their installations and stores.

Freight Car Off Rails At Chico

CHICO (AP) — One car of a Southern Pacific freight train was derailed last night as it it was passing through Chico.

Police said there was no report of injuries.

Wrecking crews were called from nearby Marysville to clear the track.

Probation Given In Petty Theft

Dennis Paul Auerhan, 21, of 55 Fairfax Street, San Rafael, was placed on two years probation and given a 90-day jail sentence on condition that he serve 30 days yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for petty theft.

He originally had been charged with burglary in the taking of a wallet from the apartment of Lois M. Hawk, at the same address, on May 3.

Contempt Ruling Review Is Sought By Attorney

Petition for a writ of review of a Marin Municipal Court contempt ruling was filed late yesterday in Marin Superior Court by Harold R. Hayes, San Rafael attorney fined $750 for alleged failure to properly represent a client.

The application was submitted to Judge Thomas F. Keating, who said today it will be given instead to Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, handling the law and motion calendar.

If the latter issues a writ, a hearing will be scheduled, also before Judge Gardiner.

Hayes was found in contempt Sept. 27 by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. for failure to appear on two dates to represent a client, Michael Lee Humphrey, 26, of 21 Stevens Place, San Rafael.

The attorney's petition declares that under law he cannot appeal the case, and therefore seeks the review on grounds that Judge Goldstein acted in excess of jurisdiction, because there is no record of any court order directing Hayes to appear on either of the two occasions—Sept. 16 and Sept. 17; that the court's business was not impeded or inconvenienced by Hayes's failure to appear because another case was called first and "took the balance of the afternoon" in having another attorney appear on Hayes' behalf.

Hayes asks for a Superior Court ruling setting aside the contempt finding. Judge Goldstein has granted him 30 days in which to obtain a ruling prior to payment of the $750.

Patrick C. Goodyear, sometimes associate of Hayes, represented Humphrey in the Sept. 17 drunken driving court trial. Humphrey was convicted. Hayes has admitted in court that he was in Las Vegas, Nev., at time of the trial.

Fertility Drug Patient Has Sextuplets; All Soon Die

STOCKHOLM (AP) — An unidentified Swedish woman gave birth to sextuplets this month after being treated with the now world famous Gemzell hormone method, the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet reported today. The children lived only for a few hours.

The delivery occurred Oct. 3 at the Academic Hospital in Uppsala, the university town north of Stockholm where Swedish Prof. Carl Gemzell has developed the hormone treatment which has made it possible for formerly sterile women to become mothers.

The multiple births — a case of stillborn sextuplets was recorded one year ago — are due to the fact that Gemzell and his team as yet haven't been able to determine exactly the special hormone dose needed.

Th six children, four girls and two boys, all died within a few hours after the delivery, the newspaper said. Their mother is reported to be in good condition.

Prison's Tours Booked For Year

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today that tours which the prison runs for civic groups must be reserved at least a year in advance.

During the Saturday night tours visitors are shown the execution room, a cell block, prison chapels, the prison industrial complex, they are fed a meal in the prison dining room, and a variety show is presented for them by the inmates. A fee is charged to cover expenses of the tours, said Park.

The fall season of tours will begin tomorrow night when a group from Lamda Alpha Epsilon, a Bay Area law enforcement society, views the prison.

Hamilton Squadron In Third Place

The 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Hamilton Air Force Base, today was unofficially in third place in the world wide William Tell weapons meet at Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla.

The team from Hamilton flew one low drone and three tow target missions yesterday, adding 2,600 points to its score.

Doctor Feared Hurt By Crash

Dr. Maurice Spottswood, 54, of 180 Sturdivant Avenue, San Anselmo, may have suffered serious head injuries today when he drove his car off the side of his driveway into a tree.

He was being X-rayed at Marin General Hospital today for possible head injuries and nurses said he would probably be admitted to the hospital.

San Anselmo police said that after the accident, the doctor climber out of his car and made his way back to his home to call for help. They said he could not recall how the accident occurred.

Sausalito Group Looks Over CUT, May Support It

Sausalito Citizens Council directors last night discussed what Correct Unfair Taxation is doing in Belvedere and Tiburon, and agreed to audit a CUT meeting Oct. 19 to see if they may wish to "aid and abet CUT."

"We have been probing what CUT has been doing," said Carl W. Spring, council corresponding secretary. "We want to see if in what fashion, if any, the board may want to aid and abet the organization.

"We also look further in this and feel the final answer has got to be a marked reduction in the spiraling cost of local government, that is, city and county."

The CUT meeting will be at 8 p.m. at Reed School, Tiburon. The organization of volunteers banded together this spring to protest property tax assessments in Belvedere and Tiburon.

Ambulance Refused, Negro Dies

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The death of a Negro left at the scene of a traffic accident by a white ambulance driver has led the Birmingham City Council to strike a color clause from its ambulance contracts.

The manager of the ambulance service, Ed Emmett, said the driver, Owen Tollett, had been fired because of the incident.

Officials said Tollett refused to take Joe Bruce, 63, a Negro, to a hospital after his legs were severed in an automobile accident Wednesday.

The council voted yesterday after W.C. Hamilton, executive secretary to Mayor Albert Boutwell, warned that any reference in the city's ambulance contracts to race, creed or color is "profoundly dangerous."

Councilman Alan Drennen told other officials, "Mercy is not something we can dispense by color...in times of emergency, mercy is what we're after."

The Landmarks Society reelected Mrs. Robert Bastian as president. New officers are Mrs. Howard Allen, vice president; Russell Kiel, secretary, and William G. Pittman, treasurer.

A resolution favoring publication of a history of Marin County by the Marin County Historical Society was passed.

Marinites Leave For Saigon

By MOLLY MARIN

Mrs. Val Gates of Loch Lomond will leave for Saigon next week to join her husband, who is with Shell Oil Co. of Viet Nam supplying the armed forces there. The Gateses have been living in Marin for several years, moving back to the Bay Area from Connecticut. They expect to live in Saigon for two years, where Hazel Gates said she expects to see Mrs. Donald Springstead, who has just left Tiburon to join her husband in Saigon.

ALL YACHTING ENTHUSIASTS are invited to attend the supper which members of the San Francisco Yacht Club Women's Auxiliary will give at the Belvedere clubhouse Nov. 3 to benefit the Adams Cup fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Messer of Sausalito will show films of their 14-month voyage from Nova Scotia to Sausalito aboard their 36 ft. schooner, the Sadie.

Mrs. Colin J. Mason of Tiburon is chairman of the Mrs. Charles Francis Adams Cup Committee for San Francisco Yacht Club. The Belvedere Club will be the host club for the finals at the Women's North American Yacht Racing championships next year, with the Adams cup to be awarded to the continent's top woman sailor.

Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Robert Boat and Mrs. Mark Noble are in charge of plans for the benefit.

MR. AND MRS RALPH NOAH have returned to Belvedere after traveling in Europe for the past month. One of the great treats of their trip was to be present when the fountains of Versailles were playing and illuminated. This display is on view only four times each year. The Noahs also enjoyed a boat trip down the Rhine, with "story book" castles on either side, and were amused to be caught in a sudden rain shower in Venice, while waiting for a gondola, the only taxis on Venice's watery streets.

TEEN - AGERS JACKIE BRIDGES of San Rafael and Bob Beadle of Novato were featured on the cover of a national dance magazine recently. The photo used was taken during their performance at the Marin Art and Garden Fair this summer by Ray Hawksley, an amateur photographer from Mill Valley. The young dancers, the students of Mrs. Bari Frolich, placed fourth in national competitions held in Washington D. C. in July.

MORE THAN 60 friends attended the silver wedding celebration for Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McComber of San Rafael at the Marin Country Club in Novato on Saturday evening. The McCombers' daughter, Kathy, hosted the surprise party which ended with a midnight buffet at the club. During the evening, the couple received numerous telephone calls from St. Louis, Mo., the city in which they were married on Oct. 12, 1940.

NEW RESIDENTS on Pelican Hill in Tiburon are Mr. and Mrs. G. Raymond (Patricia) Kallman and their six-year-old son, Kjell, who is a student at Bel Aire School. The Kallmans moved here from the Santa Clara Valley.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD E. HERNDEN of Kentfield are spending a few days at Del Monte Lodge in Pebble Beach.

NEW RESIDENTS OF TIBURON are Mr. and Mrs. George Bickel and their son, Mark, who is a freshman at Redwood High School. The Bickels moved here from Denver. Mr. Bickel is on the staff of the National Commission of Food Marketing which is a Presidential Commission to do a study on the food industry.

MRS. LILLIE PAYNTAR of San Rafael was honored on the occasion of her 95th birthday by members of the United Church of Christ of San Rafael after the worship service on Sunday. Guests of honor at the coffee and cake gathering were Mrs. Payntar, her daughter, Mildred Brown, and Mrs. Joanna Mathieson who will also celebrate her 95th birthday next month.

Al Sybrian sculpted the famous Sausalito sea lion partly as a joke and partly out of anger. He little dreamed it would become a much-loved fixture of the Southern Marin landscape, prompting a campaign to re-cast it in bronze. Tomorrow's I-J Marin Magazine tells what Sybrian is doing now, why he loves "her" (the sea lion) dearly—and how he came to sell his best piece of work to a man who wanted to destroy it.

Life in the coastal communities of Olema and Bolinas has gone full cycle: from quiet to bustling and back to today's peaceful existence. I-J Historian Florence Donnelly reports on the origin and growth of these two towns tomorrow. Included are descriptions of a memorable wedding feast and the strange legend of the fire-worshipper.

MARIN FILM FARE

Rod Steiger Acting Flawless In Title Role Of 'Pawnbroker'

By LES DARD

Let the viewer delight. This weekend's Marin movie fare is as varied as it is interesting. Let's take a look:

LARK THEATER

A fascinating, haunting entry is "The Pawnbroker," in which Rod Steiger flawlessly etches the title role into the minds of the audience.

This is the grim and shattering tale of a man who believes he has reason enough to withdraw from humanity.

As the only member of his family to survive the atrocities of a Nazi concentration camp, he operates a pawnshop in the slums of Spanish Harlem.

His life an empty shell, he shrinks from any emotional contact with other human beings.

The people who drift into his shop only bring back horrible memories which we see in brief flashbacks.

Finally, one essential incident brings him to the realization that it is necessary for him to love his fellow man. Ironically, this is the scene for which the Legion of Decency condemned this film.

Geraldine Fitzgerald as a social worker, Brock Peters as a gangster, Jaime Sanchez as a boy of the slums and Thelma Oliver as a Negro prostitute supplement Steiger's monumental performance.

FAIRFAX THEATER

A hard look at the corrupting influence of high society where everyone is "Darling" and nobody is dear is now playing.

Julie Christie takes the title role. She deserts her husband to become a jet-set jade just because of her very special beauty, but she has entered an alien, fast-moving world that in the end proves too much for her.

Miss Christie does an excellent job with a difficult role, and the film is sure to be a big one with adult viewers.

RAFAEL THEATER

Now showing is one of Walt Disney's early — and certainly one of his best—animal pictures, "Old Yeller," a touching dog story.

If Junior hasn't seen this one, pack him off for the first show. You might well enjoy it yourself.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

A sometimes sordid melodrama, "A Rage To Live," is now on screen.

John O'Hara's novel of the same title serves as a basis for the production. Suzanne Pleshette plays a nymphomaniac with a heart of gold.

Adults only, please.

NOVATO THEATER

Lots of action here.

PLAYHOUSE TIBURON

Now showing is the fine wartime adventure-drama "The Train," starring Burt Lancaster and British actor Paul Scofield.

The film is set in Paris as the Nazis pull out. Scofield, a Nazi colonel, is determined to take the French art treasures with him, on a special train. Railroad Inspector Lancaster, a Resistance leader, sets out to stop him.

MOTOR MOVIES

The latest one from the fabulous Beatles is here: "Help!" and you don't have to be a Beatle maniac to like it.

Ringo, the drummer, is wearing a ring that is part of an East Indian sacrificial ritual, and he can't get it off. The other three Liverpudlians are mainly concerned with saving him from the sacrificial knife.

101 DRIVE-IN

Here's an intriguing double bill:

The newest Richard Burton-Elizabeth Taylor film, "The Sandpiper" is the first entry.

Burton delivers brilliantly as an Episcopal minister and head of a San Simeon boys' school in which beatnik artist Liz is ordered by a judge to deliver her son.

Eva Marie Saint plays Burton's loving wife very convincingly.

The co-feature is "36 Hours," a high tension war drama. James Garner stars as an American officer, victim of a Nazi plot to uncover the D-Day invasion plans.

SEQUOIA THEATER

Action, action, action is the byword for "The Sons of Katie Elder," a new breed of Western now on screen.

When Katie Elder dies, the four bums who are her sons decide it's time to straighten up and make Mama, up there, proud of them. Trouble is, they have to fight off the rest of the world to do it.

This one, in all its diversity, should appeal to women as well as men—only one of the features which sets it apart from the average western.

Arts Quartet Drive Starts

A subscription campaign for the Marin Arts Quartet's ninth annual season will be conducted throughout this month.

Violinist Charles Meacham, founder and leader of the quartet, announced concerts will be presented on Nov. 14, Feb. 6 and March 27 at 3 p.m. in the Outdoor Art Club, Mill Valley. Each concert is followed by a reception and tea.

Handling subscriptions are Mrs. Philip C. Smith, 80 Lochinvar Road, San Rafael, and Mrs. Nancy Ingalls, 1 East Road, Ross. Subscriptions are also available by writing Box 372, Kentfield.

College Drama

"Romeo and Juliet," College of Marin's first fall semester drama production, will be staged Oct. 22, 23, 28, 29 and 30 in the college's little theater in Room One, Harlan Hall, Drama director James Dunn announced yes-

The Rock of Gibraltar is limestone.

Mountain Fair Boasts Full Moon's Charms

Full moon will be celebrated at this weekend's annual Mountain Fair, to be held on Mount Tamalpais at the Muir Woods Improvement Assn. clubhouse.

"There is a romantic superstition about full moons on the mountain," said fair chairman John R. Iacometti, who adds he believes the moon will add to the turnout.

Hours of the fair, off Panoramic Highway on Ridge Avenue, are 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. tomorrow, and 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday.

The fair will feature paintings by 15 artists, one-half from the mountain and the rest from Sausalito and Mill Valley, in the art gallery.

There will also be a children's art exhibition, Mill Valley potter Sascha Makovkin will display his pottery in the Mediterranean section.

A discotheque, dancing to records, will be held in the gallery tomorrow from 8 to 11 p.m. Dinner will be served both evenings starting at 6 o'clock.

At 3 p.m. tomorrow, San Francisco disc jockeys Al Collins, Ira Blue and Jim Lange will hold a "painting to music" demonstration.

There will be a folk dance performance at 3 p.m. on Sunday.

The "International theme" is carried out in a dozen booths ranging from African, Mexican, Oriental and Bavarian to a special booth of the United Nations International Children's Educational Fund.

A miniature golf course has been built to represent Scotland.

There will be games for children plus food and drink concessions.

Vehicle Office Dedication Set

City, county and state officials will be on hand next Thursday at 2:30 p.m. for dedication of the State Department of Motor Vehicles' new building at 75 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera.

The ceremony will include speeches and the raising of the flag by the Sixth Army Color Guard from the Presidio of San Francisco.

Speaking will be Mayor Edward W. Colthurst of Corte Madera, Marin County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, and James Chapman, deputy director of the department of motor vehicles. Richard Burns, presi- of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce, will be master of ceremonies.

'Miracle Worker' Set By School

"The Miracle Worker," a drama centered around the childhood of blind, deaf-mute Helen Keller, will be Redwood High School's fall dramatic production, rather than the previously scheduled "Victoria Regina."

The change was made, according to drama teacher Joseph Wadlington, because of the great expense involved in staging the Victorian play, especially in costuming and set design.

The play, which ran for several years on Broadway, and earned an Oscar for actress Patty Duke, deals with the attempts of Annie Sulivan to teach the incorrigible Helen to adapt to normal society.

Tryouts will be held as soon as the scripts arrive. Production is scheduled for Nov. 19, 20, and 21.

Two Artists' Reception Set In Hub

A reception for artists Betty Mobley and Ursula Johnson will be held 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Torrance Gallery, San Anselmo, where the pair will have a two-artist show of their paintings.

The gallery, at 128 Greenfield Avenue, is open 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Miss Mobley, who studied art in Chicago and the Bay Area, has exhibited at the Solano, Santa Cruz and Monterey county fairs and the San Juan Bautista state exhibition.

She is active in the Marin Society of Artists, Terra Linda Art Assn. and the North Bay Artists of Novato.

Mrs. Johnson, who moved to San Rafael from Novato a year ago, studied art in Ohio before coming to Marin. She helped form the Novato Art Guild and belongs to the Marin Society of Artists.

Her work has been shown in the San Francisco Art Festival, the Concours d'Elegance at Peacock Gap, and the Novato Library.

Anonymous Priest Directs Rescue Job

RICHMOND, R.I. (UPI)—A Catholic priest directed a 30-man rescue operation yesterday which freed two men from a five-ton truck that had overturned.

The men were taken to a hospital where they were reported in good condition. The priest left before he could be identified.

The latest one from the fabulous Beatles is here: "Help!" and you don't have to be a Beatle maniac to like it.

Ringo, the drummer, is wearing a ring that is part of an East Indian sacrificial ritual, and he can't get it off. The other three Liverpudlians are mainly concerned with saving him from the sacrificial knife.

101 DRIVE-IN

Here's an intriguing double bill:

The newest Richard Burton-Elizabeth Taylor film, "The Sandpiper" is the first entry.

Burton delivers brilliantly as an Episcopal minister and head of a San Simeon boys' school in which beatnik artist Liz is ordered by a judge to deliver her son.

Eva Marie Saint plays Burton's loving wife very convincingly.

The co-feature is "36 Hours," a high tension war drama. James Garner stars as an American officer, victim of a Nazi plot to uncover the D-Day invasion plans.

SEQUOIA THEATER

Action, action, action is the byword for "The Sons of Katie Elder," a new breed of Western now on screen.

When Katie Elder dies, the four bums who are her sons decide it's time to straighten up and make Mama, up there, proud of them. Trouble is, they have to fight off the rest of the world to do it.

Mountain Fair Boasts Full Moon's Charms

Full moon will be celebrated at this weekend's annual Mountain Fair, to be held on Mount Tamalpais at the Muir Woods Improvement Assn. clubhouse.

"There is a romantic superstition about full moons on the mountain," said fair chairman John R. Iacometti, who adds he believes the moon will add to the turnout.

Hours of the fair, off Panoramic Highway on Ridge Avenue, are 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. tomorrow, and 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday.

The fair will feature paintings by 15 artists, one-half from the mountain and the rest from Sausalito and Mill Valley, in the art gallery.

There will also be a children's art exhibition, Mill Valley potter Sascha Makovkin will display his pottery in the Mediterranean section.

A discotheque, dancing to records, will be held in the gallery tomorrow from 8 to 11 p.m. Dinner will be served both evenings starting at 6 o'clock.

At 3 p.m. tomorrow, San Francisco disc jockeys Al Collins, Ira Blue and Jim Lange will hold a "painting to music" demonstration.

There will be a folk dance performance at 3 p.m. on Sunday.

The "International theme" is carried out in a dozen booths ranging from African, Mexican, Oriental and Bavarian to a special booth of the United Nations International Children's Educational Fund.

A miniature golf course has been built to represent Scotland.

There will be games for children plus food and drink concessions.

Vehicle Office Dedication Set

City, county and state officials will be on hand next Thursday at 2:30 p.m. for dedication of the State Department of Motor Vehicles' new building at 75 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera.

The ceremony will include speeches and the raising of the flag by the Sixth Army Color Guard from the Presidio of San Francisco.

Speaking will be Mayor Edward W. Colthurst of Corte Madera, Marin County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, and James Chapman, deputy director of the department of motor vehicles. Richard Burns, presi- of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce, will be master of ceremonies.

'Miracle Worker' Set By School

"The Miracle Worker," a drama centered around the childhood of blind, deaf-mute Helen Keller, will be Redwood High School's fall dramatic production, rather than the previously scheduled "Victoria Regina."

The change was made, according to drama teacher Joseph Wadlington, because of the great expense involved in staging the Victorian play, especially in costuming and set design.

The play, which ran for several years on Broadway, and earned an Oscar for actress Patty Duke, deals with the attempts of Annie Sulivan to teach the incorrigible Helen to adapt to normal society.

Tryouts will be held as soon as the scripts arrive. Production is scheduled for Nov. 19, 20, and 21.

Arts Quartet Drive Starts

A subscription campaign for the Marin Arts Quartet's ninth annual season will be conducted throughout this month.

Violinist Charles Meacham, founder and leader of the quartet, announced concerts will be presented on Nov. 14, Feb. 6 and March 27 at 3 p.m. in the Outdoor Art Club, Mill Valley. Each concert is followed by a reception and tea.

Handling subscriptions are Mrs. Philip C. Smith, 80 Lochinvar Road, San Rafael, and Mrs. Nancy Ingalls, 1 East Road, Ross. Subscriptions are also available by writing Box 372, Kentfield.

College Drama

"Romeo and Juliet," College of Marin's first fall semester drama production, will be staged Oct. 22, 23, 28, 29 and 30 in the college's little theater in Room One, Harlan Hall, Drama director James Dunn announced yes-

The Rock of Gibraltar is limestone.

Two Artists' Reception Set In Hub

A reception for artists Betty Mobley and Ursula Johnson will be held 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Torrance Gallery, San Anselmo, where the pair will have a two-artist show of their paintings.

The gallery, at 128 Greenfield Avenue, is open 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Miss Mobley, who studied art in Chicago and the Bay Area, has exhibited at the Solano, Santa Cruz and Monterey county fairs and the San Juan Bautista state exhibition.

She is active in the Marin Society of Artists, Terra Linda Art Assn. and the North Bay Artists of Novato.

Mrs. Johnson, who moved to San Rafael from Novato a year ago, studied art in Ohio before coming to Marin. She helped form the Novato Art Guild and belongs to the Marin Society of Artists.

Her work has been shown in the San Francisco Art Festival, the Concours d'Elegance at Peacock Gap, and the Novato Library.

Anonymous Priest Directs Rescue Job

RICHMOND, R.I. (UPI)—A Catholic priest directed a 30-man rescue operation yesterday which freed two men from a five-ton truck that had overturned.

Aterosclerosis Is Link To Cigarettes

BOSTON (AP)—Two doctors reported yesterday that their study of a group of patients at a New Jersey veterans hospital showed a much higher degree of aterosclerosis - hardening of the arteries - among cigarette smokers.

The study of 1,372 patients woh died at the Veterans Administration Hospital, East Orange, N.J., was conducted between Jan. 1, 1955, and Dec. 31, 1960, by Dr. Oscar Auerbach, senior medical investigator at the hospital, and Dr. E. Cuyler Hammong of the American Cancer Society, New York City.

Their findings were published in the New England Journal of Medicine today.

Hardening of the arteries, or the formation of fatty substances inside the arteries, is a common cause of blood clots and heart attacks.

Students Day Picnic Sunday

The second annual International Students Day picnic will be held Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. for 75 students from College of Marin, Dominican College, San Francisco Theological Seminary and Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary at the physical education building of College of Marin.

The picnic is sponsored by Marin County Chapter, American Red Cross, and Marin Rotary clubs.

Nursing License

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Mrs. C. Karyl Maulis, 118 Ross Street, Apt. 2, San Rafael, has completed state examinations for registered nurse and will be issued a license, Michael R. Buggy, executive secretary of the state board of nursing education and nurse registration, announced today.

English, Social Studies New Honors System Set

A new honors system for top students in English and social studies at Terra Linda High School has been started this year.

James Soladay, head of the English department, said the new plan results in small classes for the honor student and benefits the middle and lower student grouping by giving more diversity.

Grades are not emphasized. As long as they stay in the program, honor students will continue to receive "A" grades, Soladay said.

Seminar classes for these have about 14 to 22 students, he said.

Big Sur Search For Flutist Ends

MONTEREY (AP) — Sheriff's deputies have called off a search in the Big Sur region for Barry Rosser, 23, a flutist who had appeared with the San Diego and San Francisco symphony orchestras.

The hunt, which involved a 10-man team from the Monterey County sheriff's office and an Army helicopter yesterday failed to turn up any trace of the young man. He has been missing since Sept. 30.

Travel Features First Bark Issue

Containing an insert devoted to foreign travel and exchanges, the paper is the first production of this year's staff. Editor-in-chief Ann Bastian was assisted by editors Bob McBain, Kip Fogarty, and Bill Fuhrman of Greenbrae; Boots Ferguson, Pete Newton, Pam Myers, and Betsy Klein of Kentfield and Nan Black of Belvedere.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Good Old Corn Goes Long Way

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—When a network executive schedules a show like last night's Andry Griffith - Don Knotts - Jim Nabors variety special on CBS-TV, he goes home and sleeps like a baby, never once needing a pill.

For he knows that, in the rural part of the country, and perhaps even in the city, and in the sloburbs as well, his program will roll up a tremendous rating, and cause absolutely no headaches. In his heart, he knows he has touched the true pulse of television at its most natural level. He is a very happy man.

It is no secret that Griffith, Knotts and Nabors represent big, big star power on television, as well as considerable real talent that they must almost always keep under wraps to be certain that they maintain contact with their special audience, on video at least.

The three performers used to appear together on Griffih's weekly CBS-TV series. But now Knotts wisely has moved on to motion pictures, and Nabors has his own hit series, "Gomer Pyle," in which he plays a hillbilly Marine recruit. Last night's special grew out of a nightclub act they did last year at Harrah's Club at Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Griffith was the host last night, radiating the confidence of a Las Vegas pit boss who knows that eventually the business will come his way. Throughout, he gave the hour his usual cat-that-swallowed-the-canary smile, the one that says he knows where the ratings are buried. He certainly does.

Except for the surprising showstopping ability of the talented Nabors when he throws out the hillbilly accent and sings in a natural and virile way, the hour was pretty much what you'd expect at a state fairground, but not much more. The collection of sketches, monlogues and songs wasn't very special, and overemphasized its corn.

It was the sort of hour that William Jennings Bryan would have loved. To draw a parallel, it was something like a male version of an old Judy Canova movie—and her films were not without their simple charm. I never miss them when they are rerun on the television.

Drug Claims Held False

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has ordered a halt in what it said was false and deceptive advertising claims for Geritol, a iron and vitamin preparation.

The FTC particularly took issue with claims that Geritol is a good energy restorer and can eliminate that tired, rundown feeling.

FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon said in an opinion that the evidence showed that tiredness is not a generally reliable indication of iron deficiency. In fact, he said, "there is little relationship between the tiredness symptoms and iron deficiency."

Aterosclerosis Is Link To Cigarettes

BOSTON (AP)—Two doctors reported yesterday that their study of a group of patients at a New Jersey veterans hospital showed a much higher degree of aterosclerosis - hardening of the arteries - among cigarette smokers.

The study of 1,372 patients woh died at the Veterans Administration Hospital, East Orange, N.J., was conducted between Jan. 1, 1955, and Dec. 31, 1960, by Dr. Oscar Auerbach, senior medical investigator at the hospital, and Dr. E. Cuyler Hammong of the American Cancer Society, New York City.

Their findings were published in the New England Journal of Medicine today.

Hardening of the arteries, or the formation of fatty substances inside the arteries, is a common cause of blood clots and heart attacks.

Students Day Picnic Sunday

The second annual International Students Day picnic will be held Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. for 75 students from College of Marin, Dominican College, San Francisco Theological Seminary and Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary at the physical education building of College of Marin.

The picnic is sponsored by Marin County Chapter, American Red Cross, and Marin Rotary clubs.

Nursing License

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Mrs. C. Karyl Maulis, 118 Ross Street, Apt. 2, San Rafael, has completed state examinations for registered nurse and will be issued a license, Michael R. Buggy, executive secretary of the state board of nursing education and nurse registration, announced today.

English, Social Studies New Honors System Set

A new honors system for top students in English and social studies at Terra Linda High School has been started this year.

James Soladay, head of the English department, said the new plan results in small classes for the honor student and benefits the middle and lower student grouping by giving more diversity.

Grades are not emphasized. As long as they stay in the program, honor students will continue to receive "A" grades, Soladay said.

Seminar classes for these have about 14 to 22 students, he said.

Big Sur Search For Flutist Ends

MONTEREY (AP) — Sheriff's deputies have called off a search in the Big Sur region for Barry Rosser, 23, a flutist who had appeared with the San Diego and San Francisco symphony orchestras.

The hunt, which involved a 10-man team from the Monterey County sheriff's office and an Army helicopter yesterday failed to turn up any trace of the young man. He has been missing since Sept. 30.

Travel Features First Bark Issue

Containing an insert devoted to foreign travel and exchanges, the paper is the first production of this year's staff. Editor-in-chief Ann Bastian was assisted by editors Bob McBain, Kip Fogarty, and Bill Fuhrman of Greenbrae; Boots Ferguson, Pete Newton, Pam Myers, and Betsy Klein of Kentfield and Nan Black of Belvedere.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Good Old Corn Goes Long Way

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—When a network executive schedules a show like last night's Andry Griffith - Don Knotts - Jim Nabors variety special on CBS-TV, he goes home and sleeps like a baby, never once needing a pill.

For he knows that, in the rural part of the country, and perhaps even in the city, and in the sloburbs as well, his program will roll up a tremendous rating, and cause absolutely no headaches. In his heart, he knows he has touched the true pulse of television at its most natural level. He is a very happy man.

It is no secret that Griffith, Knotts and Nabors represent big, big star power on television, as well as considerable real talent that they must almost always keep under wraps to be certain that they maintain contact with their special audience, on video at least.

The three performers used to appear together on Griffih's weekly CBS-TV series. But now Knotts wisely has moved on to motion pictures, and Nabors has his own hit series, "Gomer Pyle," in which he plays a hillbilly Marine recruit. Last night's special grew out of a nightclub act they did last year at Harrah's Club at Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Griffith was the host last night, radiating the confidence of a Las Vegas pit boss who knows that eventually the business will come his way. Throughout, he gave the hour his usual cat-that-swallowed-the-canary smile, the one that says he knows where the ratings are buried. He certainly does.

Except for the surprising showstopping ability of the talented Nabors when he throws out the hillbilly accent and sings in a natural and virile way, the hour was pretty much what you'd expect at a state fairground, but not much more. The collection of sketches, monlogues and songs wasn't very special, and overemphasized its corn.

It was the sort of hour that William Jennings Bryan would have loved. To draw a parallel, it was something like a male version of an old Judy Canova movie—and her films were not without their simple charm. I never miss them when they are rerun on the television.

Drug Claims Held False

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has ordered a halt in what it said was false and deceptive advertising claims for Geritol, a iron and vitamin preparation.

The FTC particularly took issue with claims that Geritol is a good energy restorer and can eliminate that tired, rundown feeling.

FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon said in an opinion that the evidence showed that tiredness is not a generally reliable indication of iron deficiency. In fact, he said, "there is little relationship between the tiredness symptoms and iron deficiency."

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Sausalito Ark Opening Set; Bagpiper New Peacock Aide

Tuesday, Columbus Day, is the time now set for the opening of the Ark—new night spot at Waldo Point—on the old Charles Van Damme ferry boat.

Jim Varcados and his crew promise that it will be an attraction for Marinites and out-of-towners alike. "Open seven days a week" will be the schedule, with discotheque music Monday and Tuesday nights and the live music of George Duke and his group throughout the rest of the week from 9:30 p.m.

A smorgasbord lunch will be served throughout the week from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and a brunch on Sundays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Dinners are programmed for Thursdays through Sundays from 5 to 9:30 p.m. with the possibility that a potluck dinner on Wednesdays may be added to the schedule later.

At the beginning, the entire operation will be on the main deck. The upper "Discodeck" is not to open for about another month. There's still work to do there.

Chef at the Ark is Bill Hutchings, formerly at Orestes in San Francisco, and he has Jo Nelson with him—capable and experienced in the ways of proper food service. Jo will probably be arranging banquets on the Discodeck when that opens—more about that later.

Type of food to be served is "continental," according to Jim Varcados, albeit he winced at the use of the word, since it is much overworked these days. Still, it does refer to a certain type of cuisine which blends together the European and American. In time there'll probably be another term for it. Any suggestions?

Charlie Massie (formerly at Sam's in Tiburon) will be bar manager. The bar will be open daily from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m.

Room for parking—the area has been nicely blacktopped.

IF ALL THIS brings back memories of Juanita Musson and her problems aboard the Charles Van Damme trying to maintain Juanita's Galley, be advised that this good lady seems to be doing well in her location at El Verano in Sonoma County. I believe it has been just about a year since she opened there.

Juanita's is in the former Verdier Resort. I haven't managed to visit there yet, but I'm told it's a nice place. And it's owner, no doubt, is still her same sweet self—a character out of a book, a topic for conversation wherever tales are told. I wonder if the Valley of the Moon has taken her to its heart.

I am reminded that another resident of that area of about two generations ago is still remembered among the oldtimers there for the same type of rugged, unpredictable personality. His name was Jack London.

NEW ASSISTANT MANAGER at Peacock Gap Country Club is bagpiper Gene Wallace—formerly beverage manager. Gene is a veteran of 12 years in the hotel, restaurant and catering business and has been popular at Peacock Gap since 1962—not only for his playin' o' the pipes, but for his geniality.

Peacock Gap is planning on a completely revised menu for luncheon and dinner. Suggested for the new fare are such things as extensive hors d'oeuvres selections (mousse, langoustine, oysters, crab, shrimp and other delectables)—also a variety of soups, salads and vegetables. And there will be an offering of several curry dishes by chef Walt Sturzenegger.

LAST WEEK's article on the pending sale of De La Montanya's in San Geronimo apparently has been taken by many to mean that the restaurant has already changed hands or is closed.

Not so. Dean and Irene De La Montanya are still conducting the operation and there is no way of knowing at this date just when the Brunals may be able to take over.

JACY PARKER
New pianist at Alioto's

Golfers are finding it a good place for lunch since the new course in San Geronimo was opened. And there are some excellent dinner specials here—steamed cockles on Friday nights on the full dinner at $3.95—and all the bivalves you can eat. On Friday and Saturday nights there is the prime rib at $3.75.

Brian Booth is the new featured pianist and vocalist Friday and Saturday nights. He's almost a one-man show with his instrumental imitations, but he has Tikki on the program with him. They ceem to keep the crowd happy.

MONDAY NIGHT will be grand opening night at Pier 16 in Sausalito, and there'll be hors d'oeuvres, refreshments and special entertainers to supplement Hawaiian pianist Lani who is regularly billed.

New owner Ann Guerry Benton, has had Pier 16 almost two months, but has done considerable renovating and redecorating, including the installation of a new piano bar. The place is open from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. seven days a week and food service is from 10 to 1.

There's a new menu, very diversified, with a fisherman's special and just about everything else from hot dogs to steaks.

Owner Guerry, by the way, is a graduate electronic engineer who developed a new type of speaker for sound systems that's proved successful. But she does her own managing at Pier 16 and you'll find her there most of the time.

ALSO ON MONDAY NIGHT—and particularly if you like Italian food and frolic, don't forget the "Fiesta Italiana," which last year brought in throngs to celebrate Columbus Day — at Nave Lanes in Ignacio.

Veal scallopini, stuffed veal, gnocchi, stuffed zucchini, salata a la Milanese, stuffed gallina—along with salami, panatoni, ravioli and antipastos there will be in ample quantities. Bill Nave Sr. acts as chef for the evening's music and merriment.

Price is $3 per person, but reservations must be made for one of these three times: 5:30, 7:30 or 9:30 p.m.

ALIOTO'S ARBORDALE in Sausalito will be swinging with the piano sounds of lovely young Jacy Parker, who has just completed several successful years in New York City and now wants to find out something about the west.

Her last appearance was at Basin Street East in New York and she has played for Verve Records. Manager Dick Walters of Alioto's reports that she'll be on every night—except Sundays and Mondays—from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Drop by and give her performance a whirl.

CONSTRUCTION WORK on Second Street, San Rafael, is really no handicap to getting close to Bill and Adolph's West End Villa. Most of the clutter that was previously objectionable has been removed from the front of the place—and there is parking in Dexter's lot at Fourth and Ida streets—only two blocks away and no walk at all.

Farm Hazards Higher Than Most Industry

NEW YORK (UPI)—The accident rate on farms is higher than that for any other major industry, except construction and mining, and about three times the accident death rate for industry as a whole, according to statisticians.

They estimate that in 1963 work accidents on farms in the United States took about 3,300 lives, mainly because of machinery mishaps. This is equivalent to a death rate of 67 per 100,000 workers.

Root Beer Bust Set In Belvedere

A "root beer bust" for Belvedere youngsters is set for tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Belvedere firehouse.

Most of the 25-member volunteer department plan to be on hand to serve root beer and popcorn to youngsters and show them around the firehouse as a climax to fire prevention week, volunteer Erwin Farley reported.

History Exhibit Open To Public

The historical collection of papers, pictures and artifacts of Alton Lerch have been installed as a public exhibit at his new insurance office in the former Perachiotti real estate office at Highway 101 and Grant Avenue in Novato.

Among the more interesting pictures are those of a great train wreck at 5:30 p.m., Aug 8, 1910. The wreck supposedly was caused because the crew of a freight train stopped at the Black Point Inn for refreshments and forgot the schedule of a northbound passenger train. The accident happened at the approximate location of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Hamburger and CHAMPAGNE?

Well, not for *every*body.

You have to be 21 and come over to Sam's in Tiburon to get it.

And, if you find fulfillment in the works of Edgar Guest, Paul Harvey, Daddy Warbucks, Jane Addams, Norman Rockwell, and Henry Doelger... you might prefer to stick with Sam's tried and true Burger & Beer.

But if a spark of the bon vivant burns in your soul, your taste will be abundantly rewarded with this bizarre combination.

Sam's Anchor Cafe has even bottled its own champagne for the occasion.

That would be Sam's in Tiburon.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Sausalito Ark Opening Set; Bagpiper New Peacock Aide

Tuesday, Columbus Day, is the time now set for the opening of the Ark—new night spot at Waldo Point—on the old Charles Van Damme ferry boat.

Jim Varcados and his crew promise that it will be an attraction for Marinites and out-of-towners alike. "Open seven days a week" will be the schedule, with discotheque music Monday and Tuesday nights and the live music of George Duke and his group throughout the rest of the week from 9:30 p.m.

A smorgasbord lunch will be served throughout the week from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and a brunch on Sundays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Dinners are programmed for Thursdays through Sundays from 5 to 9:30 p.m. with the possibility that a potluck dinner on Wednesdays may be added to the schedule later.

At the beginning, the entire operation will be on the main deck. The upper "Discodeck" is not to open for about another month. There's still work to do there.

Chef at the Ark is Bill Hutchings, formerly at Orestes in San Francisco, and he has Jo Nelson with him—capable and experienced in the ways of proper food service. Jo will probably be arranging banquets on the Discodeck when that opens—more about that later.

Type of food to be served is "continental," according to Jim Varcados, albeit he winced at the use of the word, since it is much overworked these days. Still, it does refer to a certain type of cuisine which blends together the European and American. In time there'll probably be another term for it. Any suggestions?

Charlie Massie (formerly at Sam's in Tiburon) will be bar manager. The bar will be open daily from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m.

Room for parking—the area has been nicely blacktopped.

IF ALL THIS brings back memories of Juanita Musson and her problems aboard the Charles Van Damme trying to maintain Juanita's Galley, be advised that this good lady seems to be doing well in her location at El Verano in Sonoma County. I believe it has been just about a year since she opened there.

Juanita's is in the former Verdier Resort. I haven't managed to visit there yet, but I'm told it's a nice place. And it's owner, no doubt, is still her same sweet self—a character out of a book, a topic for conversation wherever tales are told. I wonder if the Valley of the Moon has taken her to its heart.

I am reminded that another resident of that area of about two generations ago is still remembered among the oldtimers there for the same type of rugged, unpredictable personality. His name was Jack London.

NEW ASSISTANT MANAGER at Peacock Gap Country Club is bagpiper Gene Wallace—formerly beverage manager. Gene is a veteran of 12 years in the hotel, restaurant and catering business and has been popular at Peacock Gap since 1962—not only for his playin' o' the pipes, but for his geniality.

Peacock Gap is planning on a completely revised menu for luncheon and dinner. Suggested for the new fare are such things as extensive hors d'oeuvres selections (mousse, langoustine, oysters, crab, shrimp and other delectables)—also a variety of soups, salads and vegetables. And there will be an offering of several curry dishes by chef Walt Sturzenegger.

LAST WEEK's article on the pending sale of De La Montanya's in San Geronimo apparently has been taken by many to mean that the restaurant has already changed hands or is closed.

Not so. Dean and Irene De La Montanya are still conducting the operation and there is no way of knowing at this date just when the Brunals may be able to take over.

Golfers are finding it a good place for lunch since the new course in San Geronimo was opened. And there are some excellent dinner specials here—steamed cockles on Friday nights on the full dinner at $3.95—and all the bivalves you can eat. On Friday and Saturday nights there is the prime rib at $3.75.

JACY PARKER
New pianist at Alioto's

Brian Booth is the new featured pianist and vocalist Friday and Saturday nights. He's almost a one-man show with his instrumental imitations, but he has Tikki on the program with him. They ceem to keep the crowd happy.

MONDAY NIGHT will be grand opening night at Pier 16 in Sausalito, and there'll be hors d'oeuvres, refreshments and special entertainers to supplement Hawaiian pianist Lani who is regularly billed.

New owner Ann Guerry Benton, has had Pier 16 almost two months, but has done considerable renovating and redecorating, including the installation of a new piano bar. The place is open from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. seven days a week and food service is from 10 to 1.

There's a new menu, very diversified, with a fisherman's special and just about everything else from hot dogs to steaks.

Owner Guerry, by the way, is a graduate electronic engineer who developed a new type of speaker for sound systems that's proved successful. But she does her own managing at Pier 16 and you'll find her there most of the time.

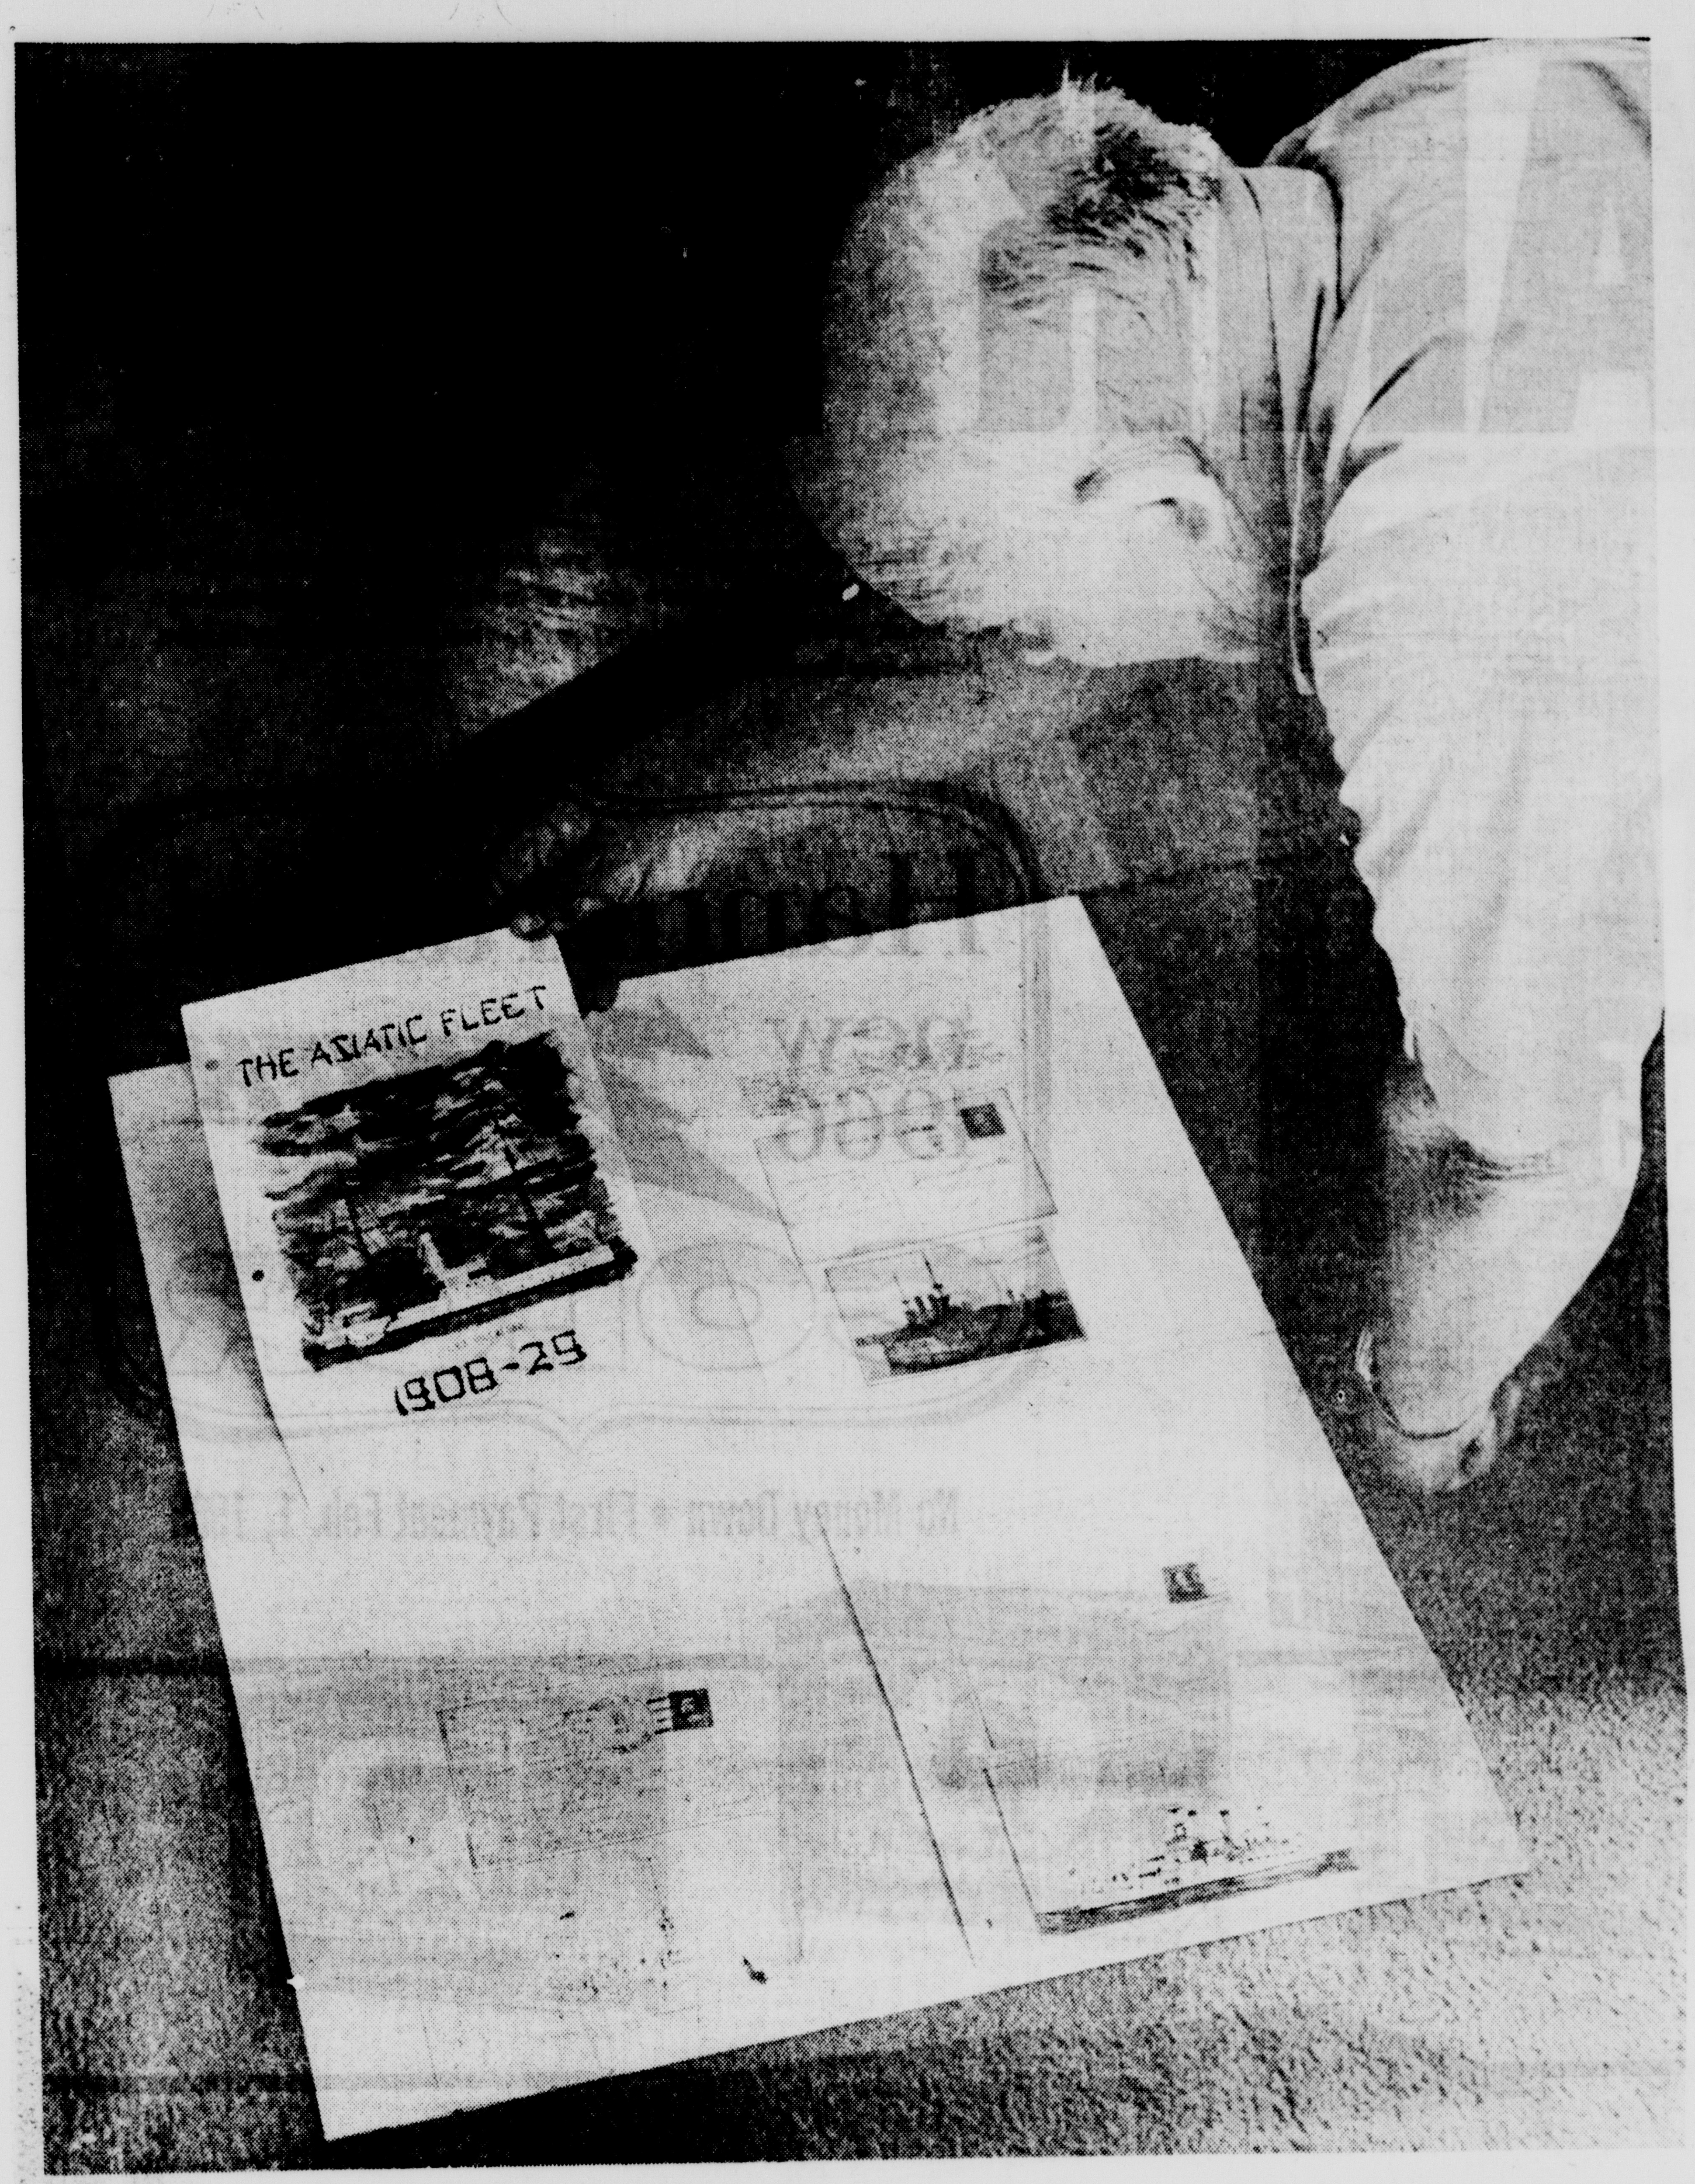
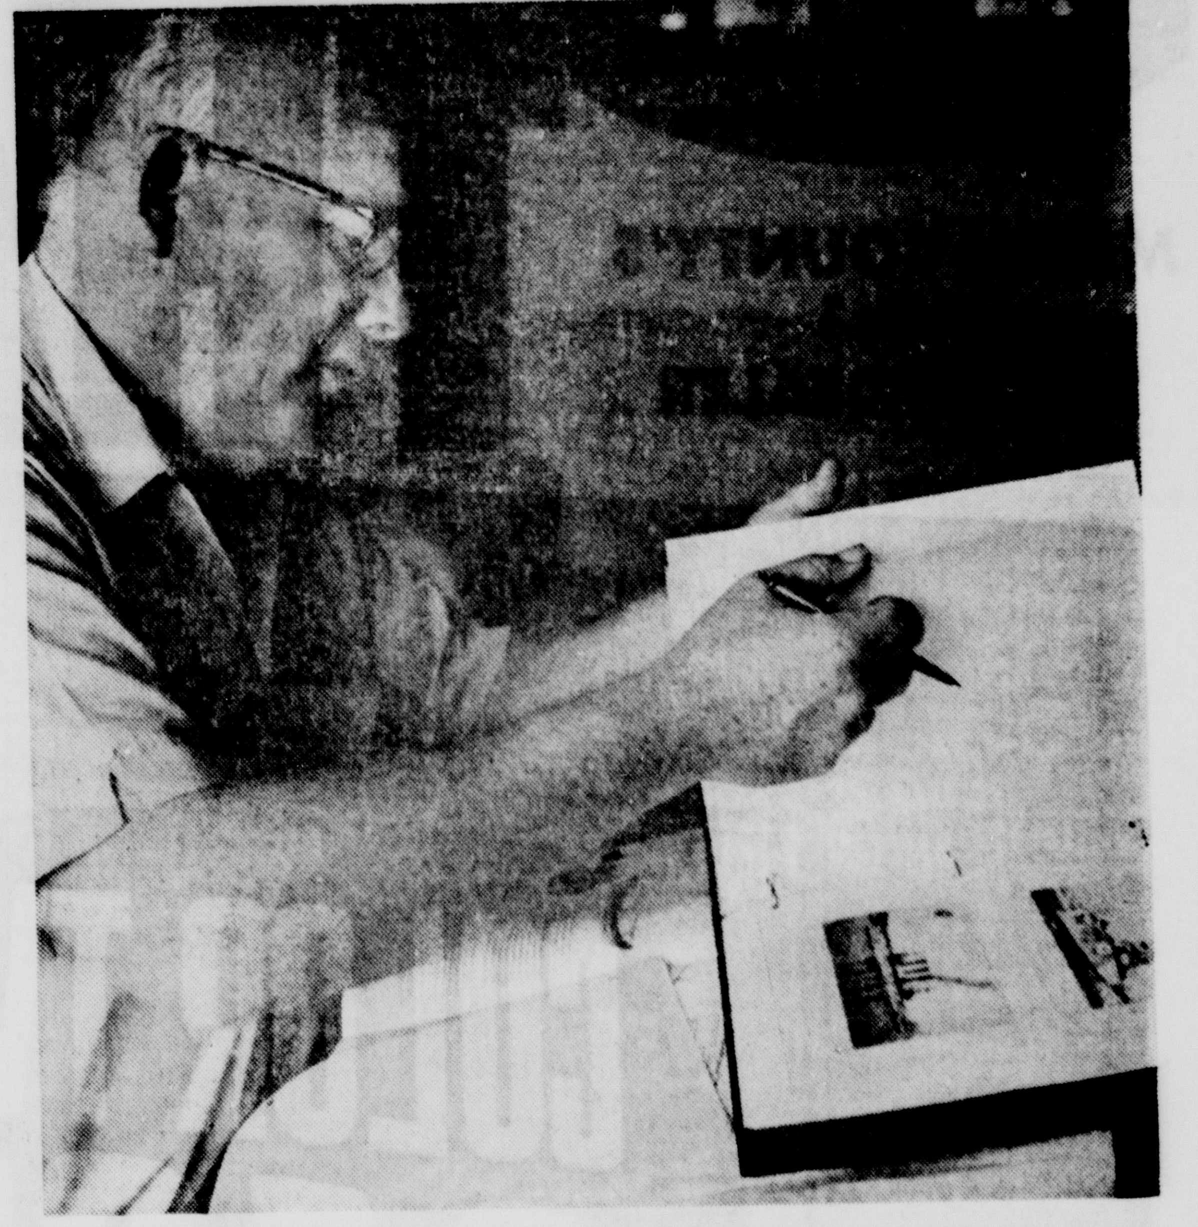
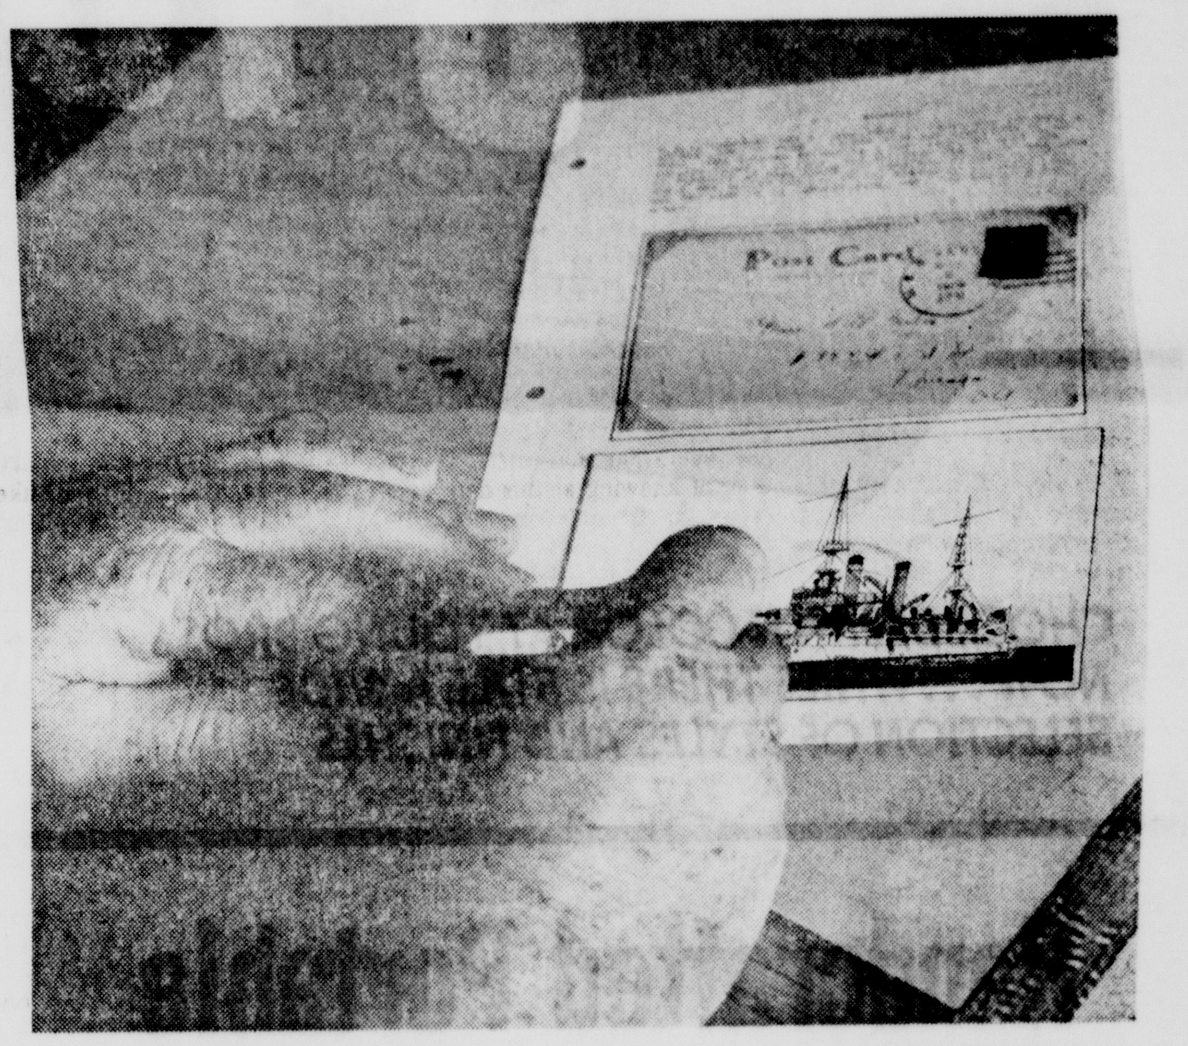
Navy Ships 'Live' in Marinite's Stamp Exhibit Frames



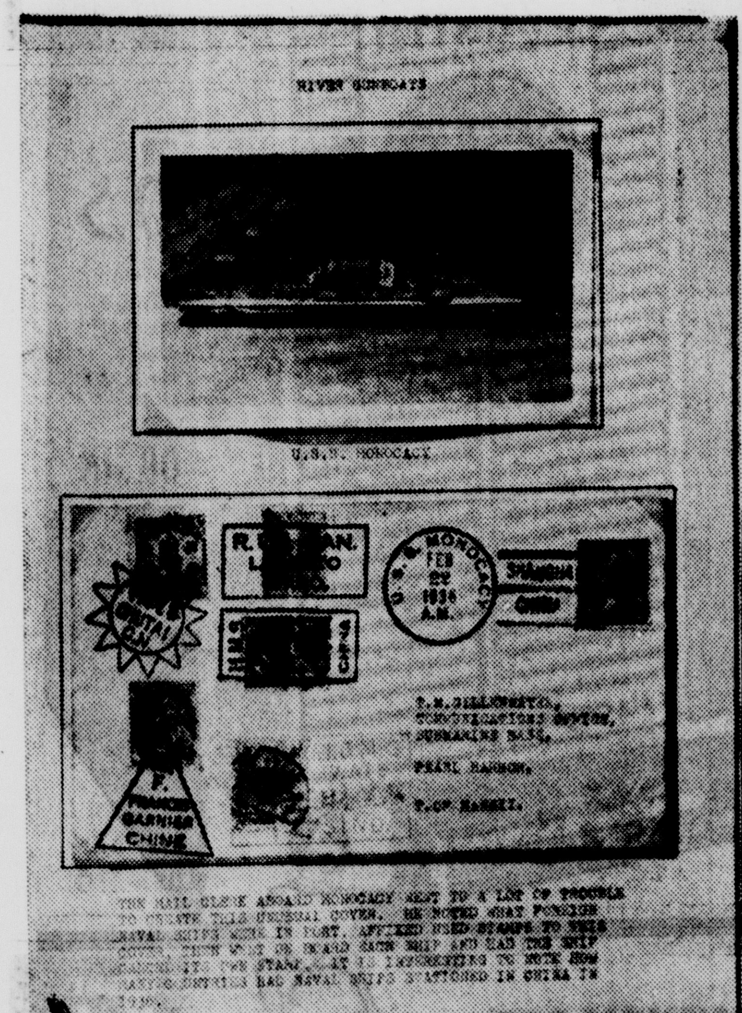
PREPARING FOR EXHIBIT—Donald M. McPherson of Corte Madera lays out pages from his naval "covers" collection in preparation for a stamp exhibition. McPherson specializes in collecting postcards and envelopes (covers) mailed from ships in the Asiatic fleet between 1908, when ships were granted the right to have their own post offices, and 1929. McPherson was in the Navy as a chief photographer's mate during World War II and the Korean War. He is now retired from his job as a gardener for the City and County of San Francisco and is devoting his time to his collection, which has won prizes in nation-wide philatelic competitions. He was the principal organizer of the Tamalpais Stamp Club and will be succeeded as its president by Ralph Bender of San Anselmo at a "birthday party" meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in room 118 of Redwood High School.



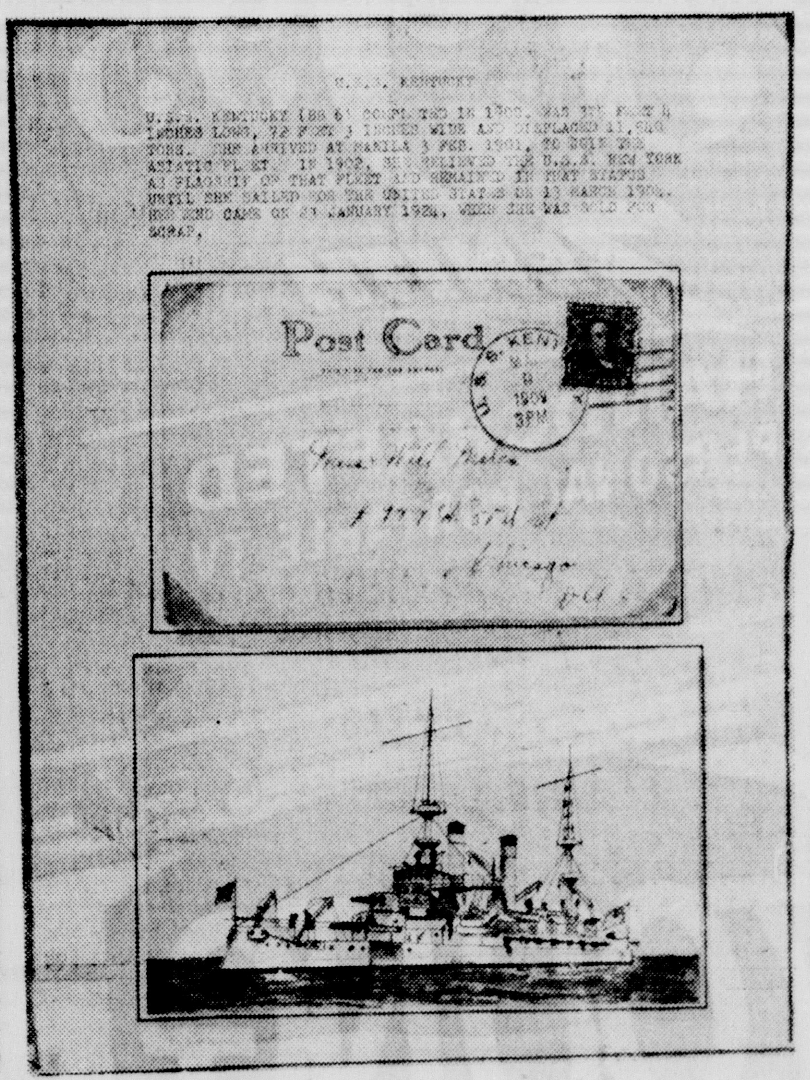
RESEARCH — Donald McPherson leafs through one of the books he has filled with notes and postcards of old ships. Reference books aid in preparing his exhibits for competition, as each exhibit sheet contains a card or letter with a postmark from a ship, a picture of the ship and a brief history of it. His library has a wide range of books on ships.



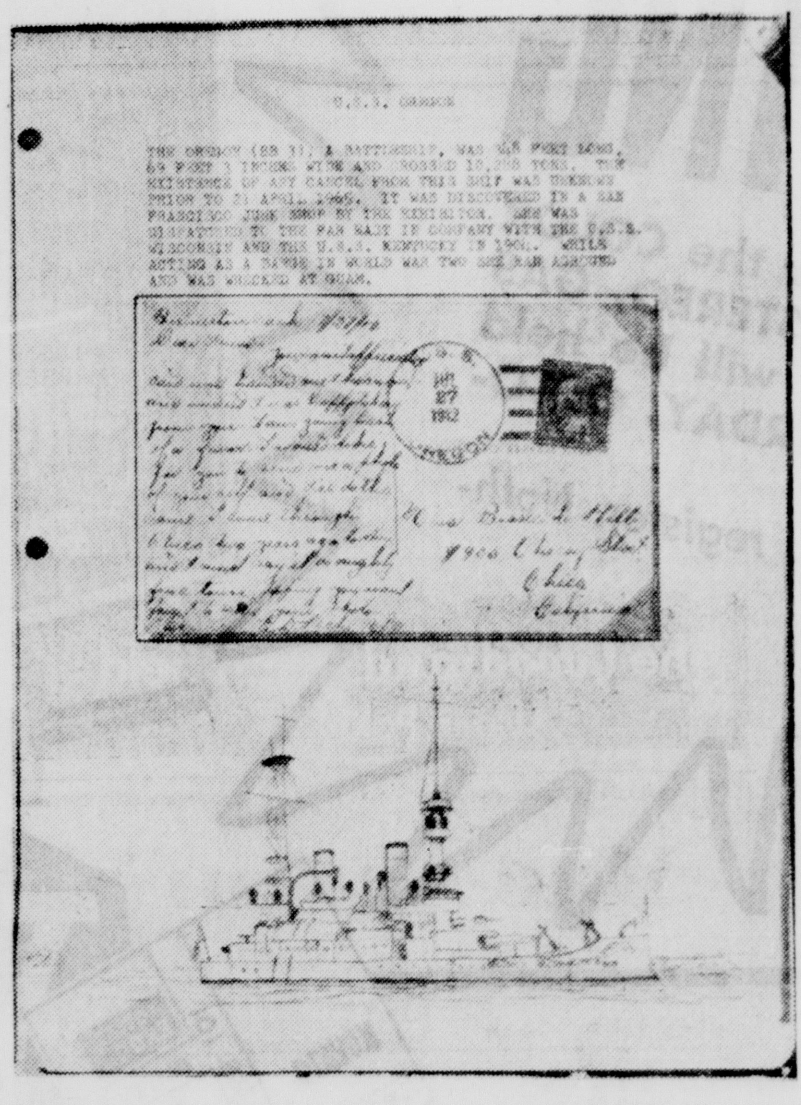
ARTIST—McPherson puts the finishing touches on his drawing of the USS Kentucky. He searches antique and junk shops, U.S. archives and the Naval Library for information on old Navy ships and photos of them. He started collecting stamps as a youth and returned to the hobby about three years ago.



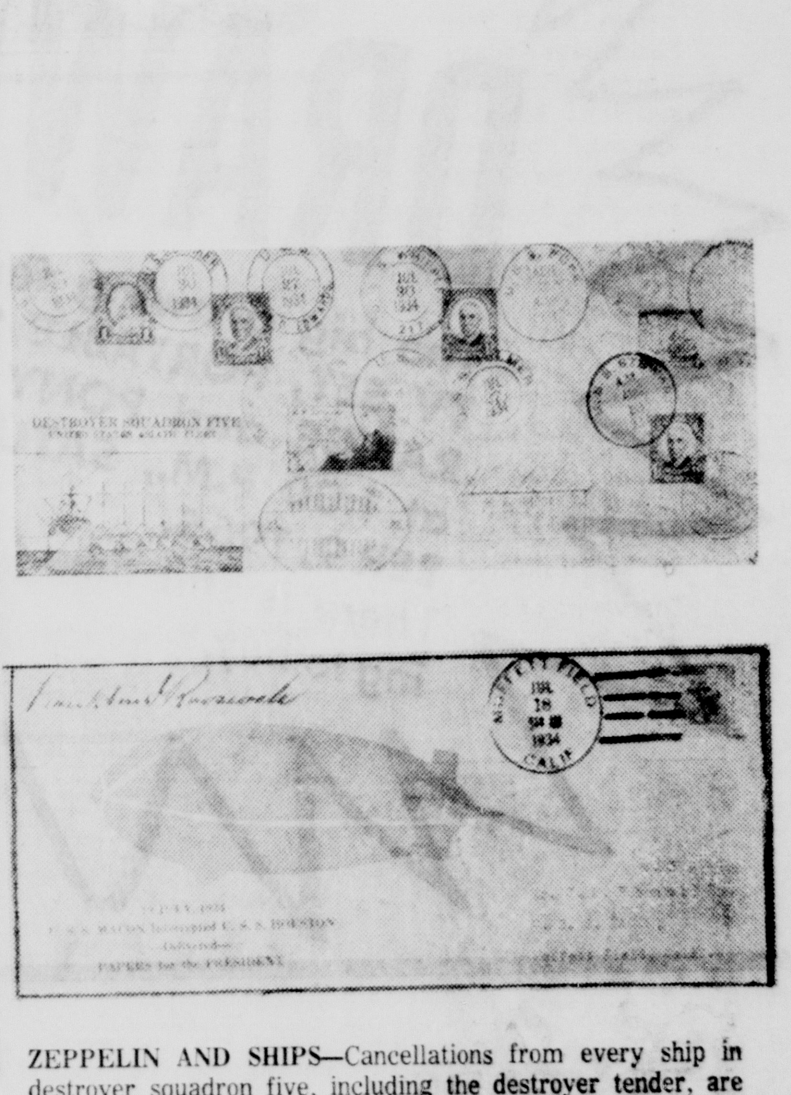
MULTI-LINGUAL STAMPS—The mail clerk aboard the USS Monocacy, offshore of Shanghai in 1936, placed already-used stamps from Italy, Great Britain, China, France, Japan on this envelope and went aboard ships of those countries to gain cancellations. The resulting "cover" is among unusual ones in the McPherson collection.



USS KENTUCKY—McPherson treasures this postcard from the USS Kentucky, mailed in 1909. The ship joined the Asiatic fleet in 1901 and became fleet flagship. She was sold for scrap in 1924.



COLLECTION PRIZE—This is the only known cancellation from the USS Oregon. McPherson found the letter in a San Francisco junk shop. It is valued at "whatever the market will bear," he said. The Oregon was in the Far East from 1904 until World War II.



ZEPPELIN AND SHIPS—Cancellations from every ship in destroyer squadron five, including the destroyer tender, are shown at top on this 1934 letter. Below is one of approximately 16 envelopes which the dirigible Macon and her planes took to President Franklin D. Roosevelt on the USS Houston, at sea off the coast. Roosevelt's signature is in the left corner of the envelope. (Independent-Journal photos by Ellen Bry)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Coast Guard is planning to install anti-pollution equipment on all its 323 cutters by 1972, according to Vice Adm. W.D. Shields, assistant commandant.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

If You're Ever Truly Dry-Eyed, Lacriman Glands Are In Trouble

VAN DELLEN

Tears are manufactured in the small lacrimal glands that lie along the outer and upper edge of each orbit. The tireless structures produce a salty fluid that keeps the eyes moist and clean 24 hours a day. Irritation increases the flow and a sad occasion may lead to a flood. This strange link between the lacrimal apparatus and our emotions never has been explained satisfactorily.

THE EYES also have an efficient drainage system located on the nasal side of the seeing apparatus. Tears escape through a set of tiny openings on the upper and lower lid margins and into a one-third inch pipeline to reach the lacrimal sac. This is best described as a wide elbow in a plumbing system that permits the tears to run into the nose. This explains why the nose becomes congested after crying, although in some, tears are so voluminous that the drainage system cannot handle the flow and the excess rolls down the cheeks.

Most of us never give this apparatus a second thought until something goes amiss. Too few tears result in dryness and burning. The eyes become sensitive to light, vision is impaired, and a stringy, mucous discharge develops. There is nothing to do except instill a saline solution at frequent intervals as a substitute for the scanty tears.

EXCESSIVE tearing occurs when the eyes are irritated by a speck of dust, wind, smoke, and bright light. The elderly are bothered along this line by cold weather. It also occurs in highly nervous individuals, caused perhaps by a physical stimulation of the gland.

Now and then there is an interference with drainage. The blockage usually is caused by inflammation of the lacrimal sac or duct. Some children come into the world with defects of the drainage mechanism, but these are easily recognized and correctable.

RENAL CALCULUS

B.Y. writes: What foods are rich in oxalic acid? I passed an oxalate kidney stone and don't want another.

REPLY

Foods rich in oxalates are spinach, potatoes, beans, endive, tomatoes, dried figs, plums, strawberries, rhubarb, cocoa, chocolate, and tea. Prevention also includes drinking large amounts of water. The abdomen should be X-rayed every year to determine whether a new stone has formed. If so, a chelating agent might be used to erode the calculus.

FLU ATTACKS

F.T. writes: Can a person have more than one attack of influenza in the flu season?

REPLY

Yes, because three types of viruses and several subtypes are capable of producing influenza and immunity to one does not necessarily lead to immunity to another. On the other hand, second bouts in one season are unusual because a single virus usually is responsible for most attacks during a given year.

PLASTIC HIP

Mrs. V. writes: I broke a hip and the surgeon gave me a choice of a nail or plastic part. I chose the latter, but wonder if I made a mistake. I can walk, including getting upstairs and down, by holding onto the railing. I am 85.

REPLY

The results speak for themselves.

MURMUR AND COFFEE

D.W. writes: Is it safe for a person with leakage of the heart to drink coffee?

REPLY

Yes, but don't overdo it.

Scientists Synthetize Vitzl Acid Of Genes

By CHARLES SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Scientists have gained an important new glimpse into the way life duplicates itself.

For the first time they apparently have assembled the complete machinery for synthetizing the stuff of viral genes, rebonucleic acid, or RNA.

There is RNA in the cells of man and higher animals, too. It works in partnership with desoxyribonucleic acid, or DNA, the blueprint of life.

RNA is what transmits the details of the DNA message and constructs new life step by step from the nutrients taken in by the body.

But some viruses are able to reproduce directly without the need of DNA. It was one of these RNA viruses which University of Illinois scientists used in making test-tube carbon copies.

In reporting the work in the September issue of the "Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences," Prof. Sol Spiegelman said:

"Until now we searched indirectly. It was like fumbling blindly inside a black box. Now we can know what to do."

The researchers used a virus called a bacteriophage, which infects bacteria. In this case the bacteria was e. coli, which grows freely in human intestinal tracts.

They ground up infected colonies of bacteria. Then they chemically squeezed out and separated the viral RNA, the stuff of genes. This was mixed in a test tube to which was added an enzyme needed to activate the RNA.

Spiegelman said the brew was dunked in an ice bath, filtered and washed seven times.

This concentration was thinned to a remarkable dilution by being passed through 15 test tubes. Less than a full molecule of the original RNA showed up in the final mixture. Yet this fragment, when put back with a new colony of e. coli bacteria, reproduced identical viruses.

Air Defense Official Hosts Missile Parley

Maj. Gen. Andrew R. Lolli, commander of the 28th North American Air Defense Command and commanding general of the Sixth Region Army Air Defense Command at Fort Baker, was host this week to the semi-annual air defense commanders conference in Los Angeles.

The conference purpose, Army officers reported, was to review the effectiveness of guided missile units such as those at Fort Baker and consider future air defense plans.

Actress Going Home Next Week

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Dorothy Malone, who nearly died two weeks ago, will go home next week.

Miss Malone, the star of the television series, "Peyton Place," and winner of an Academy Award, underwent seven hours of surgery for blood clots on the arteries of her lungs. Thursday, doctors at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital listed her condition as "good."

School Bond Office Slated

A citizens committee for the Tamalpais High School District bond campaign will be in operation Monday at 476 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

Committee chairman Dewitt K. MacDonald Jr. said the office space was donated by realty broker Maggi Walker. In charge of staffing and equipping the office is Jack L. Mengel of Corte Madera.

Mrs. John McGee and Mrs. John Rakow, both of Ross, will head a speakers' bureau for the campaign. Mrs. McGee is a member of the Ross School District Board.

Voters are being asked at a Nov. 16 election to approve $5,750,000 in bonds to build the first phase of a new school in San Geronimo Valley and complete Redwood High School in Larkspur.

Anti-Pollution Equipment Slated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Coast Guard is planning to install anti-pollution equipment on all its 323 cutters by 1972, according to Vice Adm. W.D. Shields, assistant commandant.

Shields wrote to Sen. Gaylord A. Nelson, D-Wis., yesterday outlining the Coast Guard plans. Nelson, who wants to require all vessel on federal waters to install sewage treatment plants, had written the Navy and the Coast Guard asking to what extend their ships were guilty of pollution.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

If You're Ever Truly Dry-Eyed, Lacriman Glands Are In Trouble

VAN DELLEN

Tears are manufactured in the small lacrimal glands that lie along the outer and upper edge of each orbit. The tireless structures produce a salty fluid that keeps the eyes moist and clean 24 hours a day. Irritation increases the flow and a sad occasion may lead to a flood. This strange link between the lacrimal apparatus and our emotions never has been explained satisfactorily.

THE EYES also have an efficient drainage system located on the nasal side of the seeing apparatus. Tears escape through a set of tiny openings on the upper and lower lid margins and into a one-third inch pipeline to reach the lacrimal sac. This is best described as a wide elbow in a plumbing system that permits the tears to run into the nose. This explains why the nose becomes congested after crying, although in some, tears are so voluminous that the drainage system cannot handle the flow and the excess rolls down the cheeks.

Most of us never give this apparatus a second thought until something goes amiss. Too few tears result in dryness and burning. The eyes become sensitive to light, vision is impaired, and a stringy, mucous discharge develops. There is nothing to do except instill a saline solution at frequent intervals as a substitute for the scanty tears.

EXCESSIVE tearing occurs when the eyes are irritated by a speck of dust, wind, smoke, and bright light. The elderly are bothered along this line by cold weather. It also occurs in highly nervous individuals, caused perhaps by a physical stimulation of the gland.

Now and then there is an interference with drainage. The blockage usually is caused by inflammation of the lacrimal sac or duct. Some children come into the world with defects of the drainage mechanism, but these are easily recognized and correctable.

RENAL CALCULUS

B.Y. writes: What foods are rich in oxalic acid? I passed an oxalate kidney stone and don't want another.

REPLY

Foods rich in oxalates are spinach, potatoes, beans, endive, tomatoes, dried figs, plums, strawberries, rhubarb, cocoa, chocolate, and tea. Prevention also includes drinking large amounts of water. The abdomen should be X-rayed every year to determine whether a new stone has formed. If so, a chelating agent might be used to erode the calculus.

FLU ATTACKS

F.T. writes: Can a person have more than one attack of influenza in the flu season?

REPLY

Yes, because three types of viruses and several subtypes are capable of producing influenza and immunity to one does not necessarily lead to immunity to another. On the other hand, second bouts in one season are unusual because a single virus usually is responsible for most attacks during a given year.

Scientists Synthetize Vitzl Acid Of Genes

By CHARLES SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Scientists have gained an important new glimpse into the way life duplicates itself.

For the first time they apparently have assembled the complete machinery for synthetizing the stuff of viral genes, rebonucleic acid, or RNA.

There is RNA in the cells of man and higher animals, too. It works in partnership with desoxyribonucleic acid, or DNA, the blueprint of life.

RNA is what transmits the details of the DNA message and constructs new life step by step from the nutrients taken in by the body.

But some viruses are able to reproduce directly without the need of DNA. It was one of these RNA viruses which University of Illinois scientists used in making test-tube carbon copies.

In reporting the work in the September issue of the "Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences," Prof. Sol Spiegelman said:

"Until now we searched indirectly. It was like fumbling blindly inside a black box. Now we can know what to do."

The researchers used a virus called a bacteriophage, which infects bacteria. In this case the bacteria was e. coli, which grows freely in human intestinal tracts.

They ground up infected colonies of bacteria. Then they chemically squeezed out and separated the viral RNA, the stuff of genes. This was mixed in a test tube to which was added an enzyme needed to activate the RNA.

Spiegelman said the brew was dunked in an ice bath, filtered and washed seven times.

This concentration was thinned to a remarkable dilution by being passed through 15 test tubes. Less than a full molecule of the original RNA showed up in the final mixture. Yet this fragment, when put back with a new colony of e. coli bacteria, reproduced identical viruses.

Air Defense Official Hosts Missile Parley

Maj. Gen. Andrew R. Lolli, commander of the 28th North American Air Defense Command and commanding general of the Sixth Region Army Air Defense Command at Fort Baker, was host this week to the semi-annual air defense commanders conference in Los Angeles.

The conference purpose, Army officers reported, was to review the effectiveness of guided missile units such as those at Fort Baker and consider future air defense plans.

Actress Going Home Next Week

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Dorothy Malone, who nearly died two weeks ago, will go home next week.

Miss Malone, the star of the television series, "Peyton Place," and winner of an Academy Award, underwent seven hours of surgery for blood clots on the arteries of her lungs. Thursday, doctors at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital listed her condition as "good."

School Bond Office Slated

A citizens committee for the Tamalpais High School District bond campaign will be in operation Monday at 476 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

Committee chairman Dewitt K. MacDonald Jr. said the office space was donated by realty broker Maggi Walker. In charge of staffing and equipping the office is Jack L. Mengel of Corte Madera.

Mrs. John McGee and Mrs. John Rakow, both of Ross, will head a speakers' bureau for the campaign. Mrs. McGee is a member of the Ross School District Board.

Voters are being asked at a Nov. 16 election to approve $5,-750,000 in bonds to build the first phase of a new school in San Geronimo Valley and complete Redwood High School in Larkspur.

New Design Sought For Meetings

Sausalito School District trustees will discuss at an 8:30 p.m. Monday meeting a policy whereby the meeting on the fourth Monday of the month would be devoted to curriculum first and business second, and the second meeting of the month would have business first, curriculum second.

The board will meet at 8:30 instead of 8 p.m. because of open houses being held at district schools that evening.

Trustees will consider whether to reduce first grade class loads, now about 26. They will consider an application for federal money for compensatory education activities.

They will hear a plan by the staff whereby food will be taken from Richardson Bay School cafeteria to Bayside School pupils instead of, as now, the first grades from Bayside being transported to central school cafeteria and back at noon.

'Save The Seal' Benefit Planned For Monday Night

Fans of the disintegrating stone seal on Sausalito's waterfront will meet Monday at Zack's-by-the-Bay, Bridgeway and Turney Street, to eat and drink to a new, more permanent lion.

Many will come via boat via Harbor Tours from San Francisco leaving pier 43½ at 7 p.m. and returning at 10:30 p.m.

The fifth annual Sausalito Foundation Night, with all benefits to be used to "save the seal," will start at 6 p.m. There will be entertainment and a buffet. A banjo band, the Strugglers, will entertain passengers on the boat, Harbor Queen.

Tickets are available at several shops in Sausalito and at Zack's, according to Alice T. Williams, publicity chairman.

Al E. Sybrian, Muir Beach sculptor, donated the stone sea lion to Sausalito in 1957 but, due to attrition of the tides, it has lost its figure. A "more permanent" lion is to be cast for the same rocky location at the edge of Bridgeway near Tiffany Beach.

Nation's Joblessness At Eight-Year Low

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Unemployment in the United States fell below 3 million in September for the first time in eight years, the Labor Department said yesterday.

The number of jobless Americans declined by 383,000 to 2,875,000 last month. It was the lowest monthly total since October, 1957.

Senator Attacks Reserve Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., charged Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara yesterday with ignoring the mandate of Congress against scuttling the Army Reserves.

In a Senate speech, Stennis protested the McNamara announcement last week that 55,000 trained Army Reservists in "low priority units" would be deactivated.

He questioned the accuracy of McNamara's statements that Senate leaders "received the plan favorably."

Most of them had not even been consulted, Stennis said.

Welfare Recipients May Keep Payments

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly unanimously passed legislation yesterday permitting about 200,000 California welfare recipients to keep $7 million in retroactive social security payments.

The bill, by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, went to the Senate.

JIM MURRAY'S WORLD SERIES REPORT

The Rain Didn't Stop The Dodgers

By JIM MURRAY

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL—Among the five or six hundred things I had hoped not to do in my lifetime is watch another ball game in the rain. It ranks right along with not stepping on a Corbra, not answering the phone after midnight and not telling your wife to do something about her hair.

Among other things, it brings Ford Frick, the commisisoner of baseball, face to face with a decision. He never calls a game unless the left-fielder drowns or the second baseman comes in for a snorkel.

The rain doesn't bother the Dodgers. They don't hit in it, either. Meteorology doesn't bother them except they have to hope it comes on a day Don Drysdale is pitching. Saves him the trouble of spitting.

It doesn't help Sandy Koufax at all. It's as little help to him as his cleanup hitter.

Rain or shine, there is a moment in a Koufax-pitched game I relish. That's when his first couple of pitches come whistling in to a batter who has never seen him before. They get this same stricken look on their faces Joe Louis' opponents used to get when he hung that first left hook on them. At first, it's disbelief. Then they turn to the umpire with a "Well, did he throw it? Or did I just imagine I saw something go by here?" Ball players who strike out always go back to the dugout muttering "He hasn't got a thing." With Koufax, they spot a teammate lugging a bat to the on-deck circle and they say "You won't need that." Or when a teammate asks, "What's he throwing?" They answer" I dunno. The crowd was making so much noise I couldn't hear."

The Twins pitched their cool Kaat—Jim, the left-hander, that is. The Twins got to Koufax pretty good. The count went to 3-and-2 on a couple of batters in the first three innings. Jim Kaat tried to bunt in the third inning but by the time he got the bat out there it was strike three.

It had to be the wettest Athletic contest ever held outside of an Olympic pool. A Hall-of-Fame named "Nossek," Joseph Rudolph Nossek, got the first hit. His family may want to bronze the ball. Of course, Koufax would have been better

WORLD SERIES THRILL TOO MUCH FOR JUNIOR

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Pitcher Jim Kaat of the Minnesota Twins breezed through in good style yesterday as the Twins beat Los Angeles 5-1 in the second game of the World Series, but his son couldn't take the excitement.

Jim Jr., 4, became ill during the game and had to have treatment in the Metropolitan Stadium first aid room, where his temperature was checked at 101 degrees. He had stomach flu.

"I think it was just too much excitement," said Mrs. Kaat.

A Kiss Of Death For 49ers; San Rafael's Milkman Cometh

KISS OF DEATH: The San Francisco 49ers received sportsdom's supreme hex this week—a cover story in Sports Illustrated. Which means our beloved Prospectors should go into a disastrous tailspin any moment now.

JOHN LLOYD BALZAN is just a typical American teen-ager—with two exceptions: He is the only boy in Marin County who has his surname plastered all over milk cartons; and he's quite possibly the best and toughest lineman in local high school football.

As the son of prominent Marin dairyman Steve Balzan, John gets plenty of publicity around the county's supermarkets. Housewives know the name well. Balzan is prominently displayed in quarts and half-gallons.

But on a football field, John Lloyd Balzan is packaged in a 6-2, 195-pound container that creates considerable havoc among opponents of his San Rafael Bulldogs, for whom he plays defensive end and offensive tackle.

SAYS BALZAN'S coach, easy-going Bob Muster: "I've been here at San Rafael since 1958 and John is as good as anyone we've ever had." That covers considerable territory, for San Rafael has produced some great linemen in the past seven years, notably Kent Francisco, Ron Snidow, Chris Yeager and Jack Clark.

Muster goes even further: "On defense John has no peer in Marin. He averages 15 or 16 stops a game. Against Montgomery, a pretty tough team, he made 12 stops, 3 assists, blocked a punt and recovered 3 fumbles. Last week against Tam he made 15 stops and recovered a fumble."

IT SHOULD be noted that on the morning of the Tam game the San Rafael star had stomach flu, but fought off the bug to do or die for San Rafael High.

"John," continues Muster, "is the type of player who just won't quit in his pursuit of the ball carrier. He'll fight off two or three blockers to get at the ball. Wherever there's a pileup he's usually at the bottom.

"LAST YEAR we sent some game films to University of Washington coaches who'd shown interest in John, then a junior. Their reply was, 'We'll take him right now.' He's definitely a fine college prospect."

The 17-year-old Balzan still has a lot of high school football left in him. He should be given strong consideration for the Shrine North-South game in Los Angeles next July and is a virtual cinch to be picked for the North-South Marin All-Star game next Aug. 25.

Meantime, if you attend tonight's San Rafael-Redwood game, pay special attention to Bulldog No. 72, particularly on defense. You can't miss him. Like his dad's product, he has "QUALITY" written all over him.

GOOD CAUSE: The Cellars cocktail lounge of San Rafael is sponsoring a golf tourney Monday at Peacock Gap with proceeds going to Marin Aid to Retarded Children. Tee-off time is 10 a.m. to noon, late entries will be accepted and the $20 entry fee covers greens fees, prizes, a buffet party at the Cellars. And a ray of light in a clouded young mind.

Indians, USC Cal Favored

Odds - makers have installed Southern California a four-point favorite over Washington in their crucial Pacific Eight game at Seattle tomorrow, Stanford a one - point choice over Oregon in a battle of undefeated teams at Stanford and California a seven-point pick over the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

In other games involving Pacific Eight schools, Oregon State is rated even against Northwestern at Evanston, Ill.; UCLA is a five-point underdog to Syracuse, and Washington State is a 14-point choice over Villanova.

Yacht Series Slated

A round robin yacht racing series will be held by the San Francisco Bay Knarr Assn. on Oct. 23 and 24. The class will be divided into three divisions, with a maximum of six in a division.

Fantastic U.S. Golf Comeback

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — A pair of fantastic come backs today gave the United States forces a one-point edge after the morning round of the four-ball foursomes in the Ryder Cup golf matches.

The U.S. pros won two of the morning's four matches and halved another to give them a 6½-5½ margin at the halfway mark of the biennial three-day event.

Don January of Dallas, Tex., and Tommy Jacobs of Denver, Colo., playing despite a pulled back muscle, starred in the match that gave the U.S. the lead at the luncheon break. Four down at the turn, they beat Dave Thomas and George Will by a single hole.

Their score was a 69 over the 7,037-yard Royal Birkdale course, where par is 35-36—73.

Billy Casper and Gene Littler, both from San Diego, won the last four holes of their match with Lionel Platts and Peter Butler for a half. Both the British and the Americans posted a 69.

PALMER-MARR

Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., and Dave Marr of New Rochelle, N.Y., came in with the first victory of the day, defeating Christy O'Connor and Peter Allis 6 and 4 on some spectacular putting by the Americans.

Perhaps the most exciting match of the morning round was the 1 up triumph of Bernard Hunt and Neil Coles over Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C., and Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif.

It was Hunt who gave the British the victory in this match. One up as they teed off on the final hole, Hunt hooked his second shot and the ball rolled dead near a railing built to restrain the gallery. But he sent his third over the railing and two deep traps to within 12 feet of the pin. Then he sank the putt for a half on the hole that preserved the British edge in the duel.

Four more four-ball foursomes will be played today and the competition, started in 1927 to foster match play among the professional golfers of the United States and Great Britain, will be concluded Saturday with 16 singles. The teams divided Thursday's eight two-ball foursmes evenly.

The U.S. has won the huge trophy 12 times and Great Britain only three, the last in 1957.

The Mouse Roared

By MIKE RATHET

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Minnesota's Jim (Kitty) Kaat turned out to be the mouse that roared.

A definite underdog when he took the mound against Los Angeles' peerless Sandy Koufax in a battle of left-handers yesterday, Kaat not only outpitched the Dodger dandy but revealed after the game that he hadn't even looked at the scouting reports.

And, like a poor man's Koufax, he admitted that he also has to pack his arm in ice, or cold water, after pitching because of a problem with tendonitis in his forearm.

"I pitched according to my strength," said the quiet-spoken Kaat in the Twins' dressing room after he had limited the Dodgers to seven singles in a 5-1 victory.

"No, I didn't look at the scouting reports. I'm a low ball pitcher, and I knew they were low ball batters so it's strength vs. strength.

"I actually prefer not to go over scouting reports because I think then you have a tendency to try and pitch too fine. And I'm not a spot pitcher. I'm better off just throwing strikes."

You really mean that, someone asked, and the mouse roared:

"Yeh, I figured let them look at my scouting report and worry about me."

What about matching pitches with Koufax?

"I think pitching against Koufax takes the pressure off you," he said, again startling listeners who stared up to see if there was a smile on his face. "Look, he's the greatest. Nobody expected me to beat him, so why should I feel any pressure.

"All I told myself was he has to beat me between the foul lines—that's where the game is played. But I'll tell you this: I tried not to let the fact that I was pitching against him bother me, but when I saw him throwing the first inning I was afraid to give up a run."

Twins Favored By 5-13 Odds

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The strong showing of the Minnesota Twins, good enough for two World Series victories, is also good enough to make the team a World Series favorite.

Two bookmakers here male the Twins 5-13 and 5-14 favorites to defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers.

But the same bookmakers are giving 5-7 for the Dodgers to win the third game Saturday, the first at Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Dawson Wins Tourney

Mrs. E. N. Dawson was Tray Day winner yesterday at the Marin Country Club golf tourney, stroking a 91-19—72. Mrs. William Wieland and Mrs. John McVey tied for low putt honors, each with 28.

Class winners:

Class A—Mrs. Aubrey Babson, 83-10—73; Mrs. John McVey, 87-14—73; Mrs. William Wieland, 89-15—74; Mrs. Jesse Long, 89-15—74.

Class B — Mrs. Mel Bleadon, 97-23—74; Mrs. Carl Johnson, 98-23—75; Mrs. Edward Abramson, 99-20—79; Mrs. Henry Helbig, 99-20—79.

Class C—Mrs. James Parris, 101-28—73; Mrs. Wallace Wold, 99-25—74; Mrs. Harry Flachs, 101-26—75; Mrs. Walter Goldman, 102-26—76.

Dodgers' Osteen Hurls Tomorrow

By JOE REICHLER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Brimming with confidence after beating the Dodgers' fearsome pitching pair of Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax, the victorious Minnesota Twins expressed confidence today they can add nemesis Claude Osteen to their list of victims when the World Series resumes tomorrow in Los Angeles.

Halfway to the World Championship after beating Koufax 5-1 at Minnesota yesterday on top of their opening 8-2 defeat of dale, the Twins were even dreaming of a four-game sweep, predicted earlier by Los Angeles General Manager Buzzie Bavasi—but by the Dodgers.

"I'd love to sweep," said Twins' Manager Sam Mele, "but they're a tough outfit, and you've got to play heads up all the time. I've been telling you guys we're pretty tough, too."

Perhaps the toughest assignment of the Series goes to Camilo Pascual, the Twins' right-hander who is slated to open in Los Angeles following today's off day for travel.

Not only will the American League champions be playing in the Dodgers' home park, but the Twins' record against the Angels there has been nothing to Drysdale, the Twins were even write home about.

In addition, left-hander Osteen was exceptionally tough for the Twins during his years with the Washington Senators. The 26-year-old southpaw, traded to Los Angeles last winter, holds five victories over the Twins without a defeat. He was 15-15 in the N.L. this year. Pascual was 9-3 in the A.L.

"We've hit Claude in some of the games," said Harmon Killebrew, the Twins' third baseman and home run king. "Maybe we can again."

Billy Martin, the Twins' third base coach, reminded that the Twins are a different team from the one Osteen beat so consistently.

"We used to rely almost solely on the home run," said Martin. "Now we depend upon speed and defense in addition to power."

The Twins beat Koufax without hitting a home run. The big blows were Tony Oliva's sixth-inning double, which drove in the Twins' first run, a clutch run-scoring single by Killebrew and Zoilo Versalles' triple that led to a run in the seventh. Kaat helped his cause with a two-run, bases-loaded single in the eighth.

Martin conceded that the Dodgers would be tougher at home.

"It's going to be tough to sweep a team like the Dodgers," he said. "The Los Angeles ball park is suited to their pitching staff.

"If we were playing the Giants and we had just beaten Juan Marichal instead of Koufax, I would say we'd be thinking of a sweep. The Giants' pitching staff does not compare to that of the Dodgers."

Pascual, who missed seven weeks because of back trouble, was an interested dugout spectator during the Twins' first two triumphs. Did he think he learned something while watching Jim Grant and Jim Kaat tame the Dodgers hitters?

"The only way to learn is to go to the mound and do your own job," said the 31-year-old Cuban. "No two pitchers are alike. Grant pitches one way, Kaat another and neither pitches the way I do."

Koufax, a 26-game winner during the regular season, didn't pitch badly. He permitted six hits in six innings, striking out nine.

"I didn't feel I had it," said the stylish southpaw. "If my control would have been good, I might have gotten away with it, but it wasn't."

Walter Alston, the Dodger manager, agreed with his pitching ace.

"I've seen Sandy better," he said.

Alston added: "I'll be glad when we change ball parks. I know we'll have better weather, and I hope we can score more runs."

Alston emphasized, however, he was not seeking any alibis because of the weather.

"They just outplayed us," he said. "They deserved to win."

The Dodgers manager recalled that in 1955 the then Brooklyn Dodgers dropped two games behind and came back to defeat the New York Yankees in the Series.

Three other teams came back to win after losing the first two games. They were the 1921 New York Giants, the 1956 Yankees and the 1958 Yankees.

JIM MURRAY'S WORLD SERIES REPORT

The Rain Didn't Stop The Dodgers

By JIM MURRAY

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL—Among the five or six hundred things I had hoped not to do in my lifetime is watch another ball game in the rain. It ranks right along with not stepping on a Corbra, not answering the phone after midnight and not telling your wife to do something about her hair.

Among other things, it brings Ford Frick, the commisisoner of baseball, face to face with a decision. He never calls a game unless the left-fielder drowns or the second baseman comes in for a snorkel.

The rain doesn't bother the Dodgers. They don't hit in it, either. Meteorology doesn't bother them except they have to hope it comes on a day Don Drysdale is pitching. Saves him the trouble of spitting.

It doesn't help Sandy Koufax at all. It's as little help to him as his cleanup hitter.

Rain or shine, there is a moment in a Koufax-pitched game I relish. That's when his first couple of pitches come whistling in to a batter who has never seen him before. They get this same stricken look on their faces Joe Louis' opponents used to get when he hung that first left hook on them. At first, it's disbelief. Then they turn to the umpire with a "Well, did he throw it? Or did I just imagine I saw something go by here?" Ball players who strike out always go back to the dugout muttering "He hasn't got a thing." With Koufax, they spot a teammate lugging a bat to the on-deck circle and they say "You won't need that." Or when a teammate asks, "What's he throwing?" They answer" I dunno. The crowd was making so much noise I couldn't hear."

The Twins pitched their cool Kaat—Jim, the left-hander, that is. The Twins got to Koufax pretty good. The count went to 3-and-2 on a couple of batters in the first three innings. Jim Kaat tried to bunt in the third inning but by the time he got the bat out there it was strike three.

It had to be the wettest Athletic contest ever held outside of an Olympic pool. A Hall-of-Fame named "Nossek," Joseph Rudolph Nossek, got the first hit. His family may want to bronze the ball. Of course, Koufax would have been better

WORLD SERIES THRILL TOO MUCH FOR JUNIOR

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Pitcher Jim Kaat of the Minnesota Twins breezed through in good style yesterday as the Twins beat Los Angeles 5-1 in the second game of the World Series, but his son couldn't take the excitement.

Jim Jr., 4, became ill during the game and had to have treatment in the Metropolitan Stadium first aid room, where his temperature was checked at 101 degrees. He had stomach flu.

"I think it was just too much excitement," said Mrs. Kaat.

A Kiss Of Death For 49ers; San Rafael's Milkman Cometh

KISS OF DEATH: The San Francisco 49ers received sportsdom's supreme hex this week—a cover story in Sports Illustrated. Which means our beloved Prospectors should go into a disastrous tailspin any moment now.

JOHN LLOYD BALZAN is just a typical American teen-ager—with two exceptions: He is the only boy in Marin County who has his surname plastered all over milk cartons; and he's quite possibly the best and toughest lineman in local high school football.

As the son of prominent Marin dairyman Steve Balzan, John gets plenty of publicity around the county's supermarkets. Housewives know the name well. Balzan is prominently displayed in quarts and half-gallons.

But on a football field, John Lloyd Balzan is packaged in a 6-2, 195-pound container that creates considerable havoc among opponents of his San Rafael Bulldogs, for whom he plays defensive end and offensive tackle.

SAYS BALZAN'S coach, easy-going Bob Muster: "I've been here at San Rafael since 1958 and John is as good as anyone we've ever had." That covers considerable territory, for San Rafael has produced some great linemen in the past seven years, notably Kent Francisco, Ron Snidow, Chris Yeager and Jack Clark.

Muster goes even further: "On defense John has no peer in Marin. He averages 15 or 16 stops a game. Against Montgomery, a pretty tough team, he made 12 stops, 3 assists, blocked a punt and recovered 3 fumbles. Last week against Tam he made 15 stops and recovered a fumble."

IT SHOULD be noted that on the morning of the Tam game the San Rafael star had stomach flu, but fought off the bug to do or die for San Rafael High.

"John," continues Muster, "is the type of player who just won't quit in his pursuit of the ball carrier. He'll fight off two or three blockers to get at the ball. Wherever there's a pileup he's usually at the bottom.

"LAST YEAR we sent some game films to University of Washington coaches who'd shown interest in John, then a junior. Their reply was, 'We'll take him right now.' He's definitely a fine college prospect."

The 17-year-old Balzan still has a lot of high school football left in him. He should be given strong consideration for the Shrine North-South game in Los Angeles next July and is a virtual cinch to be picked for the North-South Marin All-Star game next Aug. 25.

Meantime, if you attend tonight's San Rafael-Redwood game, pay special attention to Bulldog No. 72, particularly on defense. You can't miss him. Like his dad's product, he has "QUALITY" written all over him.

GOOD CAUSE: The Cellars cocktail lounge of San Rafael is sponsoring a golf tourney Monday at Peacock Gap with proceeds going to Marin Aid to Retarded Children. Tee-off time is 10 a.m. to noon, late entries will be accepted and the $20 entry fee covers greens fees, prizes, a buffet party at the Cellars. And a ray of light in a clouded young mind.

Indians, USC Cal Favored

Odds - makers have installed Southern California a four-point favorite over Washington in their crucial Pacific Eight game at Seattle tomorrow, Stanford a one - point choice over Oregon in a battle of undefeated teams at Stanford and California a seven-point pick over the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

In other games involving Pacific Eight schools, Oregon State is rated even against Northwestern at Evanston, Ill.; UCLA is a five-point underdog to Syracuse, and Washington State is a 14-point choice over Villanova.

Yacht Series Slated

Stanford Is Slim Choice Over Ducks

Battle Of Unbeatens In Conference Opener

STANFORD (UPI)—Oregon's Ducks, oozing confidence to go with power, seek to bring Len Casanova his 101st victory as a college coach tomorrow when they face Stanford in the Pacific Eight opener for both schools.

Despite the Webfoots' record of three wins in as many games, the Indians have been installed one point choices for the contest. Stanford had to rally for a 17-16 win over the Air Force Academy last week while Oregon methodically was defeating Brigham Young, 27-14.

An Oregon spokesman said afterward that his team "frittered away several scoring opportunities." In other games this year, Oregon downed Pitt, 17-15, after a rally and bested Utah, 31-14.

Stanford opened the season by trouncing San Jose State 26-6 then settled for a 7-7 tie with Navy before getting a scare from an Air Force squad which was depleted by a cheating scandal.

Stanford received a shock this week when Bob Blunt, its best pass receiver, underwent knee surgery after being injured against the Falcons. He is out for the year, leaving coach John Ralston with a bad hole at halfback. The job may be filled by Phil Humphreys, who has had almost no game experience but was impressive in spring practice.

Dave Lewis, a full-blooded Indian who also operates as a bona fide triple threater, will be Stanford's starting quarterback as usual. Oregon will go either with Tom Trovato or Mike Brundage. There has been a lively battle between the pair so far this year for the fulltime quarterback job.

Oregon currently stands fourth nationally in total offense with 1,235 yards gained for an average of 411.7 per contest. The Ducks stand second in passing offense, having hit on 57 per cent of their tosses for 784 yards.

The expected attendance is around 40,000. Game time was set back to 3 p.m. to avoid a conflict with the World Series telecasts.

Cal Bears Tackle Dangerous Airmen

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — If the thrice-beaten Air Force Academy football team breaks into the victory column when it plays the University of California here Saturday, one of the reasons will be Bob Barnes, 6-foot, 195-pound wingback.

Barnes, who was playing junior varsity ball last year, has scored in all three of the Falcons' games so far.

His most spectacular feat was a 98-yard runback of a kickoff by Stanford for a touchdown last weekend. He is the Falcons' leading scorer with 18 points.

In the opening against Wyoming, Barnes got his touchdown on a 56-yard pass play and against Nebraska he scored from the six, whipping around end after taking a pitchout from quarterback Paul Stein.

Air Force Coach Ben Martin describes Barnes as a man who is capable of handling a wobbly ball and who has the composure to grab a punt or kickoff when tacklers are bearing down on him.

He has drawn the duty almost exclusively because Martin is reluctant to have Guy Hogle—who originally was scheduled for the job—take chances of aggravating an injured finger. Hogle is a flanker end.

The Falcons will go against California without a defensive stalwart they had counted on—Don Heckert. He underwent an operation for an inflamed appendix at the academy hospital Wednesday and will be out of action for at least three weeks. Heckert was out of the Stanford game due to a leg injury suffered against Nebraska.

The Air Force will use Art Fisher, a junior at the middle guard spot against California and Carl Richardson and Cal Hopper will work at the tackle positions. Hopper was out a week with injuries after the Nebraska game.

California has a record of 1-2 for the season. The Bears got into the win column with a 17-0 victory over Kansas last Saturday.

Raiders Vs. Pats(ies) In Boston

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Patriots entertain the Oakland Raiders tonight at Fenway Park, still seeking their first American Football League victory and hopeful that fullback Larry Garron's return will help them achieve the goal.

The Patriots, who had been expected to challenge Buffalo for the Eastern Division championship, have the worse offense in the league primarily because they have had no running game.

With Garron's return, Boston expects to add more punch to its running game and take some of the pressure off quarterback Babe Parilli. The Boston signal caller, who threw more touchdown passes than any other pro passer last fall, has thrown only two scoring passes in four games this season and has had 13 intercepted.

Garron missed the first four games because of a broken collarbone.

The Raiders have been relying on their running game since the return of fullback Alan Miller this fall. Miller, on a leave last fall to attend law school, has teamed with halfback Clem Daniels to give Oakland a successful 1-2 offensive punch.

Tonight's contest will be the last of the season under the lights for Boston.

The other action in the AFL is scheduled Sunday when the undefeated Eastern Division leaders from Buffalo entertain the Western Division leader, San Diego. The Bills are 8-0 and San Diego is 3-0-1. Kansas City, 2-1-1, is at Denver, 2-2, while Houston and New York are idle.

Stiffest Test Tomorrow For Surprising Indians

The surprising Tamalpais Indians will be trying for their fourth straight victory tomorrow, but it should be the stiffest test yet for coach Willie Hector's boys.

Opposing the Indians will be defending champion of the Marin Athletic League, Drake. Kickoff for that grid game in Kentfield Stadium is scheduled for 2 p.m.

The Pirates, co-champs in 1963 and solo champs last year, won their league opener last Saturday against Marin Catholic, 14-0, after being held scoreless through the first half. Drake lost to Petaluma 13-12 and then bombed Analy 47-0 in its first two games of the season.

The Indians, not picked as a contender prior to the start of the '65 season, have surprised most football filberts with their winning ways: 14-12 over Riordan, 16-6 over Skyline, and 14-0 last Saturday against San Rafael in their league opener.

Hector, coaching his first year in prep football, is being cautious. "Success can spoil guys sometimes," he said. "But so far these kids are working hard. We had good workouts this week and the boys have been improving every week."

After watching the films of Tam's win over San Rafael, Hector was elated over the running of his two backs, Mike Fowler and Kirk Sparks. "Sparks had five guys on his back and he still made three yards, and one time Fowler ran around end and carried three players with him," Willie said of his two running backs. But one of the big points in the Tam offense has been that hard charging line. "And our defense has been really strong," said Hector. "We have improved 300 per cent."

Hector was asked if his defense was going to key on Dean Lazzarini, Drake's fleet-footed fullback. And he came back with what he learned while playing line for the Los Angeles Rams:

"We would all watch Jimmy Brown (great Cleveland Browns runner) and away would go Charley Mitchell. It's not a very good way to do it. You can't forget about those other guys in the backfield. They're good enough to be first string so they can run too."

Drake coach Bob Franceschini said he was still trying to find that winning combination in his starting lineup. He's giving Dave Simononini, a 170-pound senior back, a chance at the starting halfback spot next to Lazzarini. Doug Manuel, used strictly on defense last season, is going to start at tight left end because of his blocking power. John Boothby will start at the flanker spot for the first time this season. A first stringer last year, Boothby's been sidelined with a back injury this year. But it will be Lazzarini who will have to carry most of the load for Drake. He picked up 153 yards on the ground his last time out, and scored both touchdowns of the game.

Probable starting offensive lineups:

TAMALPAIS

Undefeated Giants Go For Fourth Straight

Redwood High School gridders will get their first taste of 1965 Marin Athletic League action tonight and, according to coach Bob Troppmann, he's got a hungry bunch on his hands.

Waiting for the Giants of Larkspur will be the San Rafael High School Bulldogs who'll be playing on their home field. Gametime is 8 o'clock following a junior varsity clash at 5:45

Redwood drew the first week's league bye last weekend and entertained itself with a 12-6 triumph over visiting Salinas while the rest of the MCAL teams were knocking heads with each other. It was Redwood's third straight non-league triumph.

After winning their two non-league scraps (8-0 over McClymonds and 13-7 over Montgomery), the Bulldogs were upset last Saturday by Tamalpais, 14-0.

Both San Rafael and Redwood were playing their last games with a truckload of injuries, but this time both camps report injuries healed and forces in top shape.

Redwood's entire backfield was hobbled by injuries last week, but all will be ready tonight. Len Pieri at left half, Ken Tucker at right half, and Tom Sather at full will be the Giants' ball packers, and all are capable of breaking away for long gainers. No. 1 quarterback Dane Durham is a question mark, and if he isn't ready by gametime Doug Grey will start in his place. "But Durham will play," said Troppmann.

Redwood offensive guard Bill Dunn has been out of action since an injury in the first game of the year, and he will be back in action.

"I haven't seen the school with so much spirit," said an enthused Troppmann. "We're ready."

News was also much brighter from San Rafael. "We're probably as strong as we have been all year with the return of injured players," said Bulldog coach Bob Muster. They are end Joe Cunningham, tackle Scott Anderson, quarterback Roger Widmer and defensive back Ward Hayter.

Widmer has been the starting signal caller for the Bulldogs this year after his older brother, Jay, showed up to practice with injuries that may keep him out most of the season. Jay was No. 1 quarterback last year as a junior.

"Roger has been going really good in practice this week," said Muster. He was used only sparingly last week. "We had a good week of practice," said the San Rafael mentor. "There were a few tongues hanging out."

Redwood has always posed a problem for San Rafael. Last time the Bulldogs came out on top in their dual was back in 1958. San Rafael's lone league loss in 1963, the year the Bulldogs were co-champs, was to Redwood, 19-6.

Probable starting offensive lineups for the game:

REDWOOD

SAN RAFAEL

Unbeaten Novato Plays Practice Tilt Tomorrow

Novato High School Hornets will be trying to keep their unbeaten record intact tomorrow afternoon when they take on the Westmoor Rams in a non-league football game on the Novato field, 2 p.m.

The Hornets have two wins and a tie so far this season. They blanked College Park 20-0 and tied Petaluma 20-20 in two practice games and then edged past Terra Linda 20-19 last Saturday in their Marin Athletic League opener.

Westmoor of Daly City, a member of the North Peninsula League, lost last week to Mills of San Maeo, 35-7.

Novato coach Harry Moore hopes his chargers put together a full game against the Rams. Against Petaluma, Novato was down after the first half and then came back strong the second half to gain the tie. Last Saturday against Terra Linda, the Hornets had a two touchdown advantage after half a game and then couldn't move the ball the second half and barely held on to win by a point.

Moore is doing a little juggling of his starting offensive team and will start Ev Fritz at left and in place of Tom Corder who went both ways in the Terra Linda game. Steve Alexander will replace Ray Hill at center and Mike Mazzoni will start at fullback instead of Bill Coots because of injuries. Hill has an ankle injury and Coots is suffering from a sholder separation. Larry Stuart will take over for Coots in the defensive backfield, also.

Probable starting offensive lineup for Novato:

Marin Tars Travel To Sacramento Tilt

College of Marin Tars will be underdogs tonight when they take on the American River Junior College Beavers in a non-conference football scrap in Sacramento. The game, to be played on the ARJC campus, is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

American River gridders have compiled a 2-1 record thus far in '65, and one of those wins was against Yuba College, 20-15. Marin will have to meet Yuba later this season in Golden Valley Conference action, and the 49ers are favored to win the conference.

But Dick Read's boys from Marin, boasting a one win, one tie record, hope to turn the tables on ARJC tonight. Marin was impressive in its opener, downing Menlo 14-9. Last Saturday Marin tied Vallepo Junior College 14-14 on a 61-yard punt return by Tim Garvin with only 15 seconds left in the game.

Marin and American River are even after two meetings. In 1961, when American River was still in the GVC, Marin nipped the Beavers 25-24. After the '61 season, the Sacramento school left the conference and joined the Valley Conference and Marin didn't face the Beavers again until 1964. American River won that game, 44-0. Ow!

Halfback Tim Harr will only see limited action tonight because of rib injuries, and Jim Schmidt, an end, is on the doubtful list with a hurt ankle.

LLOYDMINSTER, Alta. (AP)—Al Nicholson tallied late in the third period last night to carry San Francisco Seals to a 3-2 triumph over Los Angeles Blades before 3,000 fans.

Forbes Kennedy and newcomer Ron Harris scored Seals' other goals. Willie O'Ree and Leo Labine replied for Blades.

The battle between Western Hockey League rivals was tied 1-1 after the first period. Blades led 2-1 after 40 minutes.

Goaltender John Henderson of San Francisco turned aside 29 shots. Blades' Jack Norris made 26 saves.

Wildkittens Edge Novato Cagers

Bob McCarthy's bucket in the final seven seconds gave Marin Catholic a 30-28 win over Novato yesterday in Marin Athletic League Class C basketball action.

McCarthy led the Wildkittens with 13 points, but game high scoring honors went to Bruce Pearson of the Hornets, with 18.

Stanford Is Slim Choice Over Ducks

Battle Of Unbeatens In Conference Opener

STANFORD (UPI)—Oregon's Ducks, oozing confidence to go with power, seek to bring Len Casanova his 101st victory as a college coach tomorrow when they face Stanford in the Pacific Eight opener for both schools.

Despite the Webfoots' record of three wins in as many games, the Indians have been installed one point choices for the contest. Stanford had to rally for a 17-16 win over the Air Force Academy last week while Oregon methodically was defeating Brigham Young, 27-14.

An Oregon spokesman said afterward that his team "frittered away several scoring opportunities." In other games this year, Oregon downed Pitt, 17-15, after a rally and bested Utah, 31-14.

Stanford opened the season by trouncing San Jose State 26-6 then settled for a 7-7 tie with Navy before getting a scare from an Air Force squad which was depleted by a cheating scandal.

Stanford received a shock this week when Bob Blunt, its best pass receiver, underwent knee surgery after being injured against the Falcons. He is out for the year, leaving coach John Ralston with a bad hole at halfback. The job may be filled by Phil Humphreys, who has had almost no game experience but was impressive in spring practice.

Dave Lewis, a full-blooded Indian who also operates as a bona fide triple threater, will be Stanford's starting quarterback as usual. Oregon will go either with Tom Trovato or Mike Brundage. There has been a lively battle between the pair so far this year for the fulltime quarterback job.

Oregon currently stands fourth nationally in total offense with 1,235 yards gained for an average of 411.7 per contest. The Ducks stand second in passing offense, having hit on 57 per cent of their tosses for 784 yards.

The expected attendance is around 40,000. Game time was set back to 3 p.m. to avoid a conflict with the World Series telecasts.

Cal Bears Tackle Dangerous Airmen

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — If the thrice-beaten Air Force Academy football team breaks into the victory column when it plays the University of California here Saturday, one of the reasons will be Bob Barnes, 6-foot, 195-pound wingback.

Barnes, who was playing junior varsity ball last year, has scored in all three of the Falcons' games so far.

His most spectacular feat was a 98-yard runback of a kickoff by Stanford for a touchdown last weekend. He is the Falcons' leading scorer with 18 points.

In the opening against Wyoming, Barnes got his touchdown on a 56-yard pass play and against Nebraska he scored from the six, whipping around end after taking a pitchout from quarterback Paul Stein.

Air Force Coach Ben Martin describes Barnes as a man who is capable of handling a wobbly ball and who has the composure to grab a punt or kickoff when tacklers are bearing down on him.

He has drawn the duty almost exclusively because Martin is reluctant to have Guy Hogle—who originally was scheduled for the job—take chances of aggravating an injured finger. Hogle is a flanker end.

The Falcons will go against California without a defensive stalwart they had counted on—Don Heckert. He underwent an operation for an inflamed appendix at the academy hospital Wednesday and will be out of action for at least three weeks. Heckert was out of the Stanford game due to a leg injury suffered against Nebraska.

The Air Force will use Art Fisher, a junior at the middle guard spot against California and Carl Richardson and Cal Hopper will work at the tackle positions. Hopper was out a week with injuries after the Nebraska game.

California has a record of 1-2 for the season. The Bears got into the win column with a 17-0 victory over Kansas last Saturday.

Unbeaten Novato Plays Practice Tilt Tomorrow

Novato High School Hornets will be trying to keep their unbeaten record intact tomorrow afternoon when they take on the Westmoor Rams in a non-league football game on the Novato field, 2 p.m.

The Hornets have two wins and a tie so far this season. They blanked College Park 20-0 and tied Petaluma 20-20 in two practice games and then edged past Terra Linda 20-19 last Saturday in their Marin Athletic League opener.

Westmoor of Daly City, a member of the North Peninsula League, lost last week to Mills of San Maeo, 35-7.

Novato coach Harry Moore hopes his chargers put together a full game against the Rams. Against Petaluma, Novato was down after the first half and then came back strong the second half to gain the tie. Marin Tars Travel To Sacramento Tilt

College of Marin Tars will be underdogs tonight when they take on the American River Junior College Beavers in a non-conference football scrap in Sacramento. The game, to be played on the ARJC campus, is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

American River gridders have compiled a 2-1 record thus far in '65, and one of those wins was against Yuba College, 20-15. Marin will have to meet Yuba later this season in Golden Valley Conference action, and the 49ers are favored to win the conference.

But Dick Read's boys from Marin, boasting a one win, one tie record, hope to turn the tables on ARJC tonight. Marin was impressive in its opener, downing Menlo 14-9. Last Saturday Marin tied Vallepo Junior College 14-14 on a 61-yard punt return by Tim Garvin with only 15 seconds left in the game.

Marin and American River are even after two meetings. In 1961, when American River was still in the GVC, Marin nipped the Beavers 25-24. After the '61 season, the Sacramento school left the conference and joined the Valley Conference and Marin didn't face the Beavers again until 1964. American River won that game, 44-0. Ow!

Halfback Tim Harr will only see limited action tonight because of rib injuries, and Jim Schmidt, an end, is on the doubtful list with a hurt ankle.

Blanda's Passing

HOUSTON (UPI) — George Blanda of the Houston Oilers set AFL records in 1964 for most passes attempted (505) and most passes completed (262).

Jack Moneybags

Undefeated Giants Go For Fourth Straight

Redwood High School gridders will get their first taste of 1965 Marin Athletic League action tonight and, according to coach Bob Troppmann, he's got a hungry bunch on his hands.

Waiting for the Giants of Larkspur will be the San Rafael High School Bulldogs who'll be playing on their home field. Gametime is 8 o'clock following a junior varsity clash at 5:45

Redwood drew the first week's league bye last weekend and entertained itself with a 12-6 triumph over visiting Salinas while the rest of the MCAL teams were knocking heads with each other. It was Redwood's third straight non-league triumph.

After winning their two non-league scraps (8-0 over McClymonds and 13-7 over Montgomery), the Bulldogs were upset last Saturday by Tamalpais, 14-0.

Both San Rafael and Redwood were playing their last games with a truckload of injuries, but this time both camps report injuries healed and forces in top shape.

Redwood's entire backfield was hobbled by injuries last week, but all will be ready tonight. Len Pieri at left half, Ken Tucker at right half, and Tom Sather at full will be the Giants' ball packers, and all are capable of breaking away for long gainers. No. 1 quarterback Dane Durham is a question mark, and if he isn't ready by gametime Doug Grey will start in his place. "But Durham will play," said Troppmann.

Redwood offensive guard Bill Dunn has been out of action since an injury in the first game of the year, and he will be back in action.

"I haven't seen the school with so much spirit," said an enthused Troppmann. "We're ready."

News was also much brighter from San Rafael. "We're probably as strong as we have been all year with the return of injured players," said Bulldog coach Bob Muster. They are end Joe Cunningham, tackle Scott Anderson, quarterback Roger Widmer and defensive back Ward Hayter.

Widmer has been the starting signal caller for the Bulldogs this year after his older brother, Jay, showed up to practice with injuries that may keep him out most of the season. Jay was No. 1 quarterback last year as a junior.

"Roger has been going really good in practice this week," said Muster. He was used only sparingly last week. "We had a good week of practice," said the San Rafael mentor. "There were a few tongues hanging out."

Redwood has always posed a problem for San Rafael. Last time the Bulldogs came out on top in their dual was back in 1958. San Rafael's lone league loss in 1963, the year the Bulldogs were co-champs, was to Redwood, 19-6.

Probable starting offensive lineups for the game:

Seals Down Blades, 3-2

LLOYDMINSTER, Alta. (AP) —Al Nicholson tallied late in the third period last night to carry San Francisco Seals to a 3-2 triumph over Los Angeles Blades before 3,000 fans.

Forbes Kennedy and newcomer Ron Harris scored Seals' other goals. Willie O'Ree and Leo Labine replied for Blades.

The battle between Western Hockey League rivals was tied 1-1 after the first period. Blades led 2-1 after 40 minutes.

Goaltender John Henderson of San Francisco turned aside 29 shots. Blades' Jack Norris made 26 saves.

Wildkittens Edge Novato Cagers

Bob McCarthy's bucket in the final seven seconds gave Marin Catholic a 30-28 win over Novato yesterday in Marin Athletic League Class C basketball action.

McCarthy led the Wildkittens with 13 points, but game high scoring honors went to Bruce Pearson of the Hornets, with 18.

Jim Murray's Report On The World Series

Unfortumately, the Twins's Jim was a pretty hep Kaat. The Dodgers smashed their way clear to second base one inning. Bob Allison, who never gave Willie Mays any serious competition for outfielder-of-the-year, made a catch in the fifth inning that would have won him the water polo championship of North America. He breast-stroked the last five feet. Ron Fairly who can run just as well on a wet field as a dry field—I mean to say, the way he runs it looks like the field is slippery even in a drought—barely made it back to first.

I say "UNFORTUANTELY" Jim Kaat was one hep Kaat not because I brought my pompoms or Dodger buttons to the game but because I have been rooting for the first World Series appearance of my candidate for Diogenes of the Twentieth Century.

Allan Fulton Worthington is a right-handed relief pitcher with a code of ethics that makes Frank Merriwell look like never-do-well—or the kind of dissolute character who would cheat widows and orphans. Allan Fulton quit a ball club once because they were stealing signals for him. Most pitchers would give you a part of their salaries for this service but Allan Worthington was indignant. I mean, here he thought he was in a wholesome business that had really cleaned its house and put it in order once they got Arnold Rothstein out of the picture.

And then one day a guy came up to Al and whispered in his ear "It's gonna be a bunt." Allan was startled. "How would you know that?" He wanted to know. 'The guy in the centerfield bleachers with the binoculars," was the answer. 'He's stealing their signals."

Allan knew where his duty lay. He didn't call the cops but he went to the owner of the ball club who happened to be Bill Veeck. "Do you know someone is stealing signals from the centerfield scoreboard?" He demanded. "Of course," said Veeck. "Who do you think bought him the binoculars?"

Al could see right away he was in with bad company. "I tried to reason with him," recalls Veeck. "I said, 'Look, you cheat when you throw a curve ball, in a sense.' Then I thought about his curve ball and I realized he didn't."

Worthington left the club anyway and went home to Alabama and quit baseball. I mean, the next thing you knew they'd be asking you to steal bases.

Al Worthington's morality doesn't end at the foul line. Like a large and growing number of big league ballplayers he took as his ledger in life Bill Graham. He followed the precepts of John the Baptist, not John McGraw. He consults the book of Corinthians not the Sporting News.

Al preaches weekly at the nearby Woodvale Baptist Church in Minneapolis and has a set of tracts in his locker instead of pinups. His explanation of his disregard for the kind of characters who would use the gifts of the Lord to steal signals is simple. 'I am a Christian, since I walked up the aisle to Billy Graham in 1958, I don not want to do anything that would displease the Lord."

You would have to conclude the Lord is more worth pleasing than Bill Veeck or the Chicago White Sox. Al Worthington with a new-found innerstrength—and a far better curve ball than Veeck remembers—has a record with Minnesota, including 14 "saves."

But Al Worthington's first and biggest "save" was himself.

Minnesota's Manager: Just Call Him Schizophrenic Sam

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sam Mele is beginning to sound a little schizophrenic.

He doesn't want to sound like a braggart, but he appears weary of people asking with amazement how his Minnesota Twins do it.

To one dressing room question after the Twins beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 yesterday to take a two-game lead in the World Series, Mele replied:

"We were fortunate to beat them twice. I knew Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax would be darn tough. The Dodgers are a tough outfit, and you've got to play heads up all the time."

As newsmen pressed him, hoping perhaps to hear the word "lucky," Mele shot back:

"I've been telling you guys we're pretty tough, too. I think I've got a good ball club. We go out there to beat them. "I'd love to sweep."

Mele has had almost nothing to be second-guessed about in the first two Series games. Whenever he has been queried about a possible move which he didn't make, he has answered with a clear-cut yes or no and has withheld elaboration.

He said he had no intention of walking John Roseboro in the seventh inning yesterday when the Dodger catcher drove in Los Angeles' only run with a line single to right. First base was open at the time, and pitcher Sandy Koufax was due up next.

Mele also said Twins' outfielders Bob Allison and Tony Oliva had no chance to catch balls which just fell in front of them in the seventh.

The Minnesota manager said he didn't want to pinch hit for pitcher Jim Kaat in the eighth inning, when Kaat singled home two runs, because Kaat was pitching so well.

And Mele said he would continue to play Harmon Killebrew shallow at third against Maury Wills because "if you don't, he's going to bunt on you."

Wills chopped a single over Killebrew's head in the sixth inning for the fleet Dodger shortstop's third Series hit.

Mele had no doubt about a turning point in the second game. He said it was Bob Allison's catch of a line drive off the bat of Jim Lefebvre in the fifth inning when the game still was scoreless.

"It was a tremendous catch," Mele said. "It could have meant something because they could have had a rally going. I didn't think he had a chance for it, to tell you the truth, because the ball was curving away from him."

Allison said he thought he had a 50-50 chance to make the catch when he broke for the ball. "It has to be the greatest catch I've ever made," Allison said, "because it came in a World Series."

Mele will pitch Camilo Pascual, the Cuban right-hander with one of baseball's best curves, in Saturday's third game. Mele also said he would stick with the same line-up against Dodger left-hander Claude Osteen as the one he used yesterday against Koufax.

"I guess I'm ready," Pascual said, "but you never know until you go out there. I don't think I've laid off too long. I threw good Wednesday and I'll throw a little more Friday. My arm feels real good."

What's To Change? Says Walt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dodger Stadium never looked prettier to the Los Angeles Dodgers after their disastrous invasion of Minnesota for the first two games of the World Series.

The Dodgers will be back at the stadium tomorrow for the third game of the Series in which they trail the Minnesota Twins two games to none.

Does Manager Walt Alston plan any changes following the Dodgers' 5-1 loss yesterday?

"No, there aren't any changes we can make," Alston replied. "This is the same club that won the pennant, and this is the club we hope can come back and win the championship."

Ready to try and start the comeback is Claude Osteen, who won 15 and lost 15 during the season. Osteen will be the second left-hander Alston will use against the Twins. The first, Sandy Koufax, was a Minnesota victim yesterday.

Koufax confessed his trouble was elementary. His control suddenly went to pieces in the sixth inning.

The chilly air, the wet grounds from morning showers—neither was a contributing cause, the 26-game winner said.

"I just didn't have it when I needed it," Koufax added.

Unfortumately, the Twins's Jim was a pretty hep Kaat. The Dodgers smashed their way clear to second base one inning. Bob Allison, who never gave Willie Mays any serious competition for outfielder-of-the-year, made a catch in the fifth inning that would have won him the water polo championship of North America. He breast-stroked the last five feet. Ron Fairly who can run just as well on a wet field as a dry field—I mean to say, the way he runs it looks like the field is slippery even in a drought—barely made it back to first.

I say "UNFORTUANTELY" Jim Kaat was one hep Kaat not because I brought my pom-poms or Dodger buttons to the game but because I have been rooting for the first World Series appearance of my candidate for Diogenes of the Twentieth Century.

Allan Fulton Worthington is a right-handed relief pitcher with a code of ethics that makes Frank Merriwell look like never-do-well—or the kind of dissolute character who would cheat widows and orphans. Allan Fulton quit a ball club once because they were stealing signals for him. Most pitchers would give you a part of their salaries for this service but Allan Worthington was indignant. I mean, here he thought he was in a wholesome business that had really cleaned its house and put it in order once they got Arnold Rothstein out of the picture.

And then one day a guy came up to Al and whispered in his ear "It's gonna be a bunt." Allan was startled. "How would you know that?" He wanted to know. 'The guy in the centerfield bleachers with the binoculars," was the answer. 'He's stealing their signals."

Allan knew where his duty lay. He didn't call the cops but he went to the owner of the ball club who happened to be Bill Veeck. "Do you know someone is stealing signals from the centerfield scoreboard?" He demanded. "Of course," said Veeck. "Who do you think bought him the binoculars?"

Al could see right away he was in with bad company. "I tried to reason with him," recalls Veeck. "I said, 'Look, you cheat when you throw a curve ball, in a sense.' Then I thought about his curve ball and I realized he didn't."

Worthington left the club anyway and went home to Alabama and quit baseball. I mean, the next thing you knew they'd be asking you to steal bases.

Al Worthington's morality doesn't end at the foul line. Like a large and growing number of big league ballplayers he took as his ledger in life Bill Graham. He followed the precepts of John the Baptist, not John McGraw. He consults the book of Corinthians not the Sporting News.

Al preaches weekly at the nearby Woodvale Baptist Church in Minneapolis and has a set of tracts in his locker instead of pinups. His explanation of his disregard for the kind of characters who would use the gifts of the Lord to steal signals is simple. 'I am a Christian, since I walked up the aisle to Billy Graham in 1958, I don not want to do anything that would displease the Lord."

You would have to conclude the Lord is more worth pleasing than Bill Veeck or the Chicago White Sox. Al Worthington with a new-found innerstrength—and a far better curve ball than Veeck remembers—has a record with Minnesota, including 14 "saves."

But Al Worthington's first and biggest "save" was himself.

Minnesota's Manager: Just Call Him Schizophrenic Sam

He doesn't want to sound like a braggart, but he appears weary of people asking with amazement how his Minnesota Twins do it.

To one dressing room question after the Twins beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 yesterday to take a two-game lead in the World Series, Mele replied:

"We were fortunate to beat them twice. I knew Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax would be darn tough. The Dodgers are a tough outfit, and you've got to play heads up all the time."

As newsmen pressed him, hoping perhaps to hear the word "lucky," Mele shot back:

"I've been telling you guys we're pretty tough, too. I think I've got a good ball club. We go out there to beat them. "I'd love to sweep."

Mele has had almost nothing to be second-guessed about in the first two Series games. Whenever he has been queried about a possible move which he didn't make, he has answered with a clear-cut yes or no and has withheld elaboration.

He said he had no intention of walking John Roseboro in the seventh inning yesterday when the Dodger catcher drove in Los Angeles' only run with a line single to right. First base was open at the time, and pitcher Sandy Koufax was due up next.

Mele also said Twins' outfielders Bob Allison and Tony Oliva had no chance to catch balls which just fell in front of them in the seventh.

The Minnesota manager said he didn't want to pinch hit for pitcher Jim Kaat in the eighth inning, when Kaat singled home two runs, because Kaat was pitching so well.

And Mele said he would continue to play Harmon Killebrew shallow at third against Maury Wills because "if you don't, he's going to bunt on you."

Wills chopped a single over Killebrew's head in the sixth inning for the fleet Dodger shortstop's third Series hit.

Mele had no doubt about a turning point in the second game. He said it was Bob Allison's catch of a line drive off the bat of Jim Lefebvre in the fifth inning when the game still was scoreless.

"It was a tremendous catch," Mele said. "It could have meant something because they could have had a rally going. I didn't think he had a chance for it, to tell you the truth, because the ball was curving away from him."

Allison said he thought he had a 50-50 chance to make the catch when he broke for the ball. "It has to be the greatest catch I've ever made," Allison said, "because it came in a World Series."

Mele will pitch Camilo Pascual, the Cuban right-hander with one of baseball's best curves, in Saturday's third game. Mele also said he would stick with the same line-up against Dodger left-hander Claude Osteen as the one he used yesterday against Koufax.

"I guess I'm ready," Pascual said, "but you never know until you go out there. I don't think I've laid off too long. I threw good Wednesday and I'll throw a little more Friday. My arm feels real good."

What's To Change? Says Walt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dodger Stadium never looked prettier to the Los Angeles Dodgers after their disastrous invasion of Minnesota for the first two games of the World Series.

The Dodgers will be back at the stadium tomorrow for the third game of the Series in which they trail the Minnesota Twins two games to none.

Does Manager Walt Alston plan any changes following the Dodgers' 5-1 loss yesterday?

"No, there aren't any changes we can make," Alston replied. "This is the same club that won the pennant, and this is the club we hope can come back and win the championship."

Ready to try and start the comeback is Claude Osteen, who won 15 and lost 15 during the season. Osteen will be the second left-hander Alston will use against the Twins. The first, Sandy Koufax, was a Minnesota victim yesterday.

Koufax confessed his trouble was elementary. His control suddenly went to pieces in the sixth inning.

The chilly air, the wet grounds from morning showers—neither was a contributing cause, the 26-game winner said.

"I just didn't have it when I needed it," Koufax added.

Indoor Theater Plans Complete

Negotiations have been concluded by Fox West Coast Theaters to open what may be the first new indoor motion picture theater to be built in Marin County since the early 1950s, it was announced today.

Eugene V. Klein, president of National General Corp., parent company of Fox West Coast, and Ben Ostlind, owner of Redwood Realtors, San Rafael, today announced a lease has been signed for a theater in a new commercial complex to be known as Northgate East, east of Highway 101 at its interchange with Manuel T. Freitas Parkway.

The 900-seat theater, together with 44,000 square feet of retail stores and a restaurant, will comprise a five-acre commercial project of Marin developers and builders Eugene Aureguy and Harold McKenzie, who are also owners of the land.

Construction will begin as soon as planning is completed and necessary approvals are obtained, said Ostlind.

Northgate East will be on a knoll and will require the removal of about 260,000 cubic yards of dirt, he said. There will be parking for approximately 390 cars.

The Fox West Coast theater may be one of two new theaters to be constructed in this area, In July, Blumenfeld Enterprises announced plans to build three new indoor theaters in Marin—one of them to be in the Northgate Shopping Center, directly across the highway from Northgate East.

National General recently embarked on a 50-million dollar, three-year expansion program to add 100 new theaters to its present total of 225. In the last few weeks, ground has been broken for theaters in San Bruno and San Jose and for a drive-in theater in Sacramento. A subsidiary, Cathay Theaters, Ltd., plans to open its first theater outside of the continental United States in Montreal.

Bulk of the shipments was out of San Francisco.

Military passengers are also moving to the southeast Asian front in greater numbers. During the first eight months of this year, Pan Am carried 8,907 passengers through San Francisco to Saigon, compared to 1,886 in the same period last year.

Market Closes Higher After Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed sharply higher today in heavy trading.

Popular stock market averages were moving in the vicinity of record highs as Wall Street responded to the news that President Johnson's operation had been successful.

Airlines and electronics made wide gains. Motors moved up solidly. Big advances were made by some of the rails following yesterday's rise to a record in the Dow Jones rail average.

Specially-situated issues, including M. A. Hanna, Southern Nitrogen, Calgon and Pittsburgh Coke provided trading excitement.

New strength was displayed by many of the high-flying issues which have been market features since early September.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.5 million shares compared with 6.68 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Gains of fractions to a point or so among a wide selection of key stocks pushed averages near record highs. The rise was not unanimous, however, many key issues doing little or nothing.

Airlines and electronics were conspicuous gainers. Eastern Air Lines rose more than 2. Gains of well over a point were scored by Pan American, Northwest and National Airlines.

Among electronics, Zenith and Raytheon sputed more than 4, Motorol and Admiral about 2 each, Magnavox and Fairchild Camera 3, Radio Corp. 1.

IBM gained 4, Polaroid 3, Xerox. 1.

Ford and Chrysler rose a point or better, General Motors nearly a point. Du Pont, Westinghouse Electric and U.S. Smelting rose about 1 each.

M.A. Hanna, up nearly 7, looked like the most active stock following news of a liquidation proposal.

KLM Airlines, up nearly 5, was heavily traded. Texas Gulf Sulphur was active and up about 2.

Foremost Buys Drug Firm Stock

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Foremost Dairies has purchased one million shares of McKesson and Robbins Inc. common stock for $50.5 million from the Glen Alden Corp.

Rudolph J. Drews, Foremost board chairman and president, said yesterday the transaction would be financed with $8.5 million of company funds and a $42 million long term loan arranged with the Prudential Life Insurance Co.

The transaction was approved at a Foremost board meeting here and a Glen Alden board meeting in New York.

The two firms had agreed in principle to the transaction in mid-September.

Hiller Resigns Vice Presidency

PALO ALTO (UPI)— Stanley Hiller Jr., has resigned as executive vice president of Fairchild Hiller Corp.

A company announcement yesterday said that Hiller, who works in the firm's Washington office, will return to California to pursue private ventures. He will remain a consultant to the company.

Hiller founded Hiller Aircraft in 1942 and served as president until Hiller was acquired by Fairchild in 1964.

Swedish Cars

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Cars are Sweden's biggest export to the United States and the demand is exceeding the supply, Trade Secretary Bo Lindner said yesterday.

Rolls-Royce Unveils First New Automobile In Decade

LONDON (AP) — Rolls-Royce has unveiled its first new model in a decade. Mechanical advances long regarded as standard on some cheaper cars have been adopted for the car widely regarded as the world standard in luxury.

"This is the most radical new car we have made since the Silver Ghost at the 1906 motor show," said chief engineer Harry Grylls.

The new car is called the Silver Shadow. It has disc brakes, a monocoque body, hydraulic suspension and is smaller outside but roomier inside.

From the outside, the car has a more rounded design that makes it look more like medium-priced British cars. The classic Rolls-Royce grille, modeled on the Parthenon, still is the dominating feature, but it is slightly smaller.

Over-all, the Silver Shadow is 7 inches shorter, 5 inches lower and 3½ inches narrower than the Silver Cloud, it's immediate predecessor.

Prices in the United States start at $20,000, compared to $16,500 for the Silver Cloud.

Indoor Theater Plans Complete

Negotiations have been concluded by Fox West Coast Theaters to open what may be the first new indoor motion picture theater to be built in Marin County since the early 1950s, it was announced today.

Eugene V. Klein, president of National General Corp., parent company of Fox West Coast, and Ben Ostlind, owner of Redwood Realtors, San Rafael, today announced a lease has been signed for a theater in a new commercial complex to be known as Northgate East, east of Highway 101 at its interchange with Manuel T. Freitas Parkway.

The 900-seat theater, together with 44,000 square feet of retail stores and a restaurant, will comprise a five-acre commercial project of Marin developers and builders Eugene Aureguy and Harold McKenzie, who are also owners of the land.

Construction will begin as soon as planning is completed and necessary approvals are obtained, said Ostlind.

Northgate East will be on a knoll and will require the removal of about 260,000 cubic yards of dirt, he said. There will be parking for approximately 390 cars.

The Fox West Coast theater may be one of two new theaters to be constructed in this area, In July, Blumenfeld Enterprises announced plans to build three new indoor theaters in Marin—one of them to be in the Northgate Shopping Center, directly across the highway from Northgate East.

National General recently embarked on a 50-million dollar, three-year expansion program to add 100 new theaters to its present total of 225. In the last few weeks, ground has been broken for theaters in San Bruno and San Jose and for a drive-in theater in Sacramento. A subsidiary, Cathay Theaters, Ltd., plans to open its first theater outside of the continental United States in Montreal.

Market Closes Higher After Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed sharply higher today in heavy trading.

Popular stock market averages were moving in the vicinity of record highs as Wall Street responded to the news that President Johnson's operation had been successful.

Airlines and electronics made wide gains. Motors moved up solidly. Big advances were made by some of the rails following yesterday's rise to a record in the Dow Jones rail average.

Specially-situated issues, including M. A. Hanna, Southern Nitrogen, Calgon and Pittsburgh Coke provided trading excitement.

New strength was displayed by many of the high-flying issues which have been market features since early September.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.5 million shares compared with 6.68 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Gains of fractions to a point or so among a wide selection of key stocks pushed averages near record highs. The rise was not unanimous, however, many key issues doing little or nothing.

Airlines and electronics were conspicuous gainers. Eastern Air Lines rose more than 2. Gains of well over a point were scored by Pan American, Northwest and National Airlines.

Among electronics, Zenith and Raytheon sputed more than 4, Motorol and Admiral about 2 each, Magnavox and Fairchild Camera 3, Radio Corp. 1.

IBM gained 4, Polaroid 3, Xerox. 1.

Ford and Chrysler rose a point or better, General Motors nearly a point. Du Pont, Westinghouse Electric and U.S. Smelting rose about 1 each.

M.A. Hanna, up nearly 7, looked like the most active stock following news of a liquidation proposal.

KLM Airlines, up nearly 5, was heavily traded. Texas Gulf Sulphur was active and up about 2.

Foremost Buys Drug Firm Stock

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Foremost Dairies has purchased one million shares of McKesson and Robbins Inc. common stock for $50.5 million from the Glen Alden Corp.

Rolls-Royce Unveils First New Automobile In Decade

LONDON (AP)—Rolls-Royce has unveiled its first new model in a decade. Mechanical advances long regarded as standard on some cheaper cars have been adopted for the car widely regarded as the world standard in luxury.

"This is the most radical new car we have made since the Silver Ghost at the 1906 motor show," said chief engineer Harry Grylls.

The new car is called the Silver Shadow. It has disc brakes, a monocoque body, hydraulic suspension and is smaller outside but roomier inside.

From the outside, the car has a more rounded design that makes it look more like medium-priced British cars. The classic Rolls-Royce grille, modeled on the Parthenon, still is the dominating feature, but it is slightly smaller.

Over-all, the Silver Shadow is 7 inches shorter, 5 inches lower and 3½ inches narrower than the Silver Cloud, it's immediate predecessor.

Prices in the United States start at $20,000, compared to $16,500 for the Silver Cloud.

Airline Business Up

SAN FRANCISCO — Trans World Airlines reported an all time high of 13.7 million freight ton miles flown in September on its domestic routes. September also marked the fourth consecutive month that TWA's system passenger traffic exceeded one billion revenue passenger miles.

Modesto Industry Permits Issued

MODESTO (AP) — A building permit for a $1.6 million E. & J. Gallo headquarters office complex was issued Wednesday.

The two story, 36,000 square foot headquarters will be started soon at the winery site of Modesto's eastern edge.

Project engineer for the new building is Swinterton and Walberg Co. of San Francisco. John S. Bolles has been named architect.

The Campbell Soup Co. was also issued a county permit for a planned $155,000 improvement of its Modesto facilities.

"Tell Grandma you're glad she called to wish you a happy birthday!"

ALMANAC

Today is Friday Oct. 8, the 281st day of 1965 with 84 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase; the morning star is Jupiter; the evening stars are Mars, Venus, and Saturn.

In 1923, Germany's shaky postwar economy produced such disastrous inflation that one U. S. penny bought more than 6 million marks.

In 1940, Congress passed an act levying taxes on excess profits of corporate earnings.

In 1942, the first contingent of WAVES began naval training for women at Smith College, Mass.

A thought for the day: Henry David Thoreau said: "It takes two to speak the truth . . . one to speak and another to hear."

TIME AND TIDE

Marin Lucky It Still Has Some Room To Breathe In

When we set foot on the cold, windswept coastline of Point Reyes National Seashore, we sometimes wonder why mankind takes pains to preserve such desolate real estate.

But a moment's reflection quickly erases any doubts we may have had on the value of setting aside some of the rapidly dwindling wilderness and seashore areas for future generations to enjoy.

Millions of Americans will live most of their lives in cities, hemmed in by cars, skyscrapers, concrete pavements and smog. On weekends and holidays, they brave the jammed highways for a brief escape into the open country to get a breath of ocean air or the aroma of pines.

For these Americans, that breath of fresh air, which we in Marin take for granted, is difficult to come by. It means hours of bumper-to-bumper driving, with no assurance they will find parking spaces once they manage to reach "open country."

The President's remarks at the sign-Seashore National Park Bill last month ing ceremony for Assateague Island referred to 33 miles along the Maryland and Virginia coastline, the last undeveloped seashore between Massachusetts and North Carolina.

The statements could just as well have applied to the Point Reyes National Seashore or to Marin Headlands State Park north of the Golden Gate.

"If future generations are to remember us more with gratitude than with sorrow," said the President, "we must achieve more than just the miracles of technology. We must also leave them a glimpse of the world as God really made it, not just as it looked when we got through with it."

He said he has asked the conservation and park officials to watch for acreage declared surplus by the Defense Department "to see if somehow, somewhere the little people of America might not be able to enjoy this in the few hours of relaxation that is theirs on a weekend."

The Bay Area, especially Marin County, is still endowed with a few glimpses of the world as God really made it.

In the constant battle between the forces of development and conservation, both sides will win some and lose some. We are grateful for the few areas that men and women of foresight have been able to preserve and are working to preserve, such as the Point Reyes National Seashore and Marin Headlands State Park.

HIS MAIL GOT THROUGH—TOO FAST

"The man's complaint," reported the postal official, "was that his checks were reaching the bank before he could make deposits to cover them."

The "problem" was caused by a newly initiated postal service by which mail in the downtown area was delivered in four hours.

"Most complaints are about late receipts of mail," said the astonished postmaster. "This gripe topped them all."

Seldom does the speeded-up pace of modern life cause disruption in such an unusual way. But each of us should be ever on the alert against being "caught napping" in more important matters that affect the spiritual and material good of others.

There's Nothing To Rumors Of Gnoss-Nave Ballot Contest

YOU MAY NOW discount all those rumors you've been hearing that one of the Nave brothers might run against North Marin Supervisor William Gnoss.

The latest word from the Nave stronghold is that the rumors are grossly exaggerated; and that they have no intention of running against Gnoss.

Another attorney, John Dunlap, who heads the Democratic Central Committee in Napa, also appears interested.

If Sen. Joseph Rattigan of Santa Rosa doesn't run for the Senate, we might well find Carrow battling Dunlap in the primaries for the Democratic nomination, to run against Senator McCarthy in the finals.

THIS SEEMS to be the era for movie actors to turn politicians.

Sen. George Murphy is already in Congress. Ronald Reagan looks like a solid favorite to win the Republican nomination for California governor. And Steve Allen is eyeing the Southern California congressional post which will be vacated by Rep. James Roosevelt.

The slogan in Hollywood appears to be: "Let's get the hams out of government and put in some real actors!"

SPEAKING OF actors, famed TV star Perry Mason slipped in and out of the Culloden Park area of San Rafael almost unnoticed this week.

No, he's not running for anything. Just dropped in to say hello and have dinner with a friend of long standing.

Residents Urged To Take A Stand

Editor, Independent-Journal:

After reading the various articles in your paper, printed during the week about the Gallinas Valley Community Services District, I find that the residents of this area are seemingly awakened to the facts of homeownership.

As a homeowner myself I must confess that I, too, have been too complacent in matters concerning this district. At present we seem to be involved in a mess, be it political or what, that has been brought to light by only too few unheralded people. I feel that some of us homeowners should come out publicly and express thanks to these people.

If residents of this community, and for that matter every community, would come out from behind that television, or any other of the many devices we hide behind when matters of community involvement arise, parks, "park consultants" and self appointed community service districts would not have to be under fire by taxpayers.

It also seems that "newspapers," elected officials and taxpaying homeowners ought to have enough conviction to make stand on issues that are basic yet important in our community life.

On behalf of the San Geronimo Valley Associations' officers and members, I wish to thank the Independent-Journal for the excellent editorial of Sept. 28, 1965, regarding the natural gas situation for the San Geronimo Valley.

NATO Allies Should Think Over Getting Along Without France

PARIS—It will be well for the U.S. and its European allies to get ready soon to meet the full consequences of what President de Gaulle proposes to do to NATO.

NOTHING COULD be more wishful than to expect that de Gaulle is going to change his course either through soft words or hard pressures. He isn't.

He has three goals he is determined to achieve:

1—NATO must go.

2—There must be no integrated defense structure in Western Europe.

3—NATO must be made over in the image and likeness of Charles de Gaulle's French nationalism, or de Gaulle will take France out of NATO, come what may.

Can he achieve these ends?

He believes he can and he is acting on two premises.

He is acting on the premise that, if France quits NATO, then NATO will have to go out of business.

He is acting on the premise that French participation is so vital to NATO, that French territory is so crucial to its best logistics, that NATO is unworkable without France.

Is NATO to go down the drain because that is where de Gaulle wants it? If not, what do we do?

ONE THING is clear. Charles de Gaulle is not one to be moved by other people's reasons and certainly not by other people's ranting. There is no value in jumping up and down or in calling names or in wringing our hands in agonized virtue. De Gaulle is a fact of life—and almost certainly unalterable.

The truth is that de Gaulle has not been leading Europe, he has been dominating it.

Is there not a way out of this domination which does not involve wrecking NATO and which, at the same time, does not presume to dictate to de Gaulle what France should do?

THERE IS, and it emerges from conversations with a number of Allied political leaders in the past two weeks. Just as de Gaulle has the total right to decide what is good for France, why shouldn't the leaders of the other 14 NATO countries exercise the total right of deciding what is good for them?

The wishes of the other NATO nations are either unanimous or overwhelmingly united.

This would mean that the other allies could quite properly decide to retain NATO in its present form — without France. They could remove NATO from France — if de Gaulle demanded it — and, whatever the difficulties, place it in Belgium, Germany, or Britain. Then, they could invite France to participate in the defense of Western Europe in whatever form it chose.

THIS IS the best and most constructive answer to Gaullism I have found in Western Europe. Let us offer to Gen. de Gaulle a strong, friendly, respectful hand—and see what he offers in return.

Riot-Hit Areas May Receive School Aid

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Federal aid may be on tap for riot-struck cities and communities to rebuild damaged public schools and pay teachers' salaries.

This possibility stems from a little-noticed provision in legislation passed by Congress to provide an estimated $1.5 billion annually in federal aid to school districts hit by various types of disaster.

Federal aid will be provided, the legislation states, to a school board or agency in an area suffering from a disaster "as a result of any flood, drought, fire, hurricane, earthquake, storm or other catastrophe. . . . "

KEY WORDS are "fire" and "other catastrophe."

"Fires can be set by Molotov cocktails, and 'other catastrophe' covers a lot of possibilities," declares one legislator.

Officials of the Office of Emergency Planning, which administers federal disaster aid, won't rule in advance whether civil riots will be considered catastrophes under terms of the legislation. Past riots in big cities, like the flare-up in the Watts section of Los Angeles in August, have not resulted in federal disaster aid.

But if public schools are damaged in a future city riot (they were not in Los Angeles), some officials at the Office of Emergency Planning feel federal aid would be offered.

Several Congressmen are convinced this is the case.

Congressman William D. Ford, D-Mich., sponsor of the bill, concedes that civil strife following natural disasters could trigger federal aid to schools under his legislation.

"LOOTING AND BURNING of schools might follow in the wake of a big storm, like a hurricane or tornado. If that happened and the area were designated a disaster area by the president, my bill probably would authorize aid to the schools," says Ford.

Philosophy behind Ford's bill is that disaster areas lose all or a large percentage of their taxable property, on which school financing largely depends. To keep public schools open while this tax base is being re-established over an extended period, federal aid would be made available to rebuild or repair school buildings and to pay operating expenses, including teachers' salaries, for periods up to five years.

All children in the disaster area—both public and private — would be aided. Private school teachers and pupils would be accommodated in public facilities still intact, or rented or leased during the emergency period.

House Republicans plan to bushwhack President Lyndon B. Johnson's minimum wage bill when it comes to the House floor next week.

A move to send the controversial measure back to committee for more study, thereby sidetracking it until next year, will be made by Congressman William Ayres of Ohio, ranking Republican member of the House Education and Labor Committee.

"The chairman of the labor subcommittee that handled this bill is not here to explain it. In fact, he's not even in Congress," complained Ayres.

Labor subcommittee chairman James Roosevelt, D-Calif., resigned his House seat to join the official U.S. delegation to the United Nations.

WHEN RICHARD Burton was appearing in "Camelot," and the show was being moved from its Toronto tryout to New York, he helped superintend the crating of a sheepdog used in the production. "Did you know," asked Burton later, "you can compress a sheepdog like a concertina? They're mostly hair."

WHEN A Philadelphia shirtmaker offered monetary rewards to people who could dream up new names for "dark blue," "light brown," and other stock colors, some lulus came in from inspired applicants. A few of them: gang green, forever amber, sick bay, hash brown, dorian grey, hi ho silver, statutory grape, and unpredictable fuchsia.

FROM AN executive in an electronics laboratory comes the story of an intricate, million-dollar machine that began doing peculiar things every time a very beautifully, firmly packed secretary ankled by. Lights flashed, dials whirled, and bells rang. Mechanics were at the point of panicking at the machine's man-like reactions when some spoil-sport found the real explanation. The machine was particularly sensitive to sponge rubber.

NATO Allies Should Think Over Getting Along Without France

PARIS—It will be well for the U.S. and its European allies to get ready soon to meet the full consequences of what President de Gaulle proposes to do to NATO.

NOTHING COULD be more wishful than to expect that de Gaulle is going to change his course either through soft words or hard pressures. He isn't.

He has three goals he is determined to achieve:

1—NATO must go.

2—There must be no integrated defense structure in Western Europe.

3—NATO must be made over in the image and likeness of Charles de Gaulle's French nationalism, or de Gaulle will take France out of NATO, come what may.

Can he achieve these ends?

He believes he can and he is acting on two premises.

He is acting on the premise that, if France quits NATO, then NATO will have to go out of business.

He is acting on the premise that French participation is so vital to NATO, that French territory is so crucial to its best logistics, that NATO is unworkable without France.

Is NATO to go down the drain because that is where de Gaulle wants it? If not, what do we do?

ONE THING is clear. Charles de Gaulle is not one to be moved by other people's reasons and certainly not by other people's ranting. There is no value in jumping up and down or in calling names or in wringing our hands in agonized virtue. De Gaulle is a fact of life—and almost certainly unalterable.

The truth is that de Gaulle has not been leading Europe, he has been dominating it.

Is there not a way out of this domination which does not involve wrecking NATO and which, at the same time, does not presume to dictate to de Gaulle what France should do?

THERE IS, and it emerges from conversations with a number of Allied political leaders in the past two weeks. Just as de Gaulle has the total right to decide what is good for France, why shouldn't the leaders of the other 14 NATO countries exercise the total right of deciding what is good for them?

The wishes of the other NATO nations are either unanimous or overwhelmingly united.

This would mean that the other allies could quite properly decide to retain NATO in its present form — without France. They could remove NATO from France — if de Gaulle demanded it — and, whatever the difficulties, place it in Belgium, Germany, or Britain. Then, they could invite France to participate in the defense of Western Europe in whatever form it chose.

THIS IS the best and most constructive answer to Gaullism I have found in Western Europe. Let us offer to Gen. de Gaulle a strong, friendly, respectful hand—and see what he offers in return.

Riot-Hit Areas May Receive School Aid

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Federal aid may be on tap for riot-struck cities and communities to rebuild damaged public schools and pay teachers' salaries.

This possibility stems from a little-noticed provision in legislation passed by Congress to provide an estimated $1.5 billion annually in federal aid to school districts hit by various types of disaster.

Federal aid will be provided, the legislation states, to a school board or agency in an area suffering from a disaster "as a result of any flood, drought, fire, hurricane, earthquake, storm or other catastrophe. . . . "

KEY WORDS are "fire" and "other catastrophe."

"Fires can be set by Molotov cocktails, and 'other catastrophe' covers a lot of possibilities," declares one legislator.

Officials of the Office of Emergency Planning, which administers federal disaster aid, won't rule in advance whether civil riots will be considered catastrophes under terms of the legislation. Past riots in big cities, like the flare-up in the Watts section of Los Angeles in August, have not resulted in federal disaster aid.

But if public schools are damaged in a future city riot (they were not in Los Angeles), some officials at the Office of Emergency Planning feel federal aid would be offered.

Several Congressmen are convinced this is the case.

Congressman William D. Ford, D-Mich., sponsor of the bill, concedes that civil strife following natural disasters could trigger federal aid to schools under his legislation.

"LOOTING AND BURNING of schools might follow in the wake of a big storm, like a hurricane or tornado. If that happened and the area were designated a disaster area by the president, my bill probably would authorize aid to the schools," says Ford.

Philosophy behind Ford's bill is that disaster areas lose all or a large percentage of their taxable property, on which school financing largely depends. To keep public schools open while this tax base is being re-established over an extended period, federal aid would be made available to rebuild or repair school buildings and to pay operating expenses, including teachers' salaries, for periods up to five years.

All children in the disaster area—both public and private — would be aided. Private school teachers and pupils would be accommodated in public facilities still intact, or rented or leased during the emergency period.

House Republicans plan to bushwhack President Lyndon B. Johnson's minimum wage bill when it comes to the House floor next week.

A move to send the controversial measure back to committee for more study, thereby sidetracking it until next year, will be made by Congressman William Ayres of Ohio, ranking Republican member of the House Education and Labor Committee.

"The chairman of the labor subcommittee that handled this bill is not here to explain it. In fact, he's not even in Congress," complained Ayres.

Labor subcommittee chairman James Roosevelt, D-Calif., resigned his House seat to join the official U.S. delegation to the United Nations.

Congressmen Should Provide Other Cities' Governments

WASHINGTON—The citizens of Washington, D. C. had a close scare last week. They almost got the right to have self-government. But thanks to Congress the issue has been postponed and we can rest easy for another year, if not longer.

THE IDEA OF people having a say about who rules them is an alien one, and certainly against everything the United States stands for. Opponents of home rule had some telling arguments on their side.

Not only would it be dangerous for the 811,000 citizens to have a voice in their own affairs, but self - government would lead to corruption, higher taxi fares and traffic tickets for Congressmen.

During the hearings it was stated that Washingtonians, who are more or less charged with running the United States government and many parts of the world, had neither the intelligence nor the ability to govern themselves. The only ones who knew what was best for Washington was the House District Committee which, since it had no ax to grind, could look at the nation's capital with an objective eye.

Out of the debate came some very interesting facts. One was that as soon as you have self-government you have politicians, and as soon as you have politicians you have corrupt government.

Since Washington doesn't have self-government it is not plagued with all the dangers that other American cities face. There is now a group of people here who feel that since Congress does such a good job of running the district, it should take over running all cities with populations of 500,000 or more.

YOU WOULD HAVE a House Boston Committee, run by a Congressman from South Carolina, a House Los Angeles Committee run by a Congressman from Florida and a House Chicago Committee run by a Congressman from East Texas.

The people living in these cities would still be able to vote in state and federal elections, but city elections would be abolished. All questions of schooling, transportation, hospitalization and police matters would be decided by Congressional committee. You may have some squawks from the cities, but once they realize that these Congressmen are more aware of their problems than they are, they will be grateful.

The Acorns Are Falling; There Are Philosophers On The Steps

ACORNS ARE FALLING and it's a nutty, wonderful life.

We sat on the "Spanish Steps" of Sausalito (Excelsior Lane) the other day with a group of today's teen-agers.

"The tourists don't sit on these steps," said Lynnie Staub who was wearing her string of seed beads. Her friend, who said she is called "Porky Pig" also wore a necklace but one consisting of several cross-cut bones. "I'm never without them," she said. On her toe was a ring, on her chest a button: "Jefferson Airplane Loves You."

Miss Staub said she likes the steps and the plaza because "you find out what's happening . . . The people down here stiumulate my intellect . . . You talk about things that have to do with life, to know where you are going. This generation is going to mold. It is going to happen for a long time."

She spoke of what she called "never, never land" (something in one's mind) and of life being "a big trap." She said, "I want to go places, do things, talk to people."

We also met Fred (Dickie) Jones whose left arm was in a plaster cast, and Bob Evans, twirling a toy gun. Calvin Scott, a Negro, joined the step-sitters and was asked to recite his poem, "Psydelia," which he said is the name of a place. In part, it goes:

"Psydelia/unknown to common man but to fool and seeker of truth and other unknowing of their seeking/so within Psydelia/conclusion be found/of sight/Psydelia/of sound/Psydelia/of body and mind/Psydelia/where thought and thoughtful be abandon and folly and fool the same . . . And full of word not worth the speaking/Psydelia / of beauty none but by mention/where to change extends throughout the reach of space and mind of body be life/of knowing none but of yourself/no world exists but yourself/of day, Psydelia/of night, Psydelia/of knowledge and wonder, Psydelia."

ON THE SAME hot day we met Sid Foster, Sausalito harbormaster, riding his bike toward his hut. Bothered and warm, he said, "I'm going for a swim" as if this would mean all people would leave him alone. "In the bay?" we asked and he said "Sure." He said he has been swimming in the bay since 1910. Sid rows, swims, sails and rides his bike to deliver mail to the boaters in Sausalito Yacht Harbor. "It may be kid's sport but I like it," he said.

Joyce Gross reports that on most any day at 6 p.m. one can watch the Tamalpais football team get out of practice and depart homeward on tops of cars, on motor bikes and by horse.

Councilman Bill Secor told the council of Mill Valley Monday that if progress on the city's yacht harbor has anything to do with the smell from dredging, "we should sail a boat intto the harbor by midnight."

WE SAW OUR first dog eating an ice cream cone in a car outside of Baskin-Robbins in Mill Valley, sitting between man and woman, having sodas. John Broman reports that a prowler tossed a can of green paint at his barking dog on a recent night. Now Omar, a Collie, has four green legs.

And Swede Pedersen reports that at about 11:30 p.m. on a warm night at the fire station, through the open door came a Chihuahua followed by a one-eyed Pekingese, followed by a small gray cat. They went to the bed of Peaches, the firemen's mascot, sat on it for awhile, then wandered out into the night. Toujours gai.

Reading Between Lines Needed To Understand Our Government

FUSSELMAN

ALTHOUGH I received many commendations for the first paragraph of the column in the September 24 issue —("Respect for governmental agencies—national, state and local—is the essential ingredient necessary to preserve our form of government. If there is faith in the officials on the part of our people, nothing can erode our nation"), my erudite friend, attorney John B. Ehlen, sent me a letter saying that the paragraph didn't jibe with the pronouncement of Thomas Jefferson's, "In questions of power let no more be heard of confidence in man, but bind him down from mischief by the chains of the constitution," and that he was compelled "to string along with Tom." As he also sent a letter to the editor along the same lines, I will respond here.

Naturally I am delighted to know that he reads the column. However, I know he is quite up on E.S.P. and am surprised that he didn't read the fine print in my statement, even though it was so very fine as not to be apparent to the naked eye. If he will take another think, perhaps he will realize that John, Tom and Bill are not a perceptible distance apart. The constitution is not a static thing. It can and has been amended by "our people" and then re-amended when disrespect prevailed.

FROM A LAYMAN'S point of view, it has always seemed to me that a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge would ultimately be found possible. During the seemingly endless hearings on rapid transit I sat through, over a period of years, this second deck was pushed and pulled in every direction.

Now that attention is again being centered on the possibility, by the assuring report of the engineers, the question arises as to just what effect this would have on the traffic of Highway 101. Northbound traffic, during late afternoon, is bumper to bumper and proceeds at a stop and go snail's pace, as seen from the top of Puerto Suello Hill for as far as the eye can reach.

Now, there are no stop signs from the bridge to Novato. So, just what effect does the toll plaza have on this movement? It would be most interesting to know, accurately, just what the delaying factor is at the toll booths.

In a very well presented article by Charles Cruttenden in last Sunday's paper, the count was given on the commute cars per day—70,000 from Marin — 135,000 over the Bay Bridge and a total count from the Peninsula of 200,000. He quoted "one cynical but realistic engineer," as saying that rapid transit could take 40 per cent of the traffic off the Bay Bridge, but that those drivers who now leave early and late would then go at the rush hour because of the "easy commute" across the bridge and that the span would be jammed again.

"THERE'S A LOT of coffee in Brazil" and there are a lot of cars on the highways and there are a lot of cars being manufactured—more and more each year and by one method or another they are being sold. It sure looks like "something will have to give."

Tourney Set In Forensics

The second of five scheduled Golden Gate Speech Assn. forensics tournaments will be held at Redwood High School in December, according to Mrs. Barbara Vickers, secretary to the association and advisor to the Redwood Forensics Club.

The tournament will include individual events only. These are humorous and dramatic interpretation, original oratory, oratorical interpretation, and extemporaneous and impromptu speaking.

Three hundred to 400 contestants are expected in the day-long tournament.

Residence Costs Expected To Rise

BERKELEY (UPI)—The price of a new home will increase by $1,000 to $1,500 during the next 12 months, according to the president of the Associated Home Builders of the Greater East Bay.

John H. Johnson said yesterday an extensive builder intention survey recently conducted by the Associated Home Builders showed that most builders plan to improve their prospects by increasing prices.

Johnson also said the survey indicated that the East Bay will receive a good level of residential construction but not a boom during the next 12 months.

College trustee Kent O. Seymour last night proposed that slacks for girls and shorts for both sexes be outlawed as college wear.

TRUSTEE SEES RED

Are Leotards, Shorts Stretching It A Bit?

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

"I saw one student today in red leotards. I just can't stand that kind of thing!" complained trustee Kent O. Seymour at the Marin Junior College District Board meeting last night.

He asked for a policy banning the wearing of shorts on campus by both men and women students and banning wearing of slacks or stretch pants by women.

One teacher asked if Seymour liked the kind of clothes seen in the average afternoon in the average Marin supermarket any better. Seymour said a college is not a supermarket, but he saw the point.

Board Chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy sidetracked action for a moment by suggesting that the administration make a new try at formulating a policy on student dress.

"I'm not suggesting the formation of another committee," she said.

Seymour, whose real estate office is across College Avenue from the campus, said he daily is forced to watch a parade of bizarre clothing go by his window.

"Some of the dress worn is indecent for a school of this type," he said.

Trustee Robert F. Rogers said he was opposed to having the board make policies about student appearance. He said he would rather the students policed the matter themselves.

Student representative Jack Lucas arose to say that dress was becoming a touchy subject on campus, and that the board should be careful not to tread upon individual rights.

"You start setting policies in this area and it starts getting complicated," said Lucas. "Some student comes to school in a Beatle haircut, and there are complaints, and next thing it's beards and then you've involved some faculty members."

He was backed up by Robert Becklund, president of the college's faculty association, who said the outside community has generally kept its opinions of student dress to itself.

"Let Mr. Seymour take a stroll through any local supermarket at 3 in the afternoon," offered Ernest L. Braun of the Academic Senate. "Maybe the older generation is setting the example for the community."

"This is the age of student experiment," added Becklund. "Dress like this may be requisite for an atmosphere where true education can take place."

"God forbid!" cried Seymour.

Blaze Guts Garage, Car; Perils House

Fire gutted the garage, burned up a station wagon and then threatened the home yesterday of the Frank Garcia family at 19 Tarrant Court, Santa Venetia.

Mrs. Garcia had parked the car about 3 p.m. yesterday, County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom said. At 4:52 a neighbor, Mrs. Sonia Bumstead of 18 Tarrant Court, called the fire department when she saw flames shooting from the rear of the car.

Leroy Salada of 174 Tunstead Avenue, San Anselmo, who was visiting at the Bumstead home, dashed to the Garcia house and carried out Frank Garcia Jr., 25, who is ill. Mrs. Garcia escaped through a rear door as smoke filled the house.

The garage, which is attached to the house, was only a shell by the time the fire was doused. The car was a total loss, as were a washer, dryer, water heater, tools and a shot gun all in the garage, total damage was estimated at $6,550 by Bloom.

The fire damaged a portion of the living room ceiling and caused extensive smoke damage in the house, Bloom said. It's cause was still being investigated today.

County Auditor, Kettenhofen Get Into A Squabble

Supervisor Dislikes Mitchell's Remarks On Fairchild Penalty

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Two elected officials confronted each other at the civic center yesterday in a 45-minute debate over who was running Marin County government.

The principals were Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen and Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell. Others got into the act before the argument was over. The session took place in Kettenhofen's office. The door was open.

CREDIT CARDS

Specifics included criticism by Mitchell and Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez of the board of supervisors' decision not to levy a $7,377 penalty on Fairchild Semiconductor for escaped taxes, county gasoline credit cards and unmarked county cars driven by supervisors, the county airport, and data processing.

Kettenhofen said it was improper for Mitchell and Fontez to criticize the Fairchild decision after the board had voted. The time to voice an opinion was in the open meeting of the board when the penalty was being debated, not afterward to the press, he asserted.

"As an elected official," Mitchell said, "I am answerable to the people. When pressed by reporters for an opinion, I think I have a right to voice it."

COUNTY SEALS

Kettenhofen said he did not necessarily disagree with Mitchell's views on putting county seals on the now unmarked cars driven by Supervisors Thomas T. Storer and William A. Gnoss, but declared that Mitchell should have at least given a memorandum to the supervisors before giving his opinion to the press.

"That's the manly thing to do," Kettenhofen declared.

Mitchell explained at length that an Independent-Journal reporter was aware, just as supervisors were aware, that there would be a meeting Wednesday in his office on the credit card issue.

Kettenhofen argued that none of the supervisors had been told in advance that the policy on unmarked cars was to be challenged. He asked if Mitchell did not think he had unduly embarrassed Storer and Gnoss.

At the meeting in Mitchell's office Wednesday, he and Asst. Administrator John F. Barrows, Public Works Director Donald R. Frost, Garage Supt. Marion Balestrieri and Asst. Auditor-Controller George R. Donaldson agreed to limit assignment of county gasoline credit cards, pulling back many now held, including those of Gnoss and Storer.

At that time Mitchell asked whate the "rationale" was for unmarked supervisor cars. No one could come up with an answer and the group agreed they should be marked.

Barrows suggested board members be given a memo explaining the decision and asking comments.

Kettenhofen said the matter

Gas Chamber To Be Asked In Slaying

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said today he will seek death penalties for the two suspects in the holdup-slaying of Mario Ferrari, bartender at San Rafael's Mission Inn.

In first degree murder convictions, the law provides that a jury can either give life imprisonment—which permits later parole—or death.

Indicted for the Labor Day murder are Jack R. Gorman, 36, and Marc Charles Osuna, 30, both now back at San Quentin Prison as parole violators.

"The facts support only a verdict of first degree murder against both defendants," Bales said. "I think the death penalty is appropriate punishment."

Ferrari was gunned down while attempting to flee two holdup men.

Both Osuna and Gorman are scheduled to enter pleas in Marin Superior Court at 10 a.m. Oct. 19.

Last County Gas Cards Turned In

All county gasoline credit cards have been accounted for, Marin County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said today.

Yesterday, all but four of the 65 cards had been collected. Since then personnel director Robert D. Elliott and Mitchell said the two other cards were located in the district attorney's office.

Collection of cards was ordered by Mitchell after it was revealed that many had been assigned, but there was no exact record of who held them.

Foul Play Discounted In Death On Beach

Investigators from county sheriff's department and coroner's office reported today that no sign of foul play has been found in investigation of the death Tuesday of Jon Edward Colombano, 25, of San Francisco.

Colombano was found dead at the foot of a 250-foot cliff at McClure's Beach Wednesday. Investigators speculated that a rock, about eight inches in diameter, which was dislodged from the cliff, might have given way as Colombano climbed down to the sea for a swim.

Johnson Surgery Termed Success

A Kidney Stone Removed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson underwent two hours and 15 minutes of major surgery today for removal of his gall bladder and a kidney stone. He came through the operation in good shape.

Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers reported that the Chief Executive experienced "mild discomfort," however, as he came out of the anesthetic about 10 a.m., EDT, 45 minutes after the operation was completed.

ABLE TO TALK

Moyers told reporters at a 12:15 p.m. briefing at Bethesda Naval Hospital that Johnson was able to carry on a conversation by 11 a.m. The operation started at 7 a.m. and was over at 9:15 a.m.

After the surgery was complete, Johnson remained in the recovery room until about noon when he returned to his third floor suite.

'COMPLETE SUCCESS'

Moyers earlier had described the operation as "a complete success." He quoted Dr. James Cain, Johnson's family physician, as saying "everything went. . . beautifully as expected."

Mrs. Johnson and Luci were at the hospital when the operation was performed. They were informed of the outcome immediately upon the conclusion of the surgery.

Moyers said the surgical procedures were routine. The 57-year-old Johnson, who suffered a heart attack in 1955, displayed no cardiac irregularity today.

KIDNEY PROBLEM

There had been no advance word that the President was suffering from a kidney stone. He has a record of kidney stones, however, and the sur-

LOTS OF ENTRIES

Arts Festival All Set To Go

Two hundred, eighty-five panels of art, games, a carousel and a pony-drawn stagecoach are some of the highlights of the fall arts festival which opens tomorrow at 10 a.m. in Mill Valley's Boyle Park.

"This is the largest number of entries in the festival's history," Florence Packard, general chairman, said today.

The show will run tomorrow and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. On Sunday the hootenanny will continue to 9:30 p.m.

There will be an old coal-burning locomotive which heads an "elephant train," in addition to many game booths for children, said Miss Packard.

Other booths include food and soft drinks. Manning two booths will be Anne Henning of Berkeley, who will demonstrate bookbinding, and Frances Osborne Stallings, Mill Valley authoress of two books on California.

Art will be divided into two sections—the gallery, which is a juried section, and the non-juried area.

Awards for the juried art will be announced tomorrow morning after the art works are hung. They include realist, non-objective, other than painting, and "the spirit of Mill Valley" categories.

A new category of art, to be judged tomorrow, will be for artists 15 to 18 years of age. Judging will start at 11 a.m. A "silent auction" of some of the art will be held each day.

Artists are participating in the festival from as far as Fresno and Santa Rosa.

Entertainment scheduled is as follows:

Tomorrow: 1 p.m., Mark Hatfield, classical guitar; 3 p.m., American and English ballads by Marianna Adler; 5 p.m., Alan Hayakawa, guitar; 7 p.m., one hour of dancing by the Marin Folk Dance Council led by Jim Rassella. There will be strolling folk singers all day.

Sunday: 1 p.m., Hatfield and Hayakawa, playing blues on guitar; 3 p.m., Dick Ford Dance Group, to last 45 minutes; 5 p.m., Marin Folk Dance Council, dancing; 6:30 p.m., ballads by Marianna Adler, and 8 to 9:30 p.m., hootenanny. Strolling singers will perform throughout the day.

Hospital Votes New Hearing On Ascherman

By STEPHEN COOK

A new hearing on the appeal of Dr. Stanford W. Ascherman of San Francisco for medical staff privileges at Marin General Hospital will begin Dec. 6 in the Coral Room of the hospital.

The Marin Hospital District board set this date during a special meeting this morning.

The board also terminated employment of Stanford University Professor John R. McDonough Jr., original hearing officer on the appeal, and agreed unanimously to replace him with Thomas C. Nelson, a San Rafael attorney.

The board ruled that the hearing would be a new one and that the transcript of the suspended original hearing would not be admissable.

Each of the board actions was opposed by Harry Gonick, attorney for Dr. Ascherman. His most fervent argument was in favor of the use of the previous transcript as evidence.

"We do not want to lose the benefit of anything that has gone before," he argued. "We have one witness whose testimony is in the transcript and who is no longer in this state and subject to this district's supoena powers."

The hospital district's attorney, Harold F. Riede, argued

Mercury Does A Nose-Dive

The mercury did a nose-dive today after an Indian Summer day that shot temperatures as high as 93 degrees in Marin yesterday.

At noon today, the reading on top of the Independent-Journal Building in San Rafael was 65 degrees, down 19 from noon yesterday.

The Weather Bureau predicted the "cool wave" would be around for the weekend.

San Anselmo had the 93-degree reading yesterday. Maximum temperatures were 92 in Woodacre, 91 in San Rafael, 88 in Novato.

Smog yesterday was recorded at .12 in San Rafael, not far below the eye irritation level of .15.

Betty Grable Divorces

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—The marriage of movie queen Betty Grable and bandleader Harry James, begun 22 years ago with a five minute wedding ceremony, ended here yesterday in a 10 minute divorce.

Betty

Miss Grable, known as the girl with the million dollar legs during the peak of her movie career in the 1940s, was granted an uncontested divorce by district Judge John Mowbray. She charged extreme cruelty.

James, a renowned trumpet player whose orchestra was one of the most popular during the big-band era, is currently in California. The blonde actress, still stunning at 48, has been rehearsing here for her opening in "Hello Dolly!" in December at the Riviera Hotel.

Miss Grable and James, 49, have maintained a home in the Paradise Palms section of Las Vegas the past several years but recently had seldom been seen together in public.

They were wed here in 1943 by a Baptist minister in a five minute ceremony in the Little Church of the West. They had one day honeymoon, then returned to Hollywood where both were working on films.

Miss Grable became a leading box office attraction and "pin-up girl" during World War II.

Russ Admit Lunar Shot Was A Flop

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union admitted today it had failed again in an attempt to make history's first soft landing on the moon.

The official news agency Tass, breaking a day-long silence on the fate of Luna 7, said:

"Most operations necessary for a soft landing were fulfilled during the approach to the moon. Some operations, however, were not carried out in accordance with the program and need additional development."

The Soviet announcement was one of the frankest admissions of failure on a space shot ever to be issued here.

It marked the third time this year the Russians have been unsuccessful in trying for a vastly complex achievement of touching down gently on the treacherous surface of the moon with an instrument pack.

Oroville Train Crash Kills Four

OROVILLE (AP) — A fiery headon crash inside a tunnel of two private construction trains last night killed four persons, sheriff's deputies believe.

Rescuers said they could see one body just inside the flaming tunnel entrance. They believed two men had crewed each train.

The collision, 120 miles northeast of San Francisco, apparently occurred when one train failed to pull onto a spur line to allow the other to pass through the single-track tunnel.

Both trains were working on the $200 million Oroville Dam Project.

Butte County sheriff's deputies said the tunnel was a sea of unpenetrable flames. Creosote-treated timbers fed the blaze. They said anyone inside could not have survived.

Each train normally hauled 40 cars filled with fill material a distance of five miles to the construction site.

Deputies said apparently one train was fully loaded and the other was returning empty.

Beautification Bill Approved By House

WASHINGTON (AP) — It took one of the roughest sessions of the year to do it, but the House passed President Johnson's highway beautification bill early today, soon after he entered Bethesda Naval Hospital for gall bladder surgery.

Sitting until 12:51 a.m. the House held up the big party Johnson gave as a salute to Congress and delayed the President's departure for the hospital, but it passed the bill, 245 to 138.

Voting for the bill were 219 Democrats and 26 Republicans. Against it were 49 Democrats and 89 Republicans.

At times raucous and angrily partisan, the long session stemmed from a reported Johnson request to House leaders that they finish up the bill so he could make a speech about it at the party.

The members had been told the House would quit early Thursday and vote on the bill today, and the late switch in plans made some Republicans angry. They didn't think much of the bill, anyway.

Using many delaying tactics available under the House rules, they stretched out consideration of the bill until the tempers of Democratic leaders frayed.

"No wonder the Republicans have controlled Congress only four years out of the last 30," stormed Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader. "We need a responsible minority desperately, but we don't have it. We have a frustrated minority."

HEARING AID—This is the nearly completed giant parabolic antenna near Goldstone, San Bernardino County, that is expected to extend America's space-tracking ability by 600 per cent. The big radio "ear" is 234-feet high and 210 feet in diameter. It will pick up radio signals from more than a billion miles away. (AP Wirephoto)

Giant Antenna Nearly Finished

GOLDSTONE (AP) — Engineers are putting finishing touches on a $12 million saucer here on the Mojave Desert, and scientists hope the big dish will become the nation's most productive hearing aid.

When finished next April, the 8,000-ton dish—called a parabolic antenna—is expected to extend America's spacecraft tracking ability by 600 per cent—or out to 1.14 billion miles from the earth.

The giant dish, 210 feet in diameter, dwarfs the other 85-foot antennas of the deep space net. These antennas have tracked all of America's lunar and planetary probes.

The mammoth dish has been under construction for two years, the work being done by the Rohr Corp. for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

A close look at the antenna's deep dish contour gives the impression the viewer is inside a giant basketball stadium that can be tipped on edge and slewed around full circle.

This tipping and slewing, officials said, is accomplished with the aid of a thin film of oil.

Engineers explained that the antenna rotates on a hydrostatic bearing that supports 2,500 tons on a film of oil one hundredth of an inch thick.

They also said that the antenna dish is accurate to a full circle within five hundredths of an inch, and is built to survive winds up to 120 miles an hour.

The antenna can be turned, they said, automatically, or by simply rotating two knob-like handles. Maximum speed is about as fast as a man can walk.

The scientists hope their new antenna, or hearing aid, will help track spacecraft such as Mariner 4, which is now out of range of the other antennas.

CRA President Defends Birch Society Members

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The president of the California Republican Assembly has come to the defense of the conservative John Birch Society.

Cyril Stevenson Jr., president of CRA, said yesterday that some Bircher members had joined his group. He added:

"They are few in number. We don't know who they all are, but I don't feel their participation has been harmful.

"Those I know are sincere, dedicated, stable, responsible people. If there are any wild-eyed fanatics, I haven't found them yet."

Stevenson said he opposes GOP leaders who want the party to dissociate itself from the Birch Society.

The society has been criticized recently by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader; Kentucky Sen. Thruston Morton, the Senate GOP campaign committee chairman; Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan, House Republican leader, and Mrs. Logan H. Goodknight, president of the California Federation of Republican Women.

Land Division Rule Revision Proposed

A three-man committee of the Marin County Planning Commission agreed last night that some revision of the county land division ordinance is necessary to make it more workable.

Included in recommendations the committee will make to the full commission are changes in the street dedication requirement and in fees.

R. Ross Talley of the planning staff reported the committee was most concerned about the street dedication requirement, which has brought the most complaints from developers.

Under the ordinance, the county can require half of the ultimate street width from developers. Minimum street width is 40 feet. The committee agreed last night that this width requirement should be waived in special cases where development along a narrow, existing street is almost complete or where the terrain precludes much additional development.

The committee will also recommend that the definitions should be changed so that a four lot division can be handled under the land division ordinance. Now, anything four lots or over has to be handled under the subdivision ordinance.

should have been brought to a public meeting to be discussed so the board would "have a chance."

During the discussion, Frost arrived in Kettenhofen's office, evidently on the supervisor's summons.

Kettenhofen declared that supervisors Tuesday had not been given all the facts prior to making a decision on the county airport at Novato.

The board was told then by Arthur T. Knutson, assistant public works director, and airport consultant J. G. Percy that a $500,000 facility would have to be built at the Novato site if the county is to qualify for federal aviation authority aid on 54 per cent of the investment.

Kettenhofen said he has since learned that a field of lower standards could be built at about half the cost and still qualify for federal aid.

"The board was asking for this information and did not get it," Kettenhofen said.

Frost promised he would look into it further.

Kettenhofen told Mitchell he was drafting a letter criticizing several departments for not supplying full information to the board. He said he planned to include Mitchell's department on the grounds that full information was not supplied prior to creation of the data processing department from what was formerly a bureau in Mitchell's department.

Mitchell countered that at the time of discussion, he was responsible only for day-to-day operation of the department and that the administrator's office was supplying information to the board.

Administrative analyst John Gibb was called into the office and after a check of his records, confirmed that Mitchell's statement was correct.

Kettenhofen did not include the auditor-controller in the letter, which he released today.

Included were public works, planning, social services, personnel, county fair, district attorney, parks and recreation, and treasurer-tax collector.

Kettenhofen said organization and communication to the board of supervisors was improper.

"There is no longer a place in county government for small, independent cliques, domains or power structures, if it is to remain fully responsible to the people of Marin," the letter said.

Lack of full information to the board might be due to enthusiasm, Kettenhofen said. "However, in some cases it may occur because of lack of sensitivity to the proper structure of communication, responsibility and authority of the department head through the administrator to the board of supervisors, or possibly in a very few instances, self-aggrandizement."

The letter also included several of the same statements that Kettenhofen made to the auditor-controller yesterday afternoon.

geons had stated they would explore other nearby organs.

Doctors said earlier it was possible the President might be able to get out of bed briefly late this afternoon and certainly by Saturday.

The presence of a stone in the ureter indicated that the doctors found a kidney stone as well as a gall stone. The ureter is a hube leading from the kidney.

The President underwent treatment for removal of a kidney stone by manipulation in 1948 and had one removed by surgery in 1955. But he had no record of gall bladder trouble before an attack on Sept. 7.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said Johnson went into the operating room in the same "very good spirits" he exhibited Thursday night. Humphrey made the statement after receiving a telephone report from Moyers shortly before leaving for his office.

Supervisors Attacked On Span Delay

Thomas D. Hardcastle, Marin representative on the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board, today blasted the Marin County Board of Supervisors saying they have done little about traffic problems on the bridge in the past two years and now are asking for a delay on a second deck.

He tried unsuccessfully at a meeting of the bridge board to have the question of the second deck removed from any influence by the joint transit committee, set up two years ago with representatives from the bridge district board and Marin and San Francisco boards of supervisors.

The final decision on whether to go ahead with a second deck on the bridge is awaiting the board meeting of Oct. 29, when board president L. E. Castner will return from a trip.

At a meeting as a committee of the whole Tuesday, the bridge board decided "in principle" to have a second deck, but said the delay until Oct. 29 would give the joint committee time to meet and make a recommendation.

Hardcastle complained that in the two years the joint committee has been in existence, it has never convened a meeting, and he blamed Marin supervisors.

Hardcastle's motion to take the matter out of the committee of the whole immediately for final decision died for lack of a second, however.

Director Ben K. Lerer of San Francisco said he favored quick action on a second deck because it would take at least 10 years for another bridge to be built connecting Marin and San Francisco.

The estimate was called conservative by Acting President John E. Nelson of Mendocino County. "If we see a new bridge in 1980, it will be remarkable," he said.

Lerer said there were many people in Marin who would never use a bridge that left Marin from the Tiburon Peninsula or farther north.

Save-Courthouse Committee Set To Plan Tactics

Marin County Historical Society directors today agreed to name a five-man committee to meet with attorneys to decide on the best way to prepare a petition in their drive to save the county courthouse.

Not all members of the committee were named. According to society member Florence Donnally, the group will have to decide whether the petition should seek a referendum or an initiative vote by Marin residents.

At present, the county board of supervisors plans to sell the property to raise $1,400,000 toward the cost of construction of the courthouse wing of the Civic Center in Santa Venetia.

The directors also re-elected Parker Wood as president and named Frank Galli a first vice president. The board agreed to donate $500 to the Marin History Fund for publication of a book on the history of the county.

Sausalito Aides Due At Citizens' Meeting

"Sausalito—Present status and future needs" will be the main topic of discussion at the annual meeting of the Sausalito Citizens Council at 8 p.m., Oct. 21, at the IDESST Hall, Caledonia and Napa streets.

Speaking on the theme, according to council President Raymond G. Gergus, will be Mayor Jan Paul Dyk, who will tell of waterfront planning and city's problems in general; City Mgr. Charles A. Brown, who will report on business administration of the city, and Police Chief Kenneth H. Huck, Fire Chief Charles E. Masten and Charles Lavaroni, superintendent of Sausalito Schools.

Four nominees names have been submitted for five board vacancies, the nominating committee to present a fifth name on or before the meeting. Nominees are Harvey Coverley and incumbents Mrs. Benjamin Farnham, William Remensperger and Fred Sumner.

Directors whose terms expire are Eugene Huggins, Mrs. William Austin, who resigned for health reasons, Mrs. Farnham, Remensperger and Sumner. Directors to serve another year are Gergus, Bill Schmidt, Arie Slikkerveer and Carl W. Spring.

Coffee will be served after the meeting.

HEARING

that a new hearing officer should be able to witness testimony being given, as well as read a transcript of it.

"If a judge dies while a case is in progress, the trial is started anew," he said. "This is the same thing."

"To throw out that testimony would be in violation of the court order and if you do, we will be in court in a couple of days," said Gonick." I fortunately have a client able to finance these forays into court."

"And they are unlimited in number," retorted Riede.

The board voted three-to-one to follow Riede's advice. Board President Marion C. Ibach was absent. Hadden W. Roth, an attorney, voted no and said:

"I think we have to and want to give Dr. Ascherman the full benefit."

The board unanimously selected a new hearing officer because McDonough is teaching at Stanford University and will not be available on a fulltime basis until Jan. 22.

Nelson was one of four men considered before McDonough was selected as the original officer. He is a partner in the law firm of Nelson, Boyd, Menary and MacDonald of San Rafael.

The board also directed that a deposition be taken from Dr. Harold M. Dye, administrator of Polyclinic Hospital in San Francisco, where Ascherman has staff privileges.

Fireman Technique Helps River Barges

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The hook - and - ladder truck concept has been adapted to Mississippi river transportation. Big barge tows — some a half-mile long and with as many as 50 barges —no longer need be moved a few barges at a time around sharp river bends.

The "Pathfinder," an unmanned, radio-controlled steering boat developed by Cargo Carriers, Inc. here, is placed at the front of a string of barges and "snakes" them around bends the way a hook-and-ladder truck turns a corner. It is controlled from the diesel towboat at the rear of the tow.

School Thief Nibbles On Teacher's Apples

A burglar at John MacPhail Elementary School in Santa Venetia asked little loot—only a pencil and a bite from each of two apples on a teacher's desk.

Sheriff's officers said the intruder apparently forced double doors of the school's office wing, then pried a classroom door for entry. The breakin was reported yesterday by Lawrence E. McArdell, principal.

Missing Mare Ordered Killed

Sally, a 28-year-old mare pictured in (Tuesday's Independent-Journal, was ordered killed this morning by her owner, Alfred Wilsey, 41, of 35 Upland Road, Kent Woodlands.

Wilsey identified the horse after seeing her picture in the I-J. He said that he had tried to allow the horse to spend the rest of her life at pasture, "but increasing blindness and progressing old age have made it impossible for Sally to go on living comfortably."

Theft Charge Lodge At Store

Timothy Murphy, security officer at Montgomery Ward and Co. store in the Corte Madera Shopping Center, placed Robert J. Parra, 45, of 120 Buchanan Street, Sausalito, under citizens arrest yesterday.

Murphy said Parra walked into the store, picked up a pair of trousers and then went to a clerk and exchanged them for cash.

Corte Madera police said Murphy stopped the man outside the store and that Parra had a receipt saying he had purchased the pants the day before.

Murphy signed a citizens arrest form and police booked Parra in county jail on a charge of petty theft.

Burglars Steal $2,700 In Cash

A daylight burglar entered the home of Paul Maryannis, owner of the Schooner restaurant in Sausalito's Marinship, yesterday and stole a strong box from Maryannis's bedroom containing $2,700 in cash.

Police reported a radio, valued at $80, was also taken.

Entry was made through an open window in the home at 518 Nevada Street sometime between 5 a.m. and 3 p.m.

College Continues Summer Recreation

The College of Marin's summer recreation program has been a big success, physical education director Harry J. Pieper told the Marin Junior College District board last night.

The board quickly agreed to continue to hold classes in such subjects as swimming, golf and judo through the fall semester. Trustees also voted to charge $5 per course for each student, in spite of the fact the college may thus appear to make a profit on some large classes.

Pieper suggested at first that the fee for each class be set by the number of students, charging just enough to make each self-sustaining.

He admitted he was not counting building maintenance, cleaning or administration costs as part of the expense of the program, but only counted the teacher's salary.

Board chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy said having variable fees would cause too many administrative problems.

Trustee Robert E. Oliver asked business manager Norman Bird to compute overhead costs for the program. Bird said it should be easy to do.

Classes scheduled for the fall semester, all non-credit, are for badminton, volleyball, coed judo, women's personal fitness, swimming, basketball and golf.

The Marin Junior College District Board also:

1. Accepted the low bid of Abbey Contract Furnishers for $55,563.69 worth of furniture for the College Center, overriding a request by trustee Kent O. Seymour to defer purchase of part of it.

2. Approved purchase of kitchen and eating equipment and utensils for the College Center from three low bidders on different items: American Hospital Supply, $16,588; Dohrmann Co., $2,934.86, and Western States Restaurant and Supply, $1,954.16.

3. Delegated to Mrs. Deedy the final selection of the style of china, glass and flatware to be used in the new college cafeteria.

4. Denied a request by the president's council to give new teachers credit for one year experience if they have had 24 credit hours as part-time teachers.

Smoking Habit's Cures Questioned

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A medical journal reports that individuals are not really "cured" of the smoking habit until they have abstained from cigarettes for at least two years.

The article in the journal of the American Medical Assn. also said that persons who start smoking at a young age have the least chance of breaking the habit.

The article added that smokers who give up tobacco entirely have a better chance of giving up smoking than those who switch to pipes or cigars.

Behr To Talk

Democrat Lambastes Union Racketeering

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John H. McClellan, D-Ark., said yesterday Congress should be considering legislation to protect union members from racketeer leadership rather than a bill to abolish states' authority to enact "right-to-work" laws.

The Arkansas Democrat made the statements while taking his turn in a Senate filibuster against the administration bill to repeal section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act—the so-called "right-to-work" provision.

Sewage Plant Addition Bids Set For Nov. 4

San Rafael Sanitation District Board yesterday approved plans for additional construction at the city's sewage plant.

It was agreed to call for bids Nov. 4 for additions which will help deal with increased demands on the plant.

Diamond Says Dropout Rate Up At College

He said 330 students who had originally registered had failed to file cards, thereby dropping out of the college. About half that number was expected. He could not say why the number was so large.

In all, he reported, final registration figures now show a 15 per cent increase in enrollment over the fall of 1964. He said there was an 11 per cent jump in students taking 12 or more units, and a 10 per cent increase in those taking less than nine units of work.

The average class size for credit courses, he reported, was 34.3 students, compared to 29.3 last semester and 32.1 last fall.

Roy G. Mikalson, dean of the evening college, said total noncredit enrollment is down slightly from last spring, with 3,052 students compared to 3,070 then, but added he expected more to register.

He said four new classes, "Adventures in Communication," law for layman, sight-singing, rhythm and ear training, and air conditioning and refrigeration, all had enrollments larger than expected.

Trustee Chairman Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedy asked what efforts had been made to fill the classes. Mikalson said that groups of people mostly likely to be interested were sent letters, and the newspapers publicized courses.

Mrs. Deedy then said that with the college overcrowded, perhaps less money and time should be spent encouraging more students to take non-credit courses. Mikalson said class fees more than paid the cost of giving the new courses.

Water colors were first used for tinting pictures but about 1800 artists started painting directly with them.

Peanut Butter Said Becoming Less Nutty

SACRAMENTO (CNS)— Does your peanut butter taste different than it did a few years ago?

Mrs. Helen Nelson of Mill Valley, state consumer counsel, has expressed concern that the peanut content of the product has been dropping. She said the U.S. food and drug administration said some products have as little as 78 per cent peanuts and some widely sold brands contain less than 90 per cent. A public hearing on minimum standards for peanut butter will be held Oct. 18 in Washington, Mrs. Nelson said.

TROUBLE AT WHITE HOUSE?

President Lyndon B. State Attorney Warns Viet Demonstrators

SAN JOSE (AP)—California's attorney general promises stiff legal action against persons who illegally demonstrate against U.S. Viet Nam policy.

Thomas C. Lynch, the attorney general, told the Santa Clara County Bar Assn. last night he has conferred with both federal and local law enforcement officials. All have agreed on a united front for arrests and prosecution, he added.

"Our joint intention is a simple one, and can be simply stated. It is this: We intend to prosecute participants for whatever crimes they commit without fear or favor, and to the full extent of the law," the attorney general said.

His remarks seemed directed at Berkeley's Vietnam Day Committee which had announced earlier this week that it planned an all-day rally at the University of California Oct. 15, followed by a march to the Oakland Army Terminal and a demonstration there all the next day.

The committee said, however, that the rally would take place on a vacant lot next to the terminal, and that earlier plans for acts of civil disobedience had been dropped.

Lynch did not mention the committee by name, but declared, "There is a new political species seeking to participate in our foreign policy debate, a political kamikaze who brings the prodigality of youth to political decision-making composed in equal parts of naivete and irresponsibility."

He said federal and state laws make it a felony to interfere with the armed forces or to obstruct national defense. He added that many misdemeanors also would be involved in any planned mass civil disobedience and said leaders who conspire to commit the misdemeanors would be guilty of felonies.

"What is at stake here is not a simple trespass, or unlawful assemblage. What is at stake is democracy itself," Lynch told his audience. "To submit to such illegal usurpation of power is to submit to anarchy."

A spokesman for the Vietnam Day Committee said a press conference would be held to answer Lynch's remarks.

Policeman Sees Own Son Killed

NEW YORK (AP) — Police Sgt. William Hofaker, on patrol in Brooklyn, saw a speeding car hit a boy and drag his body six blocks.

When the body was thrown loose, Hofaker saw the dead boy was wearing new skating boots.

"My God, that looks like one of my kid's shoes," Hofaker said. It was his son, Robert, 13.

Police said a white compact car which hit the boy last night escaped.

Indonesia Students Burn Red Offices

JAKARTA (AP) — Several thousand young Indonesian Moslems burned the headquarters of the Indonesian Communist party, the PKI, to the ground today.

Indonesian army troops who broke the back of the attempted coup last week cordoned off streets leading to the PKI headquarters and did not interfere with the demonstrators.

The one-story building was reduced to ashes. Three fire trucks played water on them.

The demonstrating youths shouted "Kill Aidit" and "Dissolve PKI." D. N. Aidit is the first secretary of the PKI. He has been out of sight since the coup failed last weekend.

(A Jakarta radio broadcast, heard in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, said 500,000 persons held an anti-Communist rally in Jakarta's main stadium today. The broadcast said "the rally was held in very tense atmosphere" and got somewhat out of hand when some of the crowd began to shout "Kill! Kill! Kill immediately!")

River pollution is responsible for 18.4 million fish being killed in 1964, the Public Health Service says. This is an increase of 10.5 million over 1963.

Boilermakers' Strike Spreading

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A spreading boilermakers' strike idled workers at most far western construction projects toady as negotiators deadlocked.

The strike has spread into six of eight western states and AFL-CIO Boilermakers Union spokesmen predicted it would spread to the other two unless some sort of settlement is reached.

Spokesmen for both employers and the boilermakers said before going into today's mediation session that there was little prospect for a quick settlement.

30 Days Due In Driving Case

Paul Wesley Storrs, 25, of 128 Evergreen Avenue, Mill Valley, was given a 30-day suspended jail sentence and fined $220 in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving.

He was arrested by San Rafael police on Fourth Street last Sept. 27.

Michael Lee Humphrey, 26, of 21 Stevens Place, San Rafael, was given a 60-day suspended jail sentence on condition that he serve five days, and was fined $250. He was convicted of drunken driving last Sept. 17.

NEIGHBORS' FEUD VICTIM

Disagreement on whether this huge palm tree astraddle a property line between two Culver City homes should go or stay, resulted in this split decision yesterday. Two Assemblymen Clash Over Remap

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assembly Democrats sought today to protect their temporarily stalled reapportionment bill from the twin threats of Republican opposition and nullification by the voters.

Although they pushed the bill through the house 58-18 yesterday their efforts touched off one of the bitterest public arguments between two lawmakers in recent years.

And despite the top-heavy majority, Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D - Inglewood, asked for another vote Monday—an action that had the effect of preventing the measure from going to the Senate.

Unruh also had to act as a peacemaker in the clash between Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, and Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda.

It occurred in front of Monagan's desk while the Assembly was in session and apparently was prompted by Crown's charge that Republicans had asked him for favorable boundaries for their districts, and had then opposed the bill.

"That's just a little bit phony," he said.

After the vote, he went over to Monagan's desk and the two exchanged words.

"You're about as phony a two-bit as I've ever seen around here," declared Monagan. Crown replied in kind.

But with newsmen and legislators milling around, and Speaker Pro Tem Carlos Bee banging for order, Unruh grabbed the two.

"Do your fighting in my office, not in front of the reporters," said the speaker.

Unruh later told a reporter he suddenly held the bill up in the Assembly for two reasons:

1. He was "playing around with the idea" of putting an emergency clause in the bill. This would have the effect of making it the law as soon as the governor signed it. Without this provision, there would be the usual 90-day wait, with time for opponents to try to get enough signatures for a referendum to nullify it.

"It's to ward off a crack pot attempt at referendum," he said.

2. He wanted one more check to see if there were any errors in the measure.

It takes a two-thirds vote of 54 for the emergency clause—but Unruh noted the bill got four more than that yesterday.

Prelate Forgives Student's Stunt

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing has written to a Harvard student who appeared at Harvard Stadium in the robes of a Roman Catholic cardinal and pretended to bless the Harvard football team.

Cardinal Cushing advised the student, whose name was not revealed, to forget the incident.

The cardinal was replying yesterday to a letter of apology the student wrote Holy Cross College, whose football team Harvard was playing when the incident occurred.

Lynch Rips Assessors, Practices

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assessors and their property tax assessment practices have been sharply criticized by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, who declares their governing laws are more fantasy than fact.

Lynch, testifying before lawmakers yesterday, said, however, he believes "only a small number" of county assessors are involved in the current assessors scandal.

The attorney general's statement, read by Chief Deputy Atty. Gen. Charles A. O'Brien, was made before the Assembly Subcommittee on Assessment Practices. It is looking into irregularities revealed in the offices of certain county tax assessors who allegedly accepted kickbacks for reducing assessment levels for big businesses.

INVITES FRAUD

Grand jury indictments already have been returned against the assessors of San Francisco and Alameda counties and probes are being expanded throughout the state.

Committee chairman Leo J. Ryan, D - South San Francisco, who said there would be a series of hearings on the subject, declared recent disclosures affect every property taxpayer in California.

Lynch said he "was shocked" when the San Francisco disclosures came to his attention on July 21.

"At this time," Lynch said, "we can make no total estimate of the number of public officials, the number of consultants, the number of attorneys, the number of firms that are involved.

"The information that we have developed and corroborated to date represents a fraction of the known total involvement."

Not only assessors are involved, Lynch said. "We are convinced that the law as presently administered also invites fraud on the part of business firms."

Lynch asserted it appeared that the code governing assesors appeared to be penned by Lewis Carroll. He said:

"Even Alice, as amazed as she was at the strange practices in Wonderland, could at least find out what was going on. But in California, just try to find out what the assessor is doing. His records are more closely guarded than our atomic secrets. And from whom — the public, the taxpayers ... law enforcement."

ATTACKED BY BEAR—Fred Seaford, 50, from Montgomery Creek, 45 miles east of Redding, shows yesterday how he fired his deer rifle as an enraged bear chewed on his left arm last Sunday near Seaford's home. (AP Wirephoto)

100 Planes Lost In Bomb Raids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has lost just over 100 planes in North Viet Nam since the bombing raids began last February, an average loss of less than one-half of 1 per cent.

In revealing this yesterday, U.S. officials noted that the loss rate compared with losses of 2 or 3 per cent over Europe in the late stages of World War II.

Exact figures on U.S. aircraft losses in both North and South Viet Nam were not available, but apparently they total in the neighborhood of 400, including four jets shot down by Soviet-built antiaircraft missiles.

McNamara Seeking New Bases To Close

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara is studying the possibility of closing or reducing still more U.S. military installations, despite the 340,000-man Viet Nam buildup now in progress.

Administration officials said yesterday that McNamara's study was one aspect of the process of determining what additional military money requests must be made of Congress next year because of the Viet Nam conflict.

HUNTER'S ORDEAL

"I figured I was a goner. I'd shoot and he'd keep chewing. I could hear the bones in my arm crunching. All I could think of was to get him before I passed out."

That's how Seaford, 50, told it yesterday from a hospital chair, his hand and legs in bandages.

"We were hunting deer" in a Northern California wilderness, he continued. "The dog came back growling to where I was resting. When I started out again, it stayed behind me."

Moments later the bear sprang from a depression along a deer trail.

"I had this hand in the bear's mouth," Seaford said. "In my other hand I had a . . . rifle. . .

"On the first shot, he turned loose of my arm. He must have been trying to bite his flank, where the bullet hit. He sank four fangs into my right leg instead."

Seaford's clothing caught in the rifle's breech during the shooting and heh ad to eject an unfired bullet to clear the chamber.

Finally the bear collapsed and died, falling on top of Seaford.

"I was doing quite a bit of hollering," he continued. "When the old bear quit, I was so tired that I couldn't crawl out from under him."

His brother-in-law, answering his calls, freed him, applied a tourniquet and drove him to Mercy Hospital here.

The two men were part of a two-family, seven person group.

A black bear usually is docile for a wild animal and Seaford wonders why this one attacked him. "I just happened to be the one he ran into, I guess. I'm thankful it was me instead of one of the kids or womenfolk."

"We were hunting deer," he mused. "I never hunt bear. I never bothered a bear in my life."

Shaver's Lumber Mill was built in 1864, north of First Street in San Rafael, by Isaac Shaver, a New Yorker who had come overland to California in 1852. The mill shipped much of its lumber from Ross Landing (where the College of Marin is now).

Vatican Vote Modernizes Religious Life

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Ecumenical Council completes action today on a set of reforms changing the lives of about two million priests, nuns and monks. More than 200,000 members of religious orders in the United States will be affected.

The changes are aimed at putting the priests, nuns and monks into 20th century dress and getting them out of monasteries and convents and into the streets, where church prelates feel they can accomplish more good.

The council delegates are approving reforms calling for an end to obsolete practices. One representative said nuns no longer should be treated as "little girls who have to have a companion holding them by the hand every time they leave the house."

Religious habits will be modified "in keeping toward the times," both for priests and nuns. Some women's orders already have adopted the new style of dress—in one instance designed by the House of Dior—but this marks the first time Franciscans, Dominicans and other orders of monks are being changed.

Winery organizations maintain strict supervision of French wines.

Civil Rights Group Fills One Vacancy

The Marin County Human Rights Commission last night filled one of nine vacancies in its membership and made plans for finding other candidates by next month's meeting.

Four of the nine vacancies are recent. They are those left by Dr. Theodore A. Gill, Dr. Daniel A. Collins, Dr. John S. Siemens and Douglas M. Merrill. Commission secretary Betty Gunn said all resigned due to the press of other duties.

Mrs. Gunn said the commission, usually about 22 members strong, has not kept close track of resignations and not acted officially on them for some time.

The commission officially accepted all resignations last night and members agreed to come with lists of candidates to the commission at the Nov. 4 session.

Appointed last night was Mrs. Andrea Hendrick of 561 Kernberry Drive, Marinwood.

Appointments must be ratified by the board of supervisors.

The commission also asked Walter Bremond, director of community relations, to ask supervisors to assure strong wording against discrimination in contracts for construction of the hall of justice addition to the Civic Center.

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Eugene Dennis Jr., 22, son of the former head of the American Communist party, was divorced by his 21-year-old wife, Elizabeth, yesterday on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Coed Wins Suit Over Disrobing By School Boss

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Damages of $4,000 have been paid to a 19-year-old former high school girl who said she was ordered to disrobe partially in a search for missing school money.

Antoinette Jefry originally was awarded $10,000 by a jury last February. But Superior Judge Aubrey N. Irwin ruled evidence was insufficient to support the verdict. He ordered a new trial.

The second trial was scheduled to begin yesterday, but an insurance company representing the Los Angeles School District announced the settlement at the outset of the court proceedings.

Miss Jefry was a cashier in a school book store when the store manager, Mrs. Anne H. Nelson, made her strip to her lingerie in a search for 50 cents missing from the cash register.

Miss Jefry had sued for $228,000.

Striking Pickers Get Marin Food

Two Marinites took a truck load of food last weekend to striking grape pickers in San Joaquin Valley and plan to leave tomorrow with another load.

Members of Marin Friends of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, they transport the foods to members of the Farm Workers Assn., striking for a wage of $1.40 per hour plus 25 cents per box of grapes, according to Alfred Lowry of Mill Valley.

Mayor Dyk New Local Agency Head

Sausalito Mayor Jan Paul Dyk was elected chairman of the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night, succeeding County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel.

Broemmel left the commission because a new state law requires that the two county representatives on it be supervisors.

The commission passed a resolution praising Broemmel for his service as chairman for the past two years. Dyk was elected to a one-year term.

Commissioners also adopted revised rules for procedure.

John F. Barrows, executive officer for the commission, reminded them the revised law permits commissioners to receive pay. However, commissioners made no move to request it. They receive mileage reimbursement at 10 cents a mile.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, a member of the commission, said there should be revisions in the law that would facilitate annexations and deannexations to cities.

"De-annexations is as cumbersome a procedure as I could conceive," he said.

Barrows was requested to undertake a study of revisions that could be recommended to the legislature.

Cascade Hearing Is Continued

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night continued its hearing on the proposed 61-acre Cascade annexation to Mill Valley to Nov. 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Center.

No one appeared for the hearing. John F. Barrows, commission executive officer, said Mill Valley City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer had requested a continuance.

Mill Valley has filed notice of intention to annex the 61 acres which lie south of the Cascade Reservoir, north of Edgewood Avenue, east of Monte Vista Avenue and west of Panoramic Highway.

Barrows recommended against the annexation.

The commission also set for Nov. 4 hearing to settle the long-confused boundaries between the cities of Larkspur and Corte Madera.

Commissioners approved annexation of about five acres in Belveron Gardens, between Mercury Avenue and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, to the Tiburon Fire Protection District.

County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, an alternate commissioner, sat in for Supervisor Peter H. Behr. Larkspur Mayor Neil R. Brixon, alternate commissioner representing cities, sat in for Commissioner J. Wayne Womak, a Novato councilman.

NEW PHARMACY — Ross General Hospital's new terrace addition, which will be shown to the public Sunday, features an all-new pharmacy. Here, among the many shelves of pharmaceuticals, John Lewis prepares a prescription for a patient.

MANUFACTURING PLANT—Ross General Hospital becomes a "manufacturing druggist" in its new terrace addition, making many of the salves and solutions used in treatment of the ill. A. H. Angelini, director of pharmacy, mixes ingredients for an antiseptic detergent.

'SLOT MACHINE'—Much medication at Ross Hospital now can be dispensed automatically, with this machine which looks something like a cigarette vending machine. Nurse Leona Wofford feeds the proper coded cards into the automatic dispenser—and out comes the packaged and labeled medication. (Independent-Journal photos)

NEW CONCEPTS

Ross Hospital Open House Set For Terrace Addition

Newest concepts in hospital care and equipment will be unveiled in Marin County Sunday afternoon when Ross General Hospital holds an open house inspection of its new Terrace Addition.

Every department of the $475,000 multi-story structure, as well as the hospital's newly enlarged manufacturing pharmacy, will be open to the public. Many departments will demonstrate their particular services, including physical therapy and occupational therapy. Also on view will be the Brewer System, equipment resembling a cigarette vending machine which automatically dispenses drugs and medication.

Construction on the hospital's new wing, linking the main hospital building with the tuberculosis terrace, was started in September, 1964. It provides 18,000 square feet over three levels, adds 40 beds to an existing 120 beds and permits a substantial addition to examination, laboratory, research and supply facilities.

The first floor houses a large central supply area equipped with the first combination steam and gas sterilizer in Marin County. This new equipment permits the sterilization of delicate, new surgical instruments which would be harmed by steam.

Also on the first floor is the electroencephalographic laboratory and radio-isotope lab. The latter department makes use of radioactive materials to detect certain elements in the bloodstream.

New and unusual furnishings and equipment are found in the second floor concentrated medical care area. Corridors and patients' rooms are completely carpeted. Dr. John C. Siemens, hospital administrator, observes that carpeting performs two jobs: "It muffles the sounds of footsteps and voices and it also provides a greater degree of cleanliness."

Also in the concentrated medical care area is a new electronic monitoring system which records pulse rate of seriously ill patients, as well as their heart rhythm and electrocardiogram. The nursing station can keep as many as five patients under constant surveillance with the monitor.

Third floor of the new wing is for long-term patients and rehabilitation.

Each room has individual air conditioning and heating controls.

Commenting on the absence of an intercom system between rooms and nursing stations, Dr. Siemens declared: "Automation will never replace the therapeutic value of personal nursing care. In our continuing use of new equipment and treatment methods, we have avoided anything which would minimize this type of care. We believe that when the patient signals the nursing station, he wants immediate, personal attention rather than a 'voice'."

The terrace addition is Ross General Hospital's fifth major building project since the hospital came under its present physician-owner management 10 years ago. Other projects have included a large wing for psychiatric care, new surgery suite and new administrative offices.

The terrace addition was designed by Kentfield architect Jack Hermann and constructed by Herrero Brothers, San Francisco, general contractors.

Natural Science Conference Set

A teachers' conference on natural sciences will be held tomorrow at Vallecito School in Dixie District.

The conference, sponsored by the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum and the county schools office, will start with registration at 8:30 a.m. Dr. Robert Stebbins, professor of zoology at University of California, Berkeley, will talk on "Natural Sciences in the Classroom." Small group meetings will follow.

Costa Rica has no army.

The Methodist movement was carried to America in 1760 by emigrants from Ireland.

Juniors, Seniors To Set Example For Clean School

Juniors and seniors in Redwood High School will pick up papers in hallways, rather than tell freshmen and sophomores to do it, student body president Dan Kreps has announced.

The change is an attempt by the student leaders to set a good example in keeping the school clean and the school spirit high, he said.

"Having the self-government representatives take this kind of image, we hope to curb the littering and other problems that have caused distress among teachers and students in previous years," he said.

Self-government head Tom Sather said he hopes students will thus be more interested in helping the school.

As part of the program of self-government, the school is continuing the program of last year of using student proctors in the library to maintain order.

Board Of Education Would Cut Override

The San Rafael Board of Education plans to eliminate an 8-cent override tax levied this year for special education if voters approve a 50-cent increase in the general operating tax rate of the elementary school district next Tuesday, the board president said today.

The increase would be effective for next school year.

Walter J. Doll, board of education president, in a statement emphasizing need for the tax increase, said:

"In trying to maintain our quality school system, the board of education this year has had to levy an override of eight cents, which is allowed by the state.

"Traditionally, the board has been reluctant to add overrides to the tax structure of San Rafael. Our stand has always been: the people should determine their own taxes in the light of their own wishes.

The passage of this proposed increase will permit the board to eliminate those override taxes that have been levied in this emergency."

The ballot proposal is to permit an increase in the general operating rate from $1.75 to $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation.

Under California's complicated education code, many school expenses can be financed either from the general operating rate, ceiling on which is controlled by the voters, or from special "overrides." The code provides for 21 of the latter. Some of these, such as for employee retirement, are levied separately by virtually all districts. Others, such as the additional tax for alleged additional cost of junior high programs, and special programs of various kinds, are used by only a few districts.

Doll noted that "San Rafael's tax rate for education is the lowest of all large communities in the county." Both the general operating rate and the total rate ($2.355 this year including bond payments) in the San Rafael Elementary School District are the lowest among districts of comparable size in Marin.

"The members of the board of education stand united in urging the citizens to support their schools and children" in voting for the tax increase, Doll said.

"For the last three years, in spite of our care, the growth of the student body and its needs have consumed the reserve funds of our budget," he continued. "We are now at the end of the financial line . . .

"A tax increase of 50 cents will permit the school system to examine again its goals and service to children, to reinstate the reductions that were necessary this year, and to begin rebuilding our reserves to a level consistent with sound business practices."

Restaurateur's Wife Injured

Mrs. Rosalie H. Franchini, 28, wife of Franchini's Chateau owner Roy G. Franchini, suffered a neck injury in an auto accident at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

The patrol said Mrs. Franchini was turning right into the restaurant parking lot from the eastbound lane on Smith Ranch Road when her car was struck from behind by one driven by Royal Gary Druba, 19, of 4 Zandra Place, Novato.

Mrs. Franchini, of 74 Esmeyer Drive, San Rafael, was treated by the family physician.

Indians Return Wounded Captives

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indian army has handed over to Pakistan two wounded Pakistani soldiers and the bodies of four men killed on the western front, the Defense Ministry said today.

A communique said the transfer was made under the "auspices of U.N. observers" in the Sialkot sector of northern Pakistan.

The communique said Pakistan had violated the cease-fire in many places in the past 24 hours, sending planes as well as men into Indian territory.

Oil Workers Union Accepts Pay Offer

DENVER (UPI)— The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union (OCAW), AFL-CIO, called off a coast to coast strike last night after settling contract differences with the nation's oil companies.

Union President A. F. Grospiron announced at 11 p.m. that negotiators had settled on a 4.5 per cent wage increase, one-half per cent lower than the OCAW had demanded.

Prosecution Winds Up Case In Sally Theft

Prosecution attorneys yesterday wound up their case with the questioning of an expert in safe burglaries in the conspiracy trial of San Francisco police officers Salvatore Polani and Patrick Buckman, and three ex-convicts in the Sally Stanford burglary.

San Francisco Police Inspector William Valentine explained the use of each of the tools in the two suitcases found in the Stanford home in San Francisco April 6, saying they were designed for opening a safe.

The two officers, along with Louis Romero, Wesley Gant and Winston Major, are on trial in the case together. Officer Edmond Paascke yesterday testified that bullets found in a Cadillac owned by Dorothy (Muffin) Haynes matched those found in Romero's pocket the night the burglary was supposed to have been tried.

Romero earlier told police he had borrowed Mrs. Haynes' auto.

The trial will resume Monday in San Francisco Superior Court.

Motorist Sees Killing On Street

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An ex-Marine was shot and killed as he ran screaming for help today on a San Francisco street.

Four bullets were fired into the body of Joe McKinney, 21, an employe of the Alameda Naval Air Station. Some of the 22 caliber bullets were fired at close range.

A motorist who saw the shooting on Central Avenue, near the geographical center of the city, said the killer climbed into a small foreign sports car and drove away.

Georgia Rights Victory For King

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga. (AP) —Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who had his worst setback three years ago in Georgia, emerged today in control of the civil rights drive in this small town after a power struggle with political implications.

Small groups of Negroes tried once again to either board school buses with white children or block the vehicles today. Eighty state troopers thwarted the attempt. Four Negroes lay down on the street but were moved quickly.

Another group tried to run through police lines and one trooper was bowled over but he tackled a Negro youth. There were twice as many troopers on hand as usual because those who had been on duty for about a week were being replaced.

Negroes involved in the Taliaferro County school integration push voted overwhelmingly last night at a mass meeting to turn over control of the movement to King and his Southern Christian Leadership Conference — and to continue demonstrations.

Another attempt to integrate school buses was scheduled today.

"As far as I am concerned the movement is out of my hands now," said Calvin Turnner, the local Negro leader, at the mass meeting. "It is now in the hands of SCLC and Dr. King."

In a similar vein, Chairman W. E. Watson of the County Commission told newsmen that the dispute was out of local control. "Nobody is going to move in any direction until a moratorium is observed, until good faith is shown," he said.

Watson said Negro leaders have shown that they do not want a settlement.

Turner asked for a show of hands on the question of control at last night's meeting. Nearly all the approximately 150 Negroes voted for King and his SCLA.

The significance of this action lies in the fact that the governor and State Sen. Leroy Johnson of Atlanta, a Negro, had sought to solidify Georgia Negro leaders in a more moderate course that would have halted demonstrations—and blocked SCLC.

SCLC leaders, particularly Hosea Williams, the director of political education, said Johnson would not be a spokesman for the civil rights movement. Williams has charged the governor with a political play linked to his reported intentions of seeking a U.S. Senate seat next year.

Marin Painters Union Switches Council Ties

Marin's Painters Union Local 83 has been granted its request to switch from District Council 8 in San Francisco to District Council 16 in Oakland.

The painters local was informed of the decision today in a letter from Frank Rafferty, president of the International Brotherhood of Painters, Paperhangers, and Decorators of America.

George R. Scott, treasurer of local 83, rejoiced with the news.

"We're very happy. We've been trying to break away from the San Francisco council for more than four months," he said.

The rift in the San Francisco District Council led to picketing of Marin painters' jobs by union men from San Francisco in August.

Scott said that the local painters would sign the Oakland council's contract agreement today. The agreement calls for the same pay rate as that of the San Francisco council, but eliminates controversial demands on coffee breaks and limitation on use of rollers.

Car Clout Reported

A woman's white coat valued at $124.50, a platinum tie clasp with a half-carat diamond valued at $100 and $2 in change were taken from the car of Rowena A. Walter, 287 Golden Hinde Passage, Corte Madera, while the car was parked at the Elks Club in San Rafael on the night of Oct. 1, she told police yesterday.

Marijuana Case Guilty Plea Given

A 19-year-old Marin City youth, sentenced to California Youth Authority last Wednesday for burglary of Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon, yesterday pleaded also to possession of marijuana and to second degree burglary of Eat and Run Inc., Kentfield.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner ordered sentences for Ira Lewis Edwards, 135 Drake Avenue, to run concurrently with the previous sentence, a term to be fixed later by the CYA.

Edwards and Michael Raymond Tauer, 18, of 38 Strawberry Circle, Strawberry Manor, were charged with burglary of the cafe Sept. 20. Edwards also was charged with selling marijuana but pleaded to the lesser and included offense of possession.

Tauer still faces trial on the cafe break-in.

Nonlethal Gas Again Is Used In Viet Nam

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. paratroopers launched a big new operation on the fringe of the Viet Cong's "D" zone and used nonlethal tear gas, a U.S. military spokesman said.

No further details were immediately available on the gas attack, but the spokesman said the American troops had made "significant contact" with the Viet Cong.

Field commanders were authorized to use nonlethal gas if it was deemed necessary. The object was to flush out the Viet Cong without wounding or killing noncombatants.

Thousands of American troops combed a densely jungled area about 30 miles north of Saigon. Australian forces supported the operation.

The paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade landed by helicopter and moved into the Viet Cong area in convoys along Highway 13, near the district capital of Ben Cat.

The spokesman gave no details on the fighting, but it was believed to have been heavy.

The D Zone is a huge jungle area which the Viet Cong has dominated for years. It has been a frequent target of U.S. bombers, and American troops have been nibbling at its fringes repeatedly in recent months, looking for the Viet Cong and destroying their installations and stores.

Freight Car Off Rails At Chico

CHICO (AP) — One car of a Southern Pacific freight train was derailed last night as it was passing through Chico.

Police said there was no report of injuries.

Wrecking crews were called from nearby Marysville to clear the track.

Probation Given In Petty Theft

Dennis Paul Auerhan, 21, of 55 Fairfax Street, San Rafael, was placed on two years probation and given a 90-day jail sentence on condition that he serve 30 days yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for petty theft.

He originally had been charged with burglary in the taking of a wallet from the apartment of Lois M. Hawk, at the same address, on May 3.

Contempt Ruling Review Is Sought By Attorney

Petition for a writ of review of a Marin Municipal Court contempt ruling was filed late yesterday in Marin Superior Court by Harold R. Hayes, San Rafael attorney fined $750 for alleged failure to properly represent a client.

The application was submitted to Judge Thomas F. Keating, who said today it will be given instead to Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, handling the law and motion calendar.

If the latter issues a writ, a hearing will be scheduled, also before Judge Gardiner.

Hayes was found in contempt Sept. 27 by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. for failure to appear on two dates to represent a client, Michael Lee Humphrey, 26, of 21 Stevens Place, San Rafael.

The attorney's petition declares that under law he cannot appeal the case, and therefore seeks the review on grounds that Judge Goldstein acted in excess of jurisdiction, because there is no record of any court order directing Hayes to appear on either of the two occasions—Sept. 16 and Sept. 17; that the court's business was not impeded or inconvenienced by Hayes's failure to appear because another case was called first and "took the balance of the afternoon" in having another attorney appear on Hayes' behalf.

Hayes asks for a Superior Court ruling setting aside the contempt finding. Judge Goldstein has granted him 30 days in which to obtain a ruling prior to payment of the $750.

Patrick C. Goodyear, sometimes associate of Hayes, represented Humphrey in the Sept. 17 drunken driving court trial. Humphrey was convicted. Hayes has admitted in court that he was in Las Vegas, Nev., at time of the trial.

Fertility Drug Patient Has Sextuplets; All Soon Die

STOCKHOLM (AP) — An unidentified Swedish woman gave birth to sextuplets this month after being treated with the now world famous Gemzell hormone method, the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet reported today. The children lived only for a few hours.

The delivery occurred Oct. 3 at the Academic Hospital in Uppsala, the university town north of Stockholm where Swedish Prof. Carl Gemzell has developed the hormone treatment which has made it possible for formerly sterile women to become mothers.

The multiple births — a case of stillborn sextuplets was recorded one year ago — are due to the fact that Gemzell and his team as yet haven't been able to determine exactly the special hormone dose needed.

Th six children, four girls and two boys, all died within a few hours after the delivery, the newspaper said. Their mother is reported to be in good condition.

Prison's Tours Booked For Year

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today that tours which the prison runs for civic groups must be reserved at least a year in advance.

During the Saturday night tours visitors are shown the execution room, a cell block, prison chapels, the prison industrial complex, they are fed a meal in the prison dining room, and a variety show is presented for them by the inmates. A fee is charged to cover expenses of the tours, said Park.

The fall season of tours will begin tomorrow night when a group from Lamda Alpha Epsilon, a Bay Area law enforcement society, views the prison.

Doctor Feared Hurt By Crash

Dr. Maurice Spottswood, 54, of 180 Sturdivant Avenue, San Anselmo, may have suffered serious head injuries today when he drove his car off the side of his driveway into a tree.

He was being X-rayed at Marin General Hospital today for possible head injuries and nurses said he would probably be admitted to the hospital.

San Anselmo police said that after the accident, the doctor climber out of his car and made his way back to his home to call for help. They said he could not recall how the accident occurred.

Sausalito Group Looks Over CUT, May Support It

Sausalito Citizens Council directors last night discussed what Correct Unfair Taxation is doing in Belvedere and Tiburon, and agreed to audit a CUT meeting Oct. 19 to see if they may wish to "aid and abet CUT."

"We have been probing what CUT has been doing," said Carl W. Spring, council corresponding secretary. "We want to see if in what fashion, if any, the board may want to aid and abet the organization.

"We also look further in this and feel the final answer has got to be a marked reduction in the spiraling cost of local government, that is, city and county."

The CUT meeting will be at 8 p.m. at Reed School, Tiburon. The organization of volunteers banded together this spring to protest property tax assessments in Belvedere and Tiburon.

Ambulance Refused, Negro Dies

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The death of a Negro left at the scene of a traffic accident by a white ambulance driver has led the Birmingham City Council to strike a color clause from its ambulance contracts.

The manager of the ambulance service, Ed Emmett, said the driver, Owen Tollett, had been fired because of the incident.

Officials said Tollett refused to take Joe Bruce, 63, a Negro, to a hospital after his legs were severed in an automobile accident Wednesday.

The council voted yesterday after W.C. Hamilton, executive secretary to Mayor Albert Boutwell, warned that any reference in the city's ambulance contracts to race, creed or color is "profoundly dangerous."

Councilman Alan Drennen told other officials, "Mercy is not something we can dispense by color...in times of emergency, mercy is what we're after."

Landmarks Society Puts Old Church Pews On Sale

In the market for an old church pew?

The Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society last night decided to put about 20 of them on sale for $50 each.

The city of Belvedere has accepted a gift of two of them, to be placed in the community center.

The Landmarks Society reelected Mrs. Robert Bastian as president. New officers are Mrs. Howard Allen, vice president; Russell Kiel, secretary, and William G. Pittman, treasurer.

A resolution favoring publication of a history of Marin County by the Marin County Historical Society was passed.

Bacon Lovers

Bacon lovers who want to economize might look for end pieces and slabs. They are the least expensive form of the popular breakfast food.

Easy Dessert

Make an easy dessert by cutting a thick slice of honeydew melon and filling its center with a favorite berry sherbet.

Disguise Scratches

To disguise minor scratches on woods with natural finish, use broken pieces of nutmeats such as pecan, English or black walnut, Brazil or butternut. Rub diagonally along the scratch until it darkens.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Al Sybrian sculpted the famous Sausalito sea lion partly as a joke and partly out of anger. He little dreamed it would become a much-loved fixture of the Southern Marin landscape, prompting a campaign to re-cast it in bronze. Tomorrow's I-J Marin Magazine tells what Sybrian is doing now, why he loves "her" (the sea lion) dearly—and how he came to sell his best piece of work to a man who wanted to destroy it.

Life in the coastal communities of Olema and Bolinas has gone full cycle: from quiet to bustling and back to today's peaceful existence. I-J Historian Florence Donnelly reports on the origin and growth of these two towns tomorrow. Included are descriptions of a memorable wedding feast and the strange legend of the fire-worshipper.

MARIN FILM FARE

Rod Steiger Acting Flawless In Title Role Of 'Pawnbroker'

By LES DARD

Let the viewer delight. This weekend's Marin movie fare is as varied as it is interesting. Let's take a look:

LARK THEATER

A fascinating, haunting entry is "The Pawnbroker," in which Rod Steiger flawlessly etches the title role into the minds of the audience.

This is the grim and shattering tale of a man who believes he has reason enough to withdraw from humanity.

As the only member of his family to survive the atrocities of a Nazi concentration camp, he operates a pawnshop in the slums of Spanish Harlem.

His life an empty shell, he shrinks from any emotional contact with other human beings.

The people who drift into his shop only bring back horrible memories which we see in brief flashbacks.

Finally, one essential incident brings him to the realization that it is necessary for him to love his fellow man. Ironically, this is the scene for which the Legion of Decency condemned this film.

Geraldine Fitzgerald as a social worker, Brock Peters as a gangster, Jaime Sanchez as a boy of the slums and Thelma Oliver as a Negro prostitute supplement Steiger's monumental performance.

FAIRFAX THEATER

A hard look at the corrupting influence of high society where everyone is "Darling" and nobody is dear is now playing.

Julie Christie takes the title role. She deserts her husband to become a jet-set jade just because of her very special beauty, but she has entered an alien, fast-moving world that in the end proves too much for her.

Miss Christie does an excellent job with a difficult role, and the film is sure to be a big one with adult viewers.

Now showing is one of Walt Disney's early — and certainly one of his best—animal pictures, "Old Yeller," a touching dog story.

If Junior hasn't seen this one, pack him off for the first show. You might well enjoy it yourself.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

A sometimes sordid melodrama, "A Rage To Live," is now on screen.

John O'Hara's novel of the same title serves as a basis for the production. Suzanne Pleshette plays a nymphomaniac with a heart of gold.

Bradford Dillman plays her husband, Ben Gazzara is one of her lovers. The acting is good, but what could have possibiy been a fine film is found to be somewhat lacking.

Adults only, please.

NOVATO THEATER

Lots of action here.

PLAYHOUSE TIBURON

Now showing is the fine wartime adventure-drama "The Train," starring Burt Lancaster and British actor Paul Scofield.

The film is set in Paris as the Nazis pull out. Scofield, a Nazi colonel, is determined to take the French art treasures with him, on a special train. Railroad Inspector Lancaster, a Resistance leader, sets out to stop him.

The co-feature is a British spy comedy — "Masquerade," starring Jack Hawkins and Cliff Robertson.

MOTOR MOVIES

The latest one from the fabulous Beatles is here: "Help!" and you don't have to be a Beatle maniac to like it.

Ringo, the drummer, is wearing a ring that is part of an East Indian sacrificial ritual, and he can't get it off. The other three Liverpudlians are mainly concerned with saving him from the sacrificial knife.

It's all a lark — and it's in color.

101 DRIVE-IN

Here's an intriguing double bill:

The newest Richard Burton-Elizabeth Taylor film, "The Sandpiper" is the first entry.

Burton delivers brilliantly as an Episcopal minister and head of a San Simeon boys' school in which beatnik artist Liz is ordered by a judge to deliver her son.

Eva Marie Saint plays Burton's loving wife very convincingly.

The co-feature is "36 Hours," a high tension war drama. James Garner stars as an American officer, victim of a Nazi plot to uncover the D-Day invasion plans.

SEQUOIA THEATER

Action, action, action is the byword for "The Sons of Katie Elder," a new breed of Western now on screen.

When Katie Elder dies, the four bums who are her sons decide it's time to straighten up and make Mama, up there, proud of them. Trouble is, they have to fight off the rest of the world to do it.

This one, in all its diversity, should appeal to women as well as men—only one of the features which sets it apart from the average western.

Arts Quartet Drive Starts

A subscription campaign for the Marin Arts Quartet's ninth annual season will be conducted throughout this month.

Violinist Charles Meacham, founder and leader of the quartet, announced concerts will be presented on Nov. 14, Feb. 6 and March 27 at 3 p.m. in the Outdoor Art Club, Mill Valley. Each concert is followed by a reception and tea.

Other quartet members are Jean Maguire, cello; Elizabeth Bell, viola; and Cicely Edmunds, second violin.

Handling subscriptions are Mrs. Philip C. Smith, 80 Lochinvar Road, San Rafael, and Mrs. Nancy Ingalls, 1 East Road, Ross. Subscriptions are also available by writing Box 372, Kentfield.

College Drama

"Romeo and Juliet," College of Marin's first fall semester drama production, will be staged Oct. 22, 23, 28, 29 and 30 in the college's little theater in Room One, Harlan Hall, Drama director James Dunn announced yes-

The Rock of Gibraltar is limestone.

Mountain Fair Boasts Full Moon's Charms

Full moon will be celebrated at this weekend's annual Mountain Fair, to be held on Mount Tamalpais at the Muir Woods Improvement Assn. clubhouse.

"There is a romantic superstition about full moons on the mountain," said fair chairman John R. Iacometti, who adds he believes the moon will add to the turnout.

Hours of the fair, off Panoramic Highway on Ridge Avenue, are 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. tomorrow, and 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday.

The fair will feature paintings by 15 artists, one-half from the mountain and the rest from Sausalito and Mill Valley, in the art gallery.

There will also be a children's art exhibition, Mill Valley potter Sascha Makovkin will display his pottery in the Mediterranean section.

A discotheque, dancing to records, will be held in the gallery tomorrow from 8 to 11 p.m. Dinner will be served both evenings starting at 6 o'clock.

At 3 p.m. tomorrow, San Francisco disc jockeys Al Collins, Ira Blue and Jim Lange will hold a "painting to music" demonstration.

There will be a folk dance performance at 3 p.m. on Sunday.

The "International theme" is carried out in a dozen booths ranging from African, Mexican, Oriental and Bavarian to a special booth of the United Nations International Children's Educational Fund.

A miniature golf course has been built to represent Scotland.

There will be games for children plus food and drink concessions.

Vehicle Office Dedication Set

City, county and state officials will be on hand next Thursday at 2:30 p.m. for dedication of the State Department of Motor Vehicles' new building at 75 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera.

The ceremony will include speeches and the raising of the flag by the Sixth Army Color Guard from the Presidio of San Francisco.

Speaking will be Mayor Edward W. Colthurst of Corte Madera, Marin County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, and James Chapman, deputy director of the department of motor vehicles. Richard Burns, presi- of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce, will be master of ceremonies.

'Miracle Worker' Set By School

"The Miracle Worker," a drama centered around the childhood of blind, deaf-mute Helen Keller, will be Redwood High School's fall dramatic production, rather than the previously scheduled "Victoria Regina."

The change was made, according to drama teacher Joseph Wadlington, because of the great expense involved in staging the Victorian play, especially in costuming and set design.

The play, which ran for several years on Broadway, and earned an Oscar for actress Patty Duke, deals with the attempts of Annie Sulivan to teach the incorrigible Helen to adapt to normal society.

Tryouts will be held as soon as the scripts arrive. Production is scheduled for Nov. 19, 20, and 21.

Two Artists' Reception Set In Hub

A reception for artists Betty Mobley and Ursula Johnson will be held 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Torrance Gallery, San Anselmo, where the pair will have a two-artist show of their paintings.

The gallery, at 128 Greenfield Avenue, is open 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Miss Mobley, who studied art in Chicago and the Bay Area, has exhibited at the Solano, Santa Cruz and Monterey county fairs and the San Juan Bautista state exhibition.

She is active in the Marin Society of Artists, Terra Linda Art Assn. and the North Bay Artists of Novato.

Mrs. Johnson, who moved to San Rafael from Novato a year ago, studied art in Ohio before coming to Marin. She helped form the Novato Art Guild and belongs to the Marin Society of Artists.

Her work has been shown in the San Francisco Art Festival, the Concours d'Elegance at Peacock Gap, and the Novato Library.

Anonymous Priest Directs Rescue Job

RICHMOND, R.I. (UPI)—A Catholic priest directed a 30-man rescue operation yesterday which freed two men from a five-ton truck that had overturned.

The men were taken to a hospital where they were reported in good condition. The priest left before he could be identified.

Aterosclerosis Is Link To Cigarettes

BOSTON (AP)—Two doctors reported yesterday that their study of a group of patients at a New Jersey veterans hospital showed a much higher degree of aterosclerosis - hardening of the arteries - among cigarette smokers.

The study of 1,372 patients woh died at the Veterans Administration Hospital, East Orange, N.J., was conducted between Jan. 1, 1955, and Dec. 31, 1960, by Dr. Oscar Auerbach, senior medical investigator at the hospital, and Dr. E. Cuyler Hammong of the American Cancer Society, New York City.

Their findings were published in the New England Journal of Medicine today.

Hardening of the arteries, or the formation of fatty substances inside the arteries, is a common cause of blood clots and heart attacks.

Students Day Picnic Sunday

The second annual International Students Day picnic will be held Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. for 75 students from College of Marin, Dominican College, San Francisco Theological Seminary and Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary at the physical education building of College of Marin.

The picnic is sponsored by Marin County Chapter, American Red Cross, and Marin Rotary clubs.

Nursing License

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Mrs. C. Karyl Maulis, 118 Ross Street, Apt. 2, San Rafael, has completed state examinations for registered nurse and will be issued a license, Michael R. Buggy, executive secretary of the state board of nursing education and nurse registration, announced today.

English, Social Studies New Honors System Set

A new honors system for top students in English and social studies at Terra Linda High School has been started this year.

James Soladay, head of the English department, said the new plan results in small classes for the honor student and benefits the middle and lower student grouping by giving more diversity.

Grades are not emphasized. As long as they stay in the program, honor students will continue to receive "A" grades, Soladay said.

Seminar classes for these have about 14 to 22 students, he said.

Big Sur Search For Flutist Ends

MONTEREY (AP) — Sheriff's deputies have called off a search in the Big Sur region for Barry Rosser, 23, a flutist who had appeared with the San Diego and San Francisco symphony orchestras.

The hunt, which involved a 10-man team from the Monterey County sheriff's office and an Army helicopter yesterday failed to turn up any trace of the young man. He has been missing since Sept. 30.

Travel Features First Bark Issue

Containing an insert devoted to foreign travel and exchanges, the paper is the first production of this year's staff. Editor-in-chief Ann Bastian was assisted by editors Bob McBain, Kip Fogarty, and Bill Fuhrman of Greenbrae; Boots Ferguson, Pete Newton, Pam Myers, and Betsy Klein of Kentfield and Nan Black of Belvedere.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Good Old Corn Goes Long Way

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—When a network executive schedules a show like last night's Andry Griffith - Don Knotts - Jim Nabors variety special on CBS-TV, he goes home and sleeps like a baby, never once needing a pill.

For he knows that, in the rural part of the country, and perhaps even in the city, and in the sloburbs as well, his program will roll up a tremendous rating, and cause absolutely no headaches. In his heart, he knows he has touched the true pulse of television at its most natural level. He is a very happy man.

It is no secret that Griffith, Knotts and Nabors represent big, big star power on television, as well as considerable real talent that they must almost always keep under wraps to be certain that they maintain contact with their special audience, on video at least.

The three performers used to appear together on Griffih's weekly CBS-TV series. But now Knotts wisely has moved on to motion pictures, and Nabors has his own hit series, "Gomer Pyle," in which he plays a hillbilly Marine recruit. Last night's special grew out of a nightclub act they did last year at Harrah's Club at Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Griffith was the host last night, radiating the confidence of a Las Vegas pit boss who knows that eventually the business will come his way. Throughout, he gave the hour his usual cat-that-swallowed-the-canary smile, the one that says he knows where the ratings are buried. He certainly does.

Except for the surprising showstopping ability of the talented Nabors when he throws out the hillbilly accent and sings in a natural and virile way, the hour was pretty much what you'd expect at a state fairground, but not much more. The collection of sketches, monlogues and songs wasn't very special, and overemphasized its corn.

It was the sort of hour that William Jennings Bryan would have loved. To draw a parallel, it was something like a male version of an old Judy Canova movie—and her films were not without their simple charm. I never miss them when they are rerun on the television.

Drug Claims Held False

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has ordered a halt in what it said was false and deceptive advertising claims for Geritol, a iron and vitamin preparation.

The FTC particularly took issue with claims that Geritol is a good energy restorer and can eliminate that tired, rundown feeling.

FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon said in an opinion that the evidence showed that tiredness is not a generally reliable indication of iron deficiency. In fact, he said, "there is little relationship between the tiredness symptoms and iron deficiency."

DINING OUT AND INNS

Sausalito Ark Opening Set; Bagpiper New Peacock Aide

Tuesday, Columbus Day, is the time now set for the opening of the Ark—new night spot at Waldo Point—on the old Charles Van Damme ferry boat.

Jim Varcados and his crew promise that it will be an attraction for Marinites and out-of-towners alike. "Open seven days a week" will be the schedule, with discotheque music Monday and Tuesday nights and the live music of George Duke and his group throughout the rest of the week from 9:30 p.m.

A smorgasbord lunch will be served throughout the week from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and a brunch on Sundays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Dinners are programmed for Thursdays through Sundays from 5 to 9:30 p.m. with the possibility that a potluck dinner on Wednesdays may be added to the schedule later.

At the beginning, the entire operation will be on the main deck. The upper "Discodeck" is not to open for about another month. There's still work to do there.

Chef at the Ark is Bill Hutchings, formerly at Orestes in San Francisco, and he has Jo Nelson with him—capable and experienced in the ways of proper food service. Jo will probably be arranging banquets on the Discodeck when that opens—more about that later.

Type of food to be served is "continental," according to Jim Varcados, albeit he winced at the use of the word, since it is much overworked these days. Still, it does refer to a certain type of cuisine which blends together the European and American. In time there'll probably be another term for it. Any suggestions?

Charlie Massie (formerly at Sam's in Tiburon) will be bar manager. The bar will be open daily from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m.

Room for parking—the area has been nicely blacktopped.

IF ALL THIS brings back memories of Juanita Musson and her problems aboard the Charles Van Damme trying to maintain Juanita's Galley, be advised that this good lady seems to be doing well in her location at El Verano in Sonoma County. I believe it has been just about a year since she opened there.

Juanita's is in the former Verdier Resort. I haven't managed to visit there yet, but I'm told it's a nice place. And it's owner, no doubt, is still her same sweet self—a character out of a book, a topic for conversation wherever tales are told. I wonder if the Valley of the Moon has taken her to its heart.

I am reminded that another resident of that area of about two generations ago is still remembered among the old-timers there for the same type of rugged, unpredictable personality. His name was Jack London.

NEW ASSISTANT MANAGER at Peacock Gap Country Club is bagpiper Gene Wallace—formerly beverage manager. Gene is a veteran of 12 years in the hotel, restaurant and catering business and has been popular at Peacock Gap since 1962—not only for his playin' o' the pipes, but for his geniality.

Peacock Gap is planning on a completely revised menu for luncheon and dinner. Suggested for the new fare are such things as extensive hors d'oeuvres selections (mousse, langoustine, oysters, crab, shrimp and other delectables)—also a variety of soups, salads and vegetables. And there will be an offering of several curry dishes by chef Walt Sturzenegger.

LAST WEEK's article on the pending sale of De La Montanya's in San Geronimo apparently has been taken by many to mean that the restaurant has already changed hands or is closed.

Not so. Dean and Irene De La Montanya are still conducting the operation and there is no way of knowing at this date just when the Brunals may be able to take over.

Golfers are finding it a good place for lunch since the new course in San Geronimo was opened. And there are some excellent dinner specials here—steamed cockles on Friday nights on the full dinner at $3.95—and all the bivalves you can eat. On Friday and Saturday nights there is the prime rib at $3.75.

JACY PARKER
New pianist at Alioto's

Brian Booth is the new featured pianist and vocalist Friday and Saturday nights. He's almost a one-man show with his instrumental imitations, but he has Tikki on the program with him. They ceem to keep the crowd happy.

MONDAY NIGHT will be grand opening night at Pier 16 in Sausalito, and there'll be hors d'oeuvres, refreshments and special entertainers to supplement Hawaiian pianist Lani who is regularly billed.

New owner Ann Guerry Benton, has had Pier 16 almost two months, but has done considerable renovating and redecorating, including the installation of a new piano bar. The place is open from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. seven days a week and food service is from 10 to 1.

There's a new menu, very diversified, with a fisherman's special and just about everything else from hot dogs to steaks.

Owner Guerry, by the way, is a graduate electronic engineer who developed a new type of speaker for sound systems that's proved successful. But she does her own managing at Pier 16 and you'll find her there most of the time.

ALSO ON MONDAY NIGHT—and particularly if you like Italian food and frolic, don't forget the "Fiesta Italiana," which last year brought in throngs to celebrate Columbus Day — at Nave Lanes in Ignacio.

Veal scallopini, stuffed veal, gnocchi, stuffed zucchini, salata a la Milanese, stuffed gallina—along with salami, panatoni, ravioli and antipastos there will be in ample quantities. Bill Nave Sr. acts as chef for the evening's music and merriment.

Price is $3 per person, but reservations must be made for one of these three times: 5:30, 7:30 or 9:30 p.m.

ALIOTO'S ARBORDALE in Sausalito will be swinging with the piano sounds of lovely young Jacy Parker, who has just completed several successful years in New York City and now wants to find out something about the west.

Her last appearance was at Basin Street East in New York and she has played for Verve Records. Manager Dick Walters of Alioto's reports that she'll be on every night—except Sundays and Mondays—from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Drop by and give her performance a whirl.

CONSTRUCTION WORK on Second Street, San Rafael, is really no handicap to getting close to Bill and Adolph's West End Villa. Most of the clutter that was previously objectionable has been removed from the front of the place—and there is parking in Dexter's lot at Fourth and Ida streets—only two blocks away and no walk at all.

Farm Hazards Higher Than Most Industry

NEW YORK (UPI)—The accident rate on farms is higher than that for any other major industry, except construction and mining, and about three times the accident death rate for industry as a whole, according to statisticians.

They estimate that in 1963 work accidents on farms in the United States took about 3,300 lives, mainly because of machinery mishaps. This is equivalent to a death rate of 67 per 100,000 workers.

Root Beer Bust Set In Belvedere

A "root beer bust" for Belvedere youngsters is set for tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Belvedere firehouse.

Most of the 25-member volunteer department plan to be on hand to serve root beer and popcorn to youngsters and show them around the firehouse as a climax to fire prevention week, volunteer Erwin Farley reported.

History Exhibit Open To Public

The historical collection of papers, pictures and artifacts of Alton Lerch have been installed as a public exhibit at his new insurance office in the former Perachiotti real estate office at Highway 101 and Grant Avenue in Novato.

Among the more interesting pictures are those of a great train wreck at 5:30 p.m., Aug 8, 1910. The wreck supposedly was caused because the crew of a freight train stopped at the Black Point Inn for refreshments and forgot the schedule of a northbound passenger train. The accident happened at the approximate location of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Well, not for every-body.
You have to be 21 and come over to Sam's in Tiburon to get it.
And, if you find fulfillment in the works of Edgar Guest, Paul Harvey, Daddy Warbucks, Jane Addams, Norman Rockwell, and Henry Doelger... you might prefer to stick with Sam's tried and true Burger & Beer.
But if a spark of the bon vivant burns in your soul, your taste will be abundantly rewarded with this bizarre combination.

That would be Sam's in Tiburon.

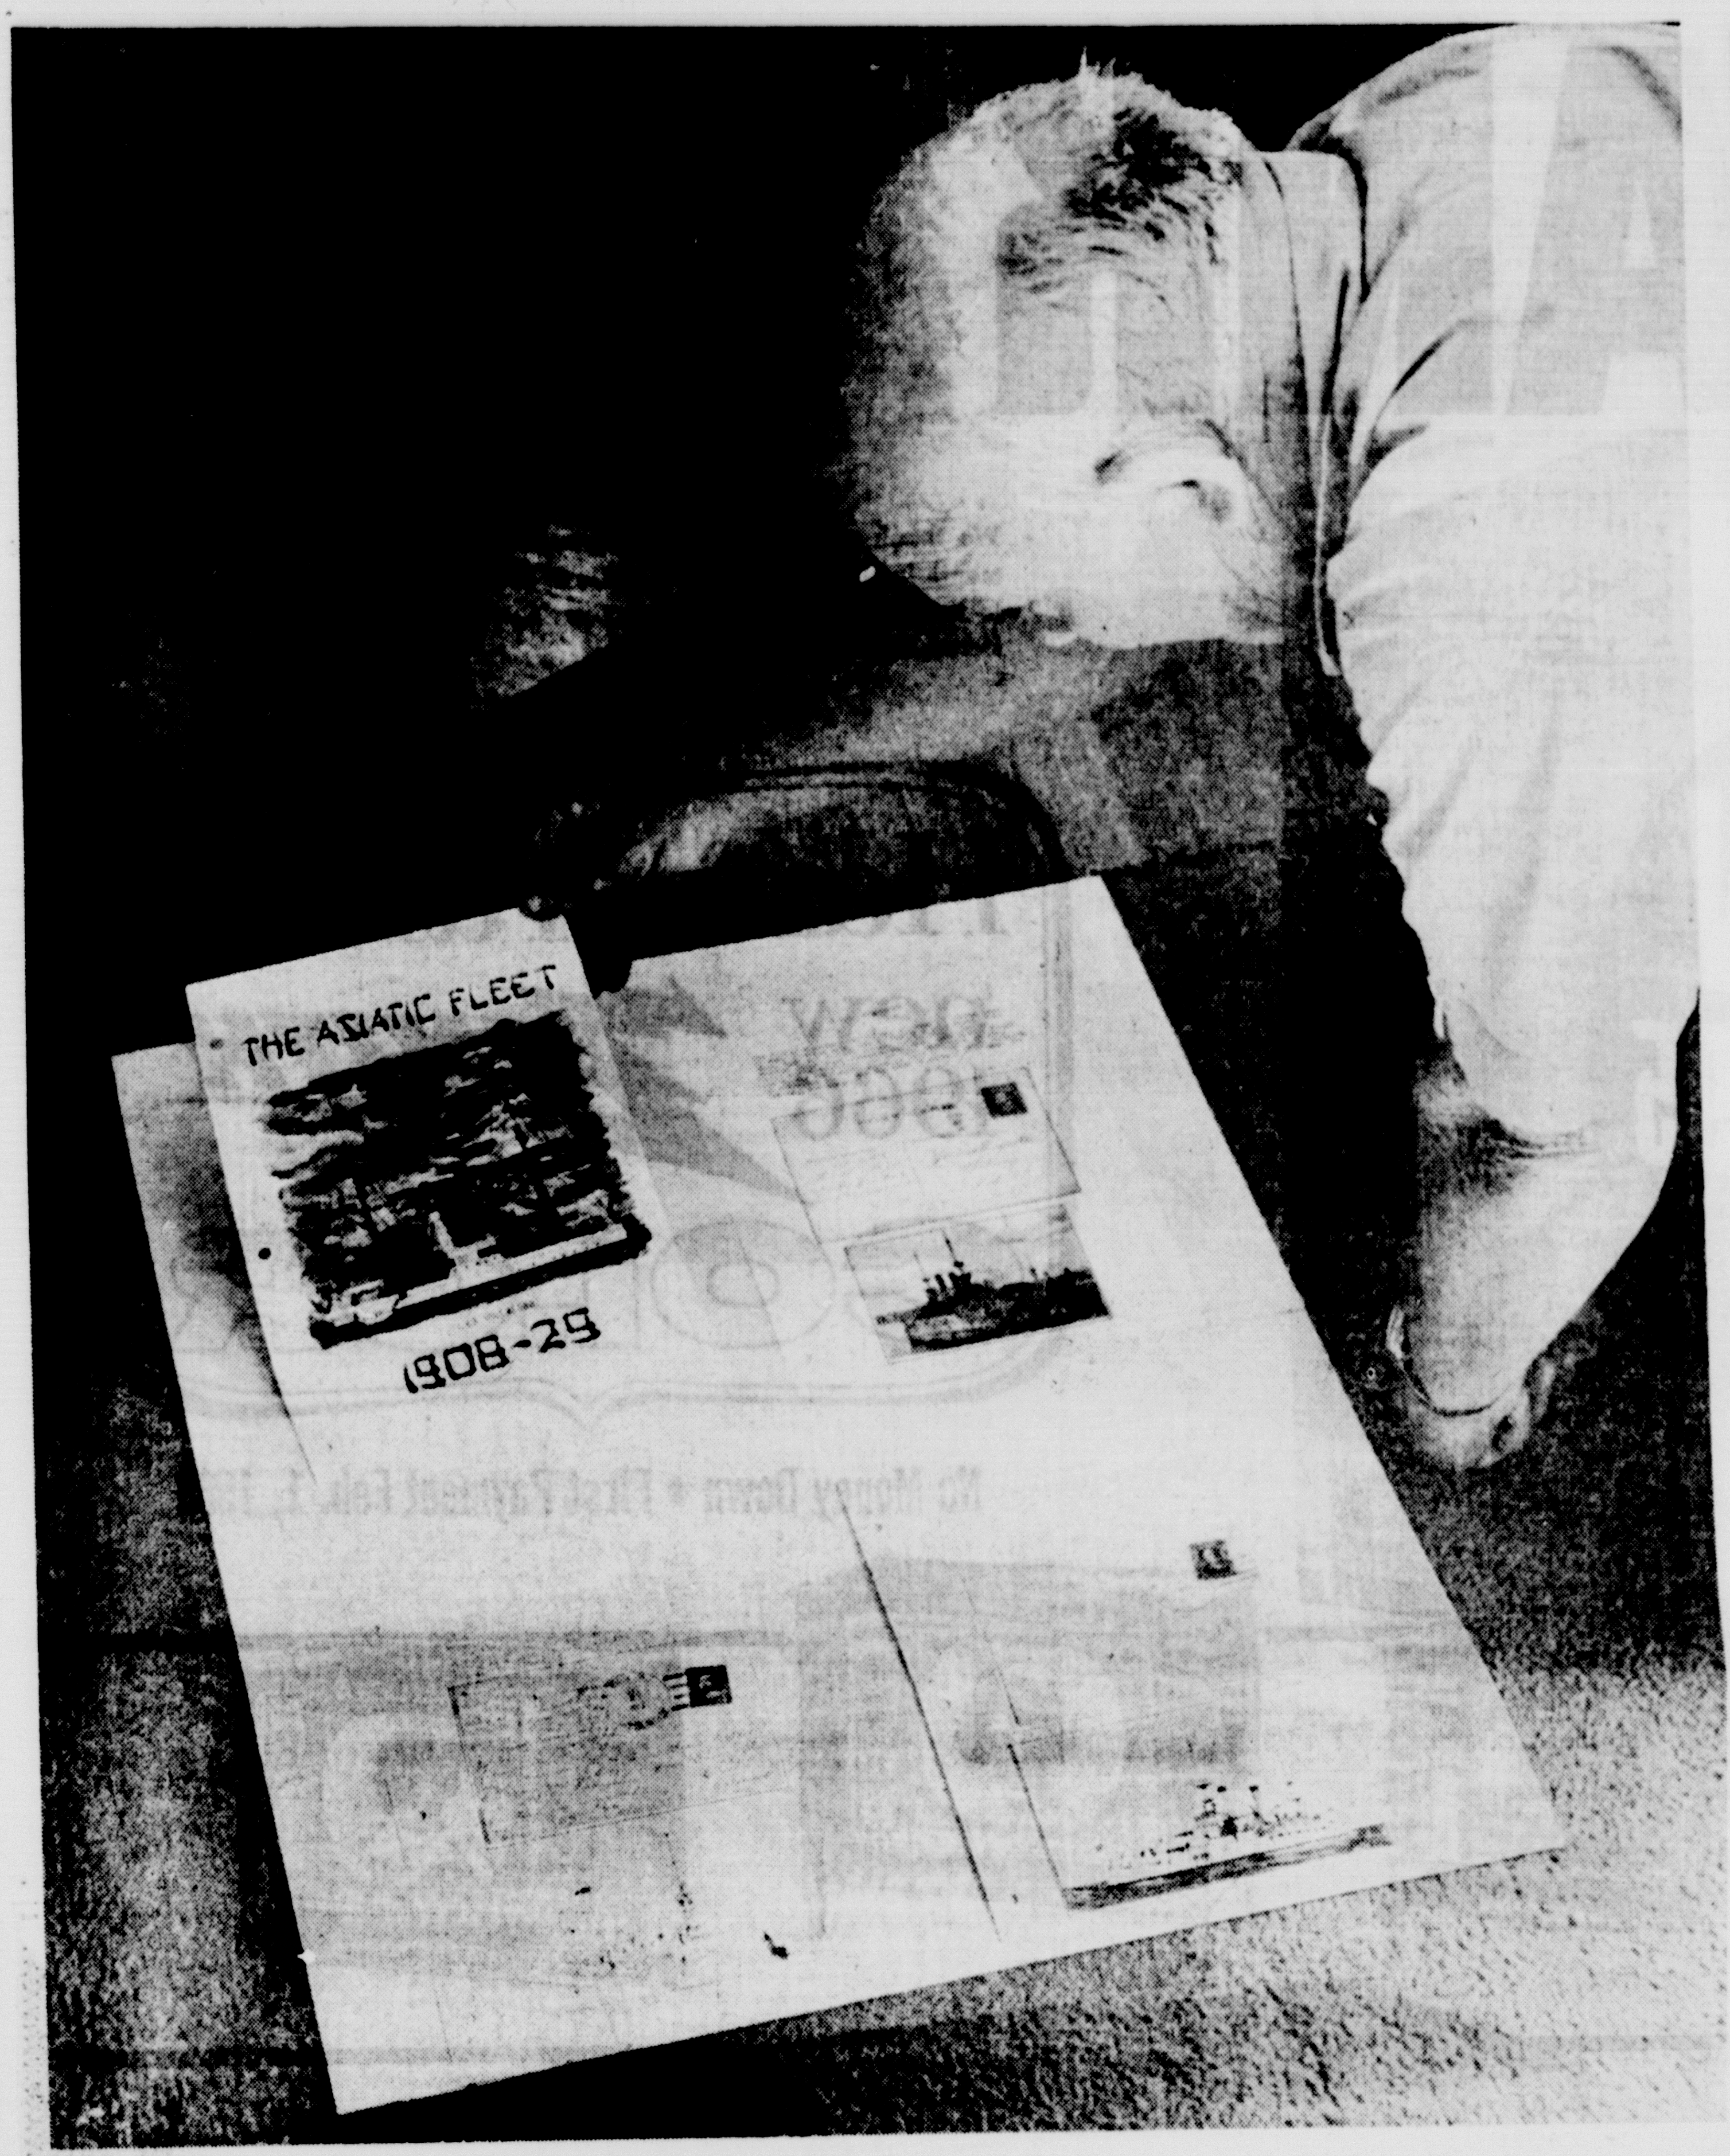
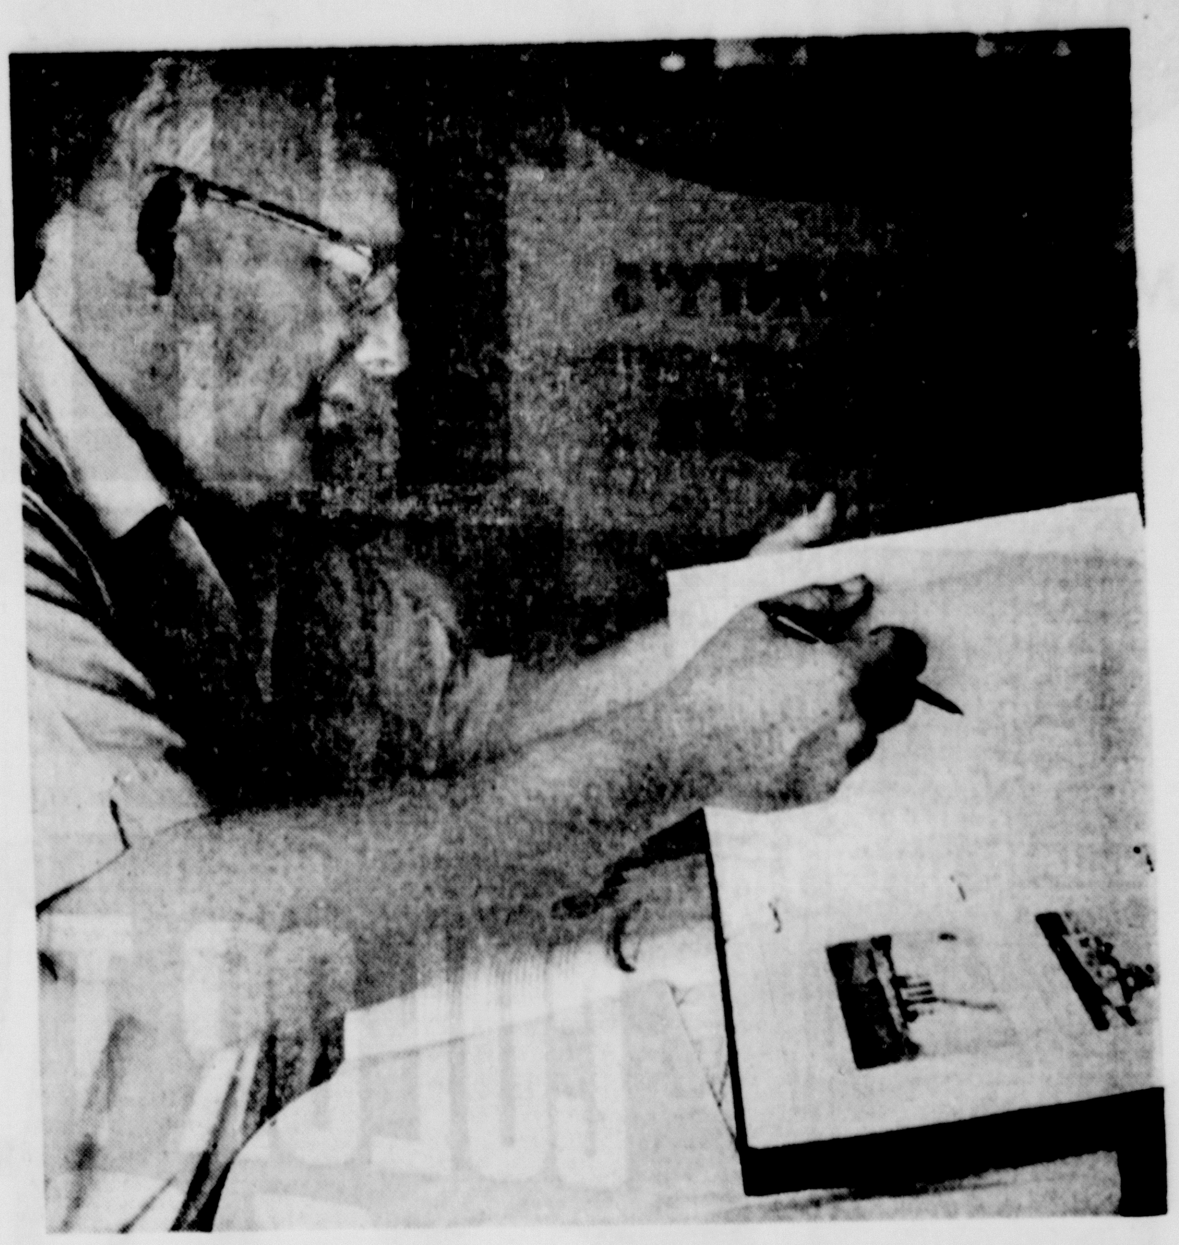
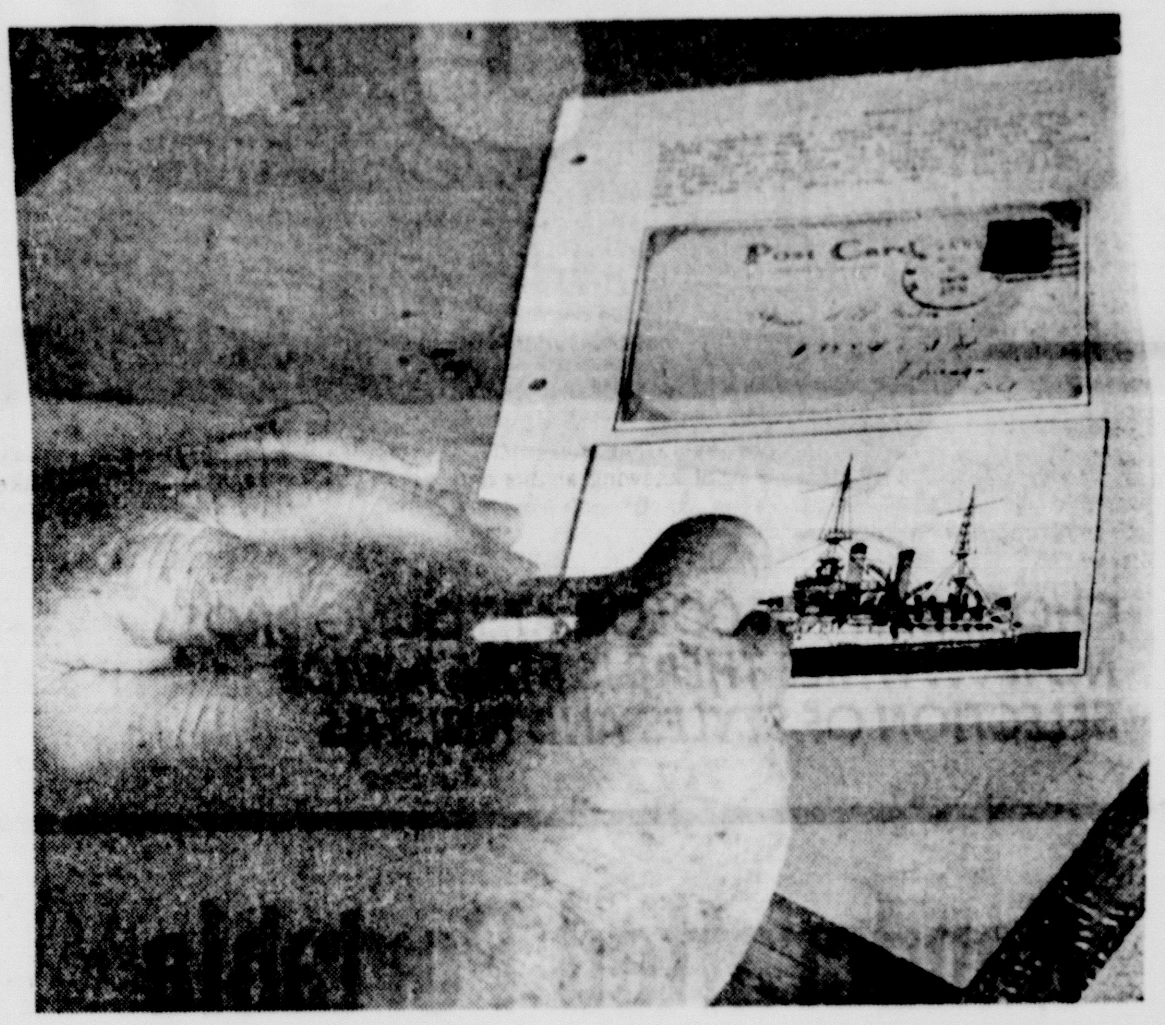
Navy Ships 'Live' in Marinite's Stamp Exhibit Frames



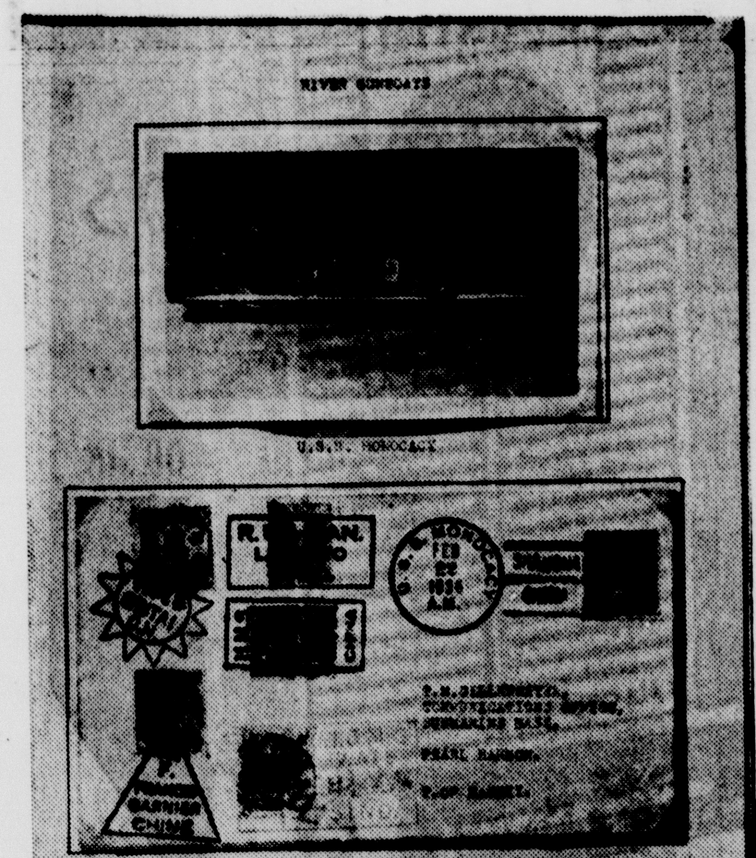
PREPARING FOR EXHIBIT—Donald M. McPherson of Corte Madera lays out pages from his naval "covers" collection in preparation for a stamp exhibition. McPherson specializes in collecting postcards and envelopes (covers) mailed from ships in the Asiatic fleet between 1908, when ships were granted the right to have their own post offices, and 1929. McPherson was in the Navy as a chief photographer's mate during World War II and the Korean War. He is now retired from his job as a gardener for the City and County of San Francisco and is devoting his time to his collection, which has won prizes in nation-wide philatelic competitions. He was the principal organizer of the Tamalpais Stamp Club and will be succeeded as its president by Ralph Bender of San Anselmo at a "birthday party" meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in room 118 of Redwood High School.



RESEARCH — Donald McPherson leafs through one of the books he has filled with notes and postcards of old ships. Reference books aid in preparing his exhibits for competition, as each exhibit sheet contains a card or letter with a postmark from a ship, a picture of the ship and a brief history of it. His library has a wide range of books on ships.

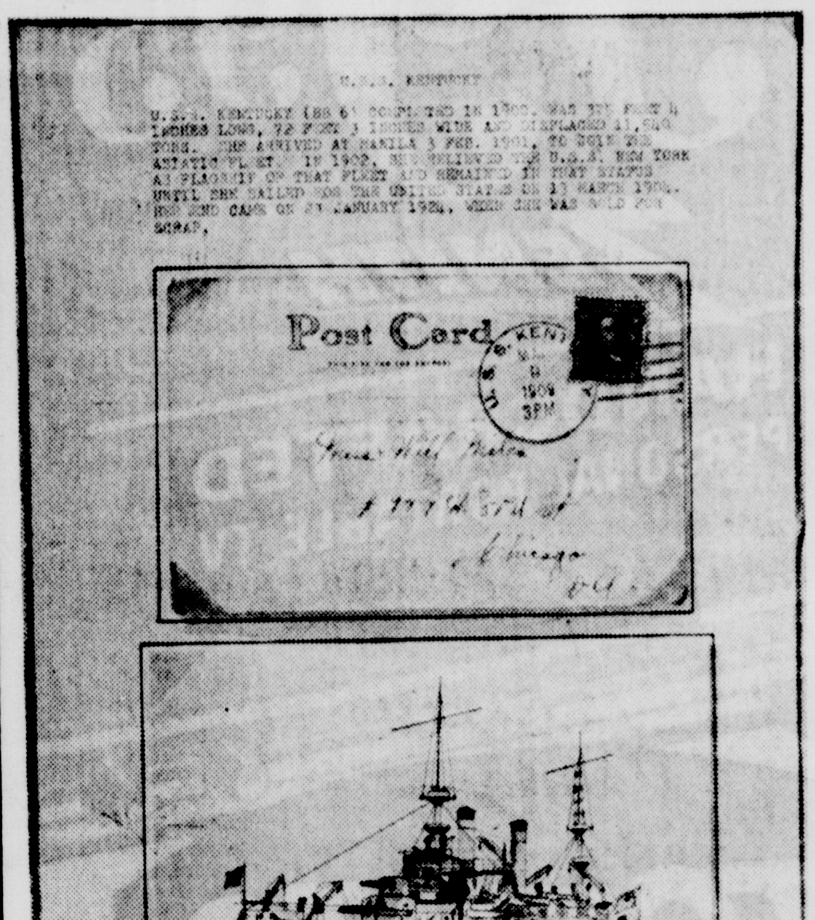


ARTIST—McPherson puts the finishing touches on his drawing of the USS Kentucky. He searches antique and junk shops, U.S. archives and the Naval Library for information on old Navy ships and photos of them. He started collecting stamps as a youth and returned to the hobby about three years ago.



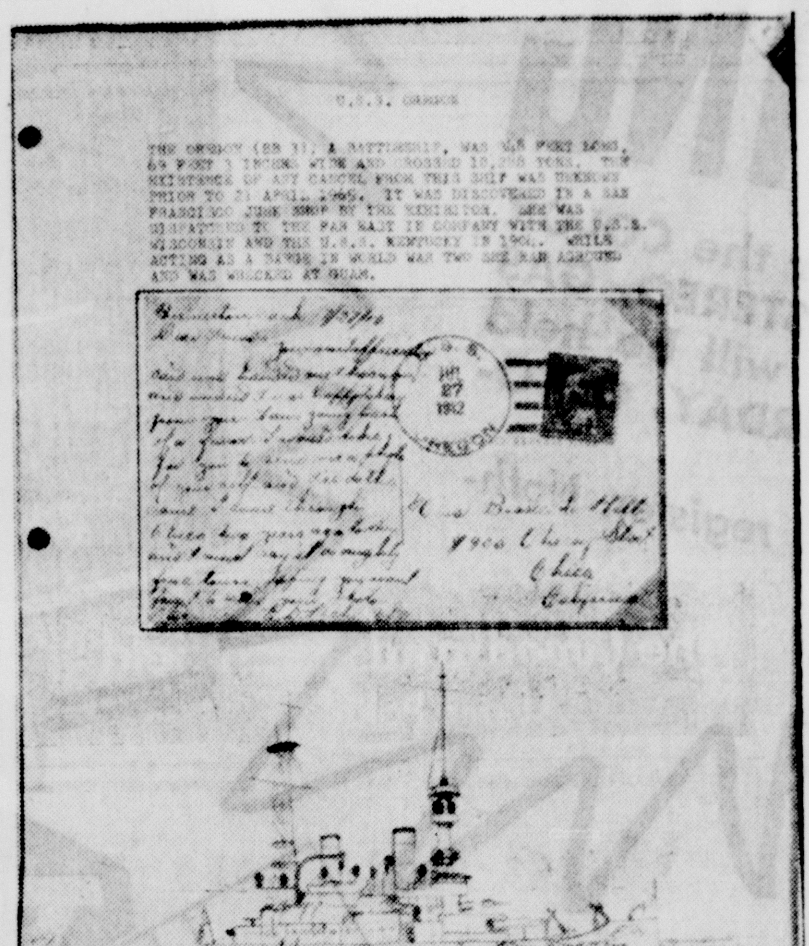
U.S.S. MONOCACY
PEARL HARBOR

MULTI-LINGUAL STAMPS—The mail clerk aboard the USS Monocacy, offshore of Shanghai in 1936, placed already-used stamps from Italy, Great Britain, China, France, Japan on this envelope and went aboard ships of those countries to gain cancellations. The resulting "cover" is among unusual ones in the McPherson collection.

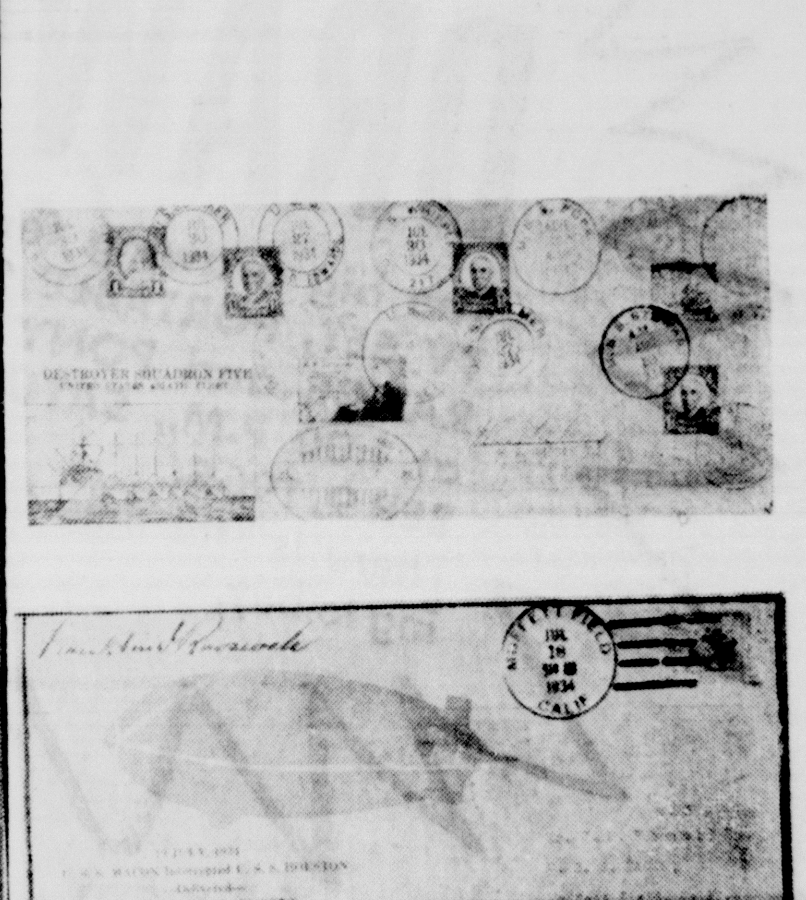


U.S.S. KENTUCKY
Post Card

USS KENTUCKY—McPherson treasures this postcard from the USS Kentucky, mailed in 1909. The ship joined the Asiatic fleet in 1901 and became fleet flagship. She was sold for scrap in 1924.



COLLECTION PRIZE—This is the only known cancellation from the USS Oregon. McPherson found the letter in a San Francisco junk shop. It is valued at "whatever the market will bear," he said. The Oregon was in the Far East from 1904 until World War II.



DESTROYER SQUADRON FIVE

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

If You're Ever Truly Dry-Eyed, Lacriman Glands Are In Trouble

VAN DELLEN

Tears are manufactured in the small lacrimal glands that lie along the outer and upper edge of each orbit. The tireless structures produce a salty fluid that keeps the eyes moist and clean 24 hours a day. Irritation increases the flow and a sad occasion may lead to a flood. This strange link between the lacrimal apparatus and our emotions never has been explained satisfactorily.

THE EYES also have an efficient drainage system located on the nasal side of the seeing apparatus. Tears escape through a set of tiny openings on the upper and lower lid margins and into a one-third inch pipeline to reach the lacrimal sac. This is best described as a wide elbow in a plumbing system that permits the tears to run into the nose. This explains why the nose becomes congested after crying, although in some, tears are so voluminous that the drainage system cannot handle the flow and the excess rolls down the cheeks.

Most of us never give this apparatus a second thought until something goes amiss. Too few tears result in dryness and burning. The eyes become sensitive to light, vision is impaired, and a stringy, mucous discharge develops. There is nothing to do except instill a saline solution at frequent intervals as a substitute for the scanty tears.

EXCESSIVE tearing occurs when the eyes are irritated by a speck of dust, wind, smoke, and bright light. The elderly are bothered along this line by cold weather. It also occurs in highly nervous individuals, caused perhaps by a physical stimulation of the gland.

Now and then there is an interference with drainage. The blockage usually is caused by inflammation of the lacrimal sac or duct. Some children come into the world with defects of the drainage mechanism, but these are easily recognized and correctable.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if a stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

REPLY

Foods rich in oxalates are spinach, potatoes, beans, endive, tomatoes, dried figs, plums, strawberries, rhubarb, cocoa, chocolate, and tea. Prevention also includes drinking large amounts of water. The abdomen should be X-rayed every year to determine whether a new stone has formed. If so, a chelating agent might be used to erode the calculus.

FLU ATTACKS

F.T. writes: Can a person have more than one attack of influenza in the flu season?

REPLY

Yes, because three types of viruses and several subtypes are capable of producing influenza and immunity to one does not necessarily lead to immunity to another. On the other hand, second bouts in one season are unusual because a single virus usually is responsible for most attacks during a given year.

Scientists Synthetize Vitzl Acid Of Genes

By CHARLES SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Scientists have gained an important new glimpse into the way life duplicates itself.

For the first time they apparently have assembled the complete machinery for synthetizing the stuff of viral genes, rebonucleic acid, or RNA.

There is RNA in the cells of man and higher animals, too. It works in partnership with desoxyribonucleic acid, or DNA, the blueprint of life.

RNA is what transmits the details of the DNA message and constructs new life step by step from the nutrients taken in by the body.

But some viruses are able to reproduce directly without the need of DNA. It was one of these RNA viruses which University of Illinois scientists used in making test-tube carbon copies.

In reporting the work in the September issue of the "Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences," Prof. Sol Spiegelman said:

"Until now we searched indirectly. It was like fumbling blindly inside a black box. Now we can know what to do."

The researchers used a virus called a bacteriophage, which infects bacteria. In this case the bacteria was e. coli, which grows freely in human intestinal tracts.

They ground up infected colonies of bacteria. Then they chemically squeezed out and separated the viral RNA, the stuff of genes. This was mixed in a test tube to which was added an enzyme needed to activate the RNA.

Spiegelman said the brew was dunked in an ice bath, filtered and washed seven times.

This concentration was thinned to a remarkable dilution by being passed through 15 test tubes. Less than a full molecule of the original RNA showed up in the final mixture. Yet this fragment, when put back with a new colony of e. coli bacteria, reproduced identical viruses.

Air Defense Official Hosts Missile Parley

Maj. Gen. Andrew R. Lolli, commander of the 28th North American Air Defense Command and commanding general of the Sixth Region Army Air Defense Command at Fort Baker, was host this week to the semi-annual air defense commanders conference in Los Angeles.

The conference purpose, Army officers reported, was to review the effectiveness of guided missile units such as those at Fort Baker and consider future air defense plans.

Actress Going Home Next Week

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Dorothy Malone, who nearly died two weeks ago, will go home next week.

Miss Malone, the star of the television series, "Peyton Place," and winner of an Academy Award, underwent seven hours of surgery for blood clots on the arteries of her lungs. Thursday, doctors at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital listed her condition as "good."

School Bond Office Slated

A citizens committee for the Tamalpais High School District bond campaign will be in operation Monday at 476 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

Committee chairman Dewitt K. MacDonald Jr. said the office space was donated by realty broker Maggi Walker. In charge of staffing and equipping the office is Jack L. Mengel of Corte Madera.

Mrs. John McGee and Mrs. John Rakow, both of Ross, will head a speakers' bureau for the campaign. Mrs. McGee is a member of the Ross School District Board.

Voters are being asked at a Nov. 16 election to approve $5,750,000 in bonds to build the first phase of a new school in San Geronimo Valley and complete Redwood High School in Larkspur.

New Design Sought For Meetings

Sausalito School District trustees will discuss at an 8:30 p.m. Monday meeting a policy whereby the meeting on the fourth Monday of the month would be devoted to curriculum first and business second, and the second meeting of the month would have business first, curriculum second.

The board will meet at 8:30 instead of 8 p.m. because of open houses being held at district schools that evening.

Trustees will consider whether to reduce first grade class loads, now about 26. They will consider an application for federal money for compensatory education activities.

They will hear a plan by the staff whereby food will be taken from Richardson Bay School cafeteria to Bayside School pupils instead of, as now, the first grades from Bayside being transported to central school cafeteria and back at noon.

A flying dragon, one of the lizard family, is able to glide from tree to tree because it is equipped with a fold of loose skin from either side of the body. This is extensible, giving the appearance of flying.

'Save The Seal' Benefit Planned For Monday Night

Fans of the disintegrating stone seal on Sausalito's waterfront will meet Monday at Zack's-by-the-Bay, Bridgeway and Turney Street, to eat and drink to a new, more permanent lion.

Many will come via boat via Harbor Tours from San Francisco leaving pier 43½ at 7 p.m. and returning at 10:30 p.m.

The fifth annual Sausalito Foundation Night, with all benefits to be used to "save the seal," will start at 6 p.m. There will be entertainment and a buffet. A banjo band, the Strugglers, will entertain passengers on the boat, Harbor Queen.

Tickets are available at several shops in Sausalito and at Zack's, according to Alice T. Williams, publicity chairman.

Al E. Sybrian, Muir Beach sculptor, donated the stone sea lion to Sausalito in 1957 but, due to attrition of the tides, it has lost its figure. A "more permanent" lion is to be cast for the same rocky location at the edge of Bridgeway near Tiffany Beach.

Nation's Joblessness At Eight-Year Low

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Unemployment in the United States fell below 3 million in September for the first time in eight years, the Labor Department said yesterday.

The number of jobless Americans declined by 383,000 to 2,875,000 last month. It was the lowest monthly total since October, 1957.

Senator Attacks Reserve Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., charged Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara yesterday with ignoring the mandate of Congress against scuttling the Army Reserves.

In a Senate speech, Stennis protested the McNamara announcement last week that 55,000 trained Army Reservists in "low priority units" would be deactivated.

He questioned the accuracy of McNamara's statements that Senate leaders "received the plan favorably."

Most of them had not even been consulted, Stennis said.

Welfare Recipients May Keep Payments

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly unanimously passed legislation yesterday permitting about 200,000 California welfare recipients to keep $7 million in retroactive social security payments.

The bill, by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, went to the Senate.

JIM MURRAY'S WORLD SERIES REPORT

The Rain Didn't Stop The Dodgers

By JIM MURRAY

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL—Among the five or six hundred things I had hoped not to do in my lifetime is watch another ball game in the rain. It ranks right along with not stepping on a Corbra, not answering the phone after midnight and not telling your wife to do something about her hair.

Among other things, it brings Ford Frick, the commisisoner of baseball, face to face with a decision. He never calls a game unless the left-fielder drowns or the second baseman comes in for a snorkel.

The rain doesn't bother the Dodgers. They don't hit in it, either. Meteorology doesn't bother them except they have to hope it comes on a day Don Drysdale is pitching. Saves him the trouble of spitting.

It doesn't help Sandy Koufax at all. It's as little help to him as his cleanup hitter.

Rain or shine, there is a moment in a Koufax-pitched game I relish. That's when his first couple of pitches come whistling in to a batter who has never seen him before. They get this same stricken look on their faces Joe Louis' opponents used to get when he hung that first left hook on them. At first, it's disbelief. Then they turn to the umpire with a "Well, did he throw it? Or did I just imagine I saw something go by here?" Ball players who strike out always go back to the dugout muttering "He hasn't got a thing." With Koufax, they spot a teammate lugging a bat to the on-deck circle and they say "You won't need that." Or when a teammate asks, "What's he throwing?" They answer" I dunno. The crowd was making so much noise I couldn't hear."

The Twins pitched their cool Kaat—Jim, the left-hander, that is. The Twins got to Koufax pretty good. The count went to 3-and-2 on a couple of batters in the first three innings. Jim Kaat tried to bunt in the third inning but by the time he got the bat out there it was strike three.

It had to be the wettest Athletic contest ever held outside of an Olympic pool. A Hall-of-Fame named "Nossek," Joseph Rudolph Nossek, got the first hit. His family may want to bronze the ball. Of course, Koufax would have been better

WORLD SERIES THRILL TOO MUCH FOR JUNIOR

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Pitcher Jim Kaat of the Minnesota Twins breezed through in good style yesterday as the Twins beat Los Angeles 5-1 in the second game of the World Series, but his son couldn't take the excitement.

Jim Jr., 4, became ill during the game and had to have treatment in the Metropolitan Stadium first aid room, where his temperature was checked at 101 degrees. He had stomach flu.

"I think it was just too much excitement," said Mrs. Kaat.

A Kiss Of Death For 49ers; San Rafael's Milkman Cometh

KISS OF DEATH: The San Francisco 49ers received sportsdom's supreme hex this week—a cover story in Sports Illustrated. Which means our beloved Prospectors should go into a disastrous tailspin any moment now.

JOHN LLOYD BALZAN is just a typical American teen-ager—with two exceptions: He is the only boy in Marin County who has his surname plastered all over milk cartons; and he's quite possibly the best and toughest lineman in local high school football.

As the son of prominent Marin dairyman Steve Balzan, John gets plenty of publicity around the county's supermarkets. Housewives know the name well. Balzan is prominently displayed in quarts and half-gallons.

But on a football field, John Lloyd Balzan is packaged in a 6-2, 195-pound container that creates considerable havoc among opponents of his San Rafael Bulldogs, for whom he plays defensive end and offensive tackle.

SAYS BALZAN'S coach, easy-going Bob Muster: "I've been here at San Rafael since 1958 and John is as good as anyone we've ever had." That covers considerable territory, for San Rafael has produced some great linemen in the past seven years, notably Kent Francisco, Ron Snidow, Chris Yeager and Jack Clark.

Muster goes even further: "On defense John has no peer in Marin. He averages 15 or 16 stops a game. Against Montgomery, a pretty tough team, he made 12 stops, 3 assists, blocked a punt and recovered 3 fumbles. Last week against Tam he made 15 stops and recovered a fumble."

IT SHOULD be noted that on the morning of the Tam game the San Rafael star had stomach flu, but fought off the bug to do or die for San Rafael High.

"John," continues Muster, "is the type of player who just won't quit in his pursuit of the ball carrier. He'll fight off two or three blockers to get at the ball. Wherever there's a pileup he's usually at the bottom.

"LAST YEAR we sent some game films to University of Washington coaches who'd shown interest in John, then a junior. Their reply was, 'We'll take him right now.' He's definitely a fine college prospect."

The 17-year-old Balzan still has a lot of high school football left in him. He should be given strong consideration for the Shrine North-South game in Los Angeles next July and is a virtual cinch to be picked for the North-South Marin All-Star game next Aug. 25.

Meantime, if you attend tonight's San Rafael-Redwood game, pay special attention to Bulldog No. 72, particularly on defense. You can't miss him. Like his dad's product, he has "QUALITY" written all over him.

GOOD CAUSE: The Cellars cocktail lounge of San Rafael is sponsoring a golf tourney Monday at Peacock Gap with proceeds going to Marin Aid to Retarded Children. Tee-off time is 10 a.m. to noon, late entries will be accepted and the $20 entry fee covers greens fees, prizes, a buffet party at the Cellars. And a ray of light in a clouded young mind.

Fantastic U.S. Golf Comeback

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — A pair of fantastic come backs today gave the United States forces a one-point edge after the morning round of the four-ball foursomes in the Ryder Cup golf matches.

The U.S. pros won two of the morning's four matches and halved another to give them a 6½-5½ margin at the halfway mark of the biennial three-day event.

Don January of Dallas, Tex., and Tommy Jacobs of Denver, Colo., playing despite a pulled back muscle, starred in the match that gave the U.S. the lead at the luncheon break. Four down at the turn, they beat Dave Thomas and George Will by a single hole.

Their score was a 69 over the 7,037-yard Royal Birkdale course, where par is 35-36—73.

Billy Casper and Gene Littler, both from San Diego, won the last four holes of their match with Lionel Platts and Peter Butler for a half. Both the British and the Americans posted a 69.

PALMER-MARR

Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., and Dave Marr of New Rochelle, N.Y., came in with the first victory of the day, defeating Christy O'Connor and Peter Allis 6 and 4 on some spectacular putting by the Americans.

Perhaps the most exciting match of the morning round was the 1 up triumph of Bernard Hunt and Neil Coles over Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C., and Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif.

It was Hunt who gave the British the victory in this match. One up as they teed off on the final hole, Hunt hooked his second shot and the ball rolled dead near a railing built to restrain the gallery. But he sent his third over the railing and two deep traps to within 12 feet of the pin. Then he sank the putt for a half on the hole that preserved the British edge in the duel.

Four more four-ball foursomes will be played today and the competition, started in 1927 to foster match play among the professional golfers of the United States and Great Britain, will be concluded Saturday with 16 singles. The teams divided Thursday's eight two-ball foursmes evenly.

The U.S. has won the huge trophy 12 times and Great Britain only three, the last in 1957.

The Mouse Roared

By MIKE RATHET

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Minnesota's Jim (Kitty) Kaat turned out to be the mouse that roared.

A definite underdog when he took the mound against Los Angeles' peerless Sandy Koufax in a battle of left-handers yesterday, Kaat not only outpitched the Dodger dandy but revealed after the game that he hadn't even looked at the scouting reports.

And, like a poor man's Koufax, he admitted that he also has to pack his arm in ice, or cold water, after pitching because of a problem with tendonitis in his forearm.

"I pitched according to my strength," said the quiet-spoken Kaat in the Twins' dressing room after he had limited the Dodgers to seven singles in a 5-1 victory.

"No, I didn't look at the scouting reports. I'm a low ball pitcher, and I knew they were low ball batters so it's strength vs. strength.

"I actually prefer not to go over scouting reports because I think then you have a tendency to try and pitch too fine. And I'm not a spot pitcher. I'm better off just throwing strikes."

You really mean that, someone asked, and the mouse roared:

"Yeh, I figured let them look at my scouting report and worry about me."

What about matching pitches with Koufax?

"I think pitching against Koufax takes the pressure off you," he said, again startling listeners who stared up to see if there was a smile on his face. "Look, he's the greatest. Nobody expected me to beat him, so why should I feel any pressure.

"All I told myself was he has to beat me between the foul lines—that's where the game is played. But I'll tell you this: I tried not to let the fact that I was pitching against him bother me, but when I saw him throwing the first inning I was afraid to give up a run."

Twins Favored By 5-13 Odds

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The strong showing of the Minnesota Twins, good enough for two World Series victories, is also good enough to make the team a World Series favorite.

Two bookmakers here male the Twins 5-13 and 5-14 favorites to defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers.

But the same bookmakers are giving 5-7 for the Dodgers to win the third game Saturday, the first at Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Dawson Wins Tourney

Mrs. E. N. Dawson was Tray Day winner yesterday at the Marin Country Club golf tourney, stroking a 91-19—72. Mrs. William Wieland and Mrs. John McVey tied for low putt honors, each with 28.

Class winners:

Class A—Mrs. Aubrey Babson, 83-10—73; Mrs. John McVey, 87-14—73; Mrs. William Wieland, 89-15—74; Mrs. Jesse Long, 89-15—74.

Class B — Mrs. Mel Bleadon, 97-23—74; Mrs. Carl Johnson, 98-23—75; Mrs. Edward Abramson, 99-20—79; Mrs. Henry Helbig, 99-20—79.

Class C—Mrs. James Parris, 101-28—73; Mrs. Wallace Wold, 99-25—74; Mrs. Harry Flachs, 101-26—75; Mrs. Walter Goldman, 102-26—76.

Dodgers' Osteen Hurls Tomorrow

By JOE REICHLER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Brimming with confidence after beating the Dodgers' fearsome pitching pair of Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax, the victorious Minnesota Twins expressed confidence today they can add nemesis Claude Osteen to their list of victims when the World Series resumes tomorrow in Los Angeles.

Halfway to the World Championship after beating Koufax 5-1 at Minnesota yesterday on top of their opening 8-2 defeat of dale, the Twins were even dreaming of a four-game sweep, predicted earlier by Los Angeles General Manager Buzzie Bavasi—but by the Dodgers.

"I'd love to sweep," said Twins' Manager Sam Mele, "but they're a tough outfit, and you've got to play heads up all the time. I've been telling you guys we're pretty tough, too."

Perhaps the toughest assignment of the Series goes to Camilo Pascual, the Twins' righthander who is slated to open in Los Angeles following today's off day for travel.

Not only will the American League champions be playing in the Dodgers' home park, but the Twins' record against the Angels there has been nothing to Drysdale, the Twins were even write home about.

Minnesota's batting average for nine games at Dodger stadium during the regular season was less than .200. They hit only one home run at Dodger Stadium all year.

In addition, left-hander Osteen was exceptionally tough for the Twins during his years with the Washington Senators. The 26-year-old southpaw, traded to Los Angeles last winter, holds five victories over the Twins without a defeat. He was 15-15 in the N.L. this year. Pascual was 9-3 in the A.L.

"We've hit Claude in some of the games," said Harmon Killebrew, the Twins' third baseman and home run king. "Maybe we can again."

Billy Martin, the Twins' third base coach, reminded that the Twins are a different team from the one Osteen beat so consistently.

"We used to rely almost solely on the home run," said Martin. "Now we depend upon speed and defense in addition to power."

The Twins beat Koufax without hitting a home run. The big blows were Tony Oliva's sixth-inning double, which drove in the Twins' first run, a clutch run-scoring single by Killebrew and Zoilo Versalles' triple that led to a run in the seventh. Kaat helped his cause with a two-run, bases-loaded single in the eighth.

The Twins hit two home runs to one for the Dodgers in the opener.

Martin conceded that the Dodgers would be tougher at home.

"It's going to be tough to sweep a team like the Dodgers," he said. "The Los Angeles ball park is suited to their pitching staff.

"If we were playing the Giants and we had just beaten Juan Marichal instead of Koufax, I would say we'd be thinking of a sweep. The Giants' pitching staff does not compare to that of the Dodgers."

Pascual, who missed seven weeks because of back trouble, was an interested dugout spectator during the Twins' first two triumphs. Did he think he learned something while watching Jim Grant and Jim Kaat tame the Dodgers hitters?

"The only way to learn is to go to the mound and do your own job," said the 31-year-old Cuban. "No two pitchers are alike. Grant pitches one way, Kaat another and neither pitches the way I do."

Koufax, a 26-game winner during the regular season, didn't pitch badly. He permitted six hits in six innings, striking out nine.

"I didn't feel I had it," said the stylish southpaw. "If my control would have been good, I might have gotten away with it, but it wasn't."

Walter Alston, the Dodger manager, agreed with his pitching ace.

"I've seen Sandy better," he said.

Alston added: "I'll be glad when we change ball parks. I know we'll have better weather, and I hope we can score more runs."

Alston emphasized, however, he was not seeking any alibis because of the weather.

"They just outplayed us," he said. "They deserved to win."

The Dodgers manager recalled that in 1955 the then Brooklyn Dodgers dropped two games behind and came back to defeat the New York Yankees in the Series.

Three other teams came back to win after losing the first two games. They were the 1921 New York Giants, the 1956 Yankees and the 1958 Yankees.

Indians, USC Cal Favored

Odds - makers have installed Southern California a four-point favorite over Washington in their crucial Pacific Eight game at Seattle tomorrow, Stanford a one - point choice over Oregon in a battle of undefeated teams at Stanford and California a seven-point pick over the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

In other games involving Pacific Eight schools, Oregon State is rated even against Northwestern at Evanston, Ill.; UCLA is a five-point underdog to Syracuse, and Washington State is a 14-point choice over Villanova.

Stanford Is Slim Choice Over Ducks

Battle Of Unbeatens In Conference Opener

STANFORD (UPI)—Oregon's Ducks, oozing confidence to go with power, seek to bring Len Casanova his 101st victory as a college coach tomorrow when they face Stanford in the Pacific Eight opener for both schools.

Despite the Webfoots' record of three wins in as many games, the Indians have been installed one point choices for the contest. Stanford had to rally for a 17-16 win over the Air Force Academy last week while Oregon methodically was defeating Brigham Young, 27-14.

An Oregon spokesman said afterward that his team "frittered away several scoring opportunities." In other games this year, Oregon downed Pitt, 17-15, after a rally and bested Utah, 31-14.

Stanford opened the season by trouncing San Jose State 26-6 then settled for a 7-7 tie with Navy before getting a scare from an Air Force squad which was depleted by a cheating scandal.

Stanford received a shock this week when Bob Blunt, its best pass receiver, underwent knee surgery after being injured against the Falcons. He is out for the year, leaving coach John Ralston with a bad hole at halfback. The job may be filled by Phil Humphreys, who has had almost no game experience but was impressive in spring practice.

Dave Lewis, a full-blooded Indian who also operates as a bona fide triple threater, will be Stanford's starting quarterback as usual. Oregon will go either with Tom Trovato or Mike Brundage. There has been a lively battle between the pair so far this year for the fulltime quarterback job.

Oregon currently stands fourth nationally in total offense with 1,235 yards gained for an average of 411.7 per contest. The Ducks stand second in passing offense, having hit on 57 per cent of their tosses for 784 yards.

The expected attendance is around 40,000. Game time was set back to 3 p.m. to avoid a conflict with the World Series telecasts.

Cal Bears Tackle Dangerous Airmen

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — If the thrice-beaten Air Force Academy football team breaks into the victory column when it plays the University of California here Saturday, one of the reasons will be Bob Barnes, 6-foot, 195-pound wingback.

Barnes, who was playing junior varsity ball last year, has scored in all three of the Falcons' games so far.

His most spectacular feat was a 98-yard runback of a kickoff by Stanford for a touchdown last weekend. He is the Falcons' leading scorer with 18 points.

In the opening against Wyoming, Barnes got his touchdown on a 56-yard pass play and against Nebraska he scored from the six, whipping around end after taking a pitchout from quarterback Paul Stein.

Air Force Coach Ben Martin describes Barnes as a man who is capable of handling a wobbly ball and who has the composure to grab a punt or kickoff when tacklers are bearing down on him.

He has drawn the duty almost exclusively because Martin is reluctant to have Guy Hogle—who originally was scheduled for the job—take chances of aggravating an injured finger. Hogle is a flanker end.

The Falcons will go against California without a defensive stalwart they had counted on—Don Heckert. He underwent an operation for an inflamed appendix at the academy hospital Wednesday and will be out of action for at least three weeks. Heckert was out of the Stanford game due to a leg injury suffered against Nebraska.

The Air Force will use Art Fisher, a junior at the middle guard spot against California and Carl Richardson and Cal Hopper will work at the tackle positions. Hopper was out a week with injuries after the Nebraska game.

California has a record of 1-2 for the season. The Bears got into the win column with a 17-0 victory over Kansas last Saturday.

Raiders Vs. Pats(ies) In Boston

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Patriots entertain the Oakland Raiders tonight at Fenway Park, still seeking their first American Football League victory and hopeful that fullback Larry Garron's return will help them achieve the goal.

The Patriots, who had been expected to challenge Buffalo for the Eastern Division championship, have the worse offense in the league primarily because they have had no running game.

With Garron's return, Boston expects to add more punch to its running game and take some of the pressure off quarterback Babe Parilli. The Boston signal caller, who threw more touchdown passes than any other pro passer last fall, has thrown only two scoring passes in four games this season and has had 13 intercepted.

Garron missed the first four games because of a broken collarbone.

The Raiders have been relying on their running game since the return of fullback Alan Miller this fall. Miller, on a leave last fall to attend law school, has teamed with halfback Clem Daniels to give Oakland a successful 1-2 offensive punch.

Tonight's contest will be the last of the season under the lights for Boston.

The other action in the AFL is scheduled Sunday when the undefeated Eastern Division leaders from Buffalo entertain the Western Division leader, San Diego. The Bills are 8-0 and San Diego is 3-0-1. Kansas City, 2-1-1, is at Denver, 2-2, while Houston and New York are idle.

Stiffest Test Tomorrow For Surprising Indians

The surprising Tamalpais Indians will be trying for their fourth straight victory tomorrow, but it should be the stiffest test yet for coach Willie Hector's boys.

Opposing the Indians will be defending champion of the Marin Athletic League, Drake. Kickoff for that grid game in Kentfield Stadium is scheduled for 2 p.m.

The Pirates, co-champs in 1963 and solo champs last year, won their league opener last Saturday against Marin Catholic, 14-0, after being held scoreless through the first half. Drake lost to Petaluma 13-12 and then bombed Analy 47-0 in its first two games of the season.

The Indians, not picked as a contender prior to the start of the '65 season, have surprised most football filberts with their winning ways: 14-12 over Riordan, 16-6 over Skyline, and 14-0 last Saturday against San Rafael in their league opener.

Hector, coaching his first year in prep football, is being cautious. "Success can spoil guys sometimes," he said. "But so far these kids are working hard. We had good workouts this week and the boys have been improving every week."

After watching the films of Tam's win over San Rafael, Hector was elated over the running of his two backs, Mike Fowler and Kirk Sparks. "Sparks had five guys on his back and he still made three yards, and one time Fowler ran around end and carried three players with him," Willie said of his two running backs. But one of the big points in the Tam offense has been that hard charging line. "And our defense has been really strong," said Hector. "We have improved 300 per cent."

Hector was asked if his defense was going to key on Dean Lazzarini, Drake's fleet-footed fullback. And he came back with what he learned while playing line for the Los Angeles Rams:

"We would all watch Jimmy Brown (great Cleveland Browns runner) and away would go Charley Mitchell. It's not a very good way to do it. You can't forget about those other guys in the backfield. They're good enough to be first string so they can run too."

Drake coach Bob Franceschini said he was still trying to find that winning combination in his starting lineup. He's giving Dave Simononini, a 170-pound senior back, a chance at the starting halfback spot next to Lazzarini. Doug Manuel, used strictly on defense last season, is going to start at tight left end because of his blocking power. John Boothby will start at the flanker spot for the first time this season. A first stringer last year, Boothby's been sidelined with a back injury this year. But it will be Lazzarini who will have to carry most of the load for Drake. He picked up 153 yards on the ground his last time out, and scored both touchdowns of the game.

Probable starting offensive lineups:

TAMALPAIS

DRAKE

Unbeaten Novato Plays Practice Tilt Tomorrow

Novato High School Hornets will be trying to keep their unbeaten record intact tomorrow afternoon when they take on the Westmoor Rams in a non-league football game on the Novato field, 2 p.m.

The Hornets have two wins and a tie so far this season. They blanked College Park 20-0 and tied Petaluma 20-20 in two practice games and then edged past Terra Linda 20-19 last Saturday in their Marin Athletic League opener.

Westmoor of Daly City, a member of the North Peninsula League, lost last week to Mills of San Maeo, 35-7.

Novato coach Harry Moore hopes his chargers put together a full game against the Rams. Against Petaluma, Novato was down after the first half and then came back strong the second half to gain the tie. Last Saturday against Terra Linda, the Hornets had a two touchdown advantage after half a game and then couldn't move the ball the second half and barely held on to win by a point.

Moore is doing a little juggling of his starting offensive team and will start Ev Fritz at left and in place of Tom Corder who went both ways in the Terra Linda game. Steve Alexander will replace Ray Hill at center and Mike Mazzoni will start at fullback instead of Bill Coots because of injuries. Hill has an ankle injury and Coots is suffering from a sholder separation. Larry Stuart will take over for Coots in the defensive backfield, also.

Probable starting offensive lineup for Novato:

Marin Tars Travel To Sacramento Tilt

College of Marin Tars will be underdogs tonight when they take on the American River Junior College Beavers in a non-conference football scrap in Sacramento. The game, to be played on the ARJC campus, is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

American River gridders have compiled a 2-1 record thus far in '65, and one of those wins was against Yuba College, 20-15. Marin will have to meet Yuba later this season in Golden Valley Conference action, and the 49ers are favored to win the conference.

But Dick Read's boys from Marin, boasting a one win, one tie record, hope to turn the tables on ARJC tonight. Marin was impressive in its opener, downing Menlo 14-9. Last Saturday Marin tied Vallepo Junior College 14-14 on a 61-yard punt return by Tim Garvin with only 15 seconds left in the game.

Marin and American River are even after two meetings. In 1961, when American River was still in the GVC, Marin nipped the Beavers 25-24. After the '61 season, the Sacramento school left the conference and joined the Valley Conference and Marin didn't face the Beavers again until 1964. American River won that game, 44-0. Ow!

Halfback Tim Harr will only see limited action tonight because of rib injuries, and Jim Schmidt, an end, is on the doubtful list with a hurt ankle.

Blanda's Passing

HOUSTON (UPI) — George Blanda of the Houston Oilers set AFL records in 1964 for most passes attempted (505) and most passes completed (262).

Jack Moneybags

Undefeated Giants Go For Fourth Straight

Redwood High School gridders will get their first taste of 1965 Marin Athletic League action tonight and, according to coach Bob Troppmann, he's got a hungry bunch on his hands.

Waiting for the Giants of Larkspur will be the San Rafael High School Bulldogs who'll be playing on their home field. Gametime is 8 o'clock following a junior varsity clash at 5:45

Redwood drew the first week's league bye last weekend and entertained itself with a 12-6 triumph over visiting Salinas while the rest of the MCAL teams were knocking heads with each other. It was Redwood's third straight non-league triumph.

After winning their two non-league scraps (8-0 over McClymonds and 13-7 over Montgomery), the Bulldogs were upset last Saturday by Tamalpais, 14-0.

Both San Rafael and Redwood were playing their last games with a truckload of injuries, but this time both camps report injuries healed and forces in top shape.

Redwood's entire backfield was hobbled by injuries last week, but all will be ready tonight. Len Pieri at left half, Ken Tucker at right half, and Tom Sather at full will be the Giants' ball packers, and all are capable of breaking away for long gainers. No. 1 quarterback Dane Durham is a question mark, and if he isn't ready by gametime Doug Grey will start in his place. "But Durham will play," said Troppmann.

Redwood offensive guard Bill Dunn has been out of action since an injury in the first game of the year, and he will be back in action.

"I haven't seen the school with so much spirit," said an enthused Troppmann. "We're ready."

News was also much brighter from San Rafael. "We're probably as strong as we have been all year with the return of injured players," said Bulldog coach Bob Muster. They are end Joe Cunningham, tackle Scott Anderson, quarterback Roger Widmer and defensive back Ward Hayter.

Widmer has been the starting signal caller for the Bulldogs this year after his older brother, Jay, showed up to practice with injuries that may keep him out most of the season. Jay was No. 1 quarterback last year as a junior.

"Roger has been going really good in practice this week," said Muster. He was used only sparingly last week. "We had a good week of practice," said the San Rafael mentor. "There were a few tongues hanging out."

Redwood has always posed a problem for San Rafael. Last time the Bulldogs came out on top in their dual was back in 1958. San Rafael's lone league loss in 1963, the year the Bulldogs were co-champs, was to Redwood, 19-6.

Probable starting offensive lineups for the game:

REDWOOD

SAN RAFAEL

Seals Down Blades, 3-2

LLOYDMINSTER, Alta. (AP) —Al Nicholson tallied late in the third period last night to carry San Francisco Seals to a 3-2 triumph over Los Angeles Blades before 3,000 fans.

Forbes Kennedy and newcomer Ron Harris scored Seals' other goals. Willie O'Ree and Leo Labine replied for Blades.

The battle between Western Hockey League rivals was tied 1-1 after the first period. Blades led 2-1 after 40 minutes.

Goaltender John Henderson of San Francisco turned aside 29 shots. Blades' Jack Norris made 26 saves.

Wildkittens Edge Novato Cagers

Bob McCarthy's bucket in the final seven seconds gave Marin Catholic a 30-28 win over Novato yesterday in Marin Athletic League Class C basketball action.

McCarthy led the Wildkittens with 13 points, but game high scoring honors went to Bruce Pearson of the Hornets, with 18.

Jim Murray's Report On The World Series

Unfortunately, the Twins's Jim was a pretty hep Kaat. The Dodgers smashed their way clear to second base one inning. Bob Allison, who never gave Willie Mays any serious competition for outfielder-of-the-year, made a catch in the fifth inning that would have won him the water polo championship of North America. He breaststroked the last five feet. Ron Fairly who can run just as well on a wet field as a dry field—I mean to say, the way he runs it looks like the field is slippery even in a drought—barely made it back to first.

I say "UNFORTUANTELY" Jim Kaat was one hep Kaat not because I brought my pompoms or Dodger buttons to the game but because I have been rooting for the first World Series appearance of my candidate for Diogenes of the Twentieth Century.

Allan Fulton Worthington is a right-handed relief pitcher with a code of ethics that makes Frank Merriwell look like never-do-well—or the kind of dissolute character who would cheat widows and orphans. Allan Fulton quit a ball club once because they were stealing signals for him. Most pitchers would give you a part of their salaries for this service but Allan Worthington was indignant. I mean, here he thought he was in a wholesome business that had really cleaned its house and put it in order once they got Arnold Rothstein out of the picture.

And then one day a guy came up to Al and whispered in his ear "It's gonna be a bunt." Allan was startled. "How would you know that?" He wanted to know. 'The guy in the centerfield bleachers with the binoculars," was the answer. 'He's stealing their signals."

Allan knew where his duty lay. He didn't call the cops but he went to the owner of the ball club who happened to be Bill Veeck. "Do you know someone is stealing signals from the centerfield scoreboard?" He demanded. "Of course," said Veeck. "Who do you think bought him the binoculars?"

Al could see right away he was in with bad company. "I tried to reason with him," recalls Veeck. "I said, 'Look, you cheat when you throw a curve ball, in a sense.' Then I thought about his curve ball and I realized he didn't."

Worthington left the club anyway and went home to Alabama and quit baseball. I mean, the next thing you knew they'd be asking you to steal bases.

Al Worthington's morality doesn't end at the foul line. Like a large and growing number of big league ballplayers he took as his ledger in life Bill Graham. He followed the precepts of John the Baptist, not John McGraw. He consults the book of Corinthians not the Sporting News.

Al preaches weekly at the nearby Woodvale Baptist Church in Minneapolis and has a set of tracts in his locker instead of pinups. His explanation of his disregard for the kind of characters who would use the gifts of the Lord to steal signals is simple. 'I am a Christian, since I walked up the aisle to Billy Graham in 1958, I don not want to do anything that would displease the Lord."

You would have to conclude the Lord is more worth pleasing than Bill Veeck or the Chicago White Sox. Al Worthington with a new-found innerstrength—and a far better curve ball than Veeck remembers—has a record with Minnesota, including 14 "saves."

But Al Worthington's first and biggest "save" was himself.

Minnesota's Manager: Just Call Him Schizophrenic Sam

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sam Mele is beginning to sound a little schizophrenic.

He doesn't want to sound like a braggart, but he appears weary of people asking with amazement how his Minnesota Twins do it.

To one dressing room question after the Twins beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 yesterday to take a two-game lead in the World Series, Mele replied:

"We were fortunate to beat them twice. I knew Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax would be darn tough. The Dodgers are a tough outfit, and you've got to play heads up all the time."

As newsmen pressed him, hoping perhaps to hear the word "lucky," Mele shot back:

"I've been telling you guys we're pretty tough, too. I think I've got a good ball club. We go out there to beat them. "I'd love to sweep."

Mele has had almost nothing to be second-guessed about in the first two Series games. Whenever he has been queried about a possible move which he didn't make, he has answered with a clear-cut yes or no and has withheld elaboration.

He said he had no intention of walking John Roseboro in the seventh inning yesterday when the Dodger catcher drove in Los Angeles' only run with a line single to right. First base was open at the time, and pitcher Sandy Koufax was due up next.

Mele also said Twins' outfielders Bob Allison and Tony Oliva had no chance to catch balls which just fell in front of them in the seventh.

The Minnesota manager said he didn't want to pinch hit for pitcher Jim Kaat in the eighth inning, when Kaat singled home two runs, because Kaat was pitching so well.

And Mele said he would continue to play Harmon Killebrew shallow at third against Maury Wills because "if you don't, he's going to bunt on you."

Wills chopped a single over Killebrew's head in the sixth inning for the fleet Dodger shortstop's third Series hit.

Mele had no doubt about a turning point in the second game. He said it was Bob Allison's catch of a line drive off the bat of Jim Lefebvre in the fifth inning when the game still was scoreless.

"It was a tremendous catch," Mele said. "It could have meant something because they could have had a rally going. I didn't think he had a chance for it, to tell you the truth, because the ball was curving away from him."

Allison said he thought he had a 50-50 chance to make the catch when he broke for the ball. "It has to be the greatest catch I've ever made," Allison said, "because it came in a World Series."

Mele will pitch Camilo Pascual, the Cuban right-hander with one of baseball's best curves, in Saturday's third game. Mele also said he would stick with the same line-up against Dodger left-hander Claude Osteen as the one he used yesterday against Koufax.

"I guess I'm ready," Pascual said, "but you never know until you go out there. I don't think I've laid off too long. I threw good Wednesday and I'll throw a little more Friday. My arm feels real good."

What's To Change? Says Walt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dodger Stadium never looked prettier to the Los Angeles Dodgers after their disastrous invasion of Minnesota for the first two games of the World Series.

The Dodgers will be back at the stadium tomorrow for the third game of the Series in which they trail the Minnesota Twins two games to none.

Does Manager Walt Alston plan any changes following the Dodgers' 5-1 loss yesterday?

"No, there aren't any changes we can make," Alston replied. "This is the same club that won the pennant, and this is the club we hope can come back and win the championship."

Ready to try and start the comeback is Claude Osteen, who won 15 and lost 15 during the season. Osteen will be the second left-hander Alston will use against the Twins. The first, Sandy Koufax, was a Minnesota victim yesterday.

Koufax confessed his trouble was elementary. His control suddenly went to pieces in the sixth inning.

The chilly air, the wet grounds from morning showers—neither was a contributing cause, the 26-game winner said.

"I just didn't have it when I needed it," Koufax added.

Indoor Theater Plans Complete

Negotiations have been concluded by Fox West Coast Theaters to open what may be the first new indoor motion picture theater to be built in Marin County since the early 1950s, it was announced today.

Eugene V. Klein, president of National General Corp., parent company of Fox West Coast, and Ben Ostlind, owner of Redwood Realtors, San Rafael, today announced a lease has been signed for a theater in a new commercial complex to be known as Northgate East, east of Highway 101 at its interchange with Manuel T. Freitas Parkway.

The 900-seat theater, together with 44,000 square feet of retail stores and a restaurant, will comprise a five-acre commercial project of Marin developers and builders Eugene Aureguy and Harold McKenzie, who are also owners of the land.

Construction will begin as soon as planning is completed and necessary approvals are obtained, said Ostlind.

Northgate East will be on a knoll and will require the removal of about 260,000 cubic yards of dirt, he said. There will be parking for approximately 390 cars.

The Fox West Coast theater may be one of two new theaters to be constructed in this area. In July, Blumenfeld Enterprises announced plans to build three new indoor theaters in Marin—one of them to be in the Northgate Shopping Center, directly across the highway from Northgate East.

National General recently embarked on a 50-million dollar, three-year expansion program to add 100 new theaters to its present total of 225. In the last few weeks, ground has been broken for theaters in San Bruno and San Jose and for a drive-in theater in Sacramento. A subsidiary, Cathay Theaters, Ltd., plans to open its first theater outside of the continental United States in Montreal.

Market Closes Higher After Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed sharply higher today in heavy trading.

Popular stock market averages were moving in the vicinity of record highs as Wall Street responded to the news that President Johnson's operation had been successful.

Airlines and electronics made wide gains. Motors moved up solidly. Big advances were made by some of the rails following yesterday's rise to a record in the Dow Jones rail average.

Specially-situated issues, including M. A. Hanna, Southern Nitrogen, Calgon and Pittsburgh Coke provided trading excitement.

New strength was displayed by many of the high-flying issues which have been market features since early September.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.5 million shares compared with 6.68 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Gains of fractions to a point or so among a wide selection of key stocks pushed averages near record highs. The rise was not unanimous, however, many key issues doing little or nothing.

Airlines and electronics were conspicuous gainers. Eastern Air Lines rose more than 2. Gains of well over a point were scored by Pan American, Northwest and National Airlines.

Among electronics, Zenith and Raytheon sputed more than 4, Motorol and Admiral about 2 each, Magnavox and Fairchild Camera 3, Radio Corp. 1.

IBM gained 4, Polaroid 3, Xerox. 1.

Ford and Chrysler rose a point or better, General Motors nearly a point. Du Pont, Westinghouse Electric and U.S. Smelting rose about 1 each.

M.A. Hanna, up nearly 7, looked like the most active stock following news of a liquidation proposal.

KLM Airlines, up nearly 5, was heavily traded. Texas Gulf Sulphur was active and up about 2.

Airline Loads Up For Viet Nam

SAN FRANCISCO — So far this year, Pan American Airways has airlifted 3,977 tons of military cargo from the United States to South Viet Nam, an increase of 309 per cent over the 973 tons carried in the same period last year.

Bulk of the shipments was out of San Francisco.

Military passengers are also moving to the southeast Asian front in greater numbers. During the first eight months of this year, Pan Am carried 8,907 passengers through San Francisco to Saigon, compared to 1,886 in the same period last year.

Can Taser of Stinson Beach has joined the architectural firm of Albert R. Seyranian and Associates of San Francisco as an architect-designer.

Foremost Buys Drug Firm Stock

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Foremost Dairies has purchased one million shares of McKesson and Robbins Inc. common stock for $50.5 million from the Glen Alden Corp.

Rudolph J. Drews, Foremost board chairman and president, said yesterday the transaction would be financed with $8.5 million of company funds and a $42 million long term loan arranged with the Prudential Life Insurance Co.

The transaction was approved at a Foremost board meeting here and a Glen Alden board meeting in New York.

The two firms had agreed in principle to the transaction in mid-September.

Hiller Resigns Vice Presidency

PALO ALTO (UPI)— Stanley Hiller Jr., has resigned as executive vice president of Fairchild Hiller Corp.

A company announcement yesterday said that Hiller, who works in the firm's Washington office, will return to California to pursue private ventures. He will remain a consultant to the company.

Hiller founded Hiller Aircraft in 1942 and served as president until Hiller was acquired by Fairchild in 1964.

Swedish Cars

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Cars are Sweden's biggest export to the United States and the demand is exceeding the supply, Trade Secretary Bo Lindner said yesterday.

Rolls-Royce Unveils First New Automobile In Decade

LONDON (AP) — Rolls-Royce has unveiled its first new model in a decade. Mechanical advances long regarded as standard on some cheaper cars have been adopted for the car widely regarded as the world standard in luxury.

"This is the most radical new car we have made since the Silver Ghost at the 1906 motor show," said chief engineer Harry Grylls.

The new car is called the Silver Shadow. It has disc brakes, a monocoque body, hydraulic suspension and is smaller outside but roomier inside.

From the outside, the car has a more rounded design that makes it look more like medium-priced British cars. The classic Rolls-Royce grille, modeled on the Parthenon, still is the dominating feature, but it is slightly smaller.

Over-all, the Silver Shadow is 7 inches shorter, 5 inches lower and 3½ inches narrower than the Silver Cloud, it's immediate predecessor.

Prices in the United States start at $20,000, compared to $16,500 for the Silver Cloud.

Airline Business Up

SAN FRANCISCO — Trans World Airlines reported an all time high of 13.7 million freight ton miles flown in September on its domestic routes. September also marked the fourth consecutive month that TWA's system passenger traffic exceeded one billion revenue passenger miles.

Modesto Industry Permits Issued

MODESTO (AP) — A building permit for a $1.6 million E. & J. Gallo headquarters office complex was issued Wednesday.

The two story, 36,000 square foot headquarters will be started soon at the winery site of Modesto's eastern edge.

Project engineer for the new building is Swinterton and Walberg Co. of San Francisco. John S. Bolles has been named architect.

The Campbell Soup Co. was also issued a county permit for a planned $155,000 improvement of its Modesto facilities.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Consider Nines And Tens Only In Borderline Case

If a player tells you exactly how much he counts for a nine or a ten, don't believe him.

Only headaches come from that kind of counting. As a practical matter, you consider nines and tens only in borderline situations.

Opening lead — ♠ J

In today's hand South would have made the same opening bid if his nine of spades had been an eight. But he would have gone down.

West led the jack of spades and declarer wisely played dummy's ace. There was no need to finesse as long as South had the nine.

DUMMY'S QUEEN

If South played dummy's queen, East would take the king and return the suit to force out the ace.

The defenders would get three spades, the ace of diamonds and at least one other king.

LEADS DIAMONDS

Declarer actually took the ace of spades and led a diamond to force out the ace. If West led the ten of spades back, dummy's queen would drive out the king, and South's nine would be high.

If West led back a low spade, South would play low from dummy and get a trick with the nine or the queen.

If South gets two spades he can go after the clubs and make sure of nine tricks with three clubs, three diamonds, two spades and one heart.

If the defenders abandon spades, South can afford to take a heart finesse at the end.

If South had the eight of spades instead of the nine, West would be able to continue spades on taking the ace of diamonds. The defenders would then get three spade tricks and would defeat the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ J 10 8 4
♥ K 8 5
♦ A 7
♣ 9 7 5 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention.

If partner can bid two spades, showing a four-card or longer suit, you will raise to three spades. If partner bids anything else, you will bid two notrump.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday Oct. 8, the 281st day of 1965 with 84 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase; the morning star is Jupiter; the evening stars are Mars, Venus, and Saturn.

In 1871, the great Chicago fire which burned more than 17,000 buildings started. It killed several hundred and left 98,000 persons homeless.

In 1923, Germany's shaky postwar economy produced such disastrous inflation that one U. S. penny bought more than 6 million marks.

In 1940, Congress passed an act levying taxes on excess profits of corporate earnings.

In 1942, the first contingent of WAVES began naval training for women at Smith College, Mass.

Marin Lucky It Still Has Some Room To Breathe In

When we set foot on the cold, windswept coastline of Point Reyes National Seashore, we sometimes wonder why mankind takes pains to preserve such desolate real estate.

But a moment's reflection quickly erases any doubts we may have had on the value of setting aside some of the rapidly dwindling wilderness and seashore areas for future generations to enjoy.

Millions of Americans will live most of their lives in cities, hemmed in by cars, skyscrapers, concrete pavements and smog. On weekends and holidays, they brave the jammed highways for a brief escape into the open country to get a breath of ocean air or the aroma of pines.

For these Americans, that breath of fresh air, which we in Marin take for granted, is difficult to come by. It means hours of bumper-to-bumper driving, with no assurance they will find parking spaces once they manage to reach "open country."

The President's remarks at the sign-Seashore National Park Bill last month ing ceremony for Assateague Island referred to 33 miles along the Maryland and Virginia coastline, the last undeveloped seashore between Massachusetts and North Carolina.

The statements could just as well have applied to the Point Reyes National Seashore or to Marin Headlands State Park north of the Golden Gate.

"If future generations are to remember us more with gratitude than with sorrow," said the President, "we must achieve more than just the miracles of technology. We must also leave them a glimpse of the world as God really made it, not just as it looked when we got through with it."

He said he has asked the conservation and park officials to watch for acreage declared surplus by the Defense Department "to see if somehow, somewhere the little people of America might not be able to enjoy this in the few hours of relaxation that is theirs on a weekend."

The Bay Area, especially Marin County, is still endowed with a few glimpses of the world as God really made it.

In the constant battle between the forces of development and conservation, both sides will win some and lose some. We are grateful for the few areas that men and women of foresight have been able to preserve and are working to preserve, such as the Point Reyes National Seashore and Marin Headlands State Park.

Social Note

Mister and Mrs. Golden Crown Sparrow returned to their home in Marin from their summer vacation in British Columbia on Sept. 28th. Mr. Sparrow is the noted vocalist well known for his impromptu renditions of his famous, original three note aria. The Sparrows will remain in Marin until April of next year, when they will return to British Columbia for the summer. As usual, they were accompanied by their large family.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

HIS MAIL GOT THROUGH—TOO FAST

"The man's complaint," reported the postal official, "was that his checks were reaching the bank before he could make deposits to cover them."

The "problem" was caused by a newly initiated postal service by which mail in the downtown area was delivered in four hours.

"Most complaints are about late receipts of mail," said the astonished postmaster. "This gripe topped them all."

Seldom does the speeded-up pace of modern life cause disruption in such an unusual way. But each of us should be ever on the alert against being "caught napping" in more important matters that affect the spiritual and material good of others.

Keep aware of the various trends in our fast-changing world so that, with the Lord's help, you may be ready at a moment's notice to transform problems into opportunities.

"Let us not sleep as do the rest, but let us be wakeful and sober." (1 Thessalonians 5:6)

Keep me alive, O Holy Spirit, to the tremendous possibilities for good in today's accelerating world.

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

There's Nothing To Rumors Of Gnoss-Nave Ballot Contest

By WAT TAKESHITA

Takeshita

YOU MAY NOW discount all those rumors you've been hearing that one of the Nave brothers might run against North Marin Supervisor William Gnoss.

The latest word from the Nave stronghold is that the rumors are grossly exaggerated; and that they have no intention of running against Gnoss.

Another attorney, John Dunlap, who heads the Democratic Central Committee in Napa, also appears interested.

If Sen. Joseph Rattigan of Santa Rosa doesn't run for the Senate, we might well find Carrow battling Dunlap in the primaries for the Democratic nomination, to run against Senator McCarthy in the finals.

THIS SEEMS to be the era for movie actors to turn politicians.

Sen. George Murphy is already in Congress. Ronald Reagan looks like a solid favorite to win the Republican nomination for California governor. And Steve Allen is eyeing the Southern California congressional post which will be vacated by Rep. James Roosevelt.

The slogan in Hollywood appears to be: "Let's get the hams out of government and put in some real actors!"

SPEAKING OF actors, famed TV star Perry Mason slipped in and out of the Culloden Park area of San Rafael almost unnoticed this week.

No, he's not running for anything. Just dropped in to say hello and have dinner with a friend of long standing.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Residents Urged To Take A Stand

Editor, Independent-Journal:

After reading the various articles in your paper, printed during the week about the Gallinas Valley Community Services District, I find that the residents of this area are seemingly awakened to the facts of homeownership.

As a homeowner myself I must confess that I, too, have been too complacent in matters concerning this district. At present we seem to be involved in a mess, be it political or what, that has been brought to light by only too few unheralded people. I feel that some of us homeowners should come out publicly and express thanks to these people.

If residents of this community, and for that matter every community, would come out from behind that television, or any other of the many devices we hide behind when matters of community involvement arise, parks, "park consultants" and self appointed community service districts would not have to be under fire by taxpayers.

It also seems that "newspapers," elected officials and taxpaying homeowners ought to have enough conviction to make stand on issues that are basic yet important in our community life.

Grape Festival Great Success

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is impossible to adequately express our gratitude to the people of Marin County for their support of the 66th annual Sunny Hills Grape Festival.

The Independent-Journal was a major factor in bringing this year's Grape Festival to the attention of the public and for this we thank you.

We wish it were possible to individually thank each person who contributed both time and effort toward this year's success, as well as the civic organizations who gave so willingly of their combined energies and talents, including both members of the Seabees, Marines and the Air Force.

It's a marvelous thing to see literally thousands of people combine their efforts to help Sunny Hills. Every one in our county, involved in any way with the Grape Festival, can be proud of his or her contribution last Saturday.

Thanks Given For Cancer Funds

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As our fiscal year ends and my term of office closes, I would like to extend my sincere thanks to your paper and to the citizens of Marin County for having made our year such a successful one.

Our quota was $35,000 dollars and by the end of our year, we had accumulated $44,330. Of this, $31,809 came from the campaign and $12,521 from memorials.

By the established policy of the cancer society, eight to 10 per cent of these funds will go to administration, 15 per cent to service and 63 per cent to cancer research and education.

The credit for the remarkable success of the campaign is, of course, especially due to our energetic campaign chairman, Jordan Martinelli Jr., assisted by business and industry chairman, E. D. Bullard, and residential chairman, James Pressley, and their eager and faithful district chairmen and volunteers.

Special thanks are due to Mrs. Donald Staples for her almost single handedly organizing a highly successful volunteer transportation corps as part of the service committee. She and her drivers deserve the appreciation of all of us.

For the publicity that is so essential to the success of any of these projects, we are grateful to the Independent-Journal particularly.

He Likes Paper— When He Gets It

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have a suggestion for your "Brickbats and Bouquets" section in your paper.

Bouquets for the news service, editorials, financial page, special features and local news and the paper as a local paper.

Brickbats for the delivery service. Our paper is generally delivered to our house from 5:30 to 6 p.m. or after. Today (Sept. 30) it was 7:05 p.m.

Is it possible for you to explain in your column a reason, as the paper is generally on the street at 3 p.m.

Natural Gas Use Is Valley Aim

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On behalf of the San Geronimo Valley Associations' officers and members, I wish to thank the Independent-Journal for the excellent editorial of Sept. 28, 1965, regarding the natural gas situation for the San Geronimo Valley.

As your editorial stated, many years of hard work and effort have taken place, and the San Geronimo Valley Assn. has been the leader in the endeavor to effect an agreement with the public utilities commission and the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for gas service to our valley.

Failure to take advantage of this opportunity may result in many long years of waiting before we can again approach the respective officials to act in our favor.

There is still much to do, and we shall continue to interest the community in the inevitable goal. The officials of the gas company and its employees have done an excellent job in assisting us.

I am very confident in the success of this campaign, and hope that the residents of this area will express their interest by signing the forms distributed by P.G.&E.

Thanks again, and be assured our efforts have been inspired by your fine editorial. The 640 will surely sign up before Jan. 15, 1966, and then we will really be cooking with GAS.

WHEN RICHARD Burton was appearing in "Camelot," and the show was being moved from its Toronto tryout to New York, he helped superintend the crating of a sheepdog used in the production. "Did you know," asked Burton later, "you can compress a sheepdog like a concertina? They're mostly hair."

WHEN A Philadelphia shirtmaker offered monetary rewards to people who could dream up new names for "dark blue," "light brown," and other stock colors, some lulus came in from inspired applicants. A few of them: gang green, forever amber, sick bay, hash brown, dorian grey, hi ho silver, statutory grape, and unpredictable fuchsia.

FROM AN executive in an electronics laboratory comes the story of an intricate, million-dollar machine that began doing peculiar things every time a very beautifully, firmly packed secretary ankled by. Lights flashed, dials whirled, and bells rang. Mechanics were at the point of panicking at the machine's man-like reactions when some spoil-sport found the real explanation. The machine was particularly sensitive to sponge rubber.

NATO Allies Should Think Over Getting Along Without France

PARIS—It will be well for the U.S. and its European allies to get ready soon to meet the full consequences of what President de Gaulle proposes to do to NATO.

NOTHING COULD be more wishful than to expect that de Gaulle is going to change his course either through soft words or hard pressures. He isn't.

He has three goals he is determined to achieve:

1—NATO must go.

2—There must be no integrated defense structure in Western Europe.

3—NATO must be made over in the image and likeness of Charles de Gaulle's French nationalism, or de Gaulle will take France out of NATO, come what may.

Can he achieve these ends?

He believes he can and he is acting on two premises.

He is acting on the premise that, if France quits NATO, then NATO will have to go out of business.

He is acting on the premise that French participation is so vital to NATO, that French territory is so crucial to its best logistics, that NATO is unworkable without France.

Is NATO to go down the drain because that is where de Gaulle wants it? If not, what do we do?

ONE THING is clear. Charles de Gaulle is not one to be moved by other people's reasons and certainly not by other people's ranting. There is no value in jumping up and down or in calling names or in wringing our hands in agonized virtue. De Gaulle is a fact of life—and almost certainly unalterable.

The truth is that de Gaulle has not been leading Europe, he has been dominating it.

Is there not a way out of this domination which does not involve wrecking NATO and which, at the same time, does not presume to dictate to de Gaulle what France should do?

THERE IS, and it emerges from conversations with a number of Allied political leaders in the past two weeks. Just as de Gaulle has the total right to decide what is good for France, why shouldn't the leaders of the other 14 NATO countries exercise the total right of deciding what is good for them?

The wishes of the other NATO nations are either unanimous or overwhelmingly united.

This would mean that the other allies could quite properly decide to retain NATO in its present form — without France. They could remove NATO from France — if de Gaulle demanded it — and, whatever the difficulties, place it in Belgium, Germany, or Britain. Then, they could invite France to participate in the defense of Western Europe in whatever form it chose.

THIS IS the best and most constructive answer to Gaullism I have found in Western Europe. Let us offer to Gen. de Gaulle a strong, friendly, respectful hand—and see what he offers in return.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Riot-Hit Areas May Receive School Aid

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Federal aid may be on tap for riot-struck cities and communities to rebuild damaged public schools and pay teachers' salaries.

This possibility stems from a little-noticed provision in legislation passed by Congress to provide an estimated $1.5 billion annually in federal aid to school districts hit by various types of disaster.

Federal aid will be provided, the legislation states, to a school board or agency in an area suffering from a disaster "as a result of any flood, drought, fire, hurricane, earthquake, storm or other catastrophe. . . ."

KEY WORDS are "fire" and "other catastrophe."

"Fires can be set by Molotov cocktails, and 'other catastrophe' covers a lot of possibilities," declares one legislator.

Officials of the Office of Emergency Planning, which administers federal disaster aid, won't rule in advance whether civil riots will be considered catastrophes under terms of the legislation. Past riots in big cities, like the flare-up in the Watts section of Los Angeles in August, have not resulted in federal disaster aid.

But if public schools are damaged in a future city riot (they were not in Los Angeles), some officials at the Office of Emergency Planning feel federal aid would be offered.

Several Congressmen are convinced this is the case.

Congressman William D. Ford, D-Mich., sponsor of the bill, concedes that civil strife following natural disasters could trigger federal aid to schools under his legislation.

"LOOTING AND BURNING of schools might follow in the wake of a big storm, like a hurricane or tornado. If that happened and the area were designated a disaster area by the president, my bill probably would authorize aid to the schools," says Ford.

Philosophy behind Ford's bill is that disaster areas lose all or a large percentage of their taxable property, on which school financing largely depends. To keep public schools open while this tax base is being re-established over an extended period, federal aid would be made available to rebuild or repair school buildings and to pay operating expenses, including teachers' salaries, for periods up to five years.

All children in the disaster area—both public and private — would be aided. Private school teachers and pupils would be accommodated in public facilities still intact, or rented or leased during the emergency period.

House Republicans plan to bushwhack President Lyndon B. Johnson's minimum wage bill when it comes to the House floor next week.

A move to send the controversial measure back to committee for more study, thereby sidetracking it until next year, will be made by Congressman William Ayres of Ohio, ranking Republican member of the House Education and Labor Committee.

"The chairman of the labor subcommittee that handled this bill is not here to explain it. In fact, he's not even in Congress," complained Ayres.

Labor subcommittee chairman James Roosevelt, D-Calif., resigned his House seat to join the official U.S. delegation to the United Nations.

ART BUCHWALD

Congressmen Should Provide Other Cities' Governments

WASHINGTON—The citizens of Washington, D. C. had a close scare last week. They almost got the right to have self-government. But thanks to Congress the issue has been postponed and we can rest easy for another year, if not longer.

THE IDEA OF people having a say about who rules them is an alien one, and certainly against everything the United States stands for. Opponents of home rule had some telling arguments on their side.

Not only would it be dangerous for the 811,000 citizens to have a voice in their own affairs, but self - government would lead to corruption, higher taxi fares and traffic tickets for Congressmen.

During the hearings it was stated that Washingtonians, who are more or less charged with running the United States government and many parts of the world, had neither the intelligence nor the ability to govern themselves. The only ones who knew what was best for Washington was the House District Committee which, since it had no ax to grind, could look at the nation's capital with an objective eye.

Out of the debate came some very interesting facts. One was that as soon as you have self-government you have politicians, and as soon as you have politicians you have corrupt government.

Since Washington doesn't have self-government it is not plagued with all the dangers that other American cities face. There is now a group of people here who feel that since Congress does such a good job of running the district, it should take over running all cities with populations of 500,000 or more.

YOU WOULD HAVE a House Boston Committee, run by a Congressman from South Carolina, a House Los Angeles Committee run by a Congressman from Florida and a House Chicago Committee run by a Congressman from East Texas.

The people living in these cities would still be able to vote in state and federal elections, but city elections would be abolished. All questions of schooling, transportation, hospitalization and police matters would be decided by Congressional committee. You may have some squawks from the cities, but once they realize that these Congressmen are more aware of their problems than they are, they will be grateful.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

The Acorns Are Falling; There Are Philosophers On The Steps

ACORNS ARE FALLING and it's a nutty, wonderful life.

We sat on the "Spanish Steps" of Sausalito (Excelsior Lane) the other day with a group of today's teen-agers.

"The tourists don't sit on these steps," said Lynnie Staub who was wearing her string of seed beads. Her friend, who said she is called "Porky Pig" also wore a necklace but one consisting of several cross-cut bones. "I'm never without them," she said. On her toe was a ring, on her chest a button: "Jefferson Airplane Loves You."

Miss Staub said she likes the steps and the plaza because "you find out what's happening . . . The people down here stiumulate my intellect . . . You talk about things that have to do with life, to know where you are going. This generation is going to mold. It is going to happen for a long time."

She spoke of what she called "never, never land" (something in one's mind) and of life being "a big trap." She said, "I want to go places, do things, talk to people."

We also met Fred (Dickie) Jones whose left arm was in a plaster cast, and Bob Evans, twirling a toy gun. Calvin Scott, a Negro, joined the step-sitters and was asked to recite his poem, "Psydelia," which he said is the name of a place. In part, it goes:

"Psydelia/unknown to common man but to fool and seeker of truth and other unknowing of their seeking/so within Psydelia/conclusion be found/of sight/Psydelia/of sound/Psydelia/of body and mind/Psydelia/where thought and thoughtful be abandon and folly and fool the same . . . And full of word not worth the speaking/Psydelia / of beauty none but by mention/where to change extends throughout the reach of space and mind of body be life/of knowing none but of yourself/no world exists but yourself/of day, Psydelia/of night, Psydelia/of knowledge and wonder, Psydelia."

ON THE SAME hot day we met Sid Foster, Sausalito harbormaster, riding his bike toward his hut. Bothered and warm, he said, "I'm going for a swim" as if this would mean all people would leave him alone. "In the bay?" we asked and he said "Sure." He said he has been swimming in the bay since 1910. Sid rows, swims, sails and rides his bike to deliver mail to the boaters in Sausalito Yacht Harbor. "It may be kid's sport but I like it," he said.

Joyce Gross reports that on most any day at 6 p.m. one can watch the Tamalpais football team get out of practice and depart homeward on tops of cars, on motor bikes and by horse.

Councilman Bill Secor told the council of Mill Valley Monday that if progress on the city's yacht harbor has anything to do with the smell from dredging, "we should sail a boat intto the harbor by midnight."

WE SAW OUR first dog eating an ice cream cone in a car outside of Baskin-Robbins in Mill Valley, sitting between man and woman, having sodas. John Broman reports that a prowler tossed a can of green paint at his barking dog on a recent night. Now Omar, a Collie, has four green legs.

And Swede Pedersen reports that at about 11:30 p.m. on a warm night at the fire station, through the open door came a Chihuahua followed by a one-eyed Pekingese, followed by a small gray cat. They went to the bed of Peaches, the firemen's mascot, sat on it for awhile, then wandered out into the night. Toujours gai.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Reading Between Lines Needed To Understand Our Government

FUSSELMAN

ALTHOUGH I received many commendations for the first paragraph of the column in the September 24 issue —("Respect for governmental agencies—national, state and local—is the essential ingredient necessary to preserve our form of government. If there is faith in the officials on the part of our people, nothing can erode our nation"), my erudite friend, attorney John B. Ehlen, sent me a letter saying that the paragraph didn't jibe with the pronouncement of Thomas Jefferson's, "In questions of power let no more be heard of confidence in man, but bind him down from mischief by the chains of the constitution," and that he was compelled "to string along with Tom." As he also sent a letter to the editor along the same lines, I will respond here.

Naturally I am delighted to know that he reads the column. However, I know he is quite up on E.S.P. and am surprised that he didn't read the fine print in my statement, even though it was so very fine as not to be apparent to the naked eye. If he will take another think, perhaps he will realize that John, Tom and Bill are not a perceptible distance apart. The constitution is not a static thing. It can and has been amended by "our people" and then re-amended when disrespect prevailed.

FROM A LAYMAN'S point of view, it has always seemed to me that a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge would ultimately be found possible. During the seemingly endless hearings on rapid transit I sat through, over a period of years, this second deck was pushed and pulled in every direction.

Now that attention is again being centered on the possibility, by the assuring report of the engineers, the question arises as to just what effect this would have on the traffic of Highway 101. Northbound traffic, during late afternoon, is bumper to bumper and proceeds at a stop and go snail's pace, as seen from the top of Puerto Suello Hill for as far as the eye can reach.

Now, there are no stop signs from the bridge to Novato. So, just what effect does the toll plaza have on this movement? It would be most interesting to know, accurately, just what the delaying factor is at the toll booths.

In a very well presented article by Charles Cruttenden in last Sunday's paper, the count was given on the commute cars per day—70,000 from Marin — 135,000 over the Bay Bridge and a total count from the Peninsula of 200,000. He quoted "one cynical but realistic engineer," as saying that rapid transit could take 40 per cent of the traffic off the Bay Bridge, but that those drivers who now leave early and late would then go at the rush hour because of the "easy commute" across the bridge and that the span would be jammed again.

"THERE'S A LOT of coffee in Brazil" and there are a lot of cars on the highways and there are a lot of cars being manufactured—more and more each year and by one method or another they are being sold. It sure looks like "something will have to give."

Tourney Set In Forensics

The second of five scheduled Golden Gate Speech Assn. forensics tournaments will be held at Redwood High School in December, according to Mrs. Barbara Vickers, secretary to the association and advisor to the Redwood Forensics Club.

The tournament will include individual events only. These are humorous and dramatic interpretation, original oratory, oratorical interpretation, and extemporaneous and impromptu speaking.

Residence Costs Expected To Rise

BERKELEY (UPI)—The price of a new home will increase by $1,000 to $1,500 during the next 12 months, according to the president of the Associated Home Builders of the Greater East Bay.

John H. Johnson said yesterday an extensive builder intention survey recently conducted by the Associated Home Builders showed that most builders plan to improve their prospects by increasing prices.

Johnson also said the survey indicated that the East Bay will receive a good level of residential construction but not a boom during the next 12 months.

Chromium deposits are scarce.

Anti-Anti-Viet Nam Group Gets Support

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Two East Bay lawmakers yesterday urged support of a new group that will conduct a "patriotic" rally while the Viet Nam Day Committee is demonstrating at the Oakland Army Terminal, Oct. 15 and 16.

In giving their support to "Responsible Citizens Aroused" (RCA), Republican Don Mulford, Piedmont and Democrat Nicholas Petris, Oakland, said there was a "need for responsible people to speak out against any planned unlawful physical demonstrations."
